

PRINCE BISMARCK.

Table with 4 columns: Page, Col., Page, Col. listing various advertisements and notices.

Table with 4 columns: Page, Col., Page, Col. listing various advertisements and notices.

Table with 4 columns: Page, Col., Page, Col. listing various advertisements and notices.

AMERICAN THEATRE—The Prodigal Daughter. BROADWAY THEATRE—Panorama. CASINO—8 Adams. DALY'S THEATRE—8 Keller.

New-York Daily Tribune. FOUNDED BY HORACE GREELEY. TUESDAY, JUNE 20, 1893. FOURTEEN PAGES.

THE NEWS—THIS MORNING.

Foreign.—Her Liebknecht, the Social Democratic leader, admits that the German Government will have a majority for the Army bill by effecting a compromise. M. Gombouzeau challenged MM. Delaunay and Millévoi to fight duels, as a consequence of a collision with them in a debate in the Chamber of Deputies; both declined to meet him.

Domestic.—Ex-Governor Robinson summed up for the defence in the Borlen trial at New Bedford. The coroner's jury which has been investigating the Ford's Theatre disaster brought in a verdict of criminal negligence against Colonel Ainsworth, Superintendent Covert, Engineer Sasse and G. W. Dant, the contractor.

Weather.—Forecast for to-day: Fair. Temperature: yesterday, highest, 67 degrees; lowest, 53; average, 58.5.

virtually come round to Mr. Starin's position, and have made a new proposition to the Manhattan Company—namely, that it shall either pay 5 per cent of its net annual income (in no case to be less than $125,000) to the city, or else the sum of $175,000 each year without reference to its earnings.

It begins to look serious for Colonel Ainsworth and the others responsible for the recent disaster at the Ford's Theatre building in Washington. The jury have presented a satisfactory verdict. The facts they had to deal with were simple and easily ascertained, and only one conclusion seemed possible. They held Colonel Ainsworth, Superintendent Covert and Engineer Sasse, under whose direction the work was being done, and the contractor, George W. Dant, guilty of criminal negligence, and strongly condemn the methods employed in the improvements that were under way when the collapse occurred.

A TALK WITH BISMARCK. The German elections are indecisive except on two points: the increase of the Socialist vote and the complete wiping out of Radicalism as represented by Richter. So far as the Army bill is concerned, it is impracticable to forecast the result of the second ballots for 181 seats.

NOT "WHO?" BUT "WHAT FOR?" Pending the Democratic State Convention in Ohio a lively controversy is in progress over the interesting and important question, Who is the real author of the revenue tariff plank in the Chicago platform?

THE DUTY OF NEW-YORK REPUBLICANS. We are confident that the Republicans of this State, as a whole, are alive to the grave duty which confronts them, and are determined to discharge it faithfully and well. Intelligent men, independent of party lines, who are jealous of the honor of New-York, are at one in holding that the public welfare demands that the next Legislature shall be a Republican Legislature.

THE BROADWAY CABLE SERVICE. It has been necessary for years past to say so much in criticism of New-York's transportation methods and of the way in which negotiations for their improvement have been conducted that it is a pleasure to commend the new cable service on Broadway.

Our townsman, Mr. Richard M. Hunt, has just received a conspicuous honor in England, being nothing else than the Queen's gold medal, which has been bestowed upon him by the Royal Institute of British Architects, in recognition of his work in connection with the Exposition buildings at Chicago. The recognition is deserved. The buildings are marvels of beauty, and reflect the utmost credit upon all connected with the designing and construction of them.

do it for?" Perhaps "Larry" or "Tom" or Colonel Watterson can throw some light upon it. A BROOKLYN OUTRAGE. Seldom has the characteristic attitude of official impudence, which is one of the recognized traits of the persons who have control of the affairs of Brooklyn, been exemplified in a way so humiliating to every sense of decency and hospitality, or in a way more exactly in keeping with what anybody might have predicted, knowing the petty smartness and bullying nature of officialism as it exists in Kings County, than in the treatment that Captain Andersen and his companions of the Viking ship received yesterday at the hands of the police and a police justice.

The number of women possessing enough courage and presence of mind to bring burglars to terms and hand them over to the police seems to be increasing rapidly. We dare say that before long one of them will disclose her quality at the right moment and save a coach load of passengers from being robbed by a solitary ruffian with a brace of revolvers and a check of brass.

The summer girl is beginning to get the delegates. It is quite possible to rejoice in a legal decision of the Sunday opening question which avoids establishing a vexatious precedent, and even to be glad that the World's Fair is not to be closed on any day of the week, and at the same time to condemn the violation of an agreement which established a moral obligation even if it did not constitute an unavoidable contract.

The American people, according to our contemporary, "The New-York Times," have seen Mr. Cleveland's manly honesty and candor approved by the most striking popular victory won by any Presidential candidate since the latter got away and refusing to listen to explanations, they drag off the Norsemen to a station-house cell. Police sergeants continually take bail for cases after midnight when no police justice is present, but this right, usually accorded to any drunken vagabond, was refused, and in the morning the Viking men were crowded into a wagon, huddled into a police court pen, and finally arraigned before one Tighe, who dispenses justice by the grace of the Brooklyn King. Here, if possible, their treatment was more outrageous. The policeman who arrested them was allowed to be absent, and a charge of disorderly conduct was preferred by the driver of the police van. The sailors very properly refused to be let off on a plea of guilty. Their trial was set down for Monday next, and the Justice refused to hear them at an earlier date so as to allow them to proceed to Chicago with the boat that the whole Fair awaits, on the ground, forthwith, that the policeman who should have been present to testify wanted to go on a vacation.

Even in such weather as this a little wind for the stomach's sake may not be particularly harmful, at the worst, but a good deal of whiff for the sake of quenching thirst is an insult to the whole system. Abraham McKee has been put on trial again in Brooklyn. It is not prejudging the case to say that frauds in connection with the Columbian celebration have been proved, and that the administration of justice in Brooklyn will be badly discredited if only innocent taxpayers are compelled to suffer.

them of redeeming the Legislature. Let them make the most of it. The number of women possessing enough courage and presence of mind to bring burglars to terms and hand them over to the police seems to be increasing rapidly. We dare say that before long one of them will disclose her quality at the right moment and save a coach load of passengers from being robbed by a solitary ruffian with a brace of revolvers and a check of brass.

PERSONAL. Mrs. Minnie Brooks, known as the "adopted daughter" of the Masonic fraternity of Arkansas, was married last week to William S. Anderson, a lawyer of that State. Miss Brooks's father died while she was a young girl, and from a Louisiana cotton patch she appeared to the Masons of Arkansas to help her father had been a Mason. For several years she has been a member of the organization, and in the annual convocations of the Masons in Little Rock, and entertained the fraternity, which is said almost to idolize her.

Prinze Bismarck. The German elections are indecisive except on two points: the increase of the Socialist vote and the complete wiping out of Radicalism as represented by Richter. So far as the Army bill is concerned, it is impracticable to forecast the result of the second ballots for 181 seats. Instead of attempting an impossible task, we direct attention to a master politician's incisive comments upon that measure and upon the tendencies of Socialism.

Prinze Bismarck. The German elections are indecisive except on two points: the increase of the Socialist vote and the complete wiping out of Radicalism as represented by Richter. So far as the Army bill is concerned, it is impracticable to forecast the result of the second ballots for 181 seats. Instead of attempting an impossible task, we direct attention to a master politician's incisive comments upon that measure and upon the tendencies of Socialism.