Persons about leaving the City during the summer months can have the Daily Tribune sent to them by leaving their names and addresses at the Publication office, corner of Spruce and Nassau streets, opposite the City Hall. Price 50 cents a month, payable in advance.

In Democratic Whig General Committee. July 11, 1850.—Pursuant to appointment, the Committee on the Whig Cause met at the City Hall, at 10 o'clock.

The intelligence of yesterday has afforded to you the object of our meeting. A dire calamity has befallen our country. For the second time in the history of our country, we are called upon to mourn the loss of the constitutional head of the Republic. Alas! sudden and unlooked for, the blow has fallen, and the people are in mourning.

These are great times for small people. The sudden death of our President and the unlooked-for accession of another have elevated some hundreds, in their own imagination, to the summit of prosperity and power. They are the new President's particular friends, so they say, and the class is very considerably increased within a week.

We are not within the magic circle of the 'King's friends.' We never made any effort for Mr. Fillmore's Political advancement save in 1844, and then our only thought in urging his nomination for Vice-President was to secure the election of Mr. Clay and the consequent ascendancy of the Whig party.

We believe still that his selection at that time would have been the most judicious, and that none other in '48 would have so efficiently contributed to Gen. Taylor's election, but we had no part in making that nomination.

But as a Whig, anxiously hoping good to the country from the ascendancy of Whig principles in the National Councils, and especially as a New-York Whig, solicitous for the success of the first President ever given by the Whigs of New-York to the Union, we deeply regret that our common adversaries should be able to exult over any apparent feud among the Whigs of this State.

The difference is really superficial; for the great mass of the Whigs of our State are warmly attached to and proud of both their President and their Senator, and see no reason why admiration of the one should imply hostility to the other. With both they have voted and struggled through twenty odd years of ardent Political warfare, sometimes voting for one of them, then for the other, and again for neither; but holding them both true and tried Whigs, eminently worthy of their confidence and esteem.

The general understanding would seem to be that of the two President Fillmore is the more cautious, conservative and moderate, while Gov. Seward is the more radical, impulsive and democratic; but the difference, so far as it has any real existence, affects no article of the Whig creed, no principle which the Whigs have affirmed; for of these they are both decided and uncompromising supporters.

We are sure, therefore, that the Whigs of New-York will not permit themselves to be divided and arrayed against each other as 'Fillmore' and 'Seward' men—certainly not now, when a great calamity calls loudly upon every American, but especially every Whig, to forget all personal feeling in the contemplation of momentous responsibilities and imminent public dangers.

Should a time ever arrive when it will be proper to manifest and indulge personal preferences, they will each obey the dictates of his judgment and his feelings, but the present is no such time, and any invidious designation or classification of Whigs as friends of this or that one among our prominent statesmen cannot fail to prove disastrous.

We read with pain an article in the Albany Evening Journal of Wednesday, announcing that 'With President Fillmore we had been long and intimately associated. For twenty years relations of confidence and friendship, political and personal, existed between us. Recent circumstances occasioned alienation and estrangement.'

What 'circumstances' in particular are here referred to we do not know, nor care to know, but presume they grew out of differences respecting appointments in this State under Gen. Taylor. We trust that a frankness of mutual explanation, equal to that evinced in the above avowal may serve to remove the 'alienation and estrangement,' whose existence cannot be other than injurious.

The Journal proceeds to say: 'But he is now the Chief Magistrate of the Republic and the Representative of the Whig Party. As such, we owe him a double duty, provided always, that he prove faithful to this double trust.' If in accordance to Gen. Taylor's office, Mr. Fillmore becomes heir, also, to his principles, adopts his measures, and vindicates his policy, he shall have the zealous and hearty support of this Journal; for in a momentous as this, we have no memory for personal injuries. If the President be not loyal himself—if like Gen. Taylor, he will resist the extension of slavery, and uphold the line against the treacherous exhorters for Disunion, he may look to us, and those with whom we act, for faithful and efficient support. And, it may be proper to say to others, what Mr. Fillmore himself knows, that our support will cost him nothing.

'But, while for the sake of Freedom, we do not object to our duty as a Whig, we are ready to make every personal sacrifice, we shall stop short if there be, in the President, any avowal of principles or any compromise of Freedom. We do not anticipate either, for the principles we cherish, and the sympathies that govern us, are identical with those which Mr. Fillmore has ever professed and acted upon. He has only, therefore, as President, to be faithful to himself, to ensure the support of those by whom he has ever been sustained.'

We are sure Mr. Fillmore has not justified distrust of his integrity as a Whig nor of his sincere devotion to the cause of Free Soil; and it does not seem to us quite fair to test and determine a Statesman's fidelity to that principle by his devotion to any particular measure or any prescribed mode of sustaining it. We are aware that many excellent friends see this whole matter in a very different light; yet it does seem to us that a President should look mainly to the prompt and efficient discharge of his own proper responsibilities, and leave legislation to the unwarping deliberations of Congress.

If any one has hitherto doubted the existence of a fourth estate in the realm, his doubts will be removed by a perusal of the editorial in today's Evening Journal, on the occasion of General Taylor's death and of President Fillmore's accession. 'The most potent and the most illustrious of friendship proposes terms of reciprocal amity and fellowship between himself and the President of the United States.' He has headed in his protocol, and avowed in his inaugural address, the official recognition of the Whig party. The world at large is informed that he has 'saluted' and 'acknowledged' the Whig party.

Such unmitigated funkism as this would hardly excite remark in Austria or under the sway of 'Prince' Louis Napoleon, but it is deplorably unbecoming to this country, and especially when the President so exalted above the degradation of an Editor's 'amity and friendship' is one so constitutionally modest, so republican in all his habits and feelings, as Millard Fillmore. We trust no man connected with the Press by vocation and choice is the author of that nauseous paragraph, and we entreat the experienced Editor whose name is attached to the Register to keep such out of its columns hereafter. If he really considers it proper in an Editor to speak of his 'alienation and estrangement' from a former friend who has just succeeded to the Presidency, or to state that his support will be measured and governed by that President's fidelity to his avowed principles, a decent regard for the profession he has adopted should constrain him at least to maintain a discreet silence.

Our readers will understand us as giving no credit to the thousand rumors continually chasing each other over the country with respect to the new President's selection of a Cabinet. Our belief is that he has decided nothing, and will decide nothing, until after his predecessor's funeral. We publish some of these (omitting the more transparently absurd) as a part of the gossip of the day, on a subject of universal interest. Be sure that the President will not act in this important matter without the fullest deliberation.

The Atlantic and the Asia.—In answer to a correspondent, we again affirm that the Asia's late passage was 9 days and 17 hours, deducting the detention at Halifax. The difference between Boston and New-York—21 hours—is given according to the statement of the Messrs. Canard. The Atlantic has beaten everything yet done by the Canard steamers, except the Asia's passage aforementioned, which is better by a few ship's lengths. We shall wait till after the trial passage on which both vessels will have entered by this afternoon, before we say anything more upon the subject.

For Charges.—The U. S. Mail Steamer Georgia, Lieut. D. D. PORTER, U. S. N. Commanding, and the steamer Philadelphia, Capt. PEARSON, of Howland & Aspinwall's line, leave this afternoon for Charges. The mail which the Georgia carries out will convey to California the first news of Gen. Taylor's death.

The Whig General Committee and the Young Men's Committee have passed appropriate resolutions on the occasion of the President's death. They will be found under the editorial head.

TEMPERANCE.—The Temperance Meeting last night at the Mission Chapel, at the corner of Cross and Little Water streets, was addressed by Col. Snow, Rev. Mr. Pease and Mr. H. L. Stuart. Forty-two persons signed the pledge during the evening. The organization has been in existence but four weeks, and in that brief space a chapel has been secured and permanent work furnished for 75 poor women. One convert, who sold rum in a place adjoining the Chapel, came in and signed the pledge, although he has $30 worth of rum on hand, which he cannot sell after signing the pledge. This was his only means of support. There will be a Sabbath School at 7 A. M. and at 2 P. M. on Monday.

OUR NATIONAL GUARD AT BOSTON.—The Boston Transcript of Thursday says several companies of the New-York National Guard, comprising about 250 men, yet not more than half the number which compose the 'Guard,' arrived in the city by the steamboat train this morning. They left New-York on Monday evening, and have been spending the intermediate time on camp duty at Newport. They are accompanied by the Washington Brass Band of New-York—S. K. Dingle, leader—which is composed of 23 pieces; and also together make a very fine military appearance. The Guard had a grand parade and drill on the Common this forenoon, when we observed some as well executed military evolutions as we ever witnessed.

This Regiment is somewhat famous as the one which first opened and dispersed the mob at the Astor place Riot; and truly they look as men who would shrink from no duty, however unpleasant. The uniform of the Guard consists of a bell topped cloth and leather cap, with white pompadour, grey coat and white pants, white leather straps, a brass breast plate, and white belt. Dingle's Band wear caps similar to the above, red coats, trimmed with blue, and white pants. Their drum major possesses a most picturesque and performs his duties admirably.

The commissioned officers of the Line are the New-York Regiment of National Guard, under Col. Duryee, at the Old Colony depot on their arrival, and tendered them a dinner and escort out of the city. Col. Duryee received them in his military style, but owing to a previous arrangement made by the New-York Regiment, from the New England Guard, and officers of the Boston Regiment, immediately after a salute upon Col. Duryee, he invited to the same purport and said they could accompany only an escort. The officers of the line immediately consulted with the officers of the Line, when it was agreed that the Regiment for Lieut. Col. P. M. to the cars. The line was formed on the Boston Common at 3 P. M. when they proceeded to the United States Hotel, taking the New York Regiment through the principal streets. The National Guard are to be in New-York to-morrow, as orders have been received for them to parade on Saturday, to participate in the funeral obsequies of the late President Taylor.

Their escort this forenoon consisted of the National Line, Capt. Pierce, New England Guard, Capt. Bradley, City Guard, Capt. Thompson; Light Guard, Capt. Clark; Pulaski Guard, Capt. Wright; Boston Artillery, Capt. Bullock, and Independent Fusiliers, Capt. Snow. The military display on the Common was never more splendid.

MAN O'ERBOARD.—A man named Henry Rufus, who went on board the steamer Baltic at Buffalo, and took passage for Chicago, jumped from that boat into the lake, when about twenty miles above Cleveland, and was lost. He was supposed to be deranged. Letters from Chicago and St. Louis, to his address, were found in his berth and a traveling card of the United Brothers Lodge No. 52, L. O. O. F. of the City of New-York.

EMIGRANT RUNNER'S LICENSE REVOKED.—In the matter of John J. Ross, on the complaint of David Neligan, Agent of the Commissioners of Emigration in the City of New-York, for the City of Albany and vicinity, praying for the revoking of the license of said Ross or booking emigrant passengers, an examination was had on Wednesday, July 3, by which it appeared that Ross had issued tickets to Robert Glour for two passages to Canada West, which, on reaching Rochester, were repaid there. The examination having been adjourned to the 10th inst. three other tickets were exhibited, directed to Perkins of Buffalo, which had been also repaid. Whereupon the Mayor of Troy, before whom the case was brought, revoked said Ross's license by the following order:

It is ordered, that the license issued by the undersigned, to John J. Ross, bearing date April 24, 1850, authorizing him to exercise the vocation of booking emigrant passengers, shall be, and hereby is, revoked, and that the High Constable is charged with serving the order on said Ross, either personally, or by leaving a copy of the same at his place of business. D. O. KELLOGG, Mayor.

MORE MAIL DEPRECIATIONS.—We learn from Barryville, Sullivan Co. that a mail carrier by the name of Alozo Guire, has been arrested for abstracting letters from the mails entrusted to his care. Quite a number of the mail letters were subsequently found scattered in an outbuilding and others in a pile of wood near the Railroad depot. Some of these letters were addressed to firms and citizens of New-York, and when mailed contained money.

PHOTOGRAPHY ON PAPER.—Madame WEHNER, from Leipzig, has now for some months been in this City taking portraits by light on paper, but has not received half the attention due to the truth, beauty, and admirable effect of her productions. The instrument she employs is the same as that used in taking Daguerreotype likenesses, but the impressions are received upon paper chemically prepared, instead of a metallic plate, and is afterward finished by a painter either in India Ink or colors, as the sitter may desire. The result is that the picture has all the exactness to nature and the beautiful effect of light and shade possible to the Daguerreotype, combined with the softness of a fine engraving on stone, or of an exquisite portrait on ivory. In her gallery Madame Wehner has portraits of many distinguished persons, both of this and other countries, and a half hour cannot be more agreeably spent than in looking at them. Wehner's gallery and studio are at 62 White-st.

RETURN OF OUR FIREMEN.—The volunteers who went on to assist the Firemen of Philadelphia, returned yesterday afternoon. While in Philadelphia they received the attention and praise of all classes. They came home completely disengaged, having swapped jackets with the Philadelphians and appearing in the upright hats and capes of the Department in the Quaker City. They formed a procession under the lead of Henry Howard, foreman of 14 Hose, and marched about the lower part of the City, in their route passing in front of our office and giving nine cheers and a tiger for The Tribune.

LETTERS FOR THE SOUTH PACIFIC.—An arrangement has been entered into between the Exchange Reading Room and Foreign Letter Office (67 Exchange) of this City, and Mr. Corwin, United States Consul at Panama, which will insure the prompt transmission of all letters left at the above office directed to any point on the South Pacific Coast. All detention at Panama will be avoided.

HOBOKEN.—The hot midsummer, which makes our streets dusty and dries up the grass in our Battery and Parks, has no effect on the ever-fresh, ever-delightful forest foliage and shaded turf of the Hoboken shore. Those who in these days, cannot enjoy the recreation of Saratoga, Newport, or even our neighboring Rockaway, must forego such summer pleasure, were it not for this convenient retreat.

BRANCH RAILROAD.—The Harlem Railroad Company commenced a few days since laying a branch track down Chambers-st to the corner of Broadway, for the purpose of carrying the immense blocks of marble to Mr. Stewart's new palace wing. They had got as far as the Rotunda, when the work was stopped by order of the Street Superintendent, by whom, we understand, permission to construct it had been previously given.

FIFTH UNIVERSALIST SOCIETY.—We learn that Rev. H. R. Nye of Bangor, Me. has received and accepted a call from this Society, and will enter upon the discharge of his Pastoral duties to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon and evening. Services commencing at the usual hours.

CASTLE GARDEN.—Evans was given by the Havana Company last night. The splendid Hall of the Garden was full, and the enthusiasm of the crowd was what might have been expected from Steffanos's, Salvi's and Marini's singing.

Dr. C. T. Collins of this City, who last year left for the Old World so far gone in consumption, as was supposed, that his recovery was thought almost impossible by his friends as well as himself, paid us a visit yesterday in as good health, apparently, as a man need wish. He has passed some time in Madeira, Spain, France and England, and comes back to his own country ready for work.—He returned in the ship Ocean Queen from London.

To those of our readers who wish to enjoy an excursion down the Bay and inland the investigating sails, we would recommend the steamer Niagara, Capt. Talman. On her trip this afternoon she will accompany the steamships Georgia and Philadelphia on their outward passages. For time of sailing see advertisement.

PREMIER FILLMORE'S TRADE.—The Pennsylvania tries to be funny upon the Whig papers for saying that Mr. Fillmore once learned and worked at the clothier's trade, when it thinks they ought to have said he was a tailor—'clothier' being, as it supposes, a more aristocratic designation of the same profession. This is a mistake, and a fuller and drier, but not a cutter and sewer, of cloth. It was the clothier's, not the tailor's, business which Mr. Fillmore formerly worked at, and we have no doubt with perfect success.

ALL AT ALL.—All persons are hereby authorized or invited to sign with Mrs. Anna E. BUCKNER, at No. 115 Broadway, or at No. 107 Nassau Street, New-York, for the relief of the poor of the City of New-York.

At a Meeting of Perry Chapter, No. 8, U. S. O. on the Evening of the 11th inst. brother J. B. BROWN, of the same Chapter, presided, and the following resolutions were on motion, unanimously adopted: It was, in the midst of his usefulness, in the prime of his years, of his life, before he had acquired a single facility, that he was called to the grave, and the loss of the great loss has been experienced by the death of a man who has been a most valuable and useful member of the Chapter from its organization, and whose death is a great loss to the Chapter. It was on motion, unanimously adopted, that the members wear the usual badge of mourning for the space of 30 days.

Resolved, That the members of Perry Chapter, No. 8, U. S. TO THE HEADS OF FAMILIES.—Mr. J. B. BERRY has introduced three articles in the public that will prove of value to valuable auxiliaries to any good housekeeper. We refer to his Compound for making bread without yeast, his Soap Powder, and a very pure article of Soda, by the aid of the first-mentioned article, white pure bread can be manufactured in the shortest space of time, and without the full amount of yeast usually used, so that it cannot be mistaken when you see it used. His Soap Powder has become very popular, from the fact that it has already effected the washing day of its own features; and the Soda is the purest article to be found in the city. They are for sale by E. A. LEE & CO. 62 and 70 Washington-st.

SUMMER CLOTHING, CHEAP.—Alpines, Linen, Dress, and Summer Clothing, Cheapest, Dress and Opera Gowns, Silks, a variety of fashionable vests, $2 to $5. Also a fresh stock of fine $5 suits. Corner of Nassau and Bevier-st.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC! The great popularity of LYONS MAGNETIC POWDERS, for the destruction of fleas, cockroaches, mites, and all other insects, has induced some unscrupulous persons to prepare spurious articles, and offer them under various denominations, for sale. For the benefit of our friends, we give the original name as 'Lyon's Magnetic Powder.' The proprietor of the original article is this City only the undersigned Agon, and the principal depot is at 42 Broadway, where also may be obtained full particulars for the destruction of rats and mice. Both articles are warranted for 100 days. AGON & CO. 42 Broadway, N. Y. City. J. B. BERRY.
