CONCESSIONS BY EMPLOYERS ON COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AT THE LABOR CONFERENCE

Agree to Principle, Without Limiting Rights of Workers to Keep Out of Unions.

LABOR NOT SATISFIED.

Employer Group Seeks More Time for Discussion; Feeling is Generally Hopeful.

By David Laurence. (Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (Copyrighted, 1919.)—Anybody dropping casually into the Industrial Peace Conference would imagine some mysterious meeting of conspirators was being rehearsed. Here and there groups of men talking in low and earnest tones to one another, joined by an individual or two who a moment later move quickly to another group, exchange a few words and hurry back again—all of this for two hours before the session is scheduled to begin. But that's the way the conference is trying to get harmony between capital and labor.

The procedure seems to be open covenants, openly arrived at part of the time, and private discussion and a passing around of compromise plans before night and before and after the sessions in an effort to get agreement. Nothing more dramatic has been witnessed in the National Capital in many years than the open discussion on the right of wage-earners to organize.

RESPONSIBILITY OF A BREAK PUT UP TO EMPLOYER GROUP. The Public and Labor Groups having united in support of a general resolution on that subject—with Judge Gary temporarily absent from the Public Group—it became necessary for the employers to take the responsibility for a break up in the conference itself or offer some substitute resolution as a compromise.

The trouble is that the Employers' Group is not cohesive. The former representatives openly expressed their sympathy with Labor's position on collective bargaining. Some of the spokesmen of the Employers' Group, like Frederick Fish of Boston, made extensive speeches, but some of his colleagues didn't agree with much of what he said, and the Employers' Group finally managed to agree among themselves on a resolution that would show clearly that capital wasn't opposed to representation by the workers in industry, but they deemed it vitally necessary to delineate what the form of that representation should be.

Outmaneuvered in the dramatic session of Thursday, the employers came back to the fray on Friday with a clearer statement of their reasons for dissent and a proposal that the least means a basis for compromise or further discussion and propels the whole conference to step further toward agreement instead of dissolution.

NEW SPECIALIST CALLED TO WILSON; STILL RESTS WELL

"Prostatic Condition Checking General Improvement," Says His Doctors.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—While President Wilson was feeling well to-day, his physicians said the prostatic condition from which he had been suffering for several days was checking the general improvement of the past two weeks. The doctors issued the following bulletin: "12.25 P. M., White House, Oct. 7, 1919: 'The President passed a comfortable night and is feeling well this morning. His temperature, pulse and respiration rates are normal. The prostatic condition is not as satisfactory as yesterday and is checking general improvement of the past two weeks.'

"GRAYSON, 'STUTT.' Dr. Grayson announced that he had called in Dr. Hugh Young, of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, one of the foremost specialists in the country on prostatic troubles, and that he was expected at the White House some time to-day.

During the morning, the President was treated by Dr. Fowler, a Washington specialist, who was called in when the President first suffered this complication several days ago.

Dr. Young will make a thorough examination of the swelling of the gland to determine whether an operation is necessary. Dr. Grayson said.

The physician said the swelling of the prostate gland, from which the President had been free all day yesterday and the night before, returned in the early hours this morning and caused some irritation.

While the trouble might be only minor in character, Dr. Grayson said, there was no doubt that it had retarded somewhat the progress the President had been making toward recovery.

Irritation accompanying the swelling of the prostate gland, he explained, was calculated to affect adversely the nervous condition of the patient.

$100,000 THEFT REVEALS DIVORCE AND NEW ROMANCE

Mrs. Turner, Robbed of Jewels, Accused Her Husband of Larceny in 1918.

CASES DROPPED LATELY.

Court Told Wife Had Obtained Divorce and Was to Wed Again.

If a thief had not stolen the jewels of Mrs. Syela Studebaker Brandeis Turner, No. 166 West 72nd Street—jewels valued at $100,000—New York might still be entirely ignorant of the newest romance in her life. And yet there are court records a week old about the new romance.

The records were dug out to-day by an Evening World reporter after detectives working on the jewel theft had remembered that this was not the first appearance of Mrs. Turner as a victim in somewhat similar circumstances.

The detectives recalled that in June, 1918, Mrs. Turner caused the indictment of her husband, Charles Wesley Turner Jr., son of a Wall Street broker, on charges of grand larceny and forgery. The indictments were never brought to trial, and a search of the records of the Court of General Sessions revealed the reason.

Eight days ago Assistant District Attorney Edwin P. Kilroe appeared before Judge Wadhams and recommended the dismissal of the Turner indictments. In doing so he said:

"These charges grew out of matrimonial troubles between the complaining witness and the defendant, her husband. Since then the financial disputes between the two have been adjusted. The complaining witness has obtained a divorce from the defendant and, I am informed, is about to marry again.

"For that purpose she has sailed for England, where she intends to make her home in the future. She does not intend to return to this country."

Attached to the recommendation was an affidavit dated June 30, 1919, signed "Lyela Brandeis Turner." It said:

"Since these indictments were obtained I have obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce and am about to sail for England for an indefinite period. I do not wish to press the charges against Charles Wesley Turner Jr. and I ask that they be dismissed."

If Mrs. Turner has married again or if she plans to do so, the name of the man has not yet appeared. Neither have the details of the divorce case been brought out. Mr. Kilroe said to-day that he knew nothing more than appeared in his court statement concerning either the divorce or the new marriage. Nor was he able to account for the presence of Mrs. Turner in New York at this time, when she was supposed to be living in London. Mrs. Turner declined to see reporters to-day at her New York home.

EX-CONGRESSMAN'S SISTER, WHO WILL BE BRIDE OF CORNELIUS VANDERBILT JR.

MISS LITTLETON WILL BE BRIDE OF YOUNG VANDERBILT

General's Son, Now Newspaper Worker, Declines to Discuss Approaching Wedding.

Miss Rachel Littleton, a sister of former Congressman Martin W. Littleton, the lawyer who nominated Judge Alton B. Parker in 1904 for President, is to become the bride of Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., only son of Brig. Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt, No. 649 Fifth Avenue.

Miss Littleton, who lives with her brother at Plandome, L. I., could not be reached, and Mr. Vanderbilt refused to discuss the details of his engagement. He recently took up newspaper reporting and became a member of a New York paper's staff.

Refusing to attend an officers' training camp, young Vanderbilt enlisted as a private during the world war in the Headquarters Troop of the 27th Division. He had taken his father's advice to start at the bottom.

Young Cornelius went south with the 27th in August, 1917, and did any kind of odd jobs assigned to him with a cheerfulness that won the admiration of his comrades. Finally he was made a chauffeur for Lieut. Col. Kincaid, Judge Advocate of the Division.

He went overseas with the Headquarters detachment in June, 1918, but later was transferred to Camp Lewis, Washington, where his father, as a General, was training engineer recruits. When the armistice was signed the young man was on the list for a lieutenantcy.

The announcement of Mr. Vanderbilt's engagement recalled a story he wrote some time ago for a Seattle newspaper, and reprinted here, in which he compared the attractiveness of Seattle and of New York girls. He wrote enthusiastically of the charms of the Seattle girls and declared they were far superior to their New York sisters—that is all except ONE New York girl. It seems clear now the particular New York girl he had in mind.

Martin W. Littleton, at his office, No. 149 Broadway, sent out word to inquirers to-day that he could not discuss his sister's engagement.

GIANT ZEP, BUILT TO BOMB NEW YORK, WILL CROSS OCEAN

Engineer Says Craft, Measuring 600 Feet, Is Now in Spandau.

U. S. CREW TO MAN IT.

Big Dirigible Was Ready at Armistice for Mission of Destruction.

A German Zeppelin, six hundred feet long, which was ready to start for America with a cargo of bombs to drop on New York when the armistice negotiations began, is now in a shed at Spandau, Germany, and, if the Allied Governments will permit, will soon start for America on a peaceful mission under control of American officers, according to Emil J. Simon of New York, a radio engineer who arrived to-day on the steamship Adriatic.

"This Zeppelin," Mr. Simon said, "is the only one built for war purposes that was not destroyed by the Germans. It is said to be the best and largest machine of its kind that the Germans ever built, and could carry a load of more than three tons of high explosives.

"In company with Col. Kingsley I recently had a ride in a smaller passenger Zeppelin, the one which I was told was soon to begin a passenger service between Germany and Sweden under the direction of the Hamburg-American Line. We had a glimpse of the big Zeppelin, but were not permitted to examine it closely.

"It was my understanding that should the Allied Commission decline to permit it to be used by Americans for the purpose of crossing the Atlantic it would be destroyed or disabled so that it could not be used at all."

TRANSFERS HANGED MAN'S GLANDS INTO LIVING MAN

Operation Performed at San Quentin, Cal., Prison, Hoping to Aid Aged Convict.

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., Oct. 17.—After Tom Bolton, a murderer, was hanged here to-day, Dr. G. David Kelker removed vitality-giving glands from the body, transferred them to the body of a sixty-year-old man.

Dr. Kelker chose the old prisoner from several who desired to benefit from the operation. The operation has been performed nine times before at the prison, but has been given little publicity.

Prisoners who have received the glands have gained weight and vitality and have been helped mentally, according to the doctors.

MUTINY IN SOVIETS AS RUSSIAN ARMY NEARS PETROGRAD

Some Doubt Cast on Reported Fall of Kronstadt and the Capital.

ADVANCE IS KEPT UP.

Bolshevist Forces Still Apparently Keep Their Hold Upon Tsarskoe Selo.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The march of Gen. Yudenitch at the head of the Northwestern Russian Army on the City of Petrograd, was still progressing favorably at the latest advices. Some reports of his advance have apparently outrun his actual progress.

There appeared some doubt to-day whether the Fortress of Kronstadt, outpost at the water approach to Petrograd, had capitulated to British naval forces, as indicated in reports during the night. The British Admiralty had received no confirmatory advices and the accuracy of the news was questioned in admiralty circles. There was no confirmation of the reported fall of Petrograd.

Despatches from Scandinavia have announced the capture of Gatchina, twenty-five miles south of Petrograd, by the Yudenitch forces, and stated that he was advancing on Tsarskoe Selo, former summer residence of Emperor Nicholas, and Kraa-Noye-Selo, nearby.

Reports of the capture of these places by the Anti-Bolshevik Army seemed of doubtful accuracy. A Bolshevik wireless station is located at Tsarskoe-Selo, and an announcement was made by the wireless press here this morning that the Bolsheviks were apparently still in possession of it, as Soviet propaganda was yet being sent out from the station during this forenoon.

Soviet troops are reported to be leaving Petrograd, a mutiny among the men having broken out. In any event, advices indicate that the Yudenitch forces are encountering feeble resistance.

Bolshevik troops are said to have captured Kiev, but in this region the situation is obscure. It was reported last week that Kiev was in the hands of General Petlura's Ukrainian army, which advanced against General Denikin's left flank following Petlura's declaration of war on the Cossack chieftain.

There is some uncertainty as to the exact situation in Lithuania, where Russian and Lithuanian forces are mobilized. Lithuanian troops have been ordered to advance against Shavil, in the government of Kovno. If this movement should be carried out, the Lithuanians would be in the rear of the German-Russian forces which advanced against Riga last week and have since last Friday been fighting Lettish and Estonian troops in that city.

U. S. PLANS NATION-WIDE CRUSADE ON RADICALISM; TO ARREST ALL AGITATORS

Fifteen More Seized in New Raid at Gary—Evidence Found Said to Link Steel Strike Leaders with Agents of Russian Soviets.

GARY, Ind., Oct. 17.—A nation-wide investigation by Department of Justice agents is actually in progress to round up radicals who are arousing the industrial centres of the country, it became known here to-day. Wholesale arrests of I. W. W. and Bolshevist agitators are planned.

A carload of tear gas shells and special riot guns is en route to Gary, following the revelation by the military authorities of the radical plot here, Col. W. S. Mapes announced to-day.

These are the latest results of the military drive, continued during the night with new raids on radicals here by six details of soldiers, that has furnished the Government with definite information linking leaders of the steel strike with representatives of the Russian Soviet Government.

The army's raiding squads last night rounded up twenty men, fifteen of whom were later ordered held, and confiscated a large quantity of literature, including a lot of correspondence.

It became known to-day that every bit of Red literature seized in Gary was taken to Chicago to be translated, sorted and classified at the Federal Building there.

This evidence is said to comprise pamphlets, handbills, radical newspapers, personal letters and lists of names in approximately forty different languages. It is said to divulge the various ramifications of a plot to overthrow the Government participated in by the I. W. W.'s, Spartacists, Communists and the Federated Soviets of New York and various Anarchistic organizations.

This evidence, together with names of those involved, will be distributed as soon as translated to the Federal authorities in the particular districts involved.

Five hundred more men of the 6th Division were trained for Camp Grant at 11 o'clock last night, leaving only the 800 men originally dispatched from Fort Sheridan on patrol in the strike zone.

Some of the strike leaders against whom evidence has been obtained are declared to have possessed credentials as delegates to conclaves of Reds at which actual preparations were made to merge the Soviets of Russia and America.

The strikers' Executive Council have taken action to force the Government to show its hand. A thousand American citizens in the union's ranks were directed by Paul S. Glazer, the strikers' counsel, to prepare to march to military headquarters and demand of Col. Mapes, the commanding officer, the facts on which he based his statement Wednesday, that "if the loyal element could see the Government's evidence, the strike would be over to-morrow."

Later, Col. Mapes said that he had merely informed the attorney that the project would be useless, that the Government was not prepared to reveal its evidence and that its position in the abandonment or continuation of the strike was neutral.

Secretary of War Baker wants to find out just what is the industrial and revolutionary situation in Gary. Major Thomas B. Crockett, head of the Chicago Army Intelligence

EX-SOLDIERS AND SAILORS RAID A BOLSHEVIK RALLY AND BEAT UP AN ORATOR

Speaker Rushed From Grand Rapids in Auto and Ordered Never to Return.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 17.—TWENTY-FIVE former soldiers, sailors and marines in uniform late last night raided a west side hall where an alleged Bolshevist meeting was in progress.

They removed Theodor Korolinko, who was addressing the meeting, rushed him in an automobile to a nearby village and after beating him ordered him to leave Kent County and never return. Korolinko said his home was in Eleventh Street, New York.

Korolinko was one of the orators at a convention of Ukrainian radicals held at the Manhattan Lyceum, this city, June 23 last. His home is with Rochester, W. Shopinsky presided at the convention.
