SINALOA AND GUERRERO PACIFIED—EIGHTH MONTHS PROSPECTS—NEGRO'S PROMINENCE—THE CASE OF ORTEGA—MR. PLUMB AND THE ZERMAN CASE—REVIEW OF THE STATUS.

The local wars of Sinaloa and Guerrero are at an end. In the former State the regular forces of Gen. Corona have put the insurgents under Martinez to rout. In the latter, Gen. Jimenez has come to an understanding with Gen. Arce, the leader of the Government forces, and will visit the President. It is as I have predicted, though abundant reports have gone North to the contrary. There is still an insurrection in Tabasco, of recent date; but the Governor of the State has been granted ample powers, and will put it down. Excepting this instance and the proclamation of Negrete at Tlaxiangua, the Government is as pacified as it could be, and is left out of the question. Tlaxiangua, whence, at last reports, Negrete had retreated into the mountains, pursued by a Government force, is one of the districts of the central State of Mexico. Negrete was a leader of some prominence during the war against intervention, and for a short time was a member of the Cabinet of Juarez. His fortune, however, had been at desperate straits, and he had been banished from the country. He had been banished from the country, and he had been banished from the country.

Gen. Gonzalez Ortega, who has heretofore denied as to make a plea of about thirty columns for a new trial. Saving the thirty columns, this is sensible. Ortega has, in his own right, no great strength with the people, and not to acknowledge that he has been banished from the country would be to annul his cause. Though comparatively quiet in his easy prison for little less than a year, he has by nature the constitution of a martyr. The Government has in prison six months longer. His statement appears in the Globe, evidently by consent of the authorities, and as Ortega himself says, just four months after it was sent to Congress. It has been a long session, and the newspapers have inspired the newspapers whose editors sit in the House, and at last has come into print just about when the Ortega proclamation, Gen. Miguel Negrete is reported beaten in Tlaxiangua.

The sun and substance of Ortega's declaration is already known to you. He styles himself constitutional President, and calls the present government a dictatorship. He declares that he has been banished from the country, and he has been banished from the country. He declares that he has been banished from the country, and he has been banished from the country. He declares that he has been banished from the country, and he has been banished from the country.

Affairs in the States severally have miscellaneous interest. In Nuevo Leon and Tlaxcala alcabalas are abolished, and systems of direct taxation on property, incomes, and so forth, are to supply their place. Some other States, Vera Cruz, for instance, propose the same measures, which are steps of decided progress. In the latter State a war has almost degenerated into a riot. Agitated by the military and industrial life to take place, and the feast of San Marco will be observed, as usual, with bull-fights and gambling. On the other hand, one or two of the States have followed the President's lead in abolishing the light-light, fields, mining, and so forth, and the State of San Luis is still not enough to cover expenses, so that bad management must exist somewhere. Zacatecas, one of the best of the States, complains of the classification of taxes as heard upon the States individually, and its voice will go to procure the needed reform. The Legislature of Tamaulipas has not decided who shall be Governor—though Garza has a majority. The situation here repeats the general feeling, and the Legislature reported quiet at all points, saving in the mountains of Tlaxiangua are offering their services for the suppression of the military and national bandits, of whom are believed to have joined Negrete, whose roving bands are committing robbery and murder. Negrete has retreated into the mountains, and may do harm by semi-guerrilla warfare. A report of the officers of Alvarez is said to have broken the understanding between him and Jimenez, and accordingly their guard is supposed to have been removed; but this is more than doubtful. The State of Oaxaca has been pacified, and the parts of bandits assisted the military escort of a diligence to rob it. They were caught and shot. In the city of Mexico over 1,300 persons were arrested in the month of March, and of these six were convicted of robbery, and 115 thieves. These statistics probably include the crime of the populous federal district of which Mexico is the headquarters. They show as well as anything else that the country is in a state of anarchy, and that the Government is in a state of anarchy, and that the Government is in a state of anarchy.

DEFEAT OF THE VERA CRUZ CONCESSION—THE STORY OF A RAILROAD—A PARLIAMENTARY TRIUMPH OVER THE GOVERNMENT—THE VISION OF AMPLER POWERS—RECENT TROUBLES ON THE ROAD—THE DEMAGOGUE SENTIMENT IN THE CAPITAL—FOREIGNERS AND NATIVES. MEXICO, April 25, 1868. Notwithstanding an able and spirited protest from the premier, Mr. Lerdo, the Vera Cruz Railroad concession has been defeated. In consequence of this protest, however, the majority in Congress will be less inclined to make a sweeping revision of the privilege which was granted under the former ample faculties of the President. Mr. Lerdo stood up manfully for the legality of the ample powers, contending that the nation was bound to keep the faith which the Government had pledged, and that the Government had taken no step except by express authorization of Congress. Mr. Lerdo is absent from the capital, and the ample powers are to date covering the concession. In making the concession the faith of the Government was fully pledged, and it was no concession at all. By way of reply, it is said that the Government had pledged its faith to a date covering the concession. It is obvious, however, that it did, or the government is built on unstable ground. The President has signed a dozen decrees on a white paper, and has granted to any person who will give him more legal than the former ample powers, and to any person who will give him more legal than the former ample powers, and to any person who will give him more legal than the former ample powers.
