New-York Daily Tribune.
FOUNDED BY HORACE GREELEY.
FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1894.
FOURTEEN PAGES.

Foreign.—There was rioting in Berlin; the police charged the mob; many persons were hurt and a large number of arrests were made; perfect calm prevails throughout Sicily.

Congress.—Both houses in session.
Senate: Messrs. Peffer and Allen introduced resolutions denouncing Secretary Carlisle's proposed bond issue; Mr. Vest spoke for repeal of the Federal Election laws.

City and Suburban.—The Bachelors' ball took place.
The Old Guard ball was held.
The annual dinner of the Princeton Club took place.

The Weather.—Forecast for to-day: Cloudy followed by clearing.
Temperature yesterday: Lowest, 29 degrees; highest, 40; average, 35.

The proposal to have the registration days in this city one week earlier than at present has much to commend it.
Under the existing system there is only one week for the examination of the lists and the detection of frauds.

At its second annual convention the New-Jersey State Road Improvement Association finds that considerable progress has been made.

lishing. Under this plan the State pays 40 per cent of the cost of roads selected for improvement, the township 25 per cent, the adjacent taxpayers 10 per cent and the county 25 per cent.
The Hon. Galusha A. Grow opened his campaign for Congressman-at-Large in Pennsylvania yesterday with a speech at Lancaster before a large and enthusiastic meeting.

Some important testimony regarding the election frauds on Staten Island was taken yesterday by the sub-committee which is inquiring into the Coakling-McGuire contest for a seat in the Assembly.
There appears to be no doubt that many inmates of the Sallor's Song Harbor were improperly assisted in folding their ballots, and in other respects the methods adopted under Boss Muller's direction to carry the election for the Democrats were worthy of "Paddy" Divver or "Dry Dollar" Sullivan.

THE FIVE PER CENT.
Wall Street did not manifest the expected enthusiasm at the proposal to issue bonds.
There was considerable hesitation, rather than general buoyancy, and those who had looked for a sharp advance in securities were not entirely satisfied.

It is too early yet to judge whether the formal announcement that principal and interest will be paid "in coin" is likely to cause embarrassment.
Coming from the same Secretary who seriously inquired last spring whether new Treasury notes should not be redeemed in silver only, the statement was not entirely reassuring.

It is the opinion of competent financiers of both parties that the issue of 5 per cent bonds, though the best thing the Secretary could do, may prove unfortunate, and ought to have been avoided.
There is almost universal censure of the ignorance and incompetence of the Democrats in Congress, which have prevented wise legislation for protection of the public credit.

THE MUNICIPAL BUILDING PLAN.
It is now given out that the one plan for the proposed new municipal building which possesses real merit will involve a cost that is estimated anywhere between $12,000,000 and $20,000,000, and would be more likely to approach the latter figure than keep close to the former.

covering practically the whole of the City Hall Park with a new building. The people have consented under protest, if they have consented at all, and only because they thought there was no other alternative.
The need of more room for the city government being admitted, it by no means follows that the existing City Hall should be removed and its site and surroundings given up to a huge edifice.

THE GIFTED AND GARRULOUS.
What a thrice-blessed boon to humanity is the gifted and garrulous Grady!
When that willful disturber of the public peace and official complacency, the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, undertakes the supreme foolishness of attempting to diminish crime by pointing out its sources, and creates general uneasiness by directing attention to facts which go to show that the authorities empowered to punish lawlessness and bring to justice the violators of law are themselves the partners of criminals and the abettors of crime, who so readily as the gifted and garrulous to rush into print and restore confidence by the assurance that the existing order of things is altogether beneficent and wholesome, and that only the pernicious Parkhurst disturbs the orderly processes of good government?

THE LIFEBOATS' FATE.
The Dutch sailors of the steamship Ansterdam, who perished on an errand of mercy at sea, were men of common clay, yet they had that latent genius for self-sacrifice and heroism which is the best evidence that the world is growing better as well as wiser as time goes on.

SOUTHERN CHIVALRY IN EVIDENCE.
In his polythematic way, and without at all intending it, perhaps, Mr. Cleveland has made the Hawaiian episode illustrate something more than his own ignorance of American feeling and his contemptuous disregard of American institutions and traditions.

These brave men might have offered many excuses for inaction. They were hired to do the work of their own ship and not to rescue outcasts. They were not responsible for the imminent peril in which the fourteen fishermen found themselves. They were not the keepers of their own—six of the seven—and their children were dependent upon their daily earnings.

seamen were at the bottom of the sea, and six humble homes in Holland were desolate.
A lifeboat had been lost, and nothing had been accomplished. It seemed like an utter waste of unselfish impulse and heroic force, as when the life-crew perished off Cuttyhunk long ago in a sea in which no boat could live.

DIPLOMACY AND PARTISANSHIP.
When Mr. Gladstone returned to power in 1880 many of his Radical supporters clamored for an immediate reversal of the diplomatic policies of the Foreign Office.
They asserted that the elections had been carried mainly on the issue of Lord Beaconsfield's campaign of merciless intervention and pernicious activity in foreign affairs, and that the English people, having condemned his policies, had a right to demand a radical change in diplomatic methods.

Such departures there have been under each of President Cleveland's Administrations. Secretary Bayard's Fisheries policy was in direct contravention of President Arthur's proclamation abrogating certain clauses of the Treaty of Washington in accordance with an act passed by Congress. Those clauses were unconstitutional and consequently substituted for retaliation in defiance of the will of Congress.

Washington people who ought to know say that the great blizzard of 1883 is not to be mentioned in the same breath with the diplomatic blizzard now raging in Washington.

THE ISSUE IN THE XIVTH AND XVTH CONGRESS DISTRICTS.
The issue in the XIVth and XVth Congress districts is the plainest possible. It is prosperity against privation. Republican success means bossy hands and full stomachs. Democratic success means idle hands and empty stomachs.

PERSONAL.
The Rev. Frederick Wilmer, who was pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Jonesville, Saratoga County, N. Y., in 1883, was another of the clergymen who were drafted during the war.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.
