

NEWS OF ALL BRANCHES OF SPORT

Babe Ruth Makes 17th Homer as Yanks Win 14-0

CLEVELAND, June 14.—On a certain sunny Sunday in New York—May 16 to be exact—before 23,688 New Yorkers, the Cleveland Indians tore the quivering scalp of the Yankees, scored five runs in the first inning and beat them, 5 to 2. Tris Speaker and his tribe gave the Yanks a big, big laugh on that occasion. This day, June 13, the laugh was all for the Yankees. Battering three Indian pitchers to a luscious pulp, the big hitters from the big city clouted out eighteen steaming hits, piled up fourteen runs, and Bob Shawkey, pitching like a wizard in the pinches, shut out the Cleveland hitters without a run. The score was 14 to 0. Revenge for May 16? Plenty of it. Revenge for Saturday's defeat? More than enough. The biggest crowd that ever saw a ball game in Cleveland was present to see their favorites go down in the worst rout of the year, and they didn't like the bitter dose the Yanks forced on them. Just to cap the climax, to top off the brutality of the day, Babe Ruth slammed out his seventeenth home run of the year, a drive the like of which has never been witnessed here or anywhere in Ohio. In the sixth he crashed a ball out of the playing field, over the right field wall, and over a house on the opposite side of the street. Shawkey yielded 12 hits, but they came generally after two men were out, and Bob always lightened up when the plate was threatened. There was one casualty. Duffy Lewis twisted his left knee in sliding to the plate in the first inning and will probably be out of the game for two weeks. Ruth shifted over to left field, Bob Meusel went to right and Aaron Ward resumed his old station at third. That will probably be the lineup till Lewis gets back. The Yanks got off at the crack of the pistol and George Uhle, the sandlot star, was their first prey. Overflow crowds on the Diamond made ground rules necessary. Peck was out in the first when Meusel hit a double into the center field crowd. Pipp scored him with another into left. Ruth was intentionally passed, and Pratt also got a free ticket. This one unintentional. With the bases full, Babe doubled into left and Pipp and Ruth scored. Out went Tris and Elmer Myers came in. Lewis hit safely to third, scoring Pratt. Hannah leaped a long sacrifice fly to left and Boie came in standing up. Then came the ancient. Shawkey singled to center and Lewis rounded third and ran for the plate. His spikes caught as he slid and a argument was wrenched, but he scored and then was overruled off the field. Hits by Ward, Hannah and Shawkey scored the former in the fifth, and in the eighth Pipp's double, another by Ruth, Pratt's out and Boie's single scored two. When Speaker put Faeth in the box in the ninth he had apparently lost hope; and the Yanks had no charity.

Brooklyn Loses Lead on Rube's Wild Pitch

Once upon a time Jack Chesbro, famous in his day as a spitballer, wild pitched the Yankees out of an American League pennant. Once upon a time—yesterday afternoon at Ebbets Field—Rube Marquard, veteran southpaw, wild pitched the Robins out of the National League lead before about 22,000 of the home folks. The fatal wild heave came in the sixth inning, just after Jake Daubert had pitched a clean single to center field. It sent the former Captain of the Robins to second base, from where he raced over the plate when Eddie Rouse, who was again cavorting out in centre for the Reds, poked a safe blow between short and third. This lousesome, little, but all important, run was the only one scored in the second clash between the Robins and the world's champions. It was a tough break for Marquard. The sixth was the only inning in which he had any trouble. Apparently that most popular little lady of them all, Miss Good Luck, has just to cap the climax, to top off the brutality of the day, Babe Ruth slammed out his seventeenth home run of the year, a drive the like of which has never been witnessed here or anywhere in Ohio. In the sixth he crashed a ball out of the playing field, over the right field wall, and over a house on the opposite side of the street. Shawkey yielded 12 hits, but they came generally after two men were out, and Bob always lightened up when the plate was threatened. There was one casualty. Duffy Lewis twisted his left knee in sliding to the plate in the first inning and will probably be out of the game for two weeks. Ruth shifted over to left field, Bob Meusel went to right and Aaron Ward resumed his old station at third. That will probably be the lineup till Lewis gets back. The Yanks got off at the crack of the pistol and George Uhle, the sandlot star, was their first prey. Overflow crowds on the Diamond made ground rules necessary. Peck was out in the first when Meusel hit a double into the center field crowd. Pipp scored him with another into left. Ruth was intentionally passed, and Pratt also got a free ticket. This one unintentional. With the bases full, Babe doubled into left and Pipp and Ruth scored. Out went Tris and Elmer Myers came in. Lewis hit safely to third, scoring Pratt. Hannah leaped a long sacrifice fly to left and Boie came in standing up. Then came the ancient. Shawkey singled to center and Lewis rounded third and ran for the plate. His spikes caught as he slid and a argument was wrenched, but he scored and then was overruled off the field. Hits by Ward, Hannah and Shawkey scored the former in the fifth, and in the eighth Pipp's double, another by Ruth, Pratt's out and Boie's single scored two. When Speaker put Faeth in the box in the ninth he had apparently lost hope; and the Yanks had no charity.

N. Y. A. C. Wins "Met" Junior Championships

Wearers of the Winged Foot of the New York A. C. carried off the Metropolitan A. A. U. junior track and field championship title yesterday for the second successive year. In the annual games, held under the auspices of the Glencoe A. C. at C. C. N. Y. Stadium, the Winged Foot athletes accounted for a total of 26 points, a margin of 20 titles in excess of the score of their nearest rivals, the Glencoe A. C. athletes, who corralled 15 points for the fifteen-event programme. The Paulist A. C. finished third with 15 points, and one point in the rear came the St. Anselm's A. C. in fourth position. The delegation of junior athletic talent which came down from New Haven to represent Yale, finished sixth in the team championship battle, with 10 markers. Princeton's Orange and Black competitors were eighth with 8 points and New York University, the other collegiate aspirant for the championship, was fourteenth with 3 points. Thirteen New York A. C. athletes, under the guidance of the veteran coach, Bernie Wefers, brought the title to the West 63rd Street organization. Wefers' heaviest nominations were made in the field events, but it was in the track sports that the New York A. C. lads experienced the greatest success. Four titles fell to the winged foot wearers in the course of the afternoon, all the individual triumphs being recorded in the track events.

Table with columns for National League and American League, listing teams, wins, losses, and games played.

E.Z. GARTER advertisement featuring an image of a garter and text describing its benefits for circulation and comfort.

IT'S UNWISE advertisement for Ki-Moids, a remedy for acid-dyspepsia, featuring text about stomach health.

S. BAUMANN & BRO advertisement for furniture, including a dining room suite and a bed, with prices and contact information.

FAM-LY-ADE advertisement featuring an illustration of a family and text describing the product as a quick-made beverage.

FAM-LY-ADE advertisement with text: 'A Book of Verses underneath the Bough, A Glass of FAM-LY-ADE and Thou Beside me swinging in the hammock old— Oh, Prohibition were Paradise now.' Includes 'SO EASY TO MAKE' instructions.

32 GLASSES 30 CENTS advertisement for diamonds and jewelry.

REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION. REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION. REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

DON'T FOOL YOURSELVES!

Advertisement for the Burke Relief Foundation, featuring John Masterson Burke and information about an auction of 1400 lots.

Advertisement for a dining room suite and bed, including prices and contact information for S. Baumann & Bro.

DR. BLOOM advertisement for dental services, including text about teeth and contact information.

DIAMONDS ON CREDIT advertisement for jewelry, including contact information for Royal Diamond & Watch Co.

FOR BIGGEST BARGAINS advertisement for Jamaica Estates Real Estate Exchange, featuring 'TO-NIGHT' auction details.

Advertisement for watches and diamonds on credit, including contact information for American Watch & Diamond Co.