Woodland Wonder Tales By Cousin Eleanor

BILLY BRIGHTEYES VISITS HIS CHILDREN.

"Oh, Chippie, you are a wonder; you are always discovering things!" Billy Brighteyes burst out with this after hearing that Chippie had followed Taberna, Pollykin's cat, and so discovered where the Brighteyes children lived.

Billy Brighteyes and the Brighteyes Children.

"We must not wait a single minute. I want to see them at once. Without any delay Chippie was ready to start on his way back to the odd nest that held all four of Billy Brighteyes's little ones. Billy followed.

so whenever he wanted anything he sent Patty to the village to get it. One day he sent Patty to get one pound of bread at the store. The way to the store was inhabited by many squirrels. Patty walked on and on, and then he decided to lie down on the grass and rest. He lay down, yawning. Suddenly he heard a wee voice say, "Come, Patty, let's go and see what the squirrels are looking at." He opened his eyes and saw a little elf about three inches tall.

All four babies wanted to sit on daddy's knee at once. This, of course, was impossible. But it was not impossible for them to all ask questions at once—they did it.

By DORA STERN, aged eleven.

OCTOBER CONTEST AWARD WINNER.

WHAT I DO WITH MY SPARE TIME.

My Magnificent Palace. On the door of our attic is a placard with the words "The Magnificent Palace." The low, sloping ceiling only adds to the charm of the room. In the attic we have the palace yard, ballroom, museum and library, where I spend most of my time.

HONORABLE MENTION.

Louis Lipson, Bronx; Margaret Ullman, Stapleton, S. I.; Eugenia Van Houten, Red Bank, N. J.; Herbert Nazel, Brooklyn.

Frocks of Velvet or Kasha Cloth

For Afternoon Wear

The two fabrics selected by Paris to interpret the afternoon mode are here represented in reproductions and adaptations of distinguished gowns from the Paris openings.

In velvet, $69.50 to $95

Furs in bands and fringes, fine embroideries suggestive of peasant's costumes, metal girdles, steel nailheads—used with dignity and simplicity are the dominant features of our collection.

Black, brown, taupe, gray and dull red.

In Kasha cloth, $115 to $197.50

The soft dull surface of this fabric permits unusual decoration and so our gowns have each some brilliant colored crepe in sleeves, bodice, embroidery, metal girdles or deep banding of fur against the background of black, navy blue or brown.

The season's Wool Coatings at very moderate prices

Fabrics made of the best Australian cashmere wool—with the soft finish and deep pile of heavy velvet. Used with great distinction in wraps, coats, capes and suits.

Black, navy blue, maize and tortoise shell brown, Sorrento blue, garnet. 54 inches wide.

Cashmere silk-back Duvetyn, $16 yd.

Drapes gracefully and wears well.

Marvella Cloth, $12.50 yd.

One of the smartest coatings of the year.

Gerona Cloth, $11.50 yd.

A new fabric this season which is a close rival of marvella.

Veldyn, $7.50 yd.

Critics say this is the first all-wool duvetyn which really wears.

Moussyne, $6.50 yd.

Lighter in weight than vel-dyne but with all its softness.

Dress Goods Salons, First Floor, Old Building

Hand-made Blouses with filet lace, $4.95

Not long ago exactly this same model sold in our own stock for $10.50—and it is one of our most successful blouses for wear with the tailored suit.

French voile

The hand made filet lace that borders the smart roll collar is unusually wide and of a charming pattern. Hand embroidered dots in squares of hand drawn work add further distinction to the collar, as well as to the vestee and snug turn back cuffs.

Sizes 34 to 46.
