

BRITISH TROOPS OFF FOR INVADED IRELAND BORDER

Equipped With Machine Guns and Kitchen Units for Long Stay.

AIRPLANE FLEET SENT. Snipers' Stronghold Discovered in Belfast Had Incendiary Materials.

BELFAST, June 3 (Associated Press).—Large parties of British troops, fully equipped, left Inishillen, County Fermanagh, this afternoon, for the border. They traveled in military and commandeered lorries. Many machine guns were taken along. Their kitchen outfits accompanied them, and they were evidently prepared for a long stay.

What had evidently been a snipers' stronghold was uncovered to-day in Belfast when Crown forces invaded a house in Carrick Hill and discovered in the attic a quantity of rifles, revolvers, grenades and ammunition. The walls were loopholed, and a barrel of gasoline and several bicycles found led to the belief that these were the equipment of organized incendiaries.

The British military forces in Northern Ireland were reinforced this morning by the arrival of twelve officers and ninety-seven men of the Royal Air Force. They are being followed by twelve fighting planes, which are due this afternoon.

The twelve Bristol fighting planes will be flown over from England this afternoon, and will be quartered at Aldergrove, 18 miles from this city, where there is a big aerodrome, started during the World War but not completed.

A battery of howitzers was also landed. Their destination is believed to be Enniskillen, near the southern border of County Fermanagh, where an advance party arrived yesterday, and where there is much military activity.

Bombs were thrown this morning into three shops at Letterkenny, County Donegal. All three business places were wrecked. Bands of marauders are roving through this district. The burning of a farmhouse is attributed to them.

LONDON, June 3 (Associated Press).—Rupture of the Irish negotiations has again been averted, but there is little disposition here to be optimistic, and it is feared that a satisfactory arrangement will prove difficult.

The answers of Arthur Griffith, President of the Dail Eireann, to six questions put by the British Cabinet yesterday, the nature of which was not given out, were declared "satisfactory," and Mr. Griffith left last night for Dublin, and Prime Minister Lloyd George for his Whitehouse holiday at Criccieth, Wales. He will be back Tuesday for another conference.

The arrival of British military reinforcements in Belfast overnight was commented upon as indicating that the Government had decided to deal firmly with the northern situation. There is talk that Ulster would be used as the base for an advance into Southern Ireland in the event of the ultimate failure of the Anglo-Irish treaty. To-day's developments came as a surprise to London.

PLAZA PARK ENTRANCE WILL BE BEAUTIFIED

Want Funds to Carry Out Park Design.

The entrance to Central Park at Fifth Avenue and 83rd Street is to be improved as a result of efforts of the Parks and Squares Committee of the Fifth Avenue Association and Park Commissioner Gallatin. The Commissioner is preparing a resolution to the Board of Estimate to make available the funds necessary to carry out the winning landscape design chosen by the Municipal Art Commission in 1912.

Construction of the B. R. T. subway to Queens has prevented completion of that design.

The work so far done at the Plaza includes the landscaping of the plots around the Sherman statue and the Follies fountain.

HARDING DEMANDS SHIP SUBSIDY BILL BE PUSHED THROUGH

President Adds to Confusion in Congress Caused by Tariff and Bonus.

By David Lawrence. (Special Correspondent of The Evening World).

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(Copyright)—President Harding has stirred Congress to confusion by his announcement that he wants the Ship Subsidy Bill passed at this session. He previously indicated that he would be content with the action by the House alone and that he would wait for the Senate to act in the regular December session.

But Mr. Harding's further examination of all the factors surrounding the shipping situation has led him to the conclusion that the country cannot wait—that the Government must at once stop its enormous outlay for the upkeep of ships which must be devoted to profitable uses or become an added drain on the Government's finances. Mr. Harding feels that the ship subsidy matter is more important than anything else on the legislative horizon except the tariff, which he wants disposed of at once.

The fight on the Tariff Bill is only incidental in the progress of the bill through the Senate. Even if all sides agreed to eliminate unnecessary debate, the measure would require at least another month and a half, for the amendments are in the thousands and each must be voted upon.

The strain of steering the Tariff Bill through the Senate is already beginning to tell on Chairman McCumber of the Finance Committee. A physical altercation with Senator Robinson, Democrat, was narrowly averted when the two Senators quarreled about taking a recess, after a wearisome night session. Indeed, the lights on the Capitol dome have been burning nightly as the Republican leaders have endeavored to keep the Tariff Bill moving.

Congress is hardly in the mood to be called an amiable mood, internal disputes in each party being sources of constant friction, though the Democrats are sailing along without the same worries and discord that prevail in the Republican ranks.

To-day, as at the beginning, pronounced leadership is absent. Representative Mondell has moved the House, but the Senate is full of individualists who are not amenable even to the human touches of their former colleague now in the Executive mansion. Maybe the fall elections will restore party harmony.

WARD HOUSEHOLD NOW CALLED TO CONFRONT INFORMER CUNNINGHAM

amended statements as Cunningham may be willing to make when sober and under oath and confronted with the knowledge that no single detail of his yarns of interview plots for the collection of racing bets and blackmail has been found in corroboration.

He may be willing to give the Grand Jury an idea of the sources of the information on which he built up his scenario of the killing of Clarence Peters and the wounding of "Joe Jackson," who has so far not been found to exist.

Mrs. Ward and the servants, with Cunningham's stories already recorded as the basis for their examination, will be asked as to the whereabouts of Ward for twenty-four hours before the finding of the body of Peters at the north end of the Kenosia reservoir. They will be asked to tell whether they saw Peters at the house on or about the day or whether they ever saw him. They will be asked as to what other persons were in the house on the evening of May 15, and as to any conversations they may have heard between Ward and his supposed blackmailers, either directly or by telephone.

ELDER WARD WILL RESIST QUESTIONING.

George S. Ward, because of his reticence since he arrived from Europe on the Majestic May 22, the day Walter S. Ward surrendered himself as responsible for the death of Peters, will resist questioning, the authorities believe. The District Attorney will take the ground that Mr. Ward is entitled to no immunity. He had nothing directly to do with the killing of Peters, who was dead when he arrived. But he has knowledge of the circumstances vital to Walter Ward's plea of self-defense.

Ward's lawyers, when he surrendered, showed Mr. Weeks and Coroner Fitzgerald a radio message from George S. Ward to his son telling him that his father would not pay a cent of $50,000 asked by Walter Ward to satisfy blackmailers, but would spend $100,000 to put the blackmailers in jail. The District Attorney will insist that the elder Ward explain to the Grand Jury just what that message meant and how it could have affected the tragic events of the day after it was received.

An effort will be made to-day to bring together Walter S. Ward, and Cunningham. Ward has made no statement about Cunningham, but the Westchester authorities suspect

WON'T GO TO HAGUE UNLESS RUSSIANS REGANT, SAYS PARIS

Poincare Notifies U. S. and Powers Soviet Must Change Present Attitude.

PARIS, June 3 (Associated Press).—Premier Poincare, in a memorandum forwarded yesterday to the United States Government and to all the powers which have received invitations to attend The Hague Conference on Russian Affairs, demands that the Soviet Government withdraw its memorandum presented at the Genoa Conference on May 11 as a condition for French participation at The Hague meeting with the Russians.

M. Poincare holds that the memorandum was a Soviet document replying to a memorandum of inviting Powers and that it should be treated in the same way as the original Russian memorandum, since it confirmed the attitude of the Soviet Government with respect to refusal to restore the property of foreigners, indemnify owners for damages sustained or recognize the Russian debt.

The Russians, the French Premier maintains, have never accepted any of the principles laid down as conditions for negotiations for the reconstruction of Russia with the exception of the provision that the various nations cannot claim mutual rights to dictate the principles for each other's interior policy. He points out what he considers an error made by the Soviet representatives at Genoa in apparently regarding foreign Governments as controlling capital as well as public and private property.

PRISON REFORM MADE CRIME WAVE, SAYS JUSTICE

Scores Tennis and Movies for Sing Sing, Sending Man There.

Prison reform was blamed to-day by Justice Francis Martin, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, as being largely responsible for the country's crime wave.

"It is nonsense," declared Justice Martin, in sentencing Louis Smuckler, twenty-two, of No. 2929 28th Street, Coney Island, to five to ten years for second degree manslaughter in killing Louis Lipowitz of No. 860 Elee Avenue, the Bronx. "The people are now reaping a harvest from prison reform; this taking people to Sing Sing and giving them tennis games all day and moving pictures and all kinds of pleasures that an ordinary poor man on the street cannot hope for. As soon as the authorities realize they must make their prisons in this city or this State real prisons, there will not be half the crime there is."

The passengers were Gordon Ley, an Englishman, and Paul Carroll, a Paris business man.

BANKERS MAY URGE REPARATIONS, BUT—

Commission Told Loan Ought to Be Based on Assets.

PARIS, June 3.—The essential question which the International Bankers meeting here have put to the Reparations Commission is whether it desired recommendations upon the larger aspects of the value of Germany as a prospective debtor. The bankers in their communication allude in no way to reduction of reparations as determined upon by the Supreme Council a year ago, nor is Germany's capacity to pay referred to directly. Nevertheless, those near members of the Reparations Commission take the bankers' inquiries to mean that they do not see how any loan can be made to Germany without first determining her assets and the amount of her eventual liabilities.

MAN SHOT IN FIGHT ON BOAT AT END OF PIRATES' CRUISE

Mandalay Speeds 800 Panicky Villagers to Pier, With Calls for Police.

An unexpected thrill came near the end of the Pirates' Cruise on the Hudson on the good ship Mandalay at 5.30 A. M. to-day when a real fight started and shots were fired.

The vessel, with 700 or 800 men and women, supposed to have been hand-picked from the Bohemian resorts of Greenwich Village and recruited among their friends and admirers, left about midnight and was approaching the pier at the foot of West 132d Street on its return when the trouble started.

The skipper headed full speed for shore and blew his whistle for the police. Policeman Essig of West 132d Street Station met the boat and found a man describing himself as John F. Sullivan, twenty-two, an artist, of No. 37 Catharine Street, shot in the right foot and badly battered.

There had been almost a panic among the men and women, but on seeing the policeman they quieted down. Two men who had supported Sullivan off the boat were questioned and released. Sullivan was taken to Knickerbocker Hospital, where detectives were sent to question him about what happened.

Policeman Essig when asked if the voyagers were in costume replied: "Some of the girls did not appear to be in costume."
