TEN OVERCOME BY GAS IN JERSEY CITY

Seeped Into Cellars From Leaking Main—Leaking Meter Causes Death Here.

Gas, seeping into cellars from a leaky main, overcame ten persons at Nos. 47 and 49 Newark Street, Jersey City, this morning. Seven were taken to the city hospital. All, it is believed, will recover. Those taken to the hospital were Mrs. Lena Blackman, Miss Elizabeth Connell, Bernard Kelly, Mrs. Lena Agman, Charles Agman, Julius Agman and Bertha Agman. Three others, Herbert Blackman, Winnie Blackman, both children, and Frank Scannell, were freed at their homes.

Neighbors, smelling gas, this morning called in Patrolman Edward Doyle of the Fifth Street Station. Doyle broke into the basement rooms of Frank Martinek, sixty-four years old, at No. 124 East Third Street, and found gas leaking from a quarter meter. Martinek had been dead several hours.

The life of Flavus Hempstone, sixty years old, No. 184 Lexington Avenue, was saved this morning by the use of a pump from the Consolidated Gas Company. When Hempstone went to bed last night he left the gas burner on. When other tenants turned on their gas it is believed the pressure in Hempstone's room was lowered so that his gas went out.

Gas Pumps Kill Three Children; Two Dying. DUNKIRK, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Three children were found dead, their mother and another child dying in a tenement house to-day. The family, known only by the name of Galors, came recently from Detroit.

WRONG UPPER STORY THIEF.

He Tells Magistrate He After Shot Machine Offense.

"I guess there must be something wrong with my upper story," declared Andrew Brown, 16 years old, of 358 West 38th Street, as he appeared before Judge Corrigan this morning in Jefferson Market Court on a charge of petty larceny.

"I guess you're right, Andrew," said His Honor. "I had you in $500 bond for the Court of Special Sessions."

Patrolman Wood last night discovered Andrew rifling a slot machine in a 28th Street pool-room, and brought 246 pennies to court as evidence.

He was arrested by officer Shelby, who charged that Moore was going thirty-five miles an hour on Merrick Road yesterday. Moore paid the fine.

BURNED TO DEATH ON FIRST NIGHT IN THEIR NEW HOME

Sanderson and Wife Had Made Up Bed on Floor Near Heater.

A man and woman were burned to death, several persons rescued, scores driven into the cold, and a Battalion Fire Chief hurt by stepping on a nail during a $2,000 blaze in the four-story building at No. 507 First Avenue at 3:30 A. M. to-day.

The dead are believed to be John H. Sanderson, thirty-five, and his wife, thirty. They moved into the fourth floor rear yesterday, and all their furniture not having come, apparently placed a mattress on the kitchen floor near a gas heater to sleep last night.

Policeman Edward S. Burns of the East 25th Street Station saw smoke coming from their window. He ran through the house and aroused everybody except the new couple on the fourth floor. Flames and smoke drove him back when he tried to force their door.

From the same floor he carried Mrs. Susan Fallon, and from the floor below Tony Martino and his wife, Agnes. Burns carried or assisted a score out of the building before the firemen came.

The tenants on both sides of the burning building were driven to the street until the danger was over. Battalion Chief Thomas Martho stepped on a nail, which penetrated his rubber boot and sent him back to quarters temporarily crippled.

When the fire was under control members of Hook and Ladder No. 7 fought their way into the locked apartment on the fourth floor and found the man and woman, clasped in each other's arms, on the mattress and burned beyond recognition. Some of the firemen thought the gas tube may have become detached and the couple asphyxiated before the fire started from an explosion.

The janitor said the man gave the name of John H. Sanderson, said he was a special detective "for the telegraph company" and wore blue trousers with a white stripe. He began to move in yesterday and brought his wife, an attractive woman. The police could find nothing in the room that identified them further.

WANTS FULL POLICE INQUIRY

Socialist Alderman Asks Mayor to Broaden Scope of Investigation.

Alderman B. C. Vlodavak, leader of the Socialist delegation in the Board of Aldermen, to-day wrote to Mayor Hylan complimenting the Mayor on his determination to investigate the conduct of the police in breaking up a political parade in Fifth Avenue on Christmas and arresting men and women paraders who were discharged by Magistrate Corrigan.

"May I not suggest," wrote the Socialist leader, "that you broaden the scope of your investigation that it may cover the whole conduct of the Police in the breaking up of your parade? It is a notorious fact that throughout that period there has been a veritable orgy of theft, burglary, forcible robbery and other crime."

RAND SCHOOL CASE BEFORE GRAND JURY

Attorney Rorke Examines Several Witnesses as Extraordinary Session Reconvenes.

The Extraordinary Grand Jury, which on Dec. 22 adjourned over the Christmas holidays, reconvened this morning, taking up the investigation of the Rand School of Social Science. Several witnesses were to be examined by Assistant District Attorney Alexander L. Rorke.

Members of the jury expressed disapproval of the refusal of Gov. Smith to designate the Attorney General to take charge of their investigations into the "overhauling crime" and the conduct of city departments and the District Attorney's office. Several said they were "disgusted." They had given up their time freely and had met with results at every turn.

It is understood the jurors will finish the Rand School investigation and then turn to the case of Justice Woods to discharge them.

SAYS ROBBERS SLEW THEATRICAL MAN

Missing A. J. Small Had Just Sold Interest in Trans-Canada Theatres For $1,000,000.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 6.—Ambrose J. Small, millionaire theatrical magnate, who disappeared Dec. 2, was killed by footpads and his body concealed in a ravine at Toronto, according to an opinion expressed here by E. W. M. Flock, his personal solicitor.

After it became known that Small had received a check for $1,000,000 for his interest in the Trans-Canada Theatres, Mr. Flock said, he was a marked man. He had deposited the check at Quebec just before he disappeared, however.

Mr. Flock said he believed the supposed slayers meant only to stop Small with a blow on the head and then rob him, but finding that they had killed him, hid the body.

Faulty insulation is believed to have caused the blaze.

EDNA'S BURGLAR, CAUGHT IN CHASE, "TOOK A CHANCE"

Cabarets Come High, He Says—Miss Britton Tells Her Story.

Miss Edna Britton, moving picture actress, who surprised a burglar last night in her apartment at No. 127 West 74th Street and chased him down stairs and into the arms of Patrolman Cornelius Marzin of the West 68th Street Police Station, talked about her adventure to-day while the burglar was being arraigned in the West Side Court on charges of grand larceny and violation of the Sullivan Law.

The prisoner is John Harrington, twenty-three, of Springfield, Mass., a former bellboy who boasts of his acquaintance with Harry Shelly, recently arrested after a series of hotel robberies, the loot in which was placed at $100,000, but says he never worked with him.

"I had just returned from Boston," Miss Britton said, "and when I found the door unlocked thought some of my friends might be visiting me. Then I saw the burglar, crouching before a cabinet.

"He arped and I saw the automatic revolver. I screamed and he darted past and rushed down stairs. In less than a minute I decided that it was up to me to follow. I must have kept on screaming, for in less than no time a regiment was after him. He had stolen about $2,000 worth of jewelry—everything valuable I own—but I shall lose nothing and the experience should be worth everything.

Harrington, who looks like a demure young man from the country and is very well dressed, said he had just returned from Washington, D. C. "I got back here yesterday practically broke and last night took a chance. Automobiles, ladies, cabarets, hotel bills, those days a fellow has got to have the coin."

Harrington was held in $5,000 bail for trial in the Court of General Sessions.

BE AN OPTIMIST, TREAT LABOR RIGHT SLOGAN OF SCHWAB

War Taught the Lesson, "A Man's a Man—So Long as He Does His Duty."

CHARLES M. SCHWAB agrees with Bobbie Burns that "a man's a man for a' that." Pleading the cause of labor before 1,200 at the Rubber Association of America banquet at the Waldorf last night, Mr. Schwab advised his hearers to make their employees partners in their enterprise, but not to permit dictation by agitators. He said: "Nothing lends value to any manufactured article except labor."

"We have been great agitators in the past. Labor has not had a fair share of prosperity, but the war taught us a lesson—that a man is a man, no matter what the condition of his life, as long as he does his duty fairly, honestly and conscientiously to his fellow men."

Mr. Schwab said he was proud to belong to a "material nation" and that instead of seeking perpetuation in marble he desired it in "long rows of smokestacks and flaming furnaces." He warned of the necessity of economy.

He declared this Nation, like rubber, can be stretched without breaking, but the energy of the people he urged to bring it back to its original form. Whatever crisis may come, the industry of this country will go onward and upward for years to come, and should.

"Be optimistic! Practice Christian Science in your business and you will have the success you merit. Treat labor well, make it a partner in your business, but do not permit outside agitators to tell you what to do with your labor."
