

Amusements Co-Night.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC—2 and 8—Pirates of Penzance.
OPERA HOUSE—Virginia.
BOOTH'S THEATRE—The Corsican Brothers.
DAILY THEATRE—The World and She Wooten't.

Index to Advertisements.

ANNOUNCEMENTS—2nd Page—6th column.
BUSINESS CHANCES—3rd Page—4th column.
BUSINESS NOTICES—4th Page—1st column.
BOARD AND ROOMS—7th Page—6th column.

Business Notices.

"ALDERNEY BRAND" CONDENSED MILK.
TERMS OF THE TRIBUNE.

BRANCH OFFICES OF THE TRIBUNE.
WASHINGTON—No. 1,322 Pa.
NEW-YORK—35 N. 4th St.
PARIS—No. 9 Rue de la Harpe.

New-York Daily Tribune.

FOUNDED BY HORACE Greeley.
NEW-YORK, FRIDAY, JANUARY 26, 1883.
THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

FOREIGN.

No settlement of the differences between the French Ministry and the Chambers has yet been reached.
The arrival of the Crown Prince Frederick William of Prussia was celebrated yesterday.

ARTHWARE DUTIES.

In any controversy about the tariff, dishonesty of statement usually plays a large part.
The controversy now in progress is no exception, and the assertions made by opponents of protection are often so grossly untrue as to do them no good with men of fair intelligence.

THE WORM TURNS!

We detect upon the part of meek man an incipient disposition to kick against the dominion of the subterranean pipe as it prevails in this city.
The symptoms of a revolt are very slight, and we wish to caution everybody against taking a too sanguine view of the ultimate result.

THE WATER COMMISSION.

The average man will listen to a good deal that is repugnant to his feelings in a house of mourning without lifting his voice in protest.
Senators Vest and Morgan appreciated this fact and under cover of it took pains to insert in their eulogies of Ben Hill a quantity of taffy for the lost cause.

TASTES DIFFER.

So many of the provisions of the Penal Code have encountered fierce and widespread criticism, that it is refreshing to have one's attention directed to a section which all good men and women must pronounce wise and humane.
Such a section is the one that prohibits girls under fourteen and boys under sixteen from living in or frequenting disorderly houses.

case arising under this section came up in the Jefferson Market Court yesterday, and doubtless will be properly disposed of to-day.
The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children make the gratifying announcement that they intend prosecuting every similar case that is brought to their notice.

Since the Newhall House fire the public read with interest every suggestion looking to the increase of appliances for saving life that is put in peril by a burning building.
We publish in our local columns this morning the account of what our Fire Commissioners have just been doing with a view of rendering the Fire Department of New-York City more helpful in time of sorest need.

Mr. O'Donnell's chances of becoming a Railroad Commissioner do not improve as the Senate becomes better and better acquainted with Mr. O'Donnell's character and history.
He had the flagrant impudence to occupy a seat in the Senate Chamber on Wednesday while the debate was in progress on his own fitness for the place, and it was only after emphatic protest had been publicly made in open Senate against his presence that he consented to respect the obvious proprieties by withdrawing.

The Assembly Committee on Apportionment, judging from the account which our Albany correspondent telegraphs of the manner in which it has performed its task, has a positive genius for gerrymandering.
The Committee appointed last year submitted a report which was so palpably unfair that intelligent men of both parties who believe in fair play united in condemning it.

The present scheme, while differing in some of its features from that of 1882, is equally partisan and preposterous.
It was evidently devised not with a view of dividing the State into thirty-four equitable districts, but simply with an eye single to increasing the size of the Democratic representation from New-York in future Congresses.

THE FRENCH SITUATION.

The political situation in France is serious, but not by any means so alarming as the prophets of the boulevards represent it to be.
The Duclerc Ministry may be on its last legs, but a Cabinet crisis is an ordinary event.
Since the downfall of the Empire there have been sixteen Premiers and twenty-four Ministers of the Interior, their official terms averaging nine and six months respectively.

OLD WHIGS ORDERED ASHORE.

There is nothing more amusing in current politics than the performances of Mr. Henry Watterson when he takes the notion into his head some morning, a few minutes before The Louisville Courier-Journal goes to press, that he is in command of the Democratic ship and called upon to discipline a mutinous crew just as the fine old vessel is making a safe harbor at the end of a prosperous voyage.

GENERAL NOTES.

In response to an assertion which Mr. Foster, late Chief Secretary for Ireland, is said to have recently made during a speech at Glasgow, to the effect that a written constitution is "a guarantee of liberty," the Monroe County Land League of this State has just issued the Declaration of Independence and parts of the Constitution of the United States to be printed in pamphlet form for dissemination throughout Ireland.

THE WORM TURNS!

We detect upon the part of meek man an incipient disposition to kick against the dominion of the subterranean pipe as it prevails in this city.
The symptoms of a revolt are very slight, and we wish to caution everybody against taking a too sanguine view of the ultimate result.

THE WATER COMMISSION.

The average man will listen to a good deal that is repugnant to his feelings in a house of mourning without lifting his voice in protest.
Senators Vest and Morgan appreciated this fact and under cover of it took pains to insert in their eulogies of Ben Hill a quantity of taffy for the lost cause.

TASTES DIFFER.

So many of the provisions of the Penal Code have encountered fierce and widespread criticism, that it is refreshing to have one's attention directed to a section which all good men and women must pronounce wise and humane.
Such a section is the one that prohibits girls under fourteen and boys under sixteen from living in or frequenting disorderly houses.

deception. Nor can any cause be worthy of support which needs to resort to such methods.

THE FRENCH SITUATION.

The political situation in France is serious, but not by any means so alarming as the prophets of the boulevards represent it to be.
The Duclerc Ministry may be on its last legs, but a Cabinet crisis is an ordinary event.
Since the downfall of the Empire there have been sixteen Premiers and twenty-four Ministers of the Interior, their official terms averaging nine and six months respectively.

While the Aldermen were undergoing this surprise, the Mayor's Water Commissioners were subjected to a similar experience.
A committee of taxpayers appeared before them and with unprecedented boldness asked a series of searching questions concerning the capacity of the aqueducts and the pipes leading therefrom.

OLD WHIGS ORDERED ASHORE.

There is nothing more amusing in current politics than the performances of Mr. Henry Watterson when he takes the notion into his head some morning, a few minutes before The Louisville Courier-Journal goes to press, that he is in command of the Democratic ship and called upon to discipline a mutinous crew just as the fine old vessel is making a safe harbor at the end of a prosperous voyage.

GENERAL NOTES.

In response to an assertion which Mr. Foster, late Chief Secretary for Ireland, is said to have recently made during a speech at Glasgow, to the effect that a written constitution is "a guarantee of liberty," the Monroe County Land League of this State has just issued the Declaration of Independence and parts of the Constitution of the United States to be printed in pamphlet form for dissemination throughout Ireland.

THE WORM TURNS!

We detect upon the part of meek man an incipient disposition to kick against the dominion of the subterranean pipe as it prevails in this city.
The symptoms of a revolt are very slight, and we wish to caution everybody against taking a too sanguine view of the ultimate result.

THE WATER COMMISSION.

The average man will listen to a good deal that is repugnant to his feelings in a house of mourning without lifting his voice in protest.
Senators Vest and Morgan appreciated this fact and under cover of it took pains to insert in their eulogies of Ben Hill a quantity of taffy for the lost cause.

TASTES DIFFER.

So many of the provisions of the Penal Code have encountered fierce and widespread criticism, that it is refreshing to have one's attention directed to a section which all good men and women must pronounce wise and humane.
Such a section is the one that prohibits girls under fourteen and boys under sixteen from living in or frequenting disorderly houses.

reached when the steam pipes, in addition to the frequent function of blowing up portions of the street, began to disseminate unpleasant smells through the cellars of buildings along their course.
Merchants actually went openly before a committee of the Board of Aldermen and complained that the foul odors from the pipes so permeated their stores and offices that their clerks were made ill and unable to work.

Others complained that the pipes distributed more smells than steam; that when the weather became especially cold the steam was cut off.
Nobody charged that the supply of smells had been cut off or diminished from any cause whatever.

The late General Chanzy, it will be remembered, was arrested by the Communists in March, 1871, and imprisoned for a week.
It is related that he was, at the time of his arrest, in company with the Prince de Joinville and the Duc de Chartres, who only escaped a prison term by being recognized by the Communist soldiers.

PERSONAL.

Bishop Littlejohn, of Long Island, is at Nice, looking after the affairs of the American Protestant Episcopal Church there.
Among Americans now visiting Rome are Dr. Marion Sims and family, of this city, and the widow of General Foster.

Messrs. Robert B. Roosevelt and Seth Green arrived at Jacksonville, Fla., on Monday, in the yacht Heartsease.
After spending a few days in Jacksonville they will go some distance up the St. John's River, collecting data regarding the spawning and migration of shad.
Then they will go down the Atlantic coast to Indian River, and possibly continue their cruise into the Gulf.

The Committee of the Overseers of Harvard College, R. M. Hodges, M. D., Henry Lee and Morrill Wyman, M. D., have reported in favor of appointing Oliver Wendell Holmes Emeritus Professor of Anatomy.
In concluding the report the committee said: "The retirement of a Professor whose reputation has contributed so much to that of the University calls for an expression of profound regret and for the fervent wishes of the Board of long and zealous devotion to its interests."

Even in defeat, ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, is to be honored with a triumph.
Next month he is to visit Boston, and arrangements are now actively being made for giving him a most imposing public reception.
The event will occupy the entire day and evening of Washington's Birthday, and the large building of the Massachusetts Mechanics' Association, on Huntington-st., is to be given up to it.

Mr. Reginald Wilberforce's life of his father, the late Bishop Wilberforce, has not only provoked much criticism but has set in circulation many anecdotes of that famous prelate.
One of his best puns was at the expense of the Rev. Dr. Curmo, a vehement Evangelical, and a sharp thorn in the Episcopal side.

It is supposed that stovepipes, refractory and decrepit, have caused more poverty, intoxication and consubstantial misery than all other causes combined.
But a friend of humanity has now arisen in the person of Mr. Charles Bowen, of Bodie, Cal., who proposes to stem this frightful tide of vice and woe with a patent stove-pipe having screw joints against which the total depravity of inanimate things will contend in vain.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

admitted to be in their. Now, however, that plan seems about to be broken up, and no very definite one substituted.
The system of Commodore Luce contemplated only summer cruises, the boys of the training school being transferred to the parent ship in the winter for instruction in such studies as are sought in the common schools of the country.

The recent orders of the Navy Department have disarranged all this, and the Jamestown and Portsmouth are ordered to cruise in southern waters and the Saratoga in northern.
The carrying out of these orders renders it impossible to instruct the boys in anything except seamanship and gunnery.

The late General Chanzy, it will be remembered, was arrested by the Communists in March, 1871, and imprisoned for a week.
It is related that he was, at the time of his arrest, in company with the Prince de Joinville and the Duc de Chartres, who only escaped a prison term by being recognized by the Communist soldiers.

Messrs. Robert B. Roosevelt and Seth Green arrived at Jacksonville, Fla., on Monday, in the yacht Heartsease.
After spending a few days in Jacksonville they will go some distance up the St. John's River, collecting data regarding the spawning and migration of shad.
Then they will go down the Atlantic coast to Indian River, and possibly continue their cruise into the Gulf.

The Committee of the Overseers of Harvard College, R. M. Hodges, M. D., Henry Lee and Morrill Wyman, M. D., have reported in favor of appointing Oliver Wendell Holmes Emeritus Professor of Anatomy.
In concluding the report the committee said: "The retirement of a Professor whose reputation has contributed so much to that of the University calls for an expression of profound regret and for the fervent wishes of the Board of long and zealous devotion to its interests."

Even in defeat, ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, is to be honored with a triumph.
Next month he is to visit Boston, and arrangements are now actively being made for giving him a most imposing public reception.
The event will occupy the entire day and evening of Washington's Birthday, and the large building of the Massachusetts Mechanics' Association, on Huntington-st., is to be given up to it.

Mr. Reginald Wilberforce's life of his father, the late Bishop Wilberforce, has not only provoked much criticism but has set in circulation many anecdotes of that famous prelate.
One of his best puns was at the expense of the Rev. Dr. Curmo, a vehement Evangelical, and a sharp thorn in the Episcopal side.

It is supposed that stovepipes, refractory and decrepit, have caused more poverty, intoxication and consubstantial misery than all other causes combined.
But a friend of humanity has now arisen in the person of Mr. Charles Bowen, of Bodie, Cal., who proposes to stem this frightful tide of vice and woe with a patent stove-pipe having screw joints against which the total depravity of inanimate things will contend in vain.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of an anonymous circular signed "The United States Weather Observers," which had appeared in Washington, and which was, in fact, a attack upon the Weather Bureau as one of the great evils of the country.

On January 14 THE TRIBUNE gave a summary of