THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

Foreign.—The Advocate-General spoke for the prosecution in the Panama trial, severely denouncing Charles de Lesseps, M. Balthaz and the other defendants.

Domestic.—There was an exciting debate on the World's Fair appropriation in the Assembly at Albany; a resolution asking for information on the subject was passed.

Chicago.—An electrical storm caused damage in several Eastern States. Two persons were killed and several injured by the fall of a building in Chicago.

Local.—The directors of the New-York Central Railroad voted to increase the capital stock by over $10,000,000; the contract for the purchase of the New-York and Northern was approved.

Horatius Promethus Jenkins has succeeded in arranging a compromise as the result of his visit to Albany, and according to the decision reached yesterday his term will be four years instead of two.

The opinion of the members of the New-York Board of Education on the question of the desirability of placing women on such boards is of value because of their own experience in the matter.

Some Southern and Western Democrats seemed inclined to find fault with the disposition of Cabinet and other offices thus far made by Mr. Cleveland, and are asking whether he has forgotten what part of the country furnished the votes which elected him.

The appointments made yesterday will not tend to console the men who feel this way. In themselves they deserve praise, both the appointees being capable and energetic men.

Controller Myers sent to the Rapid Transit Commissioners yesterday a wholesome and comprehensive letter in reference to the amount of compensation to be paid by the elevated roads for the extensions which it is proposed to build.

THE DEAD LINE.

Precisely how far the organization which rules this town can go with impunity in its impositions upon a good-natured and easy-going public is not yet known. The dead line has not been defined. There must be a limit somewhere, but our rulers give no indications of supposing that they are anywhere reaching it, or that it is even in sight.

THE COMPULSORY EDUCATION BILL.

What is the matter with the bill which has been pending in the Legislature at Albany for several weeks providing for compulsory education? Does the Democratic majority purpose to kill it? The Democratic Superintendent of Public Instruction has declared, and that too with emphasis, that there is urgent need of the passage of a compulsory measure of some sort.

THE PRESIDENT KNOWS BEST.

Though an opponent, THE TRIBUNE must urge that President Cleveland be treated with decency. Here are his partisans up in arms because he has decided not to select for office, except in rare cases, any of the hundred thousand Democrats or more who formerly held office under him.

A BOSS ON THE BENCH.

A correspondent of "The New-York Sun" who signs himself "A Democrat" comments in several terms upon the part which D. Cady Herrick has been playing in the matter of the appointment of election inspectors for Albany.

Ever since Mr. Herrick was elevated to the bench there has been an emphatic demand on the part of his fellow-citizens who have an appreciation of the obvious proprieties that he should resign from the Democratic Committee and should allow some other person to play the part of Democratic boss in Albany County.

the welfare of the Democratic faction of which he is the recognized boss. A "decent respect" for a Democrat—including himself—demanded that he should not be a party to the transaction.

term should be much the same partisan workers who were chosen before, and who were found so unsatisfactory. He knows them and their work better than any of the men who were chosen after.

REAL CONSULAR REFORM.

Vague intimations have been received by the Democratic press respecting a new reform policy with which the Administration is to be identified. It relates to the consular service, but so far as it has been revealed it is neither clear nor intelligible.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

"I say, Davis," said one boy to another in a Scotch town, "our minister 's vestin' 'in Scotland." "Eart 'is he really?" was the reply. "Our minister d'na come an' see us until we're d'ed."

THE MILLENNIUM AT HAND.

From The Milwaukee Sentinel. Lieutenant Totten is gradually cooling in the sun. He does not think the world will end in September, but he thinks it will end in the next few years.

ONLY ONE OF OUR FAMOUS PRODUCTIONS.

From The Chicago Item. England's fast locomotive, warranted to run ninety miles an hour, will attract general attention at the World's Fair.

TAKING A NEW VIEW OF THE QUESTION.

From The Boston Journal. It was not until the Governor of Washington had appointed a Republican United States Senator, and the Governor of Montana had done likewise, that the Democrats began to question the legality of the act.

THE ICEBERG.

From The Indianapolis Journal. The icebergs are still flourishing like a green bay tree. One of his latest achievements is the alleged discovery that Nelson never said "England expects every man to do his duty."

hold nightly meetings, when we discuss the question as to why our New-York winter climate, once so cold and blustering, is now so warm and agreeable. We have debates on such questions as these: Resolved, that the great change in our climate is due to the Gulf Stream; or, Resolved, that our present mild winters may be traced to the change in the prevailing winds.

There is one man in Lansingburg who looms up in the midst of the disgraceful business of last week with entire credit to himself, and who reflects honor upon the official position which he was forced to surrender. This is James Gillespie, the foreman of the jury.

day will do his duty." The iconoclast points this revised version of the famous admonition on the authority of an Englishman whose father was secretary to Captain Hardy and was aboard the vessel upon which Nelson fell. Few persons do so much to make humanity tired as the iconoclast. He is a nuisance, and the game law should be amended so as to make it lawful to shoot him during the entire year.

PERSONAL.

The Emperor of Russia has delighted the heart of the Prince of Wales, who ranks over a small principality in Germany, by appointing to him the great Viceroy. They will be added to the Prince's retinue.

The widow of General Sheridan went to the White House the other day to pay her respects to the President. Mr. Cleveland nobly suggested that she might like to renew her acquaintance with Mrs. Sheridan. This was cheerfully assented to by Mrs. Sheridan, and the President personally conducted her to the private apartments of the late General.

There has been some talk in Washington to the effect that Assistant-Secretary Quincy would not long remain in his present place, and Secretary Gresham himself is cited as authority for the story. Hence the impending change, whatever it is, will probably be some sort of a promotion.

The wife of Senator White, of California, is sometimes spoken of as a "Spanish beauty," and her dark hair and eyes and rich complexion seem to justify such a suspicion. But in the interests of accuracy a Washington paper declares that she was born in North Carolina, and had a French father and an Irish mother, she was educated in Philadelphia, but went to California while a young woman.

The Countess Anna Hahn, the sister-in-law of the Emperor, Countess Ida Hahn, entered a convent near Merano, Italy, a few days ago, with the intention of becoming a nun. The Countess, who belongs by marriage to one of the greatest families in Germany, is sixty-six years of age, and has a large estate in Hohenstein in her own name, which will probably go to her children.

In all probability, the greatest monarch, as far as size goes, who rules in the world is the King of the Gilbert Islands, Tarapurin, who weighs 300 pounds. His son, the Crown Prince, is still heavier. A daughter of His Majesty, only eight years old, weighs 110 pounds. The King has an American cook, and lives in a comfortable fashion, as all his subjects pay a poll tax of $1 each.

Professor Barnard, the astronomer, lectured in Chicago early this week, and then proceeded to Washington, whither he was invited by Professor Simon Newcomb, and was lectured by Newcomb, who is now in New York, and who is now in New York, and who is now in New York.

Among the presents received by the Pope on the occasion of his jubilee a few weeks ago was a golden cross set in diamonds, the gift of Her Majesty, the Empress of Austria. The Empress is a devout Catholic, and since the tragic death of her only son three years ago has sought her chief consolation in the practice of her faith. Her Majesty was delighted with Her Majesty's remembrance, which was among the most valuable gifts from individuals.
