Chiropractic For Health

The center of attraction in the body is the spine. It is here that abnormalities, such as partial dislocations of the vertebrae, adhesions of two or more of these bones, thinning of cartilages between them, and contracted ligaments and muscles, will so press against the soft nerve tissue of spinal cord and spinal nerves as to partially, at least, cut off or confuse the mental impulses which travel over them to and from the brain and the organs and tissues they supply. This will cause enervation in those tissues and organs, which in turn results in disease. This accounts for many chronic cases which do not respond to drug treatment and are classed as incurable.

The dentists tell us it is essential to have the teeth examined frequently to detect defects in their incipency, that they may be treated to save decay and disease. Has it occurred to you that your spine should be examined frequently by persons who make a special study of it to ascertain what if any abnormalities exist in it and correct them by adjustments to overcome bodily ailments that nerve pressure will cause, also to prevent more serious consequences as the result of longer standing and greater disorganization of the spinal parts? You may have these displacements in the spine without having any pain to give consciousness of them, just as you may have a slight decay of a tooth without knowing it.

PLATFORM THAT ELECTED ROBERT VANELLA "MAYOR" OF POULOUS JAMES ST.

PUBLIC PARK, no matter how small, for children in the James Street neighborhood. Abundant ventilation in factories, particularly where rag and paper sorters work. Proper sanitary arrangements in buildings where both men and women are employed. Investigation and adjustment of every complaint of whatever nature. Increased wages for drivers, pressers and sorters in the rag and paper business.

JAMES STREET HAS A NEW 'MAYOR' AND HE IS A HUSTLER

Robert Vanella Is Going to Make All His Neighbors Happy.

Robert Vanella, born within a stone's throw of Gov. Smith's home thirty-five years ago and now an undertaker at No. 38 James Street, was elected "Mayor" of James Street last night at a rousing meeting of Italians—300 or more—at No. 55 Oak Street. The first thing he did this morning was to perform his first act as "Mayor." Mrs. Nicola Pignatro, now one of Vanella's constituents, appeared, in tears, to beg him to help her regain possession of property on Long Island worth $700, on which she has been paying $10 a month for thirty-one months. Mrs. Pignatro was excited and desperate, for the company owning the land had told her something had happened—she could not understand—and the land did not belong to her any more. Neither did the $310 she had paid. "Mayor" Vanella promised to put the case before Mayor Hylan's committee before the day ended and keep up the fight until Mrs. Pignatro got her land or her money back. When a reporter for The Evening World sought out Vanella this morning he found him getting freshened up in a barber shop on Roosevelt Street. The "Mayor" explained that he had a big funeral for the afternoon—twenty or more carriages—and, well, it was a big funeral, that's all. The "Mayor" was saluted ceremoniously all along the street, and it was apparent that the entire district is depending on him to settle their troubles. Vanella is the first "Mayor" James Street ever had, but he is a snappy, politically trained man, and already has won the confidence of the Italians and the Greeks too.

"Mayor" Vanella outlined his platform in his undertaking establishment, where an altar, a red light burning before a Pieta under the canopy, recalled the numerous funerals, Greek Orthodox and Roman, that have been conducted there, many of them free. "The people elected me just to give me a title," he said. "I have been working for a long time to get higher wages for the rag and paper sorters here, and obtain other improvements, and we're all going to work together and get them. Some of the owners want their men to work for from $4 to $10 a week. Our scale is to be $23 for drivers, $26 for pressers and $23 or $24 for sorters. "I will help everybody that gets in trouble—try to find him a lawyer, try to get bail, help any way I can. "Look at the children, with no place to play but the street. "There goes a man that was discharged from a sorting job; I found him one right away at a dock. There's enough to be done down here." About 25,000 persons live in "Mayor" Vanella's "city," which includes James, Madison, Catharine, Chestnut, Roosevelt, Cherry, Oliver, Oak and Monroe Streets and New Bowery. The "Mayor" is also a political leader of the people, being Vice President of the Downtown Tammany Club and Assistant Captain of the 13th Assembly District. He has been active in politics for several years.

POLICE OUT TO "GET" VASSAR GIRL STUDENTS WHO STOOP

Tap on Shoulder, Forceful or Otherwise, Is Punishment for First Offense. (Special to The Evening World.) Poughkeepsie, April 7.—The Vassar Stand Up Straight Police are out to "get" any college girl in this town who disobeys the title command. It's a revolution already, with a more or less blood-and-iron penal code for the offender. A tap on the shoulder, administered with whatever degree of force the police deem necessary, is the punishment for the first offense. For the second? Ah, but nobody dares offend twice, and so nobody knows just what would happen in so horrible a hypothesis. The police wear badges, carry a book of laws, and lie in wait for lawbreakers. A girl is likely to be stopped anywhere and reprimanded in any one of the following forms: "Your heels are too high; your skirt is too narrow; your shoulders are stooped; your posture is bad." And you ought to see what a difference it is making.
