WOMAN WITH BABY HALTS WEDDING, ACCUSING GROOM

Interrupts Priest in Ceremony When 2,000 Guests Are in the Church.

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 19.—Two thousand guests at the fashionable wedding of Edward J. Farrington, Yale man and the son of one of the wealthiest men in the State, and Miss Margaret Hodson were brought to their feet with excitement in the Church of the Immaculate Conception here when an elderly, plainly dressed woman in a front pew arose and in dramatic tones demanded that the ceremony be stopped.

The priest was just about to pronounce the words which would make Mr. Farrington and Miss Hodson man and wife. "Stop!" the woman shouted. "I have something to say before this ceremony is finished. This man is the father of that child." She pointed to a two-year-old boy in the arms of a young woman beside her.

The young woman was her daughter, Miss Laura Rodden of New Haven, who asserted she was Farrington's sweetheart while he was at Yale and that he was the father of her baby.

The church resounded with the stirring of the audience. Farrington is the son of Daniel T. Farrington, and Miss Hodson the daughter of Frank J. Hodson, owner of the hotel which bears his name. He is twenty-four and she is twenty-one. Both were popular members of Waterbury society.

Half a dozen ushers tried to induce Mrs. Rodden to leave. The young bride appeared to maintain her composure better than any one else. She took a long look at the Roddens and the baby, then turned about and requested that the ceremony go on.

The priest remonstrated with Mrs. Rodden, telling her the bans had been read for three weeks, in accordance with the church custom, and that she should have come forward with her complaint sooner. The ushers succeeded in leading the excited woman from the building. The ceremony was quickly ended.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrington were married Oct. 31. The young couple left immediately for a honeymoon in Canada where she is now ill with pneumonia in a Quebec hospital.

The Farringtons and Hodsons have refused to make any statements to newspaper men. But Mrs. Rodden has not been so reticent. She insisted that Farrington had wronged her pretty daughter and had refused to make the only amends. The girl is the youngest of nine children, six girls and three boys, and was only fifteen, the mother said, when she became acquainted with Farrington.

WOMAN ARRESTED AT BIRTH CONTROL MEETING FREED

Dr. Lowery Leaves Court in Huff, Charging Policeman With Brutality.

Dr. Nora A. Lowery, No. 1284 Lexington Avenue, the only person arrested last night at the Birth Control meeting at the Park Theatre, received a suspended sentence to-day when she was arraigned in the West Side Court before Magistrate Levine on a charge of disorderly conduct.

She denied that she had tried to make a speech on the sidewalk outside the theatre, but admitted that she had called Patrolman Philip Ginty, who arrested her, "an impudent person" and refused to "move on" or to recognize his "insignificant badge."

She said she merely happened to be in the neighborhood when a great crowd was gathering outside the theatre, and she added that she was not in sympathy with the Birth Control Movement.

She told the Magistrate the policeman had dragged her by the arm, calling "untold agony," and as she left the room she instructed her attorney to take the policeman's number, saying she intended to proceed against him.

Most of the excitement last night was outside the theatre. The speeches inside were comparatively mild. The meeting was held in a substitute room, the one the police stopped recently at the Town Hall.

A general invitation was extended by Dr. Lydia De Vilbiss, the president of the organization, for any one who wanted to get up and turn loose a few remarks.

A young man whose card said he was Leo Dougherty accepted the invitation late in the evening. He described himself as an anti, but when he got a chance to talk he didn't even mention birth control. "We don't need to bring any learned speakers' from England to talk to us about how our American liberties are being trampled upon, or how England is separated from the Church for her sins," Mr. Dougherty began.

The Abused Modern Girl, Skirts Short, Hair Bobbed, Wins Brave Man Champion

"She Is Suffering From Reaction From the Old Standards of Family Discipline" and "Who Is to Blame? Father and Mother."

"Even Grandma Finds She Isn't Too Old to Go to Modern Dances * * * Why Should She Criticize Girl for Doing Likewise?"

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall. GRANDMA has no right to criticize the modern college girl. I don't think bare knees are any more immodest than the stately hoop-skirt of half a century ago.—Prof. Burges Johnson of Vassar College.

"So much has been said about the vanities of the modern girl that it is only fair to point out that the average girl of to-day is far better equipped mentally than the girl of a generation ago. The girl of to-day wants to be useful as well as ornamental."—Pres. Guth of Goucher College.

"When we were young we carefully covered our legs and feet and left our ears exposed. Our daughters have simply reversed the custom, and how are we to blame them?"—Mrs. Catherine Grichie of the State Agricultural College of New Brunswick, N. J.

STRENUOUS TIME FORCES FOCH TO CUT HIS ENGAGEMENTS

Hand Swollen From Many Greetings—Kept Very Busy To-Day.

The strenuousness of American hospitality has begun to tell on Marshal Foch. The incessant rounds of receptions, luncheons, dinners and speeches has tired him, and it became known to-day, which will be another busy one for the French general, his physician, Dr. Andre, has ordered him to cancel several engagements.

Gen. Foch's hand is swollen from much handshaking. Shortly after he awoke he received at 11 o'clock at the home of W. Dr. Laney Kountze of No. 122 E. 78th Street, where he is visiting, representatives of the Federated Council of Churches, headed by Bishop William Manning. The Women's Roosevelt Memorial Association called on him at 12:30 and accompanied him to the birthplace of the former President at No. 29 East 20th Street. The Pennsylvania Society entertained him at a luncheon at the Waldorf at 1 o'clock.

Dr. John H. Finley, former President of City College, speaking for the Federated Council of Churches, assured the Marshal for the people of France of America's lasting friendship for the United States and declared that the spirit of unity between the two nations would help bring permanent peace. He presented to the Council a scroll from the Bible sent to them by the people of Rheims.

One other visitor during the morning was Sergt. Samuel Woodruff, chosen by Gen. Pershing as the greatest American hero of the war. This afternoon he will receive from Columbia University and the hands of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler the honorary degree of LL.D. He will then motor to 133th Street and Riverside Drive and lay the cornerstone of the permanent building of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

The France-America Society will be his host at a dinner at 7 o'clock at the Waldorf, following which he will go to the Capitol Theatre directing rooms to receive the representatives in New York of the Devastated France Association.

During his drive through Times Square on this journey he will be embellished in electric lights atop the Hermitage Hotel on the R. H. Macy & Co. sign, the words: "To Marshal Foch, Generalissimo of the Allied Armies: New York extends to you its warmest welcome. The memory of your visit will remain imperishable."

GIRLS TO SMOKE OUT RAILROAD WITH CIGARETTES

Connecticut and Rhode Island Women Resent "One Car" Train Reduction.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Nov. 19.—Two score young women of this city and its neighboring communities have decided to "smoke out" the New Haven Railroad. They say they'll do it if they choke. They intend to make the smoke themselves, aided by a copious supply of cigarettes. Cigarettes have been selected, as the young women are not entirely sure of maintaining their ground if they use honest-to-goodness tobacco.

The reason for the smoke screen is the recent action of the road in running one-car trains, thus eliminating the smoker. If the management doesn't go back to the old two-car trains, one car being a smoker, the women will board the single car, make themselves comfortable and light up. If the men don't take the hint and do likewise—well, the feminine contingent says it will look elsewhere for beans.

Hundreds of petitions for a return to the two-car train service have been sent to the commissioners of Connecticut and Rhode Island—women of Norwich, Gates Ferry, Groton, New London, Pawtuxet Valley and Westerly.

HERO OF SHIP AFIRE AT SEA ARRESTED

Benedict is Charged With Attempting Extortion From His Former Employer.

Albert Benedict, 25, a deck hand of No. 311 Oakland Street, Greenpoint, Brooklyn, was arrested last night as he came out of No. 9 Jackson Avenue, Long Island City, the office of Frederick Russell, President of the Newtown Creek Towing Company.

He had $500 in marked bills. It is charged, part of $5,000 he is said to have demanded from his former employer to retract an alleged statement to a marine insurance company that a tugboat fire was due to arson. The sea-going tug Victory, which was burned May 25 off Florida Coast, brought $250,000 insurance to the towing company. Benedict is said to have admitted to knowing nothing about the fire.

He pleaded not guilty when arraigned to-day in Long Island City Court, and was held in $5,000 bail for examination on Wednesday.

CITY NOW GETTING 95 P. C. OF NORMAL MILK DELIVERY

Only 70 P. C. of Companies' Wagons Being Used—Duplication of Routes Avoided.

It was announced at the headquarters of the Milk Conference Board to-day that New York is now getting 95 per cent. of its normal milk supply and that the work is being done by only 70 per cent. of the normal number of wagons.

This is regarded as a demonstration of the truth of an argument frequently put forth—that a part of the high cost of milk has been due to duplication of routes, three or four wagons distributing in a single block. The strike made it necessary to get the full working power out of each wagon and driver, and the companies have found that it works so well that they are making no special effort at present to get new drivers.

The Borden Company had 1,645 wagons working to-day, the normal being 1,850; the Empire State, with a normal of 245, was getting along nicely with 185, and the Sheffield Company, which has many retail stores to help out, was using only 312 of its 1,500 wagons. One Sheffield driver, however, managed to handle 12,000 quarts of milk yesterday.

At the union headquarters the only statement obtainable to-day was that the strikers were still "going strong" and that one more dairy, not a member of the Milk Conference Board, had met the union terms.

SCHWAB WILLING TO LOSE RICHES IF WARS WOULD END

Would Sink Bethlehem Plant Gladly, and Says Others Would Too.

Charles M. Schwab, Chairman of the Board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, told the American Iron and Steel Institute at its banquet to Marshal Foch last night:

"If it could be possible to bring about disarmament and permanent peace, gladly would I see the great ammunition and shipbuilding plants of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation sunk to the bottom of the ocean.

"If disarmament inflicts a money loss upon us, the American iron and steel industry will accept it willingly and gladly. Such a thing as financial loss can be of no consideration when compared to the inestimable boon to mankind which would be involved in their realization of the plan now before the statesmen at Washington. What red-blooded American would not, indeed, make any sacrifice if the burden of armament could be lifted from the shoulders of humanity?"

field driver, however, managed to handle 12,000 quarts of milk yesterday.
