

Index to Advertisements.

Table with columns for Advertisements, Page, Col. and Page, Col. listing various services and their locations.

Business Notices

My love, what magic spell is thrown Upon your face? Its charm I own...

Dr. Siger's Angostura Bitters, endorsed by physicians and chemists for purity and wholesomeness.

Keop's Dress Shirts to Measure: 6 for $9. Nine for $12.50...

Founded by Horace Greeley. Sunday, July 31, 1892. Twenty-four pages.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

Foreign.—Mr. Gladstone was confined to his bed suffering from a cold; but his condition was said not to be serious.

Domestic.—The President has issued a proclamation commanding all persons resisting the laws in Wyoming to disperse.

The Weather.—Forecast for today: Fair and clear and cooler.

Persons going out of town for the summer can have the Daily and Sunday Tribune mailed to them for $1.00 per month...

A dispatch from Chicago brings the gratifying intelligence that Henry Watterson is better. The distinguished Editor of "The Louisville Courier-Journal" is still confined to his bed...

Mr. Gladstone's illness at the present crisis in English politics fills his followers with anxiety and foreboding. It does not appear to be a serious physical breakdown...

A picked detachment of four companies of the National Guard of this State, representing respectively the 7th, 12th, 22d and 23d regiments, left yesterday by special train for Peekskill, where it is to remain in camp one week.

The heated spell came to an end yesterday morning when the hot wave left us, and became a thing of the past.

ory. During the entire week it has held us subject to its thralldom, and the discomfort and suffering resulting therefrom have been unprecedented.

Much indignation has been expressed at the torture inflicted on Private Iams by his Colonel's orders, as a part of his punishment for rejoicing in the murderous assault on Mr. Frick.

THE PUNISHMENT OF IAMS.

Those who are interested in the great and growing subject of highway improvement—and their number is constantly increasing—are naturally encouraged at the progress which has been made by the bill providing for the creation of a National Highway Commission.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT.

Lord Chancellor Eldon, who decided in 1817 that Shelley was an unfit custodian of his own children, would experience a shock of surprise if he could scan the list of promoters of the centennial celebration of the poet's birth.

THE SHELLEY CENTENARY.

The Sons of the American Revolution have succeeded in their excellent project of securing a law for collecting, arranging and indexing the records of Revolutionary service.

The coolest thing which we have found during the last week of intolerable heat has been the assertion in a Western Democratic journal that the price of anthracite coal has been advanced a dollar a ton by a wicked tariff trust.

The more the Democrats handle Senator Aldrich's tariff speech the less they like it. There was no easy generalization in it.

AN EXCITING PICNIC.

This certainly is a most remarkable summer. Whole islands drop out of sight; there are great storms, fires and strikes; the Democrats announce that they are going to elect their candidate, and actually seem to believe what they say.

WHAT LOWER PRICES MEAN.

Senator Carlisle does not controvert the statements of Senator Aldrich regarding the course of prices for the last three years. It is a most encouraging fact that at length strong men on both sides have recognized the necessity of some common ground of established facts from which to reason.

ery are constantly sought by producers in order to gain an advantage over their rivals. Thus the swift advance of this country in the development of its resources and industries is directly due to the stimulus which draws ever new competitors into the field.

It is a real and substantial benefit. When the wage-earner of to-day learns that he can buy with $96 60 the same quantities and qualities of various articles which would have cost him $100 three years ago, he may well pause to reflect that this change alone would add more than $20 to the amount he can save in a year.

It has been stated already that the decline in prices since the last year of a revenue tariff has averaged about 24 per cent for all articles entering into the cost of living.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

"There was great pathos," says a missionary in Honolulu, "in a story I heard from a friend who had just returned from a visit to Mohokai. He suddenly heard the joyous strains of a hand strike up in the leper settlement."

THE COSMIC POEM.

All motion is rhythm, says Mr. Herbert Spencer, a sage so impetuous that no sage is impetuous. All the worlds waltz on with rhythmic order.

THE COSMIC POEM.

That the world is a verse and the Cosmos a poem. The form that surges with woe-echoed trophies beats out its great theme in unnumbered strophes.

THE COSMIC POEM.

But most lives are mixed like Shakespearean dramas, where the king speaks heroes, the idiot stammers, where the old man gives counsel, the young man loves, the young man loves.

THE COSMIC POEM.

It is a somewhat interesting fact that the popular games in England and the United States are identical. The new parlor games that succeed in England succeed in this country, and vice versa.

THE COSMIC POEM.

Many visitors to Bayreuth this summer will miss with great regret the famous old resort in that town known as "Angermann's." Last winter the building was condemned by the Government for public uses, and it has now been pulled down.

THE COSMIC POEM.

There is a good story of George William Curtis, which seems not to have been published. He was lecturing on a Buffalo stage once, when suddenly a heavy roar somehow broke loose from his mouth in the files above, and dropped with tremendous force on the floor behind the speaker.

by its wrong engagements? The present unfortunate situation has been brought about by the very line of conduct which Mr. Bowler proposes to continue.

PERSONAL.

"The Independent" reports that Dr. Schaff is steadily recovering his health. The attack of paralysis from which he is suffering was really very light.

Colonel Robert H. Crockett, who has been seeking a nomination as Congressman from the 17th Arkansas district by the Democrats this year, is a grandson of Davy Crockett, the famous Kentucky pioneer.

Vice-President Morton has been honored with a set of resolutions from the Women's Industrial League of the country recognizing his kindly interest in the cause of the female bread-winners, no matter how humble.

The Hon. J. M. Rusik, Secretary of Agriculture, went last week to his farm near Virouma, Wis., where he will remain for an indefinite period.

Llewellyn J. Evans, D.D., LL. D., who recently died in Wales, was of Welsh birth, but spent most of his life in this country, having resided in Racine, Wis., while a youth.

Ex-Governor Henry M. Hoyt, of Wilkesbarre, Penn., is said to be seriously ill. Nervous prostration is his malady.

Mrs. Ada C. Sweet, of Chicago, has been appointed a member of the Board of Education, in that city, by the Mayor; but the City Council refuses to confirm the nomination.

Mr. Rich, Republican nominee for Governor of Michigan, thinks that his chief competitor this year for the office will be the present incumbent, Mr. Whitman, who is almost sure to be renominated.

Early in the spring Dr. T. L. Flood, of Meadville, Penn., received the nomination for Congress from the Republicans in his district, made up of Erie and Crawford counties, and which since the reinforcement made by the Legislature is Republican by a majority ranging from 3,000 to 5,000.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

"There was great pathos," says a missionary in Honolulu, "in a story I heard from a friend who had just returned from a visit to Mohokai. He suddenly heard the joyous strains of a hand strike up in the leper settlement."

"Conquered," "Johnny," said his mother, "if you don't quit smoking, you'll never get on your feet." "But I can't," replied Johnny, sullenly.

There is a fine old elm tree near Witlesey, Mass., in a fork of which about twenty-five feet from the ground, a large currant bush is growing, which has been covered with ripe currants this season.

THE COSMIC POEM.

All motion is rhythm, says Mr. Herbert Spencer, a sage so impetuous that no sage is impetuous. All the worlds waltz on with rhythmic order.

That the world is a verse and the Cosmos a poem. The form that surges with woe-echoed trophies beats out its great theme in unnumbered strophes.

But most lives are mixed like Shakespearean dramas, where the king speaks heroes, the idiot stammers, where the old man gives counsel, the young man loves, the young man loves.

THE COSMIC POEM.

It is a somewhat interesting fact that the popular games in England and the United States are identical. The new parlor games that succeed in England succeed in this country, and vice versa.

THE COSMIC POEM.

Many visitors to Bayreuth this summer will miss with great regret the famous old resort in that town known as "Angermann's." Last winter the building was condemned by the Government for public uses, and it has now been pulled down.

THE COSMIC POEM.

There is a good story of George William Curtis, which seems not to have been published. He was lecturing on a Buffalo stage once, when suddenly a heavy roar somehow broke loose from his mouth in the files above, and dropped with tremendous force on the floor behind the speaker.

THE COSMIC POEM.

There is a good story of George William Curtis, which seems not to have been published. He was lecturing on a Buffalo stage once, when suddenly a heavy roar somehow broke loose from his mouth in the files above, and dropped with tremendous force on the floor behind the speaker.