

two men on the front seat who promptly threw up their hands.

Fireman Shelton took charge of running the truck and started back for the Bronx. None of the three captors knew anything about the prisoners and the other hand in the body of the truck. They were not discovered until the station house at Alexander Avenue and 138th Street was reached when the outcries of Press and his son and Klein were heard. The bandit on the inside had hidden his revolver among the bolts of silk.

The prisoners described themselves as Ernest Regenburg, twenty-three years old, No. 422 West 40th Street, who acted as chauffeur, Benedict Regenburg, brother of Ernest, who acted as inside guard, and Edward Murray, twenty-two years old, Mills Hotel No. 3, Seventh Avenue and 8th Street.

Benedict Regenburg, the leader of the trio, made a long confession this afternoon to Chief Detectives Thomas Sullivan. He said that he and his brother and Murray saw a silk truck pass the corner of Eighth Avenue and 34th Street a week ago. "We were struck by the soft faces of the driver and the guards," said Regenburg. "They looked too nice to be true. We took a note of the number of the truck and watched for it again and trailed it to the Bronx. "We found out that the truck men this morning when it started out. We thought we had done the job clean and never looked behind. The cops certainly surprised us when they jumped on the truck. I don't know whether we would have shot or not if the chauffeur and the boys hadn't done as they were told, but we were pretty well excited."

INQUIRY ORDERED ON DETECTIVE WHO BLACKJACKED 40

He hustled the four men into a back sitting room and told them they were prisoners. He then walked into the restaurant and shook an old man at a table and asked him what he was doing.

"Eating my soup," replied the old man. Tighe knocked the soup plate to the floor and booted the old man into the back room.

"Go easy," cautioned Detective Milton Kaufman, one of two other men from Lahey's office accompanying him.

"Look out," Tighe roared, according to Kaufman, who now says he thinks Tighe "was crazy with the heat, 'I'm going to clean this place out." He chased the little boy of the proprietor to the street. Mrs. Coen ran out and begged him not to hit the child. Tighe knocked her down with a blow across the shoulders and threw her into the temporary lock-up. He went out on the street, which was in an uproar for half an hour with screams and cursing. A Mrs. Gayety of No. 345 West 43d Street created a diversion by running to Tighe and asking if it were true he had struck her little girl. He chased her two blocks toward the West 47th Street Station, where she went to make a complaint, and then returned to chastise the corner folk some more.

James Sharkey, a truckman, reports that he was dragged down from his seat and locked up for saying "None of your business" when Tighe asked him from the sidewalk where he was going.

The bootblack was struck and arrested for calling up to a window earlier in the disturbance to warn Mrs. Coen the detective was after her little boy.

PRIEST GOT MONKEY WRENCH TO BATTLE WITH DETECTIVE.

Father William Duffy, an assistant of Father Francis P. Duffy of Holy Cross Church, heard the uproar and ran from the rectory into the crowd. He was roughly thrust aside by the detective.

"I did not know who the man was," he said to-day. "I did not even know he was a detective. He was running wild, slashing right and left at everybody in reach, lunging especially at women and children. My feeling was that he was one who had gone wild with a combination of third rail whiskey and the heat."

"There was no reasoning with him with words and I ran into a garage and borrowed the biggest wrench they had as more effective. When I came out the street seemed quiet. I went back, returned the wrench and telephoned the West 47th Street Station. As I went back to the church the thing started all over again; he had come back around the corner as wild and brutal as before. I went right back for the wrench. When I came out this time he had disappeared, but I telephoned to the station once more."

The names of the twenty-four prisoners taken to Night Court are:

- John Keiser, No. 432 West 85th Street; James Fleming, No. 746 Ninth Avenue; James Hefferman, No. 664 Ninth Avenue; John Cavanaugh, First and Beach Streets, Hackensack; Alfonso Delgrosso, No. 115 West 14th Street; Albert Phockett, No. 412 West 42d Street; Frank Sord, No. 174 Anson Avenue, Cliffside, N. J.; Ralph Ploen, No. 748 Eighth Avenue; Nick Monroe, No. 417 Ninth Avenue; Emile Echler, No. 415 West 82d Street; Herman Kearton, No. 458 West 46th Street; Jake Bressler, No. 126 23d Street; Joseph Joseph, Queens; No. 323 West 53d Street; Robert Hastings, No. 518 West 50th Street; Harry Herman, No. 216 West 41st Street; James Sharkey, No. 538 10th Avenue; James Hand, No. 332

TO SUMMON IRISH REPUBLICANS TO MEET IN DUBLIN

Their Parliament Call the Next Move in Peace Preparations.

Freeding of Incarcerated Members Likely to Follow Announcement.

DUBLIN, July 29 (Associated Press).—It now seems certain that the summoning of the Irish Republican Parliament to consider the British terms will be one of the very next steps to be taken in connection with the peace negotiations. Although the calling of the Parliament for this purpose is not likely to occur immediately, no date having yet been fixed, the apparent fact that such a session has been decided upon encourages the hope here that the negotiations will prove fruitful.

No application has as yet been made for the release of those members of the Parliament who are still in prison, but the freeing of those men is declared to be certain once the date of the meeting is fixed.

Of the thirty-six members now under confinement the majority have neither been tried nor have had charges preferred against them. Some, however, had been convicted, and the military view is understood to be that no man lawfully sentenced by a court martial should be released. As against this it is pointed out that most of the prisoners convicted were indisputably political offenders, while the release of Countess Markievicz and Robert Barton creates a precedent for the release of even duly sentenced prisoners. One member of the Parliament, John McKean, is under sentence of death.

The next move in the Irish situation is likely to be another meeting in Ireland between Craig and De Valera, it is stated on good authority. It was something difficult to arrange for this meeting, but, according to the informant, "they have got over the fence."

Letters received from the imprisoned Sinn Feiners indicate that there has been much improvement in their treatment since the truce. The Master of the Rolls to-day issued writs of habeas corpus against Gen. Sir Nevil MacCreedy, Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Strickland, and others for failure to comply with writs of habeas corpus issued by the Master of the Rolls on Tuesday last demanding the production in court of John Egan, sentenced to death by a military court in Limerick in June last for having ammunition in his possession. The crown attorney said he refused the military officers to answer the writ of habeas corpus was deliberate contempt of court. He did not know whether they intended to resist the writ by force of arms, but said that if that were the case "we have come to days of red ruin and the breaking of laws."

STARTED COURTSHIP OVER TELEGRAPH WIRE.

New York Girl Operator Weds Louisville W. I. Man in Indiana.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 29.—A courtship started by a telegraph operator's chance greeting over the wires two years ago resulted in the marriage of Miss Charlotte Anderson, eighteen years old, a New York City operator, and Charles A. Gerlach, night supervisor of the Western Union Telegraph Company here. Mr. Gerlach sent a message over a straight line to New York two years ago. At the end of the message the New York operator sent the word "hello." He answered with "hello, who are you?" Then they began to correspond. They exchanged pictures and letters were pleased. Two weeks ago Miss Anderson came to Louisville for her vacation and met Mr. Gerlach. On Wednesday they were married at Jeffersonville, Ind., Louisville's Gretna Green.

West 43d Street; Frank Lynch, No. 428 West 30th Street; Charles Peterson, No. 407 West 43d Street; Jeremiah Buckley, No. 294 West First Street, Brooklyn; Thomas Gilmore, No. 351 West 47th Street; Edward Reed, No. 227 West 30th Street; Robert Guyley, No. 346 West 43d Street; James Smith, No. 407 First Avenue. Capt. Donahue and the reserves of the West 47th Street Station arrived in a patrol wagon in response to the telephone calls of the priest and others and the appeals for help of cut and bruised women and small boys who ran to the station. They found Tighe dragging a screaming woman toward Coen's place and his improvised "pen." Policeman Travers, driving the patrol wagon, got the woman home from Tighe, when the detective tried to push her into the patrol wagon as the precinct men were getting out. Tighe disappeared a moment later, while the police were putting the prisoners into the wagon. He turned up at the West 47th Street Station, made a verbal but noisy complaint against Travers for "interfering with an arrest," and disappeared again.

Kaufman, who had acted as jailer and had obeyed Tighe's orders during the trouble, hour as though he were as much afraid of him as were the unofficial witnesses, had to take the twenty-four men to court, and be the agent of Magistrate Nolan's anger for presenting the charge "disorderly conduct" against the men.

When inquiry was made at the West 47th Street Station for the women and child prisoners a report was told: "They weren't taken over; it would have spilled the beans if the Judge had seen them. But he seemed to have been put to waste anyway." According to the best information in the neighborhood not less than forty persons were hit by Tighe on his rampage.

NEW YORK CITY IS 'DESTROYED' FROM AIR BY ARMY AIRPLANES

craft after craft, releasing "bombs" weighing from 1,100 to 2,000 pounds and filled with the highest "explosive" known to military warfare.

At intervals "deadly" gas bombs were hurled down upon the city and its people. The high explosive bombs "destroyed" practically all the large buildings at the southern end of Manhattan Island.

There were two attacks upon the city, the first as the planes passed to the northward, and later when, going southward, they sought out the financial district, particularly the Sub-Treasury and the Wall Street section. The Caproni was in constant wireless touch with the following planes, picking out the targets and assigning the planes to attack them. Some of the planes were directed to strike a blow at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and there a quantity of "explosives" were dropped.

This attack upon New York was the culmination of a war problem which the air service had been pondering for a week, ever since the destruction of the German war vessel off the Virginia Capes. On a point protected from land approach by forty miles of water, an airbase was established and the fleet organized and based there. It was called the "Red Fleet."

On the nights of July 22 and 23 attacks were made on Langley Field, the army's principal experimental air station, and a concentration of "Blue" planes was destroyed. Philadelphia was the next city to "succumb," the attack being made yesterday.

Latest news is that another fleet, made up of the "Haviland" planes, is to-day again attacking Philadelphia and Washington.

"LADDIE BOY'S" BROTHER IN COURT FOR DOG CRIME.

Denver, July 29.—"Diddle Boy," brother of "Laddie Boy," President Harding's favorite dog, was a defendant in Police Court yesterday on a charge of killing chickens. "Diddle Boy" is owned by Albert R. Lowrie, wealthy Denver broker and dog fancier.

Mr. Lowrie offered to pay for all the chickens killed if evidence of their death was produced. Evidence not being produced, Judge Rice took the case for his advisement. "You don't think a dog with a leather in the White House would stoop to chasing chickens, do you?" Mr. Lowrie asked the Judge. "Well, I shouldn't think so," the Judge replied.

SAVINGS IN 1921 JUMP $109,809,297 IN THIS STATE

Increase of 5.9 Per Cent. Shown by Bank Association—Big City Gain.

Small savers of New York City during the first six months of 1921 increased their deposits in savings banks $109,809,297, or 5.9 per cent, according to figures by the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York. This increase includes dividends credited.

On July 1 the amount due depositors, including dividends credited, was $1,942,613,299.82, an increase of $109,809,297.78. The amount due depositors in Manhattan Borough increased 5.4 per cent, during the first six months of 1921 as compared with 4.9 per cent in the last six months of 1920.

The increases in the amount due depositors, including dividends credited, between Jan. 1 and July 1, 1921, by boroughs, follows: Bronx, $6,556,457.57, or 14.6 per cent; Kings, $32,247,500.61, 6.5 per cent; Manhattan, $67,160,058.62, 5.4 per cent; Queens, $2,953,618.10, 7.9 per cent; Richmond, $321,632.76, 4.1 per cent.

NO PRIVATE TALK WITH ENGLAND ON DISARMAMENT

pass through the United States on their way home they will be welcomed and be given every opportunity for discussion with the President and Secretary of State, but positively nothing will be agreed upon by the United States until all the powers have been consulted.

The London suggestion of a preliminary conference has caused quite a stir in official circles. Officials declined to surmise what the reasons might be back of the proposal. On the face of it, the move springs from a desire to select a time and date convenient for the Dominion Premiers. But is that all? Some observers here think Great Britain would like to talk to America privately with her Dominion Premiers present, and frame a programme which would enable Great Britain to proceed discreetly in the larger conference wherein she will appear on the one hand as the ally of Japan and on the other as the friend of the United States.

This view is not shared entirely, however, by another group of observers, who believe Japan herself by reason of her intimacy with Great Britain would not object to a special conference between Great Britain's Dominion and the United States and Japan with the special purpose of excluding China. Japan, it is contended, would like to have matters fixed up before China appears on the scene. The Japanese have never looked with favor upon the inclusion of China in the discussion because of the capacity of the Chinese for spoiling the best laid plans of diplomacy. Whatever the inspiration may be for the suggestion of a preliminary conference, the important fact is that it will not be held. America disapproves and being the host and the nation, too, which sent out the invitations the likelihood is that the viewpoint of the United States will prevail. The first round in the inevitable skirmishes between Old World and New World diplomacy are in progress and the United States has spoken its view without equivocation—there must be no cliques or private alliances.

On the nights of July 22 and 23 attacks were made on Langley Field, the army's principal experimental air station, and a concentration of "Blue" planes was destroyed. Philadelphia was the next city to "succumb," the attack being made yesterday.

Latest news is that another fleet, made up of the "Haviland" planes, is to-day again attacking Philadelphia and Washington.

MEYER COMMITTEE MAN INDICTED IN U. S. TAX CASE.

Assemblyman Ulman and Four Others Charged With Conspiracy.

A Federal Grand Jury found indictments to-day charging conspiracy to defraud the Government of income and excess profits taxes against Harry Levy, an agent of the Bureau of Internal Revenue; Assemblyman Sol Ulman, a member of the Meyer committee, and his law partner, Emanuel Friedman, and Justus Frankel and Meyer Saal, public accountants. The men were arrested two weeks ago and the bill furnished at that time was continued on their arraignment to plead to the indictment.

Mr. Levy explained what his office would be, and Meyer Hyman put it over until next Tuesday, when it is expected the manufacturers will be on hand to urge restrictions of the bids.

DEMPEY TELLS THE KIND OF WIFE HE IS LOOKING FOR

Incidentally the Champion Says "Don't Be Surprised If I Retire."

LOS ANGELES, July 29. Girls, if you would become Mrs. Heavyweight Champion of the World, here's the kind of a wife Jack Dempsey is seeking:

- She must be able to wear gingham as well as silks.
- She must be a girl with a ready smile, a girl with a pleasant face instead of a beautiful one.
- Above all she must be able to cook.

"That's the kind of a girl I am looking for," said Dempsey to-day in again denying reports of his secret marriage to a Hollywood film actress. "Tell the world I'm looking for a home girl, a girl whose brain is occupied with solving the problem of making my home happy and not the 'career' girl who would be more interested in making other homes brighter."

Dempsey occupied a seat upon the players' bench at Washington Park here as a guest of "Rowdy" Ebbot, brother-in-law of Manager Kearns. "Don't be surprised if I announce my retirement from the ring in a few months," said the champion. He is worried by the scarcity of opponents, he says.

CITY HALTS ACTION ON PIER BIDS TO AID U. S. FIRMS

Awards Might Have Enabled English or Germans to Get $911,000 Contract.

Objection by Comptroller Craig to-day halted Board of Estimate action which might have enabled English or German manufacturers to get a $911,000 contract for mechanical equipment on the Staten Island piers, which they need to keep their plants going under present conditions. The contract came up as a surprise to the American manufacturers, being put through on the "supplementary" calendar at to-day's meeting.

The regular calendar, under No. 145, carried a communication from the Shepard Electric Crane and Hoist company, urging that bidding upon cranes for the Staten Island piers be restricted to American makers, because by underbidding by a few thousand dollars, made possible by different conditions, a foreign manufacturer would be able to take away the American contracts and the factories running. This was ordered referred to the Commissioner of Docks.

What the American manufacturers did not know, was that the "supplementary" calendar, without any reference to the previous number, carried No. 238, a recommendation that the Commissioner of Docks' report be approved, "as amended in some minor particulars."

These "minor particulars" included provision that the bidding be open to foreign manufacturers. News of this came as a surprise to officials of the American companies, and they hastily urged that the work be kept in America.

When the item was called, Comptroller Craig explained what its effect would be, and Mayor Hyman put it over until next Tuesday, when it is expected the manufacturers will be on hand to urge restrictions of the bids.

FRANK J. GOULD'S FRENCH DIVORCE SUSTAINED HERE

Wife Had Day in Court and Justice Mullan Sees No Reason to Upset Result.

Justice Mullan to-day sustained the divorce of Frank J. Gould to the suit for divorce brought against him by Mrs. Edith Kelly Gould in this State. Mr. Gould divorced his wife in Paris two years ago. Mr. Gould several months ago asked for judgment on the pleadings dismissing the complaint.

Justice Mullan in deciding in favor of Mr. Gould wrote:

"It seems to me that decision on this case must depend upon the answer to the single question: Is there a policy of the people of this State requiring the refusal of our courts to give effect to the judgment of the courts of France dissolving the marriage of these parties? The case is unaffected by any rule of our own statutory law or by any provision of the Federal Constitution. This State is wholly free to give effect to the French decree or to treat it as a nullity. As has often been said, the length to which the courts of one nation will go in recognizing a judgment of another nation depends, in the last analysis, upon sound judicial discretion.

"There is admittedly no room here for a suspicion of a fraudulent resort to the French courts. Except in the most technical of senses, the parties were permanently domiciled in France. The plaintiff, in the present suit, committed indiscretion in France.

"The present defendant invoked, upon that ground, the laws of the country in which they were living. The plaintiff took advantage of all the resources afforded by the French procedure to defend it. The issue was tried upon the merits, and she had her full day in court. I see none and, on the other hand, I see every reason why the French decree should be given effect here."

BARS 'CONFESSION' OF 'HAPPY' FELSCH AT TRIAL OF SOX

Court Says "State Gambled With Defense in Strategy and Lost."

CHICAGO, July 29.—Fighting desperately in a final attempt to tighten the grip of the law on the defendants in the baseball trial, the State to-day twice met defeat when Judge Hugo Freund barred an alleged confession from "Happy" Felsch that he received $5,000 to throw the 1918 World Series games and tentatively denied the prosecution's attempt to recall David Zeiler of Des Moines, Ia., another defendant, to the witness stand.

Judge Freund, in refusing to admit the testimony against Felsch, said it "appeared that the State had gambled with the defense in strategy and lost." Felsch's statement was alleged to have been made to a Chicago newspaper reporter just after the first indictments. The State maintained it had just learned of this statement, but Judge Freund held that it should have been learned of it long ago, and that "intelligence in the State Attorney's office should not jeopardize a defendant's liberty."

"You should have brought in this testimony during your case in chief," said Judge Freund. "It is not relevant evidence."

While temporarily refusing to permit Zeiler to be recalled, Judge Freund held the State place clerk at the hotel where Zeiler lived in Chicago on the stand to testify as to the defendant's statement that he was in Chicago and Cincinnati at the time he was alleged to have talked with Bill Burns in New York.

Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis player, was hurriedly summoned to Chicago to testify, and was expected to go on the stand at the afternoon session.

Arguing the Felsch question, Thomas Nash, attorney for the former player, said:

"The State has had this evidence all along and deliberately held it back when they heard we expected to put the defendant on the stand, planning to use it as rebuttal.

"When we crossed them by suddenly resting without having Felsch testify, they were caught in a trap." Attorneys for the State announced that they would start their closing arguments after Gedeon has testified. Each side is to have ten hours for speech making to the jury. With a half day session scheduled for tomorrow the attorneys expected the case would be submitted to the jury either late Monday or early Tuesday. The State made an effort to refute the testimony of White Sox players that all the Sox, including the defendants, practiced for two hours in the Cincinnati park the morning of the first game when Bill Burns, gamblers' go-between, testified he met some of the defendants at a room in the Sinton Hotel.

The State also tried to show that the conference could have been held prior to the practice at the park. The State's rebuttal testimony was expected to take up most of to-day.

$1,900,000 BEACH WALK AT CONEY AUTHORIZED.

Evening World Project to Open Shore to All the People.

The Board of Estimate to-day authorized Borough President Bigelman of Brooklyn to proceed with the work of building a beach front walk extending from Ocean Parkway to West 57th Street, Coney Island, at a cost of $1,900,000. Petitions for delay filed by the Piquon Realty Company and Feltman's were disregarded. This project was launched by The Evening World and when completed will open the Coney Island beach to all the people.

The improvement will be paid for by a 45 per cent. assessment against the city as a whole and a 35 per cent. assessment against the property immediately benefited. The plans have been drawn and adopted. It appeared to be the sense of the members of the Board of Estimate that the work of constructing the walk should be started as soon as possible.

PENNY A POUND PROFIT

What Will You Give Him For Dinner Tonight?

Do you know there are countless tempting ways to serve Hawaiian Canned Pineapple, particularly in its Crushed or Grated form?

For instance, this delicious fruit makes a wonderfully good pie and it is very easy to prepare.

With a little lettuce, a bit of cream cheese and Crushed or Grated Hawaiian Pineapple you can quickly fix a luscious salad.

Here are two recipes, try them today.

Pineapple Pie
—Beat 1/2 cupful butter, 1 cupful sugar and yolks of 3 eggs to a cream. Add 1 can Crushed or Grated Hawaiian Pineapple. Dissolve 1 tablespoonful cornstarch in a cup of sweet cream and add to the pineapple. Mix thoroughly. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and fold in lightly. Have ready a pie tin lined with crust. Fill with the pineapple mixture and bake in a moderate oven.

Hawaiian Pineapple
1/2 cup sugar, small package of cream cheese. Soak gelatine twenty minutes in cold water, dissolve in boiling water, add sugar and then add the pineapple. Pour half of the mixture into a wet mould and chill. Soften the cream cheese with a little cream and form into small balls. When the mixture in the mould begins to stiffen, arrange the balls of cheese in any form desired in the moulded jelly. Add the remainder of the mixture and chill until stiff. When ready to use, unmould on a bed of lettuce, oven and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Pineapple and Cheese Salad
—1 1/2 tablespoons granulated gelatine, 1/2 cup cold water, 1 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup Crushed or Grated

You can buy Hawaiian Crushed or Grated Pineapple at your grocer's. He has it in assorted sizes to suit your needs.

It is a good plan to order a half dozen or a dozen tins, because this fruit keeps perfectly until you are ready for its use, and it will always come in handy.

It is prime Hawaiian Pineapple that has been fully ripened in the sun, picked in the first few hours of its ripeness and sealed in its shining clean container before sundown that same day.

All soda fountains serve Crushed or Grated Hawaiian Canned Pineapple. Try a Pineapple Sundae next time you wonder what you want.
