GENOA GRANTS FULL RIGHTS TO RUSSIANS AND GERMANS AFTER HEATED OPPOSITION

France and Belgium Try to Bar Envoys in Main Committee Till Lloyd George Warns Parley Might as Well End.

Soviet Chief Again Demands Action on Disarmament Conference in Face of Flat Refusal by Paris Minister.

GENOA, April 11 (Associated Press).—Admission of Russian and German representatives to the principal committee of the Economic Conference was strongly opposed to-day by both French and Belgian representatives. Premier Lloyd George, together with Premier Facta and Foreign Minister Schanzer of Italy, intervened, however, and their conciliatory attitude resulted in the admittance of both the Russians and the Germans.

The opposition to the presence of the delegates from the two countries was an outgrowth of the Franco-Russian incident at the opening session. M. Barthou, for France, but more especially M. Theunys, for Belgium, placed themselves in opposition to the German and Russian representatives being admitted to the principal committee while the representatives of the smaller countries which fought with the Allies were excluded.

Premier Facta and Lloyd George and Signor Schanzer maintained it would be impossible not to permit the Russians and the Germans to be represented on the committee which was to deal chiefly with the problems affecting Germany and Russia. They argued that the exclusion of these delegates would stultify the objects of the committee, because all were in agreement that the co-operation of Russia and Germany was indispensable for the reconstruction of Europe.

The work of conciliation undertaken by Premier Facta and Signor Schanzer was finally successful in bridging the crisis.

The discussion over the membership of the committee arose at the first meeting of that body this afternoon. As originally planned, the committee was to include representatives of the British, Japanese, German and Russian delegates. In addition to these, representatives of Poland, Roumania, Switzerland and Sweden were admitted this afternoon, after the morning's argument, in which Premier Theunys urged the desirability of having the smaller countries represented.

At this afternoon's session, which is to consider Russian affairs, Foreign

HYLAN INFORMED DAN COSTIGAN IS SHADOWING HIM

Mayor Started to Learn That Former Inspector Was Seen Watching Brooklyn Home.

Will Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, now with us, kindly refrain from lecturing long enough to call back to activity the celebrated Sherlock Holmes? John P. Hyland, Mayor of New York, needs the celebrated hawkshaw. The Mayor is being shadowed. He suspects that a well-known police inspector and vice suppressor (under your Easter bonnet, his name is Daniel E. Costigan) is on his heels and that the former inspector is in the employ of the special interests, the predatory interests or the subsidized press.

But, to begin at the beginning, in order to understand this story of the tribulations of a Mayor, one must get the atmosphere. The Mayor had what might be termed a high-blood-pressure-day yesterday. He worked hard all morning at a Board of Estimate meeting in semi-tropical heat. Then he and other members of the board had a heavy lunch. After that came another long, arduous session. The tension was broken at 5 o'clock when the Mayor flipped a large Turkish towel under his arm and descended to his rathskeller-like basement office and used his new shower bath for the first time. Feeling much cooler, the Mayor worked in City Hall until 10 o'clock last night, when he retired home. Now for the thrilling part of the story.

As the Mayor stepped from his car at his residence on Bushwick Avenue a man described as a retired detective and a personal friend of Mr. Hyland suddenly made his appearance and announced that he had something very important to communicate.

"Dan Costigan, the former Inspector, walked up and down this street for an hour to-night," whispered the ex-detective.

The Mayor was astounded. At least, that is what his friends say, for the Mayor himself will not discuss the matter. The ex-detective proved to the Mayor that he was a very, very clever detective, for he engaged the supposed Costigan in conversation. It was just like one of those Sherlock Holmes stunts.

"What are you doing here, Dan?" Just like that.

"The alleged Dan Costigan, being innocent and unspiculated, just fell for this clever question, for he made this very startling reply:

"Oh, I'm just walking up and down." Just like that.

THREATS ARE MADE TO IMPEACH A CABINET MEMBER

Two Republicans in Congress Make Charges Against Daugherty and Weeks.

OVER WAR CONTRACTS. Government, It Is Charged, Swindled Out of Millions—Call For Investigation.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, said in the House to-day if the Attorney General did not "fully look to the interests of the Government" in a pending claim suit against the Lincoln Motor Company, he would "consider him guilty of misfeasance" and move his impeachment.

Representative Johnson, Republican, South Dakota, supported the charges made by Mr. Woodruff. He said the people were robbed by hundreds of millions in these contracts, and demanded a Congressional investigation.

A bill is now pending calling for the appointment of a committee of fifteen members to probe all contracts made by the Government during the war was introduced by Representatives Johnson and Woodruff. The latter cited several "specific instances" where he charged the Government had been defrauded of millions of dollars.

One of the biggest of the alleged illegal deals was the sale of the stock of the Bosch Magneto Company, seized by the Alien Property Custodian during the war. Under this sale Woodruff charged the New York and Boston brokerage firm of Hornblower & Weeks "profited to the extent of $1,000,000 or more."

"It is inconceivable," Mr. Woodruff said, "that the President should be aware of the facts I have set forth. I do not believe President Wilson was aware of the conditions that existed during his Administration. I do not believe President Harding is aware of conditions as they exist to-day."

"On Dec. 31, 1919," Mr. Woodruff said, "the capital stock of the Bosch Magneto Company was sold by the Alien Property Custodian to Martin E. Kern for $1,150,000. Kern was a close personal friend and client of Mr. Palmer (A. Mitchell Palmer), Alien Property Custodian at the time of the sale. It appears that Mr. Kern was not an American citizen, but was of German birth and citizenship. It would also seem that he had served three terms in prison in New York State for felony, and I hold in my hand copies of his photograph, appearing in the Rogues' Gallery in New York City.

STORM DUE TO-DAY TO BREAK APRIL'S UNUSUAL HOT WAVE

First Heat Prostration of Year Here, While West Shivers in Snow Storm.

The Weather Bureau has promised for this afternoon a storm, and probably showers, which will break the heat wave.

The first heat prostration of the year was reported to-day when Mary Harris, twenty-five, No. 21 West 154th Street, collapsed in the Columbus Circle subway station and was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

The mercury was at 67 degrees at 8 o'clock this morning and had risen by noon to 77, soon afterward a cool wind brought relief. Still cooler weather is predicted for to-morrow.

There is a heavy storm over the Great Lakes and here the wind was blowing thirty-five miles an hour at 8 o'clock. The storm warning to-day was for the region between Cape Hatteras and Eastport.

MAJ. F. W. DURVEA KILLED BY BULLET; CALLED A SUICIDE

Member of Prominent New York Family Found Dead at Presidio.

WIFE, HERE, COLLAPSES. Death Adds Another Tragedy to Several That Have Occurred in Family.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Major Frank Wright Durvea was found dead in his quarters at the Presidio to-day. A revolver with which he had apparently shot himself lay near his hand. A Board of Inquiry has been appointed to make a report on the assumption that he committed suicide.

Major Durvea was in the Finance Department and his commanding officer, Col. Edward P. Orton, said there were no irregularities in his accounts or any other apparent causes for his act. He lived at the Presidio with Major John M. True. Yesterday he was ill in bed, according to Col. Orton, who said Major Durvea telephoned to him that he was unable to be at his desk.

Mrs. Durvea's mother, a Mrs. Wolcott, who lives in Santa Barbara, was notified.

The death, reported to be by suicide of Major Frank W. Durvea, follows within little less than a year the death by a revolver shot of his first cousin, Harry H. Durvea, in his office in the Equitable Trust Building, No. 247 Madison Avenue, July 28, 1921. The medical examiner reported the death of H. H. Durvea as a suicide, though his family vehemently denied that he had any reason to end his life. His death was a few days after the decision adverse to him of E. Crosby Kindeberger, attorney, in the settlement of the estate of his father, Gen. Hiram Durvea, organizer of Durvea's Zouaves in the Civil War.

Gen. Hiram Durvea, who with his brothers, Gen. Wright Durvea, the father of Major Frank Durvea and Jonathan Durvea, founded the Glen Cove, L. I., starchy industry, was shot and killed by Chester H. Durvea, his older son, May 5, 1911. Chester Durvea was later committed to Mattewan Hospital as insane.

Mrs. Frank W. Durvea, who was Miss Grace Wolcott of Dedham, Mass., remained in their apartment here at No. 145 West 12th Street with their son, Wright Durvea, when her husband was ordered to the presidio. Wright Durvea was a sergeant as a Lieutenant in the Marine Gun Company of the 167th Infantry and is now employed by a Wall Street house. Mrs. Durvea was informed to-day of her husband's death by a

SENATE GETS TARIFF BILL BOOSTING MANY ARTICLES BASED ON FOREIGN VALUES

WOMAN MURDERED ON EAST SIDE BY JACK THE RIPPER

Indications That Victim Had Made Hard Struggle for Her Life.

The body of Miss Nellie Tracy, forty years old, housekeeper of a lodging house at No. 16 1/2 Hamilton Street, was found at 6 o'clock to-day in the hall of the tenement, Nos. 17-19 Catharine Street, by the janitor, William Sunday. All the clothing had been torn from the woman and was scattered about her body. A deep gash had been cut in her lower abdomen and had apparently caused her death.

There were stains on the mosaic floor of the hall at the front vestibule, which indicated the struggle had begun there, and a trail of spots led back of the stairs to the landing, from which a door led out to the back yard.

Sunday called Policeman Pogliano, who summoned an ambulance surgeon from Gouverneur Hospital and Detective Gray and Roy from the Oak Street Station. It was apparent, the surgeon said, that Miss Tracy had been dead for several hours. This was confirmed by Medical Examiner North.

Gray recognized the woman as one who was frequently seen about the neighborhood.

Mrs. McGowan, who lived in the lodging house with her son, Frederick, sent him to the Oak Street station and he identified the body.

Mrs. McGowan said that Miss Tracy had been drinking heavily recently and yesterday had told her employer she meant to give up her place and try to get work at Metropolitan Hospital, where she could have treatment for alcoholism.

The detectives were unable to find anybody in the Catharine Street house who had heard any outcry or struggle. Pogliano, covering two posts because of the shortage of policemen due to the drills for the police parade, was unable to give his usual attention to either last night, it was explained.

Measure to Raise $350,000,000 Increases Duties on Foods, Hides, Dyes and Strongly Favors Farming Interests.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Senate Tariff Bill, the product of months of deliberation, which is to raise an estimated revenue of about $350,000,000 a year, was reported to the Senate to-day by Senator McCumber, Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Based on a foreign valuation of goods, it is slated for a stormy time both in the Senate and House. An outstanding feature is that it raises rates on farm products and in general maintains a level about on a par with the Payne-Aldrich bill and much higher than those of the present Underwood law.

Senate backers say it will pass by July, but some prophets are saying it will never be passed in this session.

Fights on the floor are expected over hides, shoes, dyes, silks, sugar and wool.

Whenever possible the dutiable value is to be foreign value or the export value, whichever is higher. Foreign value is defined as "the price at the time of exportation . . . at which the same or similar merchandise is freely offered for sale . . . in the principal markets of the country from which exported."

The report of another ripper case recalling those of which the murder of "Old Shakespeare," a generation ago, was typical, caused great excitement in the polyglot population under the bridge. The station was mobbed by persons who had missed relatives and friends recently.

Ben All, an erratic character known as "Frenchy," was convicted of killing "Old Shakespeare," whose right name was Carrie Brown, in the East River Hotel, at Catharine and Water Street, in 1891. His sentence to death was commuted to life imprisonment, and through the efforts of Jacob A. Riss, who contended the evidence had been manufactured to meet public criticisms of the police for their failure to solve the crime, he was paroled in 1902.

Sarah Martin, known along the waterfront as "Old Old Lock," was found dead, similarly mutilated, in Kelly's hotel, No. 9 James Slip, Dec. 19, 1903. Emil Totterman, a sailor of the battleship Oregon, was convicted of her murder. After the commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment Totterman escaped from a prison camp at Beckman, N. Y., in 1916.

JACK DEMPSEY OFF TO EUROPE; THROUG SHOUTS GOODBYS

Record Crowd Sees Aquitania Sail With Pugilist and Over 1,400 Others.

The Aquitania sailed to-day with 1,400 passengers. One of the largest crowds of the season was at the pier to say goodby to a host of celebrities, sporting, theatrical and society, that were listed among the passengers.

Jack Dempsey with his manager and trainers occupied a suite and excited the most attention. At times the crowd about him was five deep.

Florence Walton, the dancer, kissed him by the camera men while a lot of friends applauded.

MRS. JONES BRIDE OF HENRY WALTERS

Railroad Man and Widow of Old Friend Wed and Quietly Leave for Europe.

Through their sailing on the Aquitania to-day, it became known that earlier in the day Henry Walters, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Atlantic Gulf Lines and of the Louisville and Nashville road, and Mrs. Pembroke Jones of No. 5 East 65th Street had been quietly married in the home of Mrs. Jones's daughter, Mrs. John Russell Pope, No. 4 East 81st Street.

Mr. Walters and the late Pembroke Jones were close friends. Mr. Walters was a bachelor. The Joneses frequently were his guests on his steam yacht, the Naxos. Upon one occasion, when Mr. Walters was very ill, it is said Mr. Jones returned to permit him to be taken to a hospital and turned the Jones home into one until his recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters occupied suite No. 209 aboard the ship. They will spend their honeymoon in Paris.

TESTIMONY FINISHED IN ARBUCKLE CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—Testimony was concluded to-day in the third trial of Raseo E. (Patty) Arbuckle for manslaughter. Closing arguments are expected to take the rest of to-day's session and most of to-morrow.

The case probably will go to the jury to-morrow afternoon.

HUGHES PROTESTS NAVAL REDUCTION

Secretary Says United States Interests Would Suffer by Cut Below 5-5-3 Ratio.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Reduction of navy personnel to 67,000 enlisted men, as provided in the Naval Appropriation Bill now being considered by the House, would reduce the American Navy below the 5-5-3 ratio established by the Arms Conference and "would be most injurious to the interests of the United States," Secretary Hughes wrote to Representative Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts, to-day.
