

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

COLS. CORCORAN AND WILCOX AT RICHMOND.

John Minor Botts Arrested for Loyalty to the Union.

MARTIAL LAW—SUPPRESSION OF RUM.

TATNALL HAS ANOTHER WHIPPING.

AFFAIRS IN RICHMOND.

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty Prominent Citizens Seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

HOW SHE RAN THE BLOCKADE.

Fortress Monroe, Tuesday, March 4, 1862. The vessel which arrived last night, supposed to have been the frigate St. Lawrence, was the ship De Witt Clinton, bound south.

FROM MISSOURI AND ARKANSAS.

The Pursuit of Price.

My last lines were dated from Layton's Farm. Our sanguine hope to meet at last the foe, with a force something like theirs, has not been fulfilled.

THE VANDALISM OF THE REBELS AT BOWLING GREEN.

A citizen of Newport, Ky., has kindly furnished the following letter, written by an old friend in Bowling Green, Ky., for publication.

THE PRISONERS' SONG.

Written expressly for the Richmond Prison Association, by Capt. Isaac Hart, from the Wash. Author of Exchange.

MOVEMENTS OF TRANSPORTS.

The United States steam transports Parthenon, Curlew, Charles Osgood, Decatur, W. P. Clyde, and Shetucket, lying at Evers Nos. 9 and 10 North River, are all loading subsistence stores and ammunition for Locust Point.

THE BATTLE OF ROANOKE ISLAND.

ORDER OF GOV. ANDREW. The following General Order was promulgated from Headquarters on Saturday:

THE NINGRA OUTWARD BOUND.

The steamer Ningra, commanded by Capt. J. H. Hays, was ordered to leave for Liverpool on Saturday.

FIRE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Wednesday, March 5, 1862. Howitt's block was burned last night.

our boat proceeded twice to the appointed place up James River, and each time remained a day and a night without being met, no explanation has been offered for the seeming violation of faith.

The report in The Herald, that Flag-Officer Goldsborough had obtained possession of the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad, and broken the connection by destroying bridges, there is reason to believe, is not correct.

Mr. Heiss having returned with a new supply of cable, including a portion of the old Atlantic cable, a second attempt to connect Old Point with the Eastern Shore, and the rest of the world, will be made as soon as the weather will permit.

The Rebels in and about Norfolk are not at present a happy family. Gen. Huger, in particular, is the object of severe censure with most of them.

THE CENSURE OF THE GALLANT AND BRAVE SECOND IOWA REGIMENT.

Gen. Hamilton having been censured for issuing the order concerning the 2d Iowa Regiment, Gen. Halleck sent the following letter to the Governor of Iowa, in which he takes the responsibility of the issue of the order upon himself.

RETURN OF RELEASED UNION PRISONERS FROM RICHMOND.

A number of Massachusetts soldiers, who were recently released from the Richmond prisons, passed through this city on Monday, on a short furlough to visit their friends.

APPEAL OF THE BRIDGE-BURNERS.

PAINTER, MURKIN, PRISON, Feb. 22, 1862. To the citizens of this city: We, the undersigned, charged with bridge-burning, and sentenced to be shot, by a military commission, would beg to call your attention to the following language.

REBEL TOLERATION.

From The Baltimore American. When the light of day is fairly let upon the unfortunate localities where the Rebels have had temporary sway—such, for instance, as East Tennessee, Southern Kentucky, Missouri, and Arkansas, places where the Rebel supremacy has been disputed by the people having Union sympathies—we look for a chapter of horrors or rather a volume of them, such as will appall the civilized world.

THE OPERATIONS OF OUR WESTERN ARMY.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune. Sir: The Washington correspondent of The N. Y. Times, gives a detailed statement of the origin of the late strategical operations of the National forces in the West, and awards the share which the several commanders may justly claim of the glory in the achievements that have resulted in such important conquests in Kentucky and Tennessee, concluding as follows:

PRENTICE OVERFLOWING.

Recent events in Kentucky and Tennessee have put upon the face of The Louisville Journal something more than a broad grin, as the following, taken from one issue, testifies:

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

Hussars, of Gen. Sigel's division advanced yesterday to Midway, a little place about eight miles south of this camp. One of our soldiers (Benton Hussars) was shot by a trencherous bullet from the bushes. A Rebel picket who had been stationed there fled as soon as our troops were in sight.

Just now a messenger arrives from Fayetteville. The Rebels have burned all stores, provisions, etc., in order to keep them out of our hands, and have retreated further into the interior part of the State, to the Boston mountains, where they are said to make a stand.

THE CENSURE OF THE GALLANT AND BRAVE SECOND IOWA REGIMENT.

Gen. Hamilton having been censured for issuing the order concerning the 2d Iowa Regiment, Gen. Halleck sent the following letter to the Governor of Iowa, in which he takes the responsibility of the issue of the order upon himself.

RETURN OF RELEASED UNION PRISONERS FROM RICHMOND.

A number of Massachusetts soldiers, who were recently released from the Richmond prisons, passed through this city on Monday, on a short furlough to visit their friends.

APPEAL OF THE BRIDGE-BURNERS.

PAINTER, MURKIN, PRISON, Feb. 22, 1862. To the citizens of this city: We, the undersigned, charged with bridge-burning, and sentenced to be shot, by a military commission, would beg to call your attention to the following language.

REBEL TOLERATION.

From The Baltimore American. When the light of day is fairly let upon the unfortunate localities where the Rebels have had temporary sway—such, for instance, as East Tennessee, Southern Kentucky, Missouri, and Arkansas, places where the Rebel supremacy has been disputed by the people having Union sympathies—we look for a chapter of horrors or rather a volume of them, such as will appall the civilized world.

THE OPERATIONS OF OUR WESTERN ARMY.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune. Sir: The Washington correspondent of The N. Y. Times, gives a detailed statement of the origin of the late strategical operations of the National forces in the West, and awards the share which the several commanders may justly claim of the glory in the achievements that have resulted in such important conquests in Kentucky and Tennessee, concluding as follows:

PRENTICE OVERFLOWING.

Recent events in Kentucky and Tennessee have put upon the face of The Louisville Journal something more than a broad grin, as the following, taken from one issue, testifies:

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

Washington, about 250 of us left last Saturday night, arriving at Philadelphia at 9 a. m. on Sunday, and the booming of cannon, and the discharge of fireworks, the cheers and shouts of thousands of people.

Next day they burned corn-crisks, &c., also, a saw and grist-mill, and battered down the railroad bridge, notwithstanding they had it mined for five or six weeks, the clumsy fellow who set

THE CENSURE OF THE GALLANT AND BRAVE SECOND IOWA REGIMENT.

Gen. Hamilton having been censured for issuing the order concerning the 2d Iowa Regiment, Gen. Halleck sent the following letter to the Governor of Iowa, in which he takes the responsibility of the issue of the order upon himself.

RETURN OF RELEASED UNION PRISONERS FROM RICHMOND.

A number of Massachusetts soldiers, who were recently released from the Richmond prisons, passed through this city on Monday, on a short furlough to visit their friends.

APPEAL OF THE BRIDGE-BURNERS.

PAINTER, MURKIN, PRISON, Feb. 22, 1862. To the citizens of this city: We, the undersigned, charged with bridge-burning, and sentenced to be shot, by a military commission, would beg to call your attention to the following language.

REBEL TOLERATION.

From The Baltimore American. When the light of day is fairly let upon the unfortunate localities where the Rebels have had temporary sway—such, for instance, as East Tennessee, Southern Kentucky, Missouri, and Arkansas, places where the Rebel supremacy has been disputed by the people having Union sympathies—we look for a chapter of horrors or rather a volume of them, such as will appall the civilized world.

THE OPERATIONS OF OUR WESTERN ARMY.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune. Sir: The Washington correspondent of The N. Y. Times, gives a detailed statement of the origin of the late strategical operations of the National forces in the West, and awards the share which the several commanders may justly claim of the glory in the achievements that have resulted in such important conquests in Kentucky and Tennessee, concluding as follows:

PRENTICE OVERFLOWING.

Recent events in Kentucky and Tennessee have put upon the face of The Louisville Journal something more than a broad grin, as the following, taken from one issue, testifies:

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

Washington, about 250 of us left last Saturday night, arriving at Philadelphia at 9 a. m. on Sunday, and the booming of cannon, and the discharge of fireworks, the cheers and shouts of thousands of people.

Next day they burned corn-crisks, &c., also, a saw and grist-mill, and battered down the railroad bridge, notwithstanding they had it mined for five or six weeks, the clumsy fellow who set

THE CENSURE OF THE GALLANT AND BRAVE SECOND IOWA REGIMENT.

Gen. Hamilton having been censured for issuing the order concerning the 2d Iowa Regiment, Gen. Halleck sent the following letter to the Governor of Iowa, in which he takes the responsibility of the issue of the order upon himself.

RETURN OF RELEASED UNION PRISONERS FROM RICHMOND.

A number of Massachusetts soldiers, who were recently released from the Richmond prisons, passed through this city on Monday, on a short furlough to visit their friends.

APPEAL OF THE BRIDGE-BURNERS.

PAINTER, MURKIN, PRISON, Feb. 22, 1862. To the citizens of this city: We, the undersigned, charged with bridge-burning, and sentenced to be shot, by a military commission, would beg to call your attention to the following language.

REBEL TOLERATION.

From The Baltimore American. When the light of day is fairly let upon the unfortunate localities where the Rebels have had temporary sway—such, for instance, as East Tennessee, Southern Kentucky, Missouri, and Arkansas, places where the Rebel supremacy has been disputed by the people having Union sympathies—we look for a chapter of horrors or rather a volume of them, such as will appall the civilized world.

THE OPERATIONS OF OUR WESTERN ARMY.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune. Sir: The Washington correspondent of The N. Y. Times, gives a detailed statement of the origin of the late strategical operations of the National forces in the West, and awards the share which the several commanders may justly claim of the glory in the achievements that have resulted in such important conquests in Kentucky and Tennessee, concluding as follows:

PRENTICE OVERFLOWING.

Recent events in Kentucky and Tennessee have put upon the face of The Louisville Journal something more than a broad grin, as the following, taken from one issue, testifies:

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

the name of the people of Massachusetts the 21st, the 23d and the 24th Volunteers, who with their respective regiments, the 25th, commanded by Col. Edwin Upson, and the 26th, commanded by Col. Henry C. Lee, of the 1st Sharing alike the hardships and the fortunes of the campaign, all of these noble regiments participated in the honors of the victory, and by constant endurance, prompt obedience, and unflinching fortitude, made (John A. Andrew, Esq., published the best qualities of citizen soldier.

THE OPERATIONS OF OUR WESTERN ARMY.

To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune. Sir: The Washington correspondent of The N. Y. Times, gives a detailed statement of the origin of the late strategical operations of the National forces in the West, and awards the share which the several commanders may justly claim of the glory in the achievements that have resulted in such important conquests in Kentucky and Tennessee, concluding as follows:

PRENTICE OVERFLOWING.

Recent events in Kentucky and Tennessee have put upon the face of The Louisville Journal something more than a broad grin, as the following, taken from one issue, testifies:

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE BATTLE OF ROANOKE ISLAND.

ORDER OF GOV. ANDREW. The following General Order was promulgated from Headquarters on Saturday:

THE NINGRA OUTWARD BOUND.

The steamer Ningra, commanded by Capt. J. H. Hays, was ordered to leave for Liverpool on Saturday.

FIRE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Wednesday, March 5, 1862. Howitt's block was burned last night.

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE BATTLE OF ROANOKE ISLAND.

ORDER OF GOV. ANDREW. The following General Order was promulgated from Headquarters on Saturday:

THE NINGRA OUTWARD BOUND.

The steamer Ningra, commanded by Capt. J. H. Hays, was ordered to leave for Liverpool on Saturday.

FIRE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Wednesday, March 5, 1862. Howitt's block was burned last night.

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE BATTLE OF ROANOKE ISLAND.

ORDER OF GOV. ANDREW. The following General Order was promulgated from Headquarters on Saturday:

THE NINGRA OUTWARD BOUND.

The steamer Ningra, commanded by Capt. J. H. Hays, was ordered to leave for Liverpool on Saturday.

FIRE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Wednesday, March 5, 1862. Howitt's block was burned last night.

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE BATTLE OF ROANOKE ISLAND.

ORDER OF GOV. ANDREW. The following General Order was promulgated from Headquarters on Saturday:

THE NINGRA OUTWARD BOUND.

The steamer Ningra, commanded by Capt. J. H. Hays, was ordered to leave for Liverpool on Saturday.

FIRE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Wednesday, March 5, 1862. Howitt's block was burned last night.

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE UNION MEN WAKING UP.

Twenty prominent citizens seized

THE REBEL STEAMER NASHVILLE.

How she ran the blockade

THE BATTLE OF ROANOKE ISLAND.

ORDER OF GOV. ANDREW. The following General Order was promulgated from Headquarters on Saturday:

THE NINGRA OUTWARD BOUND.

The steamer Ningra, commanded by Capt. J. H. Hays, was ordered to leave for Liverpool on Saturday.

FIRE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, Wednesday, March 5, 1862. Howitt's block was burned last night.