

AMERICAN PICTURES.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE NEXT SALON.

(FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.)

Mr. William Danna, of New-York, is one of the prominent exhibitors whose paintings are yearly mentioned as specimens of the progress of American art.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

TOPICS IN LEADING CITIES.

SAN FRANCISCO.

DECISION IN THE CHINESE BOYCOTT CASE.

—MAPLESON'S WIVES—PERSONAL.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Judge Sawyer, of the United States Circuit Court, rendered a decision Thursday in the so-called "boycott" case which has received more unfavorable comment than any previous judicial act of that able and upright judge.

The Anti-Coolie League at Nishians, a small town in the interior, gathered all the Chinese in the place together, put them on a steamship and paid their fares to Sacramento. The United States Marshal arrested them there, and the Chinese were removed immediately to the United States court and imprisoned. The United States courts were competent to deal with all cases of violence or conspiracy. Judge Sawyer held that as between citizens of the State this was sound doctrine, but when the party offended was an alien and here under treaty stipulations, the United States courts were the proper tribunal; that the "boycott" was illegal and persons taking part therein rendered themselves liable to prosecution by the United States. Judge Sabin heard the case in conjunction with Judge Sawyer, but decided exactly the opposite, holding that the State courts were amply sufficient for the protection of all people from violence. Judge Sawyer in his decision opens up a new line of business and the Circuit Court, already overcrowded with Chinese cases, might as well at once be converted into a separate Mongolian tribunal, since many thousands of persons have made themselves liable to prosecution for taking part in the "boycott." However, many hope that the Supreme Court will take a different view of the matter. News was received from Hong Kong yesterday that a very strong feeling prevails at Canton among the natives against all foreigners, and particularly Americans, over grossly exaggerated accounts sent concerning an alleged riot there. According to those dispatches a reign of terror prevails in San Francisco, Chinamen are being murdered in the streets, many are starving to death and the condition of all is desperate. Although there is not a word of truth in this, so great is the feeling at Canton that a United States man-of-war and a British corvette have been ordered thither to protect foreigners.

THE FRENCHWOMAN'S DRESS.

SPRING FASHIONS OF WORTH, RODRIGUES, REDFERN AND FELIX.

(FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.)

PARIS, March 15.—Present fashions take us into the Middle Ages. With the exception of the tunic, which is maintained as large as ever, all articles of dress have a downward tendency; everywhere the long, straight line is observed. Precious metals, such as gold and silver, will enrich materials whose cut will recall the plastic art of ancient artists. The most striking feature of the new fashions is the use of horizontal stripes of silver and gold, prominent dress, adorned with silver and gold, and with a decorative dignity, appear on military apparel. Replacément cut-waists and corsets are worn, and the Venetian dalmatian is fashioned with precious brocades for a modern elegance. The Paris dressmakers are not so anxious to invent new modes as to follow that of the most popular and a death of ideas that compels them to resort to imitation.

The Concours Hippique races, which take place early in April, are yearly used as a pretext for the display of new spring fashions. Worth, Rodrigues, Redfern and Felix are all busy making up costumes for that event. Rodrigues is making an effective gown for the occasion. It is a long, straight, black dress, with a high collar and a long, straight skirt. The dress is made of a fine material, and is decorated with horizontal stripes of silver and gold. The dress is very elegant and is well adapted for the occasion.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

Mr. Danna's latest work is a picture of a young woman, standing in the Avenue de Villiers, a few doors from that of his master, Manxey. Mr. Danna's specialty is in painting scenes in Spain. A first class medal was awarded him for his "Argonaut Mountain," and the picture was subsequently purchased by the French Government. Although he likes Spanish subjects, he generally chooses gaily colored, sunny subjects and the most of his pictures are of this character.

PHILADELPHIA.

THE MAYORALTY—MUSEUMS—OBITUARY.

(FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.)

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—While Mayor Smith is using all his might to get the new school law passed, it is evident that everybody is looking in all directions for a candidate who would properly fill the place. The next Mayor of Philadelphia will be an entirely new character, different from the present incumbent. It is said that Hamilton Danton will allow his name to be used, but he does not appear to be eager for the honor. It is probable that in the end all factions will concentrate upon one man, and that he will be elected.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

The new school law is a subject of great interest to the people of Philadelphia. It is a measure which will have a profound effect upon the education of the city's children. The law is expected to be passed in the near future, and it is hoped that it will be a success.

TOUCHED BY MANY MINDS.

WHAT MEN OF EXPERIENCE AND ABILITY THINK OF PERFORMING AND SAYING.

(FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.)

A time-stained and discolored telegram was placed in my hand last week by Colonel William Perry Fogg, who has in it something of the same ring to me as the famous despatch of the American flag, shot from the spot. The despatch was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863. The telegram was written by another of the war Governors of the country's exciting period of civil strife. It was sent at the time the draft riots were occurring in New-York, from Governor David Tod, of Ohio, to Colonel Fogg at Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1863.

THE HAWAIIAN LAKES OF FIRE.

EXTINCTION OF THE GREATEST VOLCANO IN THE WORLD—A NOTABLE ERUPTION OF THE PAST.

(FROM AN OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.)

Recent advices from the Sandwich Islands to the effect that there was no more fire in the crater of Kilauea, if true, would be the largest volcanic eruption that has ever occurred. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.

The island of Hawaii, which is the southwest of the Hawaiian or Sandwich group, is the form of two great peaks, Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea, of which the first rises to an elevation of nearly 14,000 feet. On the summit of Mauna Loa is a crater which is intermittently active. On the slope of Mauna Loa is the crater of Kilauea, which is the largest of the Hawaiian Islands. The new lake of Kilauea, which was formed by the new lava flow of Halemauana, which is mentioned as having disappeared, has not been in existence many years, and the period of volcanic activity and earthquakes, which accompanied its formation, immediately preceded the last great eruption from the neighboring crater on the summit of Mauna Loa in November of 1880.