

THREE INDICTED IN BOND PLOTS ON NEW CONFESSION

Auto Dealer Admits Pledging
Stolen Securities, Says
Prosecutor.

Another possible ramifications of the $1,000,000 bond theft plot came to light in General Sessions to-day when the Grand Jury brought in an indictment charging Edward N. Callaghan, an automobile dealer of No. 8351 Broadway, and two others with grand larceny and receiving stolen goods.

The charge against Callaghan says that he hypothesized $74,000 worth of securities stolen from Halle & Stieritz, No. 20 Broad Street, last February and received a loan of $46,000 upon them.

Callaghan is alleged to have made a complete statement to Assistant District Attorney Dooling admitting pledging the securities in Reading, and asserting that he received them from one James Menowsky, to whom he was introduced by a Lieutenant in the American Army.

Dooling declares that Callaghan's description of Menowsky tallies with that which the police authorities have of Philipp Kasteel, one of "Nicky" Arnstein's friends. Dooling refused to divulge the names of the two others indicted with Callaghan. The auto dealer was held in the Tombs under $46,000 bail for examination.

CHICAGO, May 11.—After piecing together thousands of scraps of paper from the waste basket of Arthur Ercmont, police declared to-day they had obtained evidence establishing an absolute connection between Ercmont and "Nicky" Arnstein, alleged leader in $2,500,000 bond thefts in New York.

Letters and telegrams relating to numerous stock and bond transactions were said by the police to have been found in the scraps from Ercmont's waste basket and some of them were made public.

Letters from Ercmont to Carlos Ferrer, known also as Theodore De Moren, a Milwaukee bond salesman, were pieced together. One of the letters made public told of an appointment made by Ferrer on Jan. 3 with "an agent of a friend" of Ercmont. Police declared this friend was "Nicky" Arnstein.

Murray called other policemen and they waited until Richard Gabart entered the garage, backed out with the truck and headed—he said—for Perth Amboy, N. J. He was arrested and said he was merely doing as he was told. The whiskey was confiscated.

MISSING WOMAN CALLED WIFE BY 2

Both Testify Against Her, D. F. Gilson Helping L. D. Horton to Obtain Divorce.

GREENWICH, Conn., May 11.—Louis Deforest Horton of Port Chester was granted a divorce yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Morschauer from Louise Weinhank Horton, formerly of Port Chester but now in Wisconsin. The charge was bigamy.

Mr. Horton testified that he married her in 1908 and two children born to them had since died. He said his wife disappeared five years ago and last November he learned that she had married David Franklin Gibson of New York.

Mr. Gibson, who helped Mr. Horton obtain the divorce, testified that he married Mrs. Horton in the City Hall, New York, last December. He knew that she had been married, but under a pseudonym that she had obtained a divorce. For a time he said they lived at No. 42 West 51st Street, New York, and then she disappeared.

MONEY LOSS SHOCK KNOCKED HIM OUT

Man Believed Wood Alcohol Victim Says Disappearance of $10,500 in Bills Caused His Collapse.

David Gerstein, an auctioneer of No. 125 Amboy Street, Brooklyn, explained to-day how he came to be found in a state of utter collapse at noon yesterday in Flatbush Avenue outside the Long Island Station and taken to Brooklyn Hospital. When picked up by Patrolman Hugh Hatterby he had just discovered that he was shy $10,500.

According to Gerstein, he took six $1,000 bills and nine $500 bills from his vault in the Pioneer Warehouse in Flatbush Avenue, placed them in an envelope and slipped the envelope into his right outside overcoat pocket where he could keep his hand on it. In a sudden jump to avoid a street car he pulled his hand out of his pocket and when next he explored the pocket, about two seconds later, the envelope had disappeared. The shock threw him into a

J. C. Lincoln, traffic manager of the Merchants' Association, announced to-day that the plans of his organization for meeting the crisis created by the tie-up of the movement of freight to and from coastwise piers here are virtually complete, and that a meeting of the volunteer commitment would be called to-morrow afternoon. An executive probably will be appointed and steps taken to get into operation a fleet of trucks.

Mayor Considering Appeal of Commerce Commission to Relieve Freight Congestion.

Mr. Lincoln said that the association is not planning to buy trucks, as the present movement "is a purely temporary one, although it may develop into a permanent one." Hope is expressed that when the volunteer movement gets under way the striking longshoremen and stevedores will get back to work of their own accord.
