

DANCING MUST STOP IN KATONAH SCHOOLS.

Methodist Church Board Protest Heeded by Authorities.
Up in dear old Katonah the dancing faction and the anti-dancing faction are at it again. In pursuance of a protest from the board of the Methodist Church of the village, dancing has been stopped in the Katonah public school building. But this is only half of it. A petition signed by 271 adult villagers has protested against the embargo and, according to J. Franklin Ryan, President of the School Board, there are a number of Methodists among the signers.
Final action will not be taken until the board meets on Oct. 4, at which time, Mr. Ryan said to-day, he thinks recognition of sentiment will result in an order permitting dances under the auspices of certain organizations. Meantime the young people and those of the adults who have feet attuned to decorous rhythm, are bewailing the deprivation.
Last year a similar upheaval against Sunday baseball resulted in action by the Town Board permitting it. So the dancers are hopeful.
