

$1,000,000,000 IN TAXES ADDED TO PEOPLE'S BURDEN BY THE EMERGENCY TARIFF

Will Not Aid Farmers; Gives Millions to the Trusts; Will Practically Prohibit Trade With Many Countries and Will Boost Prices in Every Line.

(Special From Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.) WASHINGTON, May 28.—The "emergency" tariff bill, signed yesterday by President Harding, is destined to become a campaign issue. Economic experts in and out of Congress concede that there is likely to be a surprisingly violent reaction against the measure when the consuming public begins to feel its effects in higher prices, and the farmers—in whose interests the bill was ostensibly drawn—see that the increased prices will benefit, in most instances, not them but the speculators and trusts controlling these commodities.

The new tariff law is disguised as a farmers' relief measure, but the spurious nature of the protection given the farmers is obvious. The bill is operative only for six months and most of the commodities included are out of the hands of the farmers, and it is the speculators and food hoarders who will benefit.

The sponsors of the bill admit that they will not attempt to incorporate into the permanent tariff bill the schedules designed to aid the farmers. The underlying thought among the schemers who framed the "emergency" bill was to commit members from the West and South—heretofore against tariff legislation of this kind—to this measure on the specious plea of "helping the farmers," and then, having committed a majority of Congress to the principle of protection, to rush the permanent tariff bill to a vote. Another consideration was that the sop thrown in for the farmers would create a friendly sentiment toward high tariff legislation in all the agricultural regions, which would make it easier to put over a manufacturers' tariff a little later.

GIFTS OF MILLIONS TO THE TRUSTS.

The "farmers' bill" had its inception in campaign promises made by Republican spellbinders last fall in the farming sections. In the election of a Republican President and Congress meant the restoration of high prices for wheat, corn, livestock and other products. The leaders privately admit that the bill will not accomplish what is expected of it by the producers, with the bulk of the 1920 crops in the hands of the speculators. While the ultimate effect of the measure will disappoint the producers, it will afford an excuse for a boost in the price of all the necessities of life which those interests controlling these commodities are expected to take early advantage of. It is estimated that the sugar trust will benefit to the extent of more than $250,000,000 by the amendment tacked on in the Senate by Senator Gay, from the Louisiana sugar belt; the packers will receive over $50,000,000 by the increased cost of meat; the woolen trust, it is estimated, will come in for at least $100,000,000, due principally to its foresight in importing wool at a tremendous rate for the DUBLIN'S MAYOR SAILS FOR HOME.

White Cross Mission in his Country a Complete Success, Says O'Neill.

Lord Mayor Laurence O'Neill of Dublin and Col. H. H. Anderson, halling from the North of Ireland and representing the Irish White Cross, sailed this afternoon on the Holland-American liner Kuylen for home after a visit of several weeks in this country in the interests of the White Cross.

"We have had a most pleasant time and have found the American people, as we expected, the most generous and kindly people in the world," said Lord Mayor O'Neill. "Our mission here has been a complete success. The White Cross in Ireland has linked up with the American Committee and both have agreed that the money subscribed by the American people shall be devoted solely to the support of the needy Irish."

Among the other passengers was Mrs. J. Haddon Chambers, widow of the English playwright, who said she had made arrangements for the production here this fall of her husband's last play. She is to appear in the production, as the star, she said.

HONOR FOR SAILOR DEAD.

Gold Star Mothers Will Pay Tribute to Merchant Marine War Victims.

Gold Star mothers of the Merchant Marine will celebrate Memorial Day Monday in the first formal exercises held here for the American merchant seamen who lost their lives in the World War. They will be guests of the Shipping Board Division of the United American War Veterans and will go down the river on Navy launches under escort of the U. S. Junior Naval Reserve.

They will throw flowers on the water in memory of the dead and the Presidential salute of twenty-one guns will be fired by the Rochester, Dixie, Bridgeport and Leominster. Returning to the West 96th Street navy landing, the Gold Star mothers will go to Grant's tomb to place wreaths in memory of the Civil War Commander.

AIRSHIPS TO TAKE RACING CROWDS TO BRITISH DERBY.

Dirigibles and Planes Called Into Service for Classic, Owing to Rail Strike.

LONDON, May 28.—The unusual sight of airplanes and dirigibles landing passengers at the Epsom Downs race course will be witnessed Wednesday when the great classic of the English turf, the Derby, is run. Owing to the coal shortage, due to the strike, and the great crowds that must be accommodated, the Government has decided to put the dirigible R-33 to work carrying passengers for the day. In addition several airplanes will be in the same service. Individuals who own planes probably will use them. Arrangements for the landing at the Downs and other details are being made.

CARUSO CHEERED AS HE BOARDS SHIP FOR TRIP TO ITALY.

Loading of Cargo Delays Sailing Until To-night, but Fete Is Held on Pier.

Although inability to stow cargo on time delayed the sailing of the liner Presidenta Wilson, with Enrico Caruso, Mrs. Caruso and their little daughter Gloria aboard, the great crowd which gathered at the pier this afternoon to bid the singer goodbye on his voyage to Italy had its celebration at the original sailing time, 2 o'clock. The vessel will not get away from her pier until 8 to-night.

When Mr. Caruso, his wife, daughter and retinue of secretaries, chefs, valets, maids, etc., arrived at the pier the crowd was so great special guards were necessary to keep the singer from being quite smothered with kindness. The pier was all abuzz with Italian flags and waving handkerchiefs and Caruso's happiness showed in every line of his smiling face. His $35,000 suites aboard the vessel were literally cluttered with flowers, and one table was piled two feet deep with telegrams of good wishes. A short time after going aboard, Caruso wrote a message to New York children commending their efforts toward the reconstruction of war-torn sections of Europe. He is a Vice President of the Children of Italian Immigrants Association, little Gloria having starred the first patroness of the charity ball of that organization last Thursday night. Mr. Caruso's message says: "I want to say to the children of New York City that it gives me great pleasure to know of the work they are doing, and of the money they are giving to rebuild the schools in the devastated countries of Europe. I am sure the children of this great city will lend their whole-hearted support to this cause."

POLICE RESCUE WOMAN.

Mrs. Barnes, Visiting City, Found Unconscious—Two Men Arrested.

Mrs. Harriet Barnes, fifty-eight years old, who came from Sioux Falls, S. Dak., to visit her son in this city, was found in a stupor early this morning on the steps of No. 109 East 15th Street and sent to the Clinton Street Station, where a matron took her in charge. Later in the day Mrs. Barnes, with a heavy suitcase, had asked Patrolman Burke of the East 22d Street Station, where to get a lodging. He directed her to a hotel near Union Square and half an hour later ran across two men with a suitcase which he recognized as having been carried by Mrs. Barnes. When he stopped them and opened the case he found it filled with feminine apparel. Then he locked up the two men who had been visiting Mrs. Barnes, twenty, No. 117 Mott Street, and Pietro Mora, twenty-two, Secor's Lodging House, Cherry Street.

Women Champions at Golf To Battle for Title Abroad

Miss Stirling and Miss Leitch Drawn Together in British Championship.

By William Abbott.

After the way American amateurs blew up this week at Hoylake any predictions on other English golf championships should be made with a crossing of fingers. It may take a long time to tame the British Lion on the links, but the invaders from this side intend pecking away at the job. Perhaps if the men can't do the trick the ladies may be more successful. It has long been the custom for American women to seek English golf laurels. Up to date they have been very efficient with failures. But maybe a change for the better will set in Monday when the British women's championship starts at Turnberry, in Scotland. We will enter a team of seven, headed by Miss Alexia Stirling, national title holder. The slim, Auburn-haired Atlanta miss went over this season hoping she would eventually encounter Miss Cecil Leitch, England's champion. By a strange working of the draw the two rival champions will be matched against each other in the first round. It will be a rare spectacle, the meeting of these two. Miss Leitch is very large, with strength many men would envy. She can drive a golf ball as far as most players of the opposite sex. Miss Stirling is the other extreme, small and slight, almost to the point of being fragile. Yet the Southern girl gets remarkable distances from her shots. She won't be able to keep up with Miss Leitch from the tee, but the American champion should give a good account of herself at the short game. Miss Stirling is twenty-three. She has won the national championship three times and the Canadian title last season. Miss Stirling went to last season, Miss Stirling went to last season, Miss Stirling went to last season.

HARVEY STARTLES BRITISH, DRIVING FORD IN "DICER"

People Are Assured an American Takes His Car "Off the Hook With His Hat."

LONDON, May 28.—Col. George Harvey, Ambassador from the United States to the Court of St. James's, has created a stir by appearing in Hyde Park, driving his Ford car, with his silk hat inclined at a determined angle. Newspapers reassure the people, saying it is the custom for an American to take his Ford car off the hook with his hat.

SHIP LINE OWNERS TO SPLIT WITH U. S. BOARD OVER UNION

Private Managers to Keep Up "Open Shop" Attitude—Benson Has Changed.

Officials of the U. S. Shipping Board in this city said to-day that if it be true, as reported, that Admiral Benson, Chairman of the board, has reached any agreement with the striking marine engineers, the worst tangle in the history of the American merchant marine is bound to result. "If the Shipping Board has come to such an agreement," one of the officials said, "and the steamship owners adhere to their stated plan, it will mean that the American merchant marine will split in two, with the Shipping Board on one side and the private owners on the other."

It will mean that at least 600 Shipping Board ships now being operated by private owners will be returned to the board and added to the 1,000 already idle. "The board has no facilities nor machinery for operating ships or promoting shipping."

The private ship owners said to-day that they have 400 engineers now working and that rather than dismiss them and replace them with strikers they would forego the operation of their lines.

The American Steamship Owners' Association stands pat on its position that marine wages must be cut 15 per cent. and that it will sign no agreements with sea-going unions. This statement was made to-day by officials of the association. Winthrop L. Marvin, General Manager of the association, withheld detailed comment pending receipt of the actual terms of the proposed settlement.

"There will be no change in the attitude of the association as to the termination of the strike," he declared. A general meeting of the membership has been called for Tuesday afternoon.

Secretary of Labor Davis was in this city to-day for a short time trying to obtain a conference with President H. H. Raymond of the Steamship Owners' Association, but it was impossible to effect this and Secretary Davis left to spend the week-end in the country.

THREATEN TAX SALE OF CITY RAILROADS

Craig Declares He Will Put Trolley Lines Up Next Tuesday

Saying that he would not wait any longer for Job Hedges, receiver for the New York Railways Company, to pay back taxes, Comptroller Craig declares he will offer for sale for such taxes next Tuesday virtually every surface railway in Manhattan. The Comptroller suggests that it is probable the city will have to buy in the lines. Heretofore such purchases by the city have been canceled and the amount of taxes carried over for another year, on promise of payment. But the Comptroller says the city does not need to offer such option, and can become owner of the lines by foreclosure.

Two 'Dummies' Brought to Life At Pistol Point

Posing Fugitives Surrender When Detective Threatens Target Practice

Half a dozen dummy figures clad in the sun-kissed garb of many villages stood against a background of hanging raiment in the second-hand clothing shop in the basement of No. 61 Third Avenue when Detective William Kirk of the Homeless Squad trailed in after two men he had seen enter the place early to-day with heavy suit cases.

The proprietor of the shop declared he hadn't seen a soul come in and asked Kirk if he wouldn't like to take some one of the displayed suits, which he could highly recommend. Kirk looked over the dummies, and he didn't think he wanted anything in the clothing line and started out. However, he had seen something he wanted, but he didn't let the proprietor know he went half way up the steps and stopped. When he turned around he had his revolver in hand.

"I think I'll give you a little exhibition of marksmanship," he informed the shopkeeper. "Watch me make some buttonholes in the clothes on the dummies. Keep your eyes on the gray suit and the one next to it!"

But Kirk didn't have to fire a single shot. The "dummy" in gray and the one beside it came out of the line in a jiffy with hands upraised. The gray one was Harry Stern, alias Kramer, and Wilson, thirty years old, of No. 224 West 24th Street, and the other, Frederick Beach, 22, of No. 431 West 25th Street.

The detective had a brief talk with them and learned, according to his later report, that they had entered the rooms of George Rust, at No. 111 East 22d Street, and come away with $50 worth of clothing in two suit cases.

Lady DROGHEDA

"Flying" Countess Is Granted Plea for Restitution of Her Conjugal Rights.

LONDON, May 28.—Kathleen, Countess of Drogheda, has been granted a decree against her husband for the restitution of her conjugal rights. The Earl did not contest the case.

The Countess, who was Miss Kathleen Pelham Burn of Scotland, has been called one of the "most beautiful women in England," and the "most charming woman in Scotland." During the war she earned the sobriquet of the "Flying Countess" by propaganda work she did in connection with aerial flights. Lord and Lady Drogheda were married in Edinburgh in March, 1919.

GASOLINE STOCKS LARGEST IN HISTORY

U. S. Increase for April Was 42,000,000 Gallons Over Previous Month.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Gasoline stocks on April 30 were the largest in the history of the country, amounting to 755,000,000 gallons, a net increase of 42,000,000 gallons over the previous month.

The largest increase during April was recorded in the Texas and Louisiana division, 18,000,000 gallons. The only decrease was in the Pennsylvania division. Other increases in gallons included Indiana and Illinois, 8,200,000; Oklahoma and Kansas, 5,800,000; and Colorado and Wyoming, 11,100,000.

MAN IN WELL DIED OF SUFFOCATION

Body Was Covered With Water But Lungs Showed He Was Not Drowned.

Suffocation, not drowning, was the cause of the death of Michael Kozynisko, who was buried alive yesterday at the foot of a sixty-foot well on a farm at West Orange, N. J., when the sides caved in while he was at work there. For five hours rescuers listened to his shouts as they worked carefully to remove the debris above him and prevent a second collapse of rocks and earth on his head. It was 1:30 o'clock this morning when they got the body out. It was covered with water then, but an autopsy showed that there was no water in the lungs, thus indicating that he died of suffocation before the water came above him. The rescuers worked by searchlight under the direction of the Mayor. Police and firemen took part. A pulmotor was used in vain when the body was removed.

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK; 5 SHOT.

One Killed—Slayer Escapes as Police Arrive on Scene.

BUFFALO, May 28.—Edward A. Wilson, thirty-five years old, a sergeant of the police reserve, was killed and four other persons were shot at midnight last night when a negro ran amuck with a pistol in a house occupied by negroes in Clinton Street. The police are looking for Oscar Edwards, about twenty-seven years old, an occupant of the house, who is said to have one of the shooting and who escaped by the back door when the police were at the front.
