GLASS LAYS STONE FOR WALL STREET'S NEW ASSAY OFFICE

Secretary of the Treasury Says New York Will Soon Be World's Money Centre.

New York City is surely on the road to supplant London as the financial metropolis of the world. This prediction was made by Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury, this afternoon at the cornerstone laying of the new United States Assay Office adjoining the Sub Treasury in Wall Street.

Nearly every one of consequence in the financial life of the city was present when Mr. Glass delivered his address. He was introduced by his predecessor in office, William G. McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson. Nearby were William H. Edwards, Collector of Internal Revenue, Congressman Jacob Cantor and Daniel Beardon and Verne M. Bowie, Superintendent of the Assay Office.

As soon as he was introduced Secretary Glass said: "Ever since the Federal Reserve system of banks began operation it became evident how foolish were the fears of the bankers of this city concerning their loss of prestige and power. Each day has shown that instead of placing New York in jeopardy of losing her title of money metropolis of the country she is on the sure road of gaining distinction as the money metropolis of the world not even excepting London. The time is coming when the New York market will rule the money world, and that time is not distant."

Superintendent Bowie related that the site of the new Assay Office is on the exact spot used for the first United States Bank, which opened in 1823.

LANDLADY SAYS PATRIOTISM STOPS AT THE POCKETBOOK

Woman Complains When Rent is Raised $15 a Month While Husband is on War Duty.

A doctor living next door to Judge Nott on East 51st Street tells the Mayor's Committee that his house suffered $1,000 damages when the Judge's home was bombed June 3, and that now the City Chamberlain has called in his mortgage on nine days' notice. He asks if the committee's activities cover his case.

Andrew Hiss of No. 481 West 158th Street puts his complaint in the form of an affidavit. He says he has been paying $85 a month and has now received notice from Schechter & Kroff, the agents, that on Oct. 1 he must pay $125 or get out.

At a hearing held to-day by Commissioner of Accounts David Hirschfeld, Madeline Cannon testified that she had lived at No. 114-118 West 103d Street ten years; that for nine years she paid $55 a month; that last year her rent was raised to $60, and that now $75 is demanded. She said her husband is serving abroad as a Knight of Columbus secretary.

The landlady, Mrs. Mary Drucker of No. 45 Pinehurst Avenue, when asked by the Commissioner if she regarded herself as a patriotic woman, answered: "My patriotism is like everybody else's—it stops at the pocketbook."

Commissioner Hirschfeld ordered her to bring her account books to him tomorrow.

FINED FOR BAD MEAT.

Judge Alexander Brough, sitting in the Municipal Term Court to-day imposed fines on Armour & Co., No. 492 10th Avenue, and Wilson & Company, No. 2319 12th Avenue, for having in their establishments meat unwholesome and unfit for human consumption.

The Armour concern was fined $200 for holding 1,000 pounds of unfit pork trimmings, and Wilson & Co. were fined $30 for holding 153 pounds of bad pig snouts. The first offense took place in January. The case has been adjourned several times since then.

To help you get ready for the glorious Fourth---
Wednesday at Wanamaker's Down-Stairs

The summer dress you want is surely among these

More than 30 models for women, $6.75 to $18.75

CAN you doubt that there is something for everybody—something new, and good, and dainty? The pictures tell a large part of the story today; but, unfortunately, you can't see the quality of the fabrics, nor the trimmings, nor the patterns, nor the colorings on paper. Those things you must see with your own eyes.

PRICES begin at $6.75, and there are plenty of these inexpensive frocks. Next price is $8.75; then $12.75, $13.50, $15.75, $16.50 and $18.75. Voiles, of course, play the prominent part, and there are more patterns and colorings than you could think of in a week. Figures, plaids, stripes, dots, foulard patterns, hairlines, quaint little tea rose effects, and solid colors. A host of pretty trimmings, well done, in excellent taste, and widely varied. Sizes in every group from 34 to 42.

Fourth Avenue Side, Down-Stairs Store, Old Bldg.

Still coming to the silk remnant sale

NEW YORK women know Wanamaker silks. They know, likewise, that a Wanamaker silk sale is widely different from the usual hi-or-mis affairs that occur with every new moon, or oftener.

THUS, when this semi-annual event comes round there is the knowledge born of experience that Wanamaker's will surely have something worth while.

THERE were 5,000 remnants in this sale when it began last week. They represented odd pieces left from our regular stock, some of which had been cut into the proper lengths for frocks, skirts, waists and other uses.

THERE were—and still are—GOOD silks as low as $1 a yard. There are plenty of the wanted weaves, plenty of the wanted colors, plenty of everything needed for summer.

Down-Stairs Store, New Bldg.

Inexpensive white waists $1.15

If good white voile waists were plentiful at $1.15, the story would be different; but here, at the very time when plenty of inexpensive waists are needed, these at $1.15 bring this happy message.

Slipover voile waists; cross-bar lawns with lace trimming; cross-bar voiles; voiles with organdie collars, and various other well-made styles. The choosing is excellent. Down-Stairs Store, Old Bldg.

Safety first!

EVERYBODY knows the necessity of a safe in business. A business man would be as likely to be without a safe for his books as he would be to be without a lock and key to his office. But how about the home?

A Wanamaker Home Safe

—will protect your silverware, heirlooms, insurance papers, and other things from fire and thieves. Every Wanamaker safe is made right, guaranteed to BE right, $35 to $75. Stationery Section Down-Stairs Store, New Bldg.

Parasols

Latest styles in a sale at $1.95

Odd lots of $3 and $3.50 grades

VERY unusual—this sale of new parasols at the very beginning of the parasol season. The word ODD tells the story. It also suggests the ample variety of colors and styles that all women like to choose from.

THERE are plain colors, with wide bands of contrasting colors; dainty figures of many kinds; and solid colors. Many have gilt frames. All are the new small shapes, with attractive handles. 200 women and misses can profit. Down-Stairs Store, New Bldg.

One of the hardest things to find—

—this season is a good white skirt for women that can be sold under $2. GOOD in this case means good fabrics and good workmanship—a skirt that will give satisfaction. We have, today, 550 skirts of this type—

White skirts—$1.75

—skirts that are good for general wear. The fabric is a white gabardine, made in five different styles. Waistbands 26 to 40 inches. Down-Stairs Store, Old Bldg.

The pin money dress shop

—has a practical way of serving both women and misses. The feature this season has been—

Wash frocks, $5

—and by keeping a watchful eye on market conditions, we have been able to keep plenty of these good dresses in stock. The styles and fabrics vary from day to day because these inexpensive frocks are frequently made from odd pieces of voile, gingham and organdie. Every dress must pass Wanamaker inspection—it must be worthy. Sizes 14 to 44. Rotunda—Down-Stairs Store, Old Bldg.

...Mark Down... Women's suits and coats that were $18.75 to $37.50

All out at $12.75

85 coats that were originally held for out-of-town customers. Serges, velours and homespuns—some silk lined. A few dolmans among them. The lowest price we've known this season for coats of equal quality. Sizes 16 to 42. ALL at $12.75.

60 suits that were originally held for out-of-town customers. All wool serges, tweeds, poplins. Belted, box and sports models. Sizes for women and misses. ALL at $12.75.

Prices like these for standard Wanamaker garments may not come again in many months. Women who can look ahead—who can see farther than the present season—will profit well by this opportunity. Rotunda, Down-Stairs Store, Old Bldg.

Misses' frocks at $5.75

—will answer many a 4th of July dress question during the next two days. Voiles that are sheer and cool; gingham that are substantial. Good dressmaking points to service. Broadway Side—Down-Stairs Store, Old Bldg.

Reducing prices on men's suits

None was less than $25. Some were $29.50. $22.50

—is unusual in the Broadway Store, because the Broadway Store for men is a store of lower prices. But—

Now that the season is advanced, there are broken lines of good suits that must take lower prices in accordance with Wanamaker policy.

Fancy chevots and cassimeres, and a few serges offer satisfactory choosing for every man. Straight sack coats and waist seam models are about evenly divided.

Broadway, Corner Eighth Street

Store opens 9 A. M.—closes 5 P. M. Closed all day Friday and Saturday, July 4th and 5th, and all Saturdays during July and August.

MEN'S CLOTHES STORE

MEN'S PALM BEACH SUITS

We believe that ours is the largest assortment to be found in any store in New York City this season

At these three prices:

$13.50 $15.50 $18.50

(Note: The $18.50 Suits Are Silk Trimmed)

What you should know at the outset is that these suits were tailored in shops that are exclusively given over to the tailoring of Tropical garments. And you can see the difference the moment you take a coat in your hand and examine it. You'll find no "puckering," but beautiful, cleanly tailored workmanship through and through. Now as for the colors: No other store in town, we are confident, has the selection that you'll see here. And when it comes to large sizes—we have them up to 52.

You can get to the Men's Clothes Store through the McCreery 5th Avenue Arcade.
