MAP SHOWING DAY BY DAY GAINS OF ALLIED ARMIES

In this sector, but they cannot afford to overlook the fact that their opponent has something to say as to this. A retreat is more easily begun than ended.

Military experts express the belief that before winter Gen. Foch will order a general offensive against the Central Powers by all Allied armies, from the Channel to Salonica. They assert the Allied superiority in man power will make such an immense offensive possible.

PRINCE TRYING TO RECONSTRUCT HIS BROKEN LINE.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 6 (Associated Press).—The German Crown Prince is now engaged in reconstituting his shattered divisions behind the lines with the aid of the remainder of the 1919 recruits, in the opinion of Gen. Mangin, whose army played such a brilliant part in forcing the German retreat from the Marne.

Some of the German divisions which took part in this battle had their company strength reduced to less than fifty men, some of the companies being still further depleted in numbers. In addition some of the best divisions of Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria were used in the battle, having been loaned the Crown Prince from the armies further north.

"North of Montdidier our troops have made progress toward the Aves, which they have reached between Braches and Morisel. A German surprise attack southeast of Montdidier was checked completely. Prisoners remained in our hands.

"On the Vesle front the French maintained their positions at many points north of the river despite repeated attempts by the Germans to drive them out. There is nothing of importance to report from the remainder of the front."

GERMANS THROW GAS SHELLS INTO THE BRITISH TRENCHES

Enemy Artillery Active on the Front Northeast of Amiens—Air Attack Repulsed.

[BRITISH REPORT]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The German guns were active last night in the region north of Villers-Bretonneux, on the front northeast of Amiens, the War Office announced to-day. They threw gas shells into the British lines.

The Germans attempted to pick off a British post in the district northeast of Merris on the Flanders front, but failed under a British counter-attack. The text of the statement reads:

"An attempt made by the enemy yesterday to capture one of our posts northeast of Merris was repulsed by our counter-attack.

"We captured a few prisoners and machine guns last night in the Nieppe Forest sector (Flanders front).

"The hostile artillery has been active with gas shells north of Villers-Bretonneux and has shown activity also about Bucquoy and north of Bethune."

[AMERICAN REPORT]

BERLIN ADMITS MORE RETREATS AND CLAIMS FEW VICTORIES

Teutons Declare Allies Were Repulsed in Flanders and on Both Banks of Somme.

[GERMAN REPORT]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—The official report issued yesterday follows:

In Flanders north of Albert and on both sides of the Somme attacks by the enemy have been repulsed.

North of Montdidier we withdrew our companies on the west bank of the Aves River and Dom Brook behind these sectors without action on the part of the enemy.

We captured prisoners in minor enterprises southwest of Montdidier.

On the Vesle the artillery activity has increased. There have been successful forward engagements south of Conde and west of Rheims. After warding off partial enemy attacks our rearguards, in accordance with orders, withdrew to the north of the Vesle before a strong enemy attack on Fismes.

West of the Moselle and in the Middle and Upper Vosges enemy attacks were repulsed. In the Sundgau we captured prisoners in raids.

Occupations are given as tending to encourage local patriotism.

In a letter to the Dusseldorf Nachrichten he tells of a skirmish between a patrol of men from that city with an American patrol, who by their "impudent audacity" had been giving the Germans much trouble. Both parties were hidden in shell craters, he says, and stalked each other for nineteen hours, with the result, according to the German story, that three wounded American "satans" were brought in. For their work their captors received iron crosses.

GERMAN SNIPERS HIDING IN BUILDINGS AT FISMES LIKE MEXICANS AT VERA CRUZ

American Troops Are Mopping Them Up, While U. S. Cavalry Patrols Entire Region—Foil German Trickery.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Aug. 6 (United Press).—The situation in Fismes is peculiar—reminiscent of the days when the Americans occupied Vera Cruz. Although the town is held by our troops German snipers are still concealed in buildings and cellars. Americans on both sides of the Vesle are mopping up these snipers and stray machine guns.

Our advance forces are likely to continue beyond Fismes and let the rear elements finish the mopping up operations.

American cavalry is patrolling the Fismes region. Rain is still falling and all roads are semi-rivers. Fields are soft under foot, men and horses sinking deep in the mud at every step. The banks of the Vesle are more marshy than ever, making operations slower and more difficult.

Stiff fighting marked the taking of Fismes. The Germans had extensive machine gun defenses and rather heavy artillery concentrations. Extended artillery preparation preceded the American attack, smashing some of the machine gun nests and putting a few batteries out of action. Then the infantry stormed the others, fighting partly through the streets and partly in the open, and driving the enemy beyond the river which divided the town. Another smash threw the Germans completely out of the city, except for the snipers.

Just prior to the attack on Fismes the Americans inflicted heavy losses on the enemy as the latter retreated down the heights south and east of the town. The Americans reached the crest of the heights as the Germans were retreating down the slopes. Our riflemen and machine gunners opened up a deadly fire and soon carpeted the hillside with German dead and wounded.

Fismes was held by a German regiment with a special machine gun detachment which, according to prisoners, formed part of the reserves of Crown Prince Rupprecht's armies. The majority of prisoners are between eighteen and twenty years old. Their best men have been killed and replacements have been made from young reserve divisions. Included among the enemy divisions in this region are some of the crack guard regiments, as well as other types of their best troops.

The Americans are improving in their work of cleaning up machine gun positions without heavy losses. Every day they are encountering tricks new to them, but are meeting them by springing new tricks of their own.

$50,000,000 DRIVE PLAN OF K. OF C. IN NEW WAR WORK

To Start in January With Slogan "Everybody Welcome, Everything Free."

"Everybody welcome. Everything free." This was the slogan for the Knights of Columbus war huts in France which was selected to-day at the opening session of the Supreme Council of the order in the Victory Convention being held at the Waldorf-Astoria. The 252 official delegates from every State in the Union, from Canada and American possessions overseas all gave the adoption of this non-sectarian message of cheer for tired fighters their heartiest endorsement.

To such an extent has the Supreme Council amplified the war work both in cantonments here and in depots and billets in France, England and Italy that according to the sentiment at to-day's session, nothing short of $50,000,000 for war work in 1919 will do.

The drive will take place in January, according to the plans discussed to-day, and will spread to every land where the Knights of Columbus have representation.
