4 IN CONFESSION TELL OF KILLING OLD MAN AND SON

Woman Said to Own Slaying Father-in-Law and Part in Death of Husband.

MUSKOGON, Mich., Aug. 12.—Four persons have confessed, authorities claim, to the murder of David Hodell and his son Romie. The father was killed on Feb. 4 and the son three months later.

Mrs. Meadell D. Hodell, twenty-six, the bride of Romie, the son, according to an alleged confession made public, admitted she killed her father-in-law.

"He was old and feeble and I decided he would be better off dead," the girl admitted, according to the authorities. "I put a teaspoonful of arsenic in his coffee at noon and he died a short time after just as he was going after an armful of wood."

Mrs. Alice Dudgeon, the girl's mother and her two brothers, Lee and Herman, admitted complicity in the killing of young Hodell, officials said. Robert Bennett, a farmhand, the fifth person held in connection with the slaying, contended he was innocent.

Telling of the slaying of her husband, Mrs. Meadell Hodell is alleged to have said: "We had quarrelled frequently. He was lying on a cot with his face to the wall and I picked up a rolling pin and hit him in the back of his head as hard as I could. My mother was nearby, and as Romie was still alive she hit him again."

"We then called Herman and Bennett and the men put the body in a wagon and drove to the barn. They put a harness rein around his neck to make it look as though he had killed himself."

Neighbors of the Hodells formed a lynching party on July 30 and put ropes around the necks of the Dudgeons. They then confessed that Bennett killed the younger Hodell and claimed he forced them to aid in disposing of the body. This confession they later repudiated. The five are being held for trial.

troops was completed to-day when the last of the rebel garrison surrendered. Fifty Republicans were taken prisoners, after making a last stand in the ruins of the buildings they had burned.

Cionnelli also has been captured by the Nationals after severe outpost fighting lasting for eight hours. The irregulars only retreated from this stronghold, considered their headquarters and where Eamon De Valera in the capacity of director of operations had his base, after they had burned the barracks, destroyed bridges and blown up the water mains supplying the city.

Clonmel also has been captured by the Nationals after severe outpost fighting lasting for eight hours. The irregulars only retreated from this stronghold, considered their headquarters and where Eamon De Valera in the capacity of director of operations had his base, after they had burned the barracks, destroyed bridges and blown up the water mains supplying the city.

With the arrest of Casement and the physical force advocates who wrecked Sackville Street and killed hundreds of troops and a few bystanders, Griffith was taken into custody and tried. But the military court was unable to establish his direct connection with the rebellion, although satisfied he was culpable to a degree warranting his deportation to England for a year.

Upon his return to Ireland in 1917 he launched attack after attack upon President Wilson and the American Government.

An anecdote illustrative of Griffith's character was related recently by James Stephens, the Irish novelist and poet. The two were frequent visitors to the Bailey, a little old restaurant in Dublin where, in a little private coffee room, the Sinn Fein was born. The Bailey was the rendezvous of many Irish enthusiasts, and once, just about midnight, Griffith and Stephens were walking homeward from it.

As they went up Grafton Street in the darkness Griffith was regarding his companion with stories of his experiences as a workman in the South African mines in his youthful days.

"I was certainly a fool," Griffith was saying, "for every man in the mining camp seemed to have the knack of making a fortune except myself. One man."

At this point in the narrative, two young ruffians, idling in the shadows and observing that Griffith and Stephens were small men, deliberately bumped into Griffith and knocked off his hat. He picked it up and put it on again, without saying a word. A second time the rowdies knocked it off, jostling the victim of the insult.

Griffith still said nothing. He removed his eyeglasses, tucked them carefully in a pocket, and then calmly and deliberately walked up to one of the toughs and landed a blow on his chin that sent him sprawling. Instantly one came the glasses, Griffith placing them carefully on his nose and, as if there had been no interruption, he picked up the sentence of reminiscence, "I cleaned up ten thousand pounds in a single week."

RUIN LEFT IN CORK BY REBELS IS PUT AT OVER $10,000,000

WATERFORD, Ireland, Aug. 12.—The irregulars have at last evacuated Cork, the attacking National forces advancing as their opponents retreat into the open country, and all the city is quiet. Many buildings were destroyed, however, before the Free Staters entered the city late Thursday night. The loss is now placed at $10,000,000.

Occupation of Cork by Free State

Major Hyland said: "Ireland has lost one of its great men in the death of Arthur Griffith. Always on the side of right, as he understood it, his rugged common sense and keen mental fibre exercised a strong influence in the councils of the Dail Eireann. With intense vigor he strove to speed the day when justice and harmony might prevail."

"His leadership has been noteworthy for steadfastness, no ideals, loyalty to convictions and unwavering devotion to country."

LLOYD GEORGE LAUDS GRIFFITH; SAYS ERIN WILL LONG REVERE HIM

Sends Wire to Michael Collins and Condolence to Widow.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Associated Press).—The Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, has telegraphed Michael Collins, head of the Irish Provisional Government, expressing his deep distress at learning of the death of Arthur Griffith. Mr. Lloyd George's telegram said: "My admiration for his single-minded patriotism, his ability, sincerity and courage, had grown steadily since I met him first less than a year ago. His character made a deep impression upon me, and I am sure that his death will be mourned by all those who shared with him in those unremitting labors in which he was called upon to play such a leading and difficult part. His loss will be keenly felt on Ireland, but I trust his work will go on to complete success."

The Prime Minister also telegraphed his condolences to Mrs. Griffith, saying: "It is a mournful Ireland will always reverence his memory as one of her most loyal, gifted and courageous sons."

Mrs. Allan A. Ryan's $30,000 Gems Stolen; Only Vague Clues Found

MRS. ALLAN A. RYAN

YORK HARBOR, Me., Aug. 12.—Police to-day had only vague clues to the identity of the burglar who stole jewelry valued at $30,000, from the summer home of Allan A. Ryan, New York promoter who recently failed for $18,000,000. The robbery occurred Thursday night and only about $2,000 of the gems were insured.

The sills of the window through which the supposed porch climber entered were oily and greasy, leading the police to suspect that the robber was a chauffeur or a mechanic. It is believed he came from New York and had observed the habits of the family closely.

The authorities have found foot and finger prints of the man and have offered $700 for his capture.

The summer homes of two other New Yorkers were robbed during the night, apparently by the same man or men who took Mrs. Ryan's jewels. From the home of H. B. Dominick of No. 14 West 49th Street, New York City, jewelry was taken. Mr. Dominick, head of Dominick & Huff, New York silversmiths, declared the value of the gems was large, although he could not estimate it.

The robber then visited the place next door, owned by C. E. Curtis, an attorney living at No. 399 Park Avenue, New York. Some jewelry was taken here, the chief piece being a pair of earrings of considerable value as antiques. They date back to 1530 and are of beautiful Spanish design.

35 FIREMEN ARE OVERCOME IN $1,000,000 BLAZE ON PIER

The scene quickly denied rumors that striking railroad men may have been responsible. Acting Chief "Smoky Joe" Martin declared that in all probability spontaneous combustion was the cause.

Inaccessibility of the pier caused the spread of the fire. Apparatus summoned by four alarms was forced to detour either to 59th or 79th Streets to get down into the railroad cut leading to the pier, and the delay resulted in the blaze gaining on firemen to a point at which it was doubtful an hour after their arrival if the pier could be saved.

Most of the companies entered the cut via 59th Street. Planks had to be laid over tracks in order to get the pumping engines to a narrow roadway along the waterfront, through which they were able to get to the pier. At one point a long train of freight cars had to be pulled out to let the fire engines pass. The pumping engines were strung out for nearly a mile along the waterfront and pumped thousands of tons of water from the river in big 4-inch mains, each of which supplied three or four lines of hose.

Shipping at that point is at a complete tie-up. The pier extends out into the river for 150 feet and dominates the river at that point. It is ninety-two feet wide.

Whatever the cause of the blaze, brakemen of the New York Central declared it started with an explosion. Several employees of the railroad heard rumblings on the pier before the first alarm was turned in. Watchman E. E. Egan, night watchman, discovered the blaze. He was in his shanty on the land side of the pier when he heard an explosion and investigation revealed that a large pile of freight in which was the Jute condensed the river at that point. It is ninety-two feet wide.

Police reserves were called from the West 47th Street, West 68th and West 100th Street Stations. Fire lines were established for several blocks on West End Avenue and along the West 59th Street side of the freight yards.

The railroad tugs were in charge of Marine Superintendent Walter B. Pollock of the New York Central. The city fireboat was in command of Deputy Chief Worth, in charge of the Marine Division of the Fire Department. Both were highly complimented on their work.

The corrugated iron roof of the big pier kept the flames within the pier and prevented firemen from the land side from getting near enough to fight them. Efforts accordingly were made to tear off parts of this roof in order to pour in streams of water. Every time a sheet of flame spurted high in the air and forced firemen to recede. Scores of firemen stood on a platform on the land side of the pier sending in streams of water. And several times parts of this platform were burned away and collapsed, sending firemen scurrying to safety.

At 10 o'clock the fire was burning even more fiercely than when the firemen arrived. Acting Chief Martin declared that it would take hours of work to subdue it.

SENATE GAG RULE ENFORCED TO JAM TARIFF THROUGH

Leaders Hope to Reach Vote in Week, Then Bonus and Ship Subsidy.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Limitation of debate under the special "gag rule" adopted recently was ordered in the Senate to-day.

No Senator will be permitted to speak more than fifteen minutes on any amendment offered by the Finance Committee to the McCumber bill, or more than one-half hour on any feature of the entire bill, under the new rules.

This is the strictest curtailment of debate in the Senate in years. Under this plan, both Republican and Democratic leaders predicted that the bill will be ready for final vote by next Friday or Saturday, or early the following week at the latest.

The Senate has approved the provision by which the President for the first time in history will have the right to change tariff rates to meet shifting economic conditions. He will act on recommendations of the United States Tariff Commission.

Immediately after the McCumber measure is sent to conference, the Soldiers' Bonus Bill is to be taken up under terms of an agreement adopted by the Senate in June.

Bonus leaders are preparing to jam the bill through the Senate in four or five days.

Then, according to schedule of the Republican leaders, the Ship Subsidy Bill, President Harding's pet measure, will be offered.

LONDON-DUBLIN WIRES RESTORED

Water Did as Much Damage as Fire, 'Tis Said.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Associated Press).—Telegraphic communication between London and Dublin was restored after a suspension of five hours, as a consequence to the surprise attack by Irish irregulars on the Dublin Central Post Office last night. The attack resulted in temporary cutting off of communication, not only with England but apparently with other parts of Ireland.

Telephone messages during the early hours reported that the damage and the consequent interruption of telegraphic communication were due to the firemen's hose as much as to incendiarianism.

The building attacked is the substitute for the restored office, in the same street, burned during the Easter rebellion.

SOFT COAL STRIKE END SEEMS NEAR

Steady Progress in Conference of Miners and Owners.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12 (Associated Press).—Efforts of the joint sub-scale committee of coal operators and miners to reach an agreement permitting resumption of coal mining were resumed to-day with Governors of two States standing by with a view of lending a hand toward effecting a settlement of the soft coal strike.

Although some obstacles had been encountered, spokesmen for both the miners and the operators agreed that progress had been made, while the Governors said they were "convinced that there are no insurmountable difficulties in the way of a speedy and just settlement to both sides."

GIRL TWENTY YEARS OLD MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING

Mother's Condition Is Serious From Worry.

Nelle Biglin, twenty, petite, blue-eyed, with red bobbed hair and wearing tortoise shell rimmed eye glasses, disappeared from her home at No. 19 East 80th Street, in the shadow of the Carnegie mansion, on August 8. The case was reported to the Missing Persons Bureau at Police Headquarters to-day and Detective Giesbrecht found that the missing girl's mother is in a serious condition from worry.

Miss Biglin lived at home and assisted in keeping house for her father and sister. Her mother said she was a quiet, dutiful girl who never went out on any admiring, so far as her parents know. On the afternoon of Aug. 8 she left home to go to a bakery at 116th Street and Eighth Avenue. Inquiries were made which established that she did not reach the bakery.

VICTIM OF IZZY EINSTEIN IS ONLY 11 YEARS OLD

Arrests Boy for Serving Drinks at Mechanicville.

A report received at Prohibition Headquarters to-day from Izy Einstein and Moe Smith, who are drying things up in Saratoga Springs, where Izy is well known, states the youngest violator of the Volstead Act arrested thus far was landed yesterday at Mechanicville. He is Alfred Salvador, eleven years old.

Pittsburgh Suburb Goes Wild Over Oil Traces in Back Yards

Some Feverishly Sink Wells, While Others Seek Court Relief From Upsoar.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12 (Copyright).—The back and front yards of Sheraton, a Pittsburgh suburb, are sprouting visions of sudden wealth. And all because the village blacksmith, C. E. Knight, discovered something peculiar in the soil of his garden.

He sent for an expert, who declared there were traces of oil. Knight closed up shop, got riggers and experts and soon derricks displaced the humble tomato plant and burgoo cabbage.

There was a rush of certain buyers and an oil company soon had options on much of the property therabout. To-day the corporation is sinking four wells while others are being drilled in various front and back yards.

In the old days Sheraton was the only suburb Pittsburgh, which boasted that saloons were not permitted within its confines and that a curfew whistle was sounded at 9 each night as a signal for the citizens to shut off the phonograph, put out the cat and go to bed.

The pounding of the drills night and day is shattering the sleepy stillness that was characteristic of the "best home suburb." Neighbors of the owners of promising back yards are bringing suits to enjoin them from continuing their operations, charging the derricks menace life and health in this closely built section.

Meanwhile, real estate values are increasing by leaps and bounds. Much of the property was sold under a delirious delusion that there are many young couples who are taking their profits now and not waiting for the oil wells to come in—if they are to come.

HARDING ABANDONS PLAN TO TAKE RAIL STRIKE TO CONGRESS

protests against working where troops, Deputy United States Marshals and other guards were on strike duty.

The strike has spread until it has affected among other roads the Illinois Central at Memphis, the Louisville and Nashville at Evansville, Ind., and Madisonville, Ky.; the Denver and Rio Grande; the Wabash at Moberly, Mo.; the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line at Pocatello, Idaho, and Salt Lake City, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Southern Pacific firemen joined the walkout, tying up limited passenger trains at Ogden, Utah.

Although several Santa Fe passenger trains held up by the strike at California points were backed into Los Angeles, other transcontinental trains were stranded in the desert. Passengers marooned at Seligman, Ariz., appealed to Santa Fe officials to relieve them from their plight, declaring women and children were suffering. Brotherhood officials at Needles, Cal., were urged by the company to consider the situation from a "humanitarian" standpoint.

Embargoes on fruit, livestock and other perishable freight were announced by the Southern Pacific and the Western Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12 (Associated Press).—Transcontinental traffic, passenger and freight, in the Far Western divisions of two main rail systems, the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific, was discontinued to-day so badly that scheduled service virtually had been abandoned. A third trunk line, the Union Pacific, was threatened with a similar condition.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 12 (Associated Press).—Members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen who went on strike on the Santa Fe Railroad have been ordered to return to work. President W. G. Lee announced to-day in declaring their walkout was unauthorized inasmuch as the regular procedure in settling disputes had not been carried out. Telegrams to this effect were sent to General Chairman Duffy and General Secretary Hascott of the Santa Fe System at Los Angeles.

Mr. Lee said messages similar to those he sent to general chairmen of the Illinois Central, Chicago and Northwestern, the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and the Missouri Pacific Railroads are being forwarded to all general committees forwarding complaints.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—A reward of $1,000 for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of persons cutting air hose, putting sand in journal boxes, damaging engines or maliciously committing any other act of destruction or interference with railroad operations, was offered by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad to-day.

MINES CLOSED BY STRIKE OF RAILROAD MEN

EARLINGTON, Ky., Aug. 12.—Mines here closed down yesterday and those on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company in Hopkins County were to-day in declaring their walkout was unauthorized inasmuch as the regular procedure in settling disputes had not been carried out. Telegrams to this effect were sent to General Chairman Duffy and General Secretary Hascott of the Santa Fe System at Los Angeles.

ACTING GOVERNOR, BROKE, WORKING AS RAIL STRIKE GUARD

Lieut. Gov. Barrows, Unpaid by Nebraska, Forced to Take Job at $5 a Day.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 12 (Associated Press).—Pelham A. Barrows, Lieut. Gov. of Nebraska and for the last week Acting Chief Executive during the absence of Gov. McKelvie, also is working as a $5 a day strike guard for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad.

"Being Lieutenant-Governor has honor but no remuneration," he said, adding that he took the new work when he and Mrs. Barrows found "we had $3.40 in the bank and I had $1.60 in my pocket, with not another cent in the world."

"I had to take this work. I could not get work elsewhere, and I and my wife were down and out."

Under Nebraska law, the office of Lieutenant Governor as such is non-remunerative, although that official draws $1,200 as presiding officer of the State Assembly in its biennial sessions. When acting in the absence of the Governor, he is authorized "the emoluments of that office," but because the last Legislature rejected an appropriation bill providing for that, there is no fund available to meet Mr. Barrows' claim for $1,800 for serving as Chief Executive.

Mr. Barrows said Gov. McKelvie did not object to the Lieutenant Governor working for the railroad, and that when so informed he had withdrawn his resignation, drawn up for presents to the C. B. and Q. had "been better executive disapproval."

Mr. Barrows is a former National Commander of the Sons of Veterans, having been succeeded in that office two years ago by Clifford Ireland, Congressman from Illinois. He was defeated in last month's primary for the Republican nomination as Congressman from this district.
