MISSIONARY WINS REMSEN HANDICAP; MUSTARD SEED 2D

Surf Rider Runs Third in Two-Year Tussle at Six Furlongs.

SQUAW MAN LOSES FIRST

War Note Gets Second With Regal Lodge Landing in the Money.

By Vincent Treanor.

JAMAICA RACE TRACK, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Missionary and Mustard Seed finished almost on even terms in the Remsen handicap feature of to-day's racing card. Mustard Seed appeared to have lasted, but Missionary's number went. Surf Rider the favorite, came from last place to finish third.

Mustard Seed raced Toll into the ground and then seemed to have the race won in the stretch. Schuttlinger on Missionary, however, charged on him right at the end and according to the judges just did get up.

Turner rode his second winner when he got Esquire home a head in front of Rolo in the third. The race was between them all the way. Rolo led at the beginning, but Esquire hooked up with her at the stretch. A stride-for-stride battle ensued, in which Rolo was outgamed. Trader ran third all the way. Golden Flint never was a contender.

War Note stuck it out for the mile and seventy yards of the second race and got home safely under Clarence Turner. The turns helped him a lot after he got away in front. Crystal Ford chased him all the way only to stop badly and Siren Maid closing very fast was up in time to get the place money. Regal Lodge was a good third.

Alexander Hamilton won the opening event running the five and a half furlongs in 1:06 3/5. He was first all the way, but Kemmer had to resort to all his riding tricks to get him home. He pulled over in front of Squaw Man in the stretch when the latter looked to be coming in. Then he came on handsly. Monastery ran a good race and outgamed Squaw Man. Frigate well played was pinched off badly at the barrier and had no chance.

30 Days of Meditation For a Nigger

"Thirty days in the workhouse to meditate, and I am sure when you get out you will act like a gentleman in a crowd," said Chief Magistrate McAdoo, in sentencing Orlando Mazzarella, twenty-three, a clerk of 255 East 134th Street, the Bronx, to-day. Mazzarella was found guilty on Monday of annoying Miss Sarah Bedford, a stenographer in the National City Bank, while she was riding in a subway train.

FEAR YACHT THAT LEFT HERE FOR TRIP AROUND WORLD MAY BE DERELICT SIGHTED IN PACIFIC

Speejacks Is Reported Overdue for 10 Days at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Fears that the yacht Speejacks, en route from Newport, R. I. to San Francisco, and more than a week overdue here, had met disaster were expressed to-day when the steamer Hattie Luckenbach reported passing a derelict yacht forty miles west of Cape San Lucas, Lower California. There were no signs of life aboard the derelict, which was not identified.

GOWEN'S YACHT ONLY ONE OF THAT NAME IN PACIFIC

Her Builders Doubt Her Loss and Show Cablegram Received Yesterday.

The New York Yacht Club reports to The Evening World that the only yacht of the name Speejacks in the Pacific would be the little motor craft which so recently passed out of this harbor. But W. G. Woods, advertising manager of the Consolidated Shipbuilding Company, Morris Heights, which built the Speejacks for Albert Y. Gowen Jr. of Cleveland, O., advised The Evening World that he yesterday reading from Mr. Gowen's letter that the Speejacks left Panama Sept. 30th. Expect to arrive Tahiti Oct. 25th. All are well. "Doubt" is expressed by officials of the Speejacks.

CONTRACTOR'S CASH IN QUEENS CO. WENT TO CAMPAIGN FUND

Witness Tells Meyer Committee He Was Told It Was to Help Connolly Win Fight.

WENT FOR INFLUENCE.

Borough President Clamors, but Is Suppressed—Denials by Lockwood and Murphy.

Evidence was taken by the Meyer committee to-day regarding payments of $42,000 to former Under Sheriff John M. Phillips of Queens and $8,500 to William F. Matthews, otherwise known as "Doc," as contractors on over a million and a quarter dollars' worth of Queens sewers in the last three years.

Joseph Sigretti, with the $400,000 51st Street sewer, had Phillips in a "partnership" to the extent of 5 per cent. of all moneys Phillips collected from the city.

The O'Rourke Construction Company with the Linden Avenue sewer contract of $876,000 employed "Doc" Matthews for $8,500 to "preach the gospel of concrete block," John F. O'Rourke said. It was indicated that $5,000 of this $8,500 went to Phillips.

Phillips was quoted by Sigretti as saying Phillips was going to give $14,000 of the 51st Street sewer payment to the campaign fund of Maurice J. Connolly. Mr. Connolly bulldozed up out of the audience and made explosive denials until former Sheriff Brown verbally bledged him into quiet.

Preceding the sewer evidence, Senator Charles C. Lockwood and former Senator C. F. Murphy of Brooklyn were sworn at their own request and denied categorically every statement or insinuation made about them by Inspector John F. Dwyer in his trade of Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Lockwood told how he introduced a bill to make the rank of detectives permanent and then killed it in committee because the partition and Lieutenants opposed it, and former Commissioner Arthur Woods, selected as arbiter, disapproved it. Enright supported the bill. He denied he had ever asked, received or expected a cent in connection with the matter.

Mr. Murphy said he had pushed the Lockwood bill in 1919. He not only did not receive $5,000, but he had not asked, expected or received any money or gift and had been unable to accept an invitation to the Lieutenants' dinner. He did not know whether the Lusk bill, passed this year and vetoed by Mayor Hylan, was like the Lockwood bill or not.

LAST OF ENGLISH WOMEN STARS OUT OF GOLF TOURNEY

Alexa Stirling Defeats Mrs. Hall, and Miss Rosenthal Beats Edith Leitch.

By William Abbott. (Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

HOLLYWOOD GOLF CLUB, DEAL, N. J., Oct. 6.—The English Invasion collapsed with a thud in the third round of the Women's National Golf Championship on the Hollywood Course to-day when Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, defending title holder, defeated Mrs. Latham Hall by a single hole.

The Stirling-Hall match was a fight all the way, the English invader running up an early lead because the Southern girl had a spell of wildness off the tee. Miss Stirling, however, finally overhauled her foreign opponent and made one of the most magnificent finishes ever seen in a woman's tournament. After overplaying the eighteenth green she chipped beautifully to within two feet of the hole. This saved the hole, as Mrs. Hall's putt came within three inches of dropping in.

The other international contest was also bitterly fought. It was given and taken all the way. Miss Rosenthal came to the eighteenth with a scant lead of one hole, but tossed her advantage as when she missed a putt of about 10 feet. Miss Leitch quickly took advantage of the opening and holed a short putt for a win in five. On the extra hole it was stroke for stroke until the husky English star was short of the green with her third.

The American star had a yard putt for a win and she made good, a shot that eliminated the last of the overseas invaders, who entered this championship so confident of winning the classic.

OPERATOR KEEPS ELEVATOR RUNNING IN BOADWAY FIRE

Panic-Stricken Hundreds in Empire State Building Carried to Safety.

William Brahm, an elevator man, proved himself a hero this afternoon when fire started on the fifth floor of the Empire State Building, No. 640 Broadway, a nine-story structure. The fire, which is said to have been in the rooms of the Arrow Leather Company, filled the building with smoke. There are seventy firms and several hundred employees.

The building extends through to Crosby Street, and a dash was made for the fire escapes and stairways and elevator on that side. Scores, however, were unable to reach these outlets and jammed the halls on the Broadway side. Brahm, with the elevator shaft choking with smoke, ran his car up and down, carrying a capacity crowd at every trip.

On the Crosby side several women and men who lost their nerve had to be carried down the escapes. When Hook and Ladder No. 20 reached the scene an extension ladder was thrown up on the Broadway side and Firemen Donegan and Laffin made their way to the top floor. There they took charge of the crowd and loaded the panic-stricken into the car.

When all were out it was found that Laffin and Donegan had been trapped on the ninth floor and a rescue party of firemen brought them out.

The building has been the scene of several other fires. On election night, 1887, it caught fire and the flames were driven across Broadway, almost destroying the Manhattan Bank building. Five or six years ago it was the scene of several daring rescues when persons were carried from the upper stories. The fire to-day was watched by a loud crowd which cheered when Laffin and Donegan was rescued by their comrades.

Convicted of Practicing Medicine Without a License.

Mark Colla of No. 2572 Fulton Street, Brooklyn, was found guilty of practicing medicine without a license. Before Justices Kernochan, Salmon and Edwards in Special Sessions, Brooklyn, to-day, it was charged he treated Mrs. Anna Korman, No. 427 Hecoxman Avenue, Brooklyn, for cancer. The woman died.
