LAST TRIBUTE PAID TO FARLEY MARKED BY PATRIOTIC NOTE

Stars and Stripes and Khaki and Blue Uniforms Stand Out Among Church Colors.

NOTED THRONG AT BIER.

Body of Cardinal Is Laid in Cathedral Crypt After Picturesque Services.

By Martin Green.

Running through the picturesque and impressive final funeral services for John, Cardinal Farley, at St. Patrick's Cathedral to-day was an inspiring, blood tingling note, sometimes predominant, sometimes subordinated to the purely religious atmosphere of the solemn occasion, but always present—the note of militant patriotism.

The only flags carried in the parade preceding the requiem high mass were the Stars and Stripes and the insignia of the Naval Reserve. The only colors displayed in the church decorations were the purple and black of mourning and the red, white and blue of the United States.

At the beginning of the mass standing out prominently among the white and gold and purple vestments worn by the dignitaries and priests banked about the high altar were the khaki uniforms of the army, the olive drab uniforms of the marines and the blue of the naval service.

Preceding the entrance into the Cathedral by the bishops, archbishops and cardinals who marched in the parade a Naval Reserve band, stationed at the Fifth Avenue front of the edifice, played "The Star-Spangled Banner," while the vast audience within the walls and the great throngs in the streets for blocks around stood at silent, almost breathless attention.

And among the priests in the assemblage of mourners were many who displayed brown army boots equipped with spurs beneath the bottoms of their cassocks—chaplains, these, ready for service overseas.

It was a fitting finale to the career of Cardinal Farley, whose virile Americanism has been as a beacon light to the Catholic people of this archdiocese, the most populous in the world. It was a double lesson to tens of thousands of observers of all creeds, a lesson that patriotism and religion are working hand in hand in New York toward a single end, the prosecution of a war of right against might.

This afternoon the earthly remains of New York's beloved Archbishop and Cardinal were placed in a crypt under the high altar of St. Patrick's, where rest the bodies of Cardinal McCloskey, Archbishop Hughes and Archbishop Corrigan. This burial was a purely religious ceremony, participated in only by prelates and priests. From now on, high above the altar of the Cathedral the red hat of Cardinal Farley will hang beside that of his predecessor, Cardinal McCloskey.

MARSHALL IN FIRE AT WILLARD HOTEL, WANTS GAS MASK

Vice President, Fleeing From $100,000 Blaze in Red Bath Robe, Bumps Into Penrose.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—An early morning fire in the palm room and peacock alley of the New Willard Hotel to-day sent scores of noted guests scurrying to the street attired in negligees.

Among them was Vice President Marshall.

In a red bath robe he was somewhat flustered as he emerged into the lobby, bumping into Gov. Yates of Illinois and Senator Penrose, who were doing what they could to quiet the more excited guests.

"I wish I had a gas mask," remarked the Vice President, as he regained his composure.

Several women fainted, and one attempted to jump from a third floor window until yells from the crowd below convinced her she was in no immediate danger. A telephone girl warned roomers until she fainted from exhaustion and excitement.

The fire is attributed to a short circuit of wires in the palm room. Damage was confined to this room and "Peacock Alley" and is estimated at $100,000. Heavy smoke curling through the upper floors caused the hurried exit of many guests.

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—Exploring the failure of the Austrian peace proposals, the Rhenish Westphalian Gazette says:

"The motives for the note from Austria are multiple, but the refusal is unanimous. The Allied war cry is not one of boasting or bluff, but comes from the heart.

"We must recognize this fact, and also that it is justified, as the enemy must know our serious position while all offers of peace come from us."

CUBA SOON TO SEND 20,000 MEN TO THE WESTERN FRONT

Havana Merchant Declares First Contingent Is About Ready—Enthusiasm for Draft.

Within a short time the Red, White and Blue National colors of Cuba will be seen on the Western front in Europe alongside those of the other Allies, according to a statement made by José Serrano, a dry goods merchant in Havana, who was one of 107 passengers who arrived on an American steamship at an Atlantic port to-day. The first contingent of the Cuban army to go will be about 20,000 strong, he said.

Great patriotic enthusiasm was displayed in Cuba on Sept. 19, Cuba's last day, according to another passenger, Col. Henry Betancourt, who fought in the Cuban Army of Liberation and saw service with U. S. forces in Cuba and San Domingo.

Col. Betancourt, a native born Cuban, is now an American citizen and has returned to his country to enlist.

Thousands of young Cubans enlisted on that day and the recruiting stations became swamped. About 10,000 men gathered under the Draft Law. Col. Betancourt said.

HAIG ATTACKING ST. QUENTIN LINE; CAMBRAI GAINS

Strikes Toward the Picardy Base Directly From the West—Advance in Flanders.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—British forces are pressing in on St. Quentin directly from the west, to-day's report from Field Marshal Haig shows. He reports fighting taking place to the British advantage and announces progress by the attacking forces in the region east of Verdun.

Paris reports that artillery was active last night on the French front below St. Quentin and between the Aisne and the Aisne. No infantry action is reported in to-day's War Office statement.

On the front to the west of Cambrai, in the region north of Moeuvres, the British positions have been improved. In Flanders British troops succeeded in pushing forward a portion of the old British front lines southeast of Voormezele, below Ypres.

In the Arras-Lens sector the Germans tried to drive the British from the new positions the latter had won southeast of Gavrelle. The enemy was completely repulsed, the British retaining their line intact.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 24 (United Press).—The Germans, attempting to retake two posts east of Epohy to-day, lost 200 prisoners and 21 machine guns, besides leaving a hundred dead within the British lines.

Further north, five fresh German divisions, including one of Alpine troops, have arrived since Saturday. Two of the divisions are entirely fresh.

British and Greek Troops Take the Town of Doiran and, With the Italians on Their Left, Drive Up Vardar Valley—Serbs Alone Take 12,000 Prisoners and 140 Guns.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The Anglo-Greek forces in the Doiran region have effected a juncture with the Franco-Greek forces to the west and continue to pursue the retreating Bulgarians, says the British official statement on Macedonian operations.

The Anglo-Greeks have reached Smokvitsa, marking an advance of ten miles up the Vardar, and are at Bazarli, three miles north of Lake Doiran. The town of Doiran has been captured.

The Serbian troops continue to cross the River Vardar northeast of Monastir and are in contact with the Bulgarians, says the Serbian official statement of Monday.

The Bulgarians are burning villages and stores of material. The Serbs have captured great quantities of material.

Around Prilep the Serbs are on the Gradsko-Prilep Road, to the northeast, while to the southeast they have reached the steep massif of the Drenka mountain range.

As a result of the Serbian advance to this railroad, which was built by Germans, the 11th German division has been cut off from communication with the Bulgarian army and is in flight. The First Bulgarian army has been cut off from the Second army in the Dorian sector. The Serbs alone are reported to have taken 12,000 prisoners and 140 guns.

Italian troops, operating on the left flank of the British and Greeks in the Vardar valley, have advanced ten miles since yesterday, according to a despatch from Salonika.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The Havas Agency says many Bulgarian troops are deserting, according to advices from the Macedonian front. It is reported that 560 men from one regiment have been executed at the command of German officers.

Tanks were used in the Serbian offensive in Macedonia, the Echo de Paris said to-day.

BRITISH CHASE THE TURKS UP THE COAST OF PALESTINE; CAPTURE THE PORT OF ACRE

Enemy Troops East of Jordan Are Withdrawing Toward Amman, Pursued by Anzac, Jewish and Other Forces.

LONDON, Sept. 24.—British cavalry, pushing up the Mediterranean Coast of Palestine, have occupied Haifa and Acre, it is officially announced to-day.

East of the Jordan the Turks are withdrawing toward Amman, on the Hedjaz Railway. Australian, New Zealand, Jewish and other troops are pursuing the enemy and have reached Es-Salt, 15 miles northwest of Amman.

The total number of Turks taken prisoner will exceed largely the 25,000 already reported, the official statement announces.

Acre is on the Mediterranean, 22 miles northeast of Nazareth. It is a terminal of the railway running from Dera to the coast. Acre is famous for the sieges it has sustained. It was captured by the Crusaders in 1104, recaptured by the Saracens in 1187, and again captured by the Crusaders under Richard the Lion-Hearted, in 1191. The Saracens again took it in 1291.

In 1799 Napoleon attempted to capture Acre, but retreated after a siege of two months. It was taken by Ibrahim Pasha in 1832 and was bombarded by the combined British and Austrian fleets in 1840.

Gen. Allenby's remarkable success in Palestine was achieved against a total enemy strength of 100,000 Turks. The Turkish forces held positions of exceptional strength, with three lines of well-dug trenches and abundant artillery and machine gun protection.

The Turks were completely surprised, according to Reuter's correspondent in Palestine. Their reserves consisted of troops which recently arrived from the Caucasus. Field Marshal Liman von Sanders, commander of the Turkish forces, and his staff escaped capture by only six hours.
