

IN ST. LOUIS ON JUNE 5.

CHOSEN BY THE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

THE ADMINISTRATION MEN SAVED FROM UTTER... BY TWO CABINET OFFICERS, TOLLS ALL NIGHT, BUT NOT WITHOUT REWARD.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The Democratic National Convention of 1888 will assemble in St. Louis June 5. Such is the order of the Democratic National Committee.

If the San Francisco men, with Gorman's help, could have kept the committee in session until a result had been reached last night, the Administration men would have been defeated.

It is a fact that neither the time nor the place of the Democratic Administration has been chosen by the committee.

Among Democrats in members of the House of Representatives there was a feeling of dissatisfaction over the result of the election.
