BAKER ASSURES NEW YORK 77TH PARADE WILL BE HELD; ENTIRE DIVISION MAY MARCH

Secretary of War Says Every Effort Will Be Made to Bring Men Home Together.

ANSWERS PLEA OF CITY.

Army Chief Sails for France on Leviathan—La Guardia to Continue Fight.

Secretary of War Newton D. Baker made it certain, as he started for a brief visit to the American Expeditionary Forces in France on the transport Leviathan to-day, that the 77th Division would be brought back to New York in a way to insure a parade of nearly all if not all of the survivors of the division in this city before its men are demobilized.

The Secretary of War did not overrule the Army officials who failed to sense the importance of a proper homecoming of the 77th by making a flat announcement that the parade would be held. He simply expressed himself in words indicating his own feeling that the division ought to parade before its home folk, and added his promise to use the full authority of his office to bring about the parade.

The representatives of the city, including Chairman John Halleck of the New York City Draft Boards Association, who went to Hoboken to make representations to the secretary, came away satisfied that their mission was successful.

WILL BRING MEN HOME TOGETHER IF POSSIBLE.

This is what Secretary Baker said. "New York has been splendidly generous and hospitable in welcoming troops from all parts of the United States. New York deserves every opportunity to welcome its own. The only question involved is the ability to get them here sufficiently close together to prevent blockading other troops.

"I am told that arrangements have been made in Europe to send the division home as close together as possible and, when that is a question, there can be no difficulty about a parade."

Major F. H. La Guardia, Congressman and member of the House committee on Military Affairs, who also sailed on the Leviathan, assured Mr. Halleck that he would see to it that Secretary Baker would have the subject kept lively in his mind, in spite of the importance of other official distractions on the voyage and on his arrival in France.

"If it is a matter of expense, no difficulty has been anticipated," Major La Guardia, "perhaps we can all the officers of the War College to save enough money in adjusting the financial affairs of the A. E. F. to cover the cost of holding the parade. The people of the City of New York are very much entitled to this parade as they were

LIBERTY BONDS $5.17 HIGHER IN FRISCO THAN NEW YORK

Financial Experts Unable to Explain Wide Discrepancies in Quotations.

Wide discrepancies in Liberty bond quotations in the New York and San Francisco exchanges to-day caused considerable comment in financial circles. First 31-2s were quoted $5.17 higher in San Francisco than in New York. In the past the New York quotations have been higher than the Pacific coast figures because of a better market here.

The financial expert of the Dow Jones Company was unable to explain the discrepancy. Exchange rates and even accrued interest could not have been the cause, he said.

Following is a comparison of the quotations:

	New York	San Francisco
First 31-2s	99.92	104.19
Second 31-2s	93.74	98.31
Third 31-2s	85.64	89.72
Fourth 31-2s	93.76	95.02

HARBOR STRIKERS VOTE TO CONTINUE THEIR FIGHT

Reject Compromise Offer of Ten-Hour Day and Increase in Wages.

Harbor workers still on strike voted this afternoon almost unanimously to continue the fight for an eight-hour day. Their action killed the plan of boat owners to submit a compromise offer of a ten-hour day and an increase in wages. The strike is now as far from settlement as it was March 4, when the men were called out.

Officials of the New York Tow Boat Exchange were crestfallen when they learned of the strike vote. They had predicted the men would accept the ten-hour and increase in pay offer. Paul Boynege, counsel, said no attempt would be made to bring about a settlement on an eight-hour basis. The boatowners will continue the fight.

"THIRD AVENUE BRIDE" SUES FOR SEPARATION

Mrs. Thorne, Unable to Find Husband, Gets Order for Service by Publication.

Mrs. Mary Casey Thorne, the "Third Avenue bride" of Joel W. Thorne, has brought a suit for separation. It was brought today through an order signed by Justice Cobden directing service by publication.

Mrs. Thorne charges that her husband deserted her on the third birthday of their son, Joel W. Thorne Jr., and that he afterward took the child away from her. It is said that the 77th Division parade she was to see with her son in the city of New York was a much entitled to this parade as they were

500 POUND SAFE HAULED TWO MILES, ROBBED OF $7,950

Cracksmen Operating in Six Places Make Rich Hauls in Cash and Bonds.

Burglars picked up a 500-pound safe in a third-floor apartment in West 112th Street, carried it two miles south to a Central Park meadow opposite the Century Theatre, ripped it open leisurely and helped themselves to $500 in cash, $1,450 Liberty Bonds, a bank book and jewelry worth $4,000.

The safe and its contents were the property of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Grossman, who make their home in the Lenora at No. 263 West 112th Street. Grossman, at present in Virginia, is a broker, with offices at No. 7 Pine Street.

The Grossman treasure-chest was one of six New York safes the police admit were looted during Saturday night and Sunday, but was the only safe carried away to be ripped apart out of doors. In addition the door knobs were torn off two other safes, but it has not been learned yet whether they were looted.

The other burglaries took place at a branch of the Eagle Wet Wash Laundry, No. 427 East 13th Street; a Leggett-Riker drug store, No. 15 West 34th Street; Baldwin Brothers' market, No. 1322 Third Avenue, the office of William G. Wagner & Son, provision dealers at No. 571 First Avenue, and Matlack Coal & Iron Corporation, No. 52 Vanderbilt Avenue.

Mrs. Grossman went to a motion picture theatre last night with a woman friend. Returning to the Lenora at 11 o'clock, she observed that the apartment door opened with unusual ease. The lock had been forced. She found a jimmy on the dining room floor and saw that the 500-pound safe, so heavy it was originally brought upstairs by three men, was missing.

The burglars who took $800 from a small safe in the laundry at No. 427 East 13th Street—the laundry is on the second floor—were heard by a private watchman in another laundry downstairs.

The watchman walked nine blocks to the East 23d Street Police Station only to find that he was in the wrong precinct. Being a good fellow he trudged south again to the East 23d Street Station.

Detectives of the East 34th Street Station are wondering how to account for the disappearance of $2,100 in Liberty Bonds and $400 cash reported to them by H. C. Matlack of the Matlack Coal & Iron Corporation, No. 52 Vanderbilt Avenue.

When Mr. Matlack arrived at his office this morning he found the door of the safe open and the contents missing. He locked the safe, he said, when he left the office Saturday afternoon, and placed the key in the accustomed hiding place.

The holder of the safe in the market of Baldwin Brothers, No. 1322 Third Avenue, was brought to light when a street cleaner in East 126th Street, eight blocks distant, picked up a package of cancelled checks. The White Wings turned the bundle over to the police, who called on Leonard Baldwin at his home in East 14th Street and went to the store with him.

Baldwin estimates the firm's loss at $1,500 in cash, Liberty bonds worth $1,450 and jewelry worth $4,000.

NEW STATEMENT ON PEACE COMING FROM LLOYD GEORGE

British Premier to Issue an Important Announcement To-Night Concerning the Completion of Work in Paris.

LONDON, April 7.—Premier Lloyd George will make an important statement to-night concerning the completion of the work of the Peace Conference, a Central News despatch from Paris says.

PARIS, April 7.—The Peace Conference Commission on Reparation and Damage to-day adopted a provisional report upon the various forms of damage and the methods of valuation. The report was presented by the first sub-committee of the commission.

Because of the independence of Premier Lloyd George and the corresponding loss of President Wilson's confidence in him, it is believed that the Commission will hold a session in the afternoon.

An extremely optimistic impression now prevails regarding the settlement of the reparations of the question of the financial aspects of the situation also states that it appears France will be completely satisfied with the report, provided that it is a genuine one.

ROUSING WELCOME FOR ADMIRAL SIMS AS HE GETS HOME

Aircraft and Warships Carrying Notables and Family Meet Him Down Bay.

The Mauretania, with Admiral William S. Sims, commander of the United States Fleet in European waters throughout the war, entered New York Bay at 2:30 this afternoon and a few minutes later the big welcome which had been prepared for the naval hero began.

The celebration was delayed but by no means chilled by the heavy fog which settled over the nearby Atlantic at dawn and demoralized water traffic until late in the afternoon, delaying the ship eight hours. The submarine chaser Aramis, with the Admiral's family aboard, waited at Pier A until the Mauretania reported at the lightship and then went down to join the other craft in the welcoming fleet. All day long a cheerfully patient crowd waited at the Cunard pier and in the nearby streets.

Admiral Sims returned home on the second anniversary of his arrival at Liverpool to take command of all American naval activities in European waters. He left America before this country entered the war and landed in Liverpool the day after war was declared.

A spectacular welcome was prepared for the Admiral. Besides the various boats which went down the harbor, airplanes, dirigibles and flying boats greeted him.

The feature which delighted him most was meeting his family after two years' absence.

DESTROYERS AND AIRSHIPS GREET ADMIRAL

The Ammen, Beale, Burrows, Drayton, Paulding and Terry, vanguard of the big fleet on its way to New York, went down the bay to escort the Mauretania in. At Ambrose Light Vessel they were joined by six submarine chasers, one of them, the No. 45, with a balloon. Another balloon soared from the U. S. S. Gloucester.

From Rockaway came an air escort of eight warplanes and one dirigible. Admiral Sims is accompanied by his staff, Capt. R. H. Leigh, Capt. J. R. P. Frimlie, Capt. D. W. Knox, Commander V. V. Babcock, Commander H. H. Stark, Commander W. A. Fairfield and Commander W. A. Edwards. The motor Amphitrite fired a salute.

PARIS, April 7.—President Wilson's condition was improved this morning, but he is still unable to leave his room, according to the direction of Rear Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, the President will remain in his room to-day, attending to meetings.

Apparently the President's condition is the last stages of the wearing-out process. He hopes to be able to return to work on Tuesday.
