New York Daily Tribune.

FOUNDED BY HORACE GREELEY. SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1894. TWELVE PAGES.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

Foremen—The insurgents at Rio have obtained a supply of rifles, and will probably soon attack the city by land; the Government fleet arrived off Rio harbor; negotiations for arbitration are proceeding; a bomb with lighted fuse attached, was found in the City Hall of Versailles.

tion of Dr. Parkhurst that, on account of the general fear entertained by people who wish to make complaints against the police, this investigation be conducted in secret.

It was evidently fitting that of all the lawyers in the State it should be Isaac H. Maynard who went before County Judge Cline, of Albany, to obtain an injunction against the clerk of the Senate.

John Y. McKane himself is the first witness for the defence in the trial now in progress in Brooklyn. The character of his testimony was foreshadowed in the affidavits made by him and his lieutenants in connection with the contempt proceedings.

SHEEHAN AT HIS WORST.

Democrats of a certain type are slow to realize that they have had enough. This type is not uncommon; in fact, it seems to represent the party pretty faithfully in these days.

MR. CROKER'S HASTY DEPARTURE.

How loudly Mr. Croker must regret that the condition of his health compels him to leave New York just at this time! The State Senate committee has not yet begun the investigation of the Police Department.

The roll of the State Senate as originally made up contained the names of eighteen Republicans and fourteen Democrats.

Yesterday Sheehan was ready with a temporary injunction, forbidding the clerk to call Senator Wolfert's name, and possibly he derived some comfort from it, though the Senator was in his seat and responded when Mr. Saxton called the roll.

INSURGENTS AND BELLIGERENTS.

The Administration's contention respecting American commercial rights in Brazilian waters is defined by Minister Thompson in explicit terms. It is grounded upon the failure of the insurgents to obtain recognition as belligerents.

THE SOUTH AND ITS TOOLS.

This land is not only the paradise of workmen, as British Free Traders unwillingly admit, but also of demagogues. Nowhere else in the world has a measure like the Wilson bill the least chance of success, or its advocates of toleration in after years.

parallel lines. The Chilean civil war at the outbreak was a naval revolt like that of Admirals Mello and da Gama, but Congress was behind the feet and a Provisional Government was immediately established and a powerful army recruited.

An exact parallel on a small scale is to be found in the revolt of the Peruvian ironclad Huascar in the harbor of Callao. This movement was in the interest of Plerola, a revolutionist. The Huascar, after firing upon the forts, undertook to prevent the landing of passengers from English merchant ships and seized several coal lighters.

Whatever risks are incurred by the protection of commerce from the attacks of insurgents when they fire upon foreign shipping. After the burning of Colon the United States cruiser Alliance captured the Colombian insurgent brigantine Antioque Light, and sent her to New York to be condemned as a prize because she was not sailing under the authority of any acknowledged power.

A CONTRAST.

There were two great speeches in the House on Thursday. One by a great Republican leader, Mr. Reed; the other by the Democratic leader, Mr. Wilson, author of the new Tariff bill.

PERSONAL.

James McDonald, of DeWitt Township, Holt County, Ind., died upon a quarter section of Government land when he was ninety-six years old, and has just completed his residence, founded his proof of it at the local land office, and received title to the land. He is now 103 years old.

NOTES OF THE STAGE.

Jean de Reszke was again unable to sing last night. He was announced to appear as Faust at the Metropolitan Opera House, and his place was taken by Italo Campanini on extremely short notice.

Whether the Democrats of the Senate can or will prove more sensible or more brave than members of the House, he cannot know. One thing he knows, that next fall would be the political end of him unless he could appease Populists and Communists in his district.

The Senate may not turn out to be in any respect more trustworthy than the House. It was not in the House, but in the Senate, that the worst monetary heresies were found to have greatest strength.

tion in a public body willing to manage them in the public interest. "The Sun," after making some estimates, thinks that a general Congress election now would give the Republicans an overwhelming majority.

The importation of 229 jackasses into this country in the existing political conditions seems like overstocking the market. Governor Waite, of Colorado, and Governor Lovell, of Kansas, have had two or three setbacks lately, but there is no reason to believe that either of them is getting lonesome.

Woodfield, an Englishman, who has a number of elegant entertainments among their friends by getting married late on Thursday afternoon, in the Protestant Episcopal Chapel of St. Chrysostom, at West Thirty-ninth-st. and Seventh-ave. It was the quietest sort of wedding, and was not followed by the conventional reception. The Rev. Thomas Henry Sil, the rector of the chapel, performed the ceremony.
