

MR. SAXTON IN BROOKLYN.

A ROUSING MEETING AT PALACE RINK. THE CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR REVIEWS THE HISTORY AND POLITICAL INQUIRIES OF D. B. HILL AND HIS MACHINE.

The first great mass-meeting of Brooklyn Republicans was held last evening in the Palace rink in Clermont-ave., which was thronged with many thousands of voters.

The great assemblage was called together to the rink by the candidate for lieutenant-governor upon the ticket headed by Levi P. Morton.

From the clubhouse Senator Saxton was driven to the rink, where his entrance was the signal for a vigorous applause, which lasted for some time.

When the enthusiasm had subsided, the speaker called the audience to order, and the first of vice-presidents and secretaries was called to the platform.

Resolutions were presented, pledging hearty support to the ticket and cordially endorsing the candidate for State, county and city tickets.

Senator Saxton was then introduced, and after the great applause which greeted him had subsided made a speech which will be found in full on page 12.

HILL AND STRONG ON ONE BALLOT. THIS IS CERTAIN TO HURT STRAITS, BUT TAMMANY COULD NOT HELP IT.

An appeal from Senator Charles J. Fawcetter, of West Virginia, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, begging New-York Democrats to bury their differences and unite to elect a Democratic delegation of Congressmen from this city, and a letter from Frederic R. Couderc telling his neighbors why they ought to support the man for Governor who called him a "brilliant barrister" and a "mamby-pamby lawyer" because he declared against the Maynard infamy.

At the meeting of the Democratic Congressional Committee yesterday, after a secret session of members of Mr. Hill's Executive Committee, the ticket of the Committee of Seventy, endorsed by Mr. Grace's Empire State Democracy, should be accepted. This arrangement leaves Mr. Straus, the Tammany nominee for Mayor, and his colleagues on the official Democratic ticket.

MEETING OF THE JOCKEY CLUB STEWARDS. THE CASES OF LAKELAND AND W. C. DALY UNDER CONSIDERATION—THE ANTI-GAMBLING AMENDMENT.

At the meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club, held at their rooms last night, the cases against Alfred Lakeland and William C. Daly had a hearing. It appears that there is nothing against Lakeland except that he used strong language in talking about the stewards.

A long consultation between so-called turf magnates and the stewards took place in regard to the action to be taken about the gambling amendment to the Constitution. The Solons decided to take no political action before the Lexow committee.

The effort to educate the rural voters into the belief that the gambling amendment will destroy the breeders of this State is ridiculous, and nobody but track-owners, who scheme the bookmakers, as well as the public, are alarmed at the outlook.

The racing season of 1894 closed in a blaze of electric light at the Maxpath track on Monday night. The season has been prolific in good things for the stewards to contemplate at their leisure.

NEW-YORK BEATEN BY A FLUKE. HOW THE OTHER GAMES OF THE PROFESSIONAL LEAGUE TURNED OUT.

While the college teams continue to spat and sputter about their dates, the professional players go calmly on their respective ways playing football. Three games were played in the Professional League championship series yesterday.

The game at the Polo Grounds was between the New-York and Boston teams, and a splendidly contested match resulted, and a splendidly contested match resulted, and a splendidly contested match resulted.

The first half was stubbornly contested. After seven minutes' play Sunderland shot a goal for Boston. During the rest of the first half neither side was enabled to score.

The New-York men rallied at this point and made two goals in quick succession, tying the score. Winter kicked from the side line to Couper, who made a pretty pass to Trainer. The latter headed the ball through a few minutes later.
