CARL GIVES UP HIS FIGHT FOR THRONE AS ALLIES SEND ULTIMATUM TO HUNGARY

Will Quit Country if Allowed to Explain "Unfavorable Circumstances."

HORTHY STILL REGENT.

Allied Envoys Warn That Restoration of Hapsburgs Will Be Disastrous.

STERNAMANGER, Western Hungary, April 1 (Associated Press).—Former Emperor Charles declared this morning that his departure from Hungary would be conditioned upon permission to issue a proclamation to the Magyars explaining the "unfavorable circumstances" compelling his withdrawal and saying that he, as King, temporarily confirmed the regency of Admiral Horthy. The former ruler made this declaration upon receiving a refusal from Admiral Horthy, the Regent, that he be allowed to return to Budapest, coupled with a threat of military measures against him. Charles last night telegraphed Admiral Horthy that he had decided to return to Budapest to re-enter upon his royal duties. The Regent's reply was a firm and polite refusal, in which he said military measures would be taken if he attempted to return. This so impressed the former Emperor, it is said, that he felt it would be rash to make such a move. Charles expressed a wish to go to visit Prince Bistritsky. It is believed this request will be granted and Charles will spend to-morrow in the Prince's castle. WARNING GIVEN TO HUNGARY BY THE ALLIES. PARIS, April 1 (Associated Press).—Warning was given Hungary today by the Allies that the restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty would entail disastrous consequences for the Hungarian nation. This warning, issued through the Council of Ambassadors, constituted a virtual ultimatum from the chief Allied powers, including England, France, Italy and their lesser associates. It was given additional point by the fact that it was communicated officially to the allied states by Czech-Slovakia, Jugoslavia, Rou-

LODGE AND VIVIANI HOLD CONFERENCE ON FOREIGN POLICY

Private and Informal Yet Considered Official in a Sense.

A CHANGE IN METHOD. Talk Held in Home of Senator New Departure in Diplomacy.

By David Lawrence. (From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.) WASHINGTON, April 1 (Copyright 1921)—Rene Viviani, former Premier of France, had a private conference with Senator Lodge, Republican leader at the latter's residence. It was in itself an informal chat on foreign policy, unofficial in one sense and official in another. It marked a change from past policies and a recognition of the importance of the United States Senate in foreign relations. It is an official envoy as well as other ambassadors or ministers have dealt along with the executive branch of our Government. The experience at Paris when the Allied Governments negotiated with President Wilson only to find that the American Senate under the Constitution was a co-ordinate factor in treaty-making has taught the French a valuable lesson. They are now anxious to make plain the facts of the European case to members of the Senate as they are to the Executive. If Mr. Wilson were President negotiations between foreign diplomats and members of the Senate would have been presented as an encroachment on the prerogatives of the Executive. But while President Harding is charged with the responsibility of conducting the foreign relations of the United States, he himself was so recently a member of the Senate that he does not object to a line of informal communication being established between the Senate and foreign Governments. The former Premier of France recognizes the difficulty of his task and the delicacy which he must show in handling the situation here. Some idea of the gravity of the job ahead.

GIRL, 8, GIVES LIFE SAVING SISTER, 4

Pushes Child From Auto's Path After Being Struck—Stories Told Police Conflict.

Little girls trudging through the snow today on their way to school stopped at No. 48 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn, to take their last look at their playmate, eight-year-old Florence Carp, who gave her life last night to save her sister Sarah, four, from being run down by an automobile. While the sisters were crossing the street in front of their home a machine in which were Frank Schwartzman, No. 47 Manhattan Avenue, and his sister, Mrs. Anna Weinstein, No. 73 McKibbin Street, bore down upon them. Florence screamed as the machine struck her, but as she fell she pushed her baby sister away from the car, which an instant later had run over her body and crushed her. Mrs. Weinstein told the police her brother was driving. Mrs. Carp, the mother of the children, said neighbors told her Mrs. Weinstein was at the wheel and exchanged words with Schwartzman after the accident. Mrs. Weinstein said Schwartzman was driving in the Broken Flies court in 124th St. each for examination April 4, which they furnished.

21 ARE MISSING IN SHIP COLLISION ON PACIFIC COAST

Government, Carrying 172 Passengers and 124 Crew, Sinks in an Hour.

HER BOILERS BLOW UP.

Survivors Taken Aboard the West Hartland Are Landed at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 1.—Eighteen passengers and three members of the crew of the steamship Governor, sunk off Point Wilson, are missing according to information from the steamer West Hartland, which brought the survivors to Seattle late this morning. The West Hartland, with her bows badly damaged by the collision, came into Seattle under half steam. At the Admiral Line's office it was stated the Governor carried 172 passengers and a crew of 124. Capt. John Alwen, master of the West Hartland, before her arrival reported the vessel's bows were stove in for a distance of from twelve to fifteen feet, but that she was not taking water. All members of the West Hartland's crew were accounted for, the message said. The master of the Pacific Steamship Company's tug Warrior, which hastened to the scene from Seattle immediately after the collision, reported by wireless he had searched the coastline in the vicinity of Point Wilson, but had found no survivors of the wreck or bodies of victims. Plans have been made here to care for surviving passengers and crew upon their arrival. Doctors and nurses were stationed at the dock and hospitals were notified to be ready to care for emergency patients. A late message from the West Hartland said a number of women aboard were scantily clad and needed clothing and food. The collision occurred at 8:30 p. m. off Point Wilson, shortly after midnight. The Governor's boilers blew up soon afterward, and the big passenger ship went down in deep water an hour after the accident, according to wireless messages. Some members of the crew were injured by escaping steam and by the impact of the collision, it was said. Passengers were transferred to the West Hartland by boats from both vessels. Three boatloads, at first reported missing, were picked up by the pilot boat Pine, of Port Townsend, and put aboard the West Hartland. The Governor, owned by the Pacific Steamship Company, operators of the Admiral Line, left Victoria, B. C., last night for Seattle. The West Hartland, a Shipping Board vessel operated by the Pacific Steamship Company, was en route from Victoria to Bombay. Officers of the company said they could not determine the responsibility for the accident until official reports were received. William G. Thomas, master at the Point Wilson Lighthouse, was almost an eyewitness of the collision, he said. "It was just 12:05 this morning when I heard the crash. I saw the West Hartland with her nose rammed into the Governor's starboard side. It was clear and the vessels were plainly in sight about three-quarters of a mile away."

CABINET AGREES ON RAILROAD PLAN

Problem Said to Have Been Discussed From All Angles.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Plans for solving the railroad problem have been agreed upon by President Harding and his Cabinet, it was learned following today's Cabinet meeting. Cabinet members expressed themselves in sentiment that the discussed programme would bring relief. Details were withheld temporarily, but an announcement is expected from President Harding today or in the immediate future. The railroad situation is understood to have been discussed from all angles by the Cabinet. The question of rates and their bearings upon the national depression, the disastrous conditions which high rates are inflicting upon farmers and the possibilities of increasing traffic through rate reductions are all understood to have been under examination.

1,200,000 MINERS STRIKE IN BRITAIN; ALL WORK STOPPED

Properties May Be Flooded, and Volunteers Are Called to Prevent Ruin.

ORDERS POUR IN HERE.

European Countries Ordinarily Buying From England Turn to U. S. for Supply.

LONDON, April 1.—All work ceased in the coal mines of the United Kingdom at midnight, with the exception of a very few districts, and approximately 1,200,000 miners were idle today as a result of the controversy over the wage issue. In only two collieries in Yorkshire, one in Northumberland, one in Scotland, and one in North Wales, the men have promised to continue at their posts without prejudice to any terms that may be agreed upon, but all other pit workers, including mechanics, pump men, ventilating men and pony men, came out with the miners. Danger that the mines may be flooded threatens, and many may be irretrievably ruined from the influx of water. strenuous efforts are being made everywhere to earn volunteers. Yorkshire pump men have decided to remain at work, and hope was expressed today that others would follow their example. The first effect of the strike has been the placing of orders with American coal merchants. Advice from New York state that a flood of orders from European countries which normally has been received there, and although the country's stock of coal is estimated at 1,000,000 tons, the price of household fuel already has risen two shillings per ton. London and other urban centers are believed to have several weeks' supply on hand, owing to the fact that export of coal has been completely stopped by the Board of Trade, except in cases where special permits have been issued. Apprehension is felt that the National Union of Railwaymen and the Transport Workers' Union, partners with the miners in the labor dispute, may be tempted to strike in sympathy with the coal diggers. In such an event the nation would be confronted by a crisis of unprecedented gravity. One of the largest yards in London took precautionary steps yesterday and formed a company of special police to protect property. Orders were issued last night to employers of various government departments to "stand by" to report for transport duty if necessary.

GRABBED CABLE AS HE FELL.

Carpenter Held on for 18 Hours at 16 Floor Drop.

Peter Biddle, No. 31 West 33d Street, a carpenter employed on the addition which is being constructed for the American Surety Company at No. 95 Broadway, slipped today while at work on a scaffold at the top of an elevator shaft on the sixteenth floor. He managed to grab the elevator cable and cling to it as he slid down three floors. He lost his grasp and fell the remaining distance to the below.

WIFE'S 'CONFESSION' AMONG PAPERS STRICKEN OUT; HER LAWYERS ALLOWED $47,500

Justice Morschauer, in Alimony Decision, Says: "Husband and Wife Cannot, Even by Consent, Testify Against Each Other"—"A Confession by Either Party Privileged"—Full Text of the Decision.

(From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.) WHITE PLAINS, April 1.—The largest alimony allowance ever granted in the United States—$90,000 a year—must be paid by James A. Stillman, President of the National City Bank, out of his sworn income of over $500,000. He must also pay $35,000 as the counsel fees of Mrs. Anne U. Potter Stillman and an additional allowance of $12,500 for her other legal expenses, such as the cost of bringing witnesses to court and making investigations. The decision of Justice Morschauer in arriving at this conclusion was filed here today. Attorneys for Mr. Stillman announced this afternoon they would at once start an appeal from the decision before the Appellate Division of the Second Department in Brooklyn. The decision included a rejection of the admissibility of the affidavits submitted by Mr. Stillman for the Court's information in fixing the amount of alimony. These affidavits included the letter known in the case as "the hysterical confession" written to Mr. Stillman by his wife a short time before the birth of Guy Stillman, the two and a half year old child, of whom the banker says Fred Beauvais, the French Canadian guide, is the father. They also include letters which were said to have passed between Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais.

HARTOG INDICTED; FALSE INCOME TAX RETURN IS CHARGED

Sugar Man Who Caused Indictment of Murphy Is Accused of Perjury.

Louis N. Hartog, principal owner of the North Kensington Refineries, manufacturers of brown sugar, was today indicted by the Federal Grand Jury which charged him with perjury in trying to defeat the income tax. He will have a hearing before Judge Knox of the Federal District Court next week. The indictment is in connection with Hartog's return filed for the year 1919, and charges that while the return showed Hartog's business for the year to be $767,063, the receipts were in excess of a million dollars. Also, the indictment alleges misrepresentation of the tax on his net income, which was set forth as $25,568, and is claimed to be far greater than this amount. The perjury charge is based on Hartog's having signed the tax blank. Should he be found guilty in fact a penalty of one year's imprisonment, or a fine of $10,000 on defeating the tax, and five years or a $2,000 fine for perjury. It is in connection with Hartog's affairs that Charles E. Murphy, Tammany leader, and others are now under indictment for conspiracy. It is alleged they tried to extort $175,000 from Hartog. The latter stated at the time of the indictment that Murphy and others had invested $175,000 in the North Kensington Refineries, which makes the same sugar product, sought to withdraw their investment in the former corporation. Hartog said he opposed this and was threatened. A motion to dismiss the indictments is now pending before Justice Wagner of the Supreme Court.

SIX MOUNTED COPS, TEN ON FOOT, CHASE FOUR HOLD-UP MEN

But One Citizen Leads to Capture After Bleeker Street Jeweler Is Shot.

The unexpected swiftness of Alex. Kipnis, a jeweler at No. 350 Bleeker Street, to the demand of four armed bandits to permit them to rob his store led to the shooting of Kipnis and an exciting chase through the tangled maze of streets in Greenwich Village, in which six mounted and ten foot policemen joined. The final capture of two men was due to the persistence of a citizen who trailed them from the scene of the robbery until he found a policeman. The prisoners were identified by Kipnis as two of the bandits. Kipnis, who is fifty-five and lives at No. 35 Grove Street, was in his little store alone at 10 o'clock when four youths wearing caps pulled down on their foreheads entered, drew revolvers and ordered him to throw up his hands. Kipnis picked up an empty display case and threw it at the intruders. Three of the men fired at him and the other struck him on the head with the butt end of a pistol. One bullet passed through Kipnis's right arm. The noise of the shots aroused the entire neighborhood. Policemen came from all directions. The bandits dodged into Grove Street and were soon swallowed up in crowds. So many people were running the police were unable to pick up the trail. Hector Endino, who works in a store across the street from Kipnis's place, saw the four bandits run out, stuffing revolvers into their overcoat pockets, and he took after them. As they can be kept even with them on the other side of the street, in Bedford Street the quartet separated. Two of them threw their revolvers into a barrel in front of No. 104 Bedford Street. Endino kept after the other two. Mounted Traffic Policeman Harry Bond was on duty at Hudson and Grove Streets. Endino called to him and pointed to the two fleeing men. Bond caught them at Greenwich and Morton Streets, and although both were armed, they surrendered when he rode his horse up on the sidewalk and barred their way. Endino guided Bond and the two captives back to Kipnis's store, where an ambulance from St. Vincent's Hospital had just arrived. Kipnis identified the men and was then carried to the hospital. Bond then went to No. 104 Bedford Street and in the barrel pointed out by Endino found the two revolvers, one fully loaded, the other with one cartridge that had been fired.
