Dr. Hasbrouck makes a specialty of extracting teeth without pain with gas. HAYWARD BUILDING, 725 6TH AVE., Cor. 42d St.

NEW-YORK DAILY TRIBUNE

FOUNDED BY HORACE GREELEY. SUNDAY, MARCH 17, 1895.

TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING

Foreign.—The Alliance affair was discussed in the Cortes at Madrid; the Foreign Minister promised that all the demands of justice would be fulfilled.

Domestic.—President Cleveland returned to Washington from his trip to the North Carolina soundings.

City and Suburban.—Inspector Mackellar's men in Brooklyn captured Frank Sutton and Charles Johnson, two notorious burglars, who are wanted for numerous crimes.

The Weather.—Forecast for to-day: Fair, slowly rising temperature; west winds. Temperature yesterday: Lowest, 25 degrees; highest, 33; average, 28 1/2.

Whedmen are much put out at the weather, and the score of more road runs arranged for to-day will have to be postponed, since the roads cannot be in condition for comfortable riding this afternoon.

Now that the baseball season is practically upon us, we are of the opinion that it is time for the wrangling club-owners to slide into obscurity and let the ballplayers do the rest.

Widespread satisfaction will be caused by the news of the safe arrival at Austria of the unfortunate Slatin Bey, the Austrian lieutenant of General Gordon who has been a prisoner in the hands of the fanatic dervishes of the Sudan at Omdurman, opposite Khartoum, ever since 1884.

University life in Germany is characterized by so much freedom and independence that one can readily understand the attraction it offers to American students.

Turn your attention to Albany, fellow-citizens! First undecide yourselves, if you think you have yet accomplished anything in the way of reform; and then make the gentlemen at Albany understand that you want what you voted for last November; that you want it without any graduates without the walls of the lecture-room. Yet German universities, a description of which will be found elsewhere in our issue of to-day, are admitted by those best competent to judge to be without a rival as regards the standard of instruction attained and the scholastic results achieved.

THE BOTANICAL GARDEN.

It is a welcome announcement, to many citizens probably an agreeable surprise, that the admirable project of a great botanical garden in Bronx Park is prospering.

NOTHING DONE YET.

Let us not deceive ourselves. The popular uprising for municipal reform is, up to date, without adequate practical results.

MR. MANSFIELD.

It is an old-established principle that nothing is ever settled until it is settled right. The Tribune does not intend to treat any person with injustice.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

Forty years ago the Cuban question was an annexation question. Two Democratic Presidents favored the purchase of the island.

THE PROBLEM OF THE CITY.

The address of the Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford on the other evening before the Buffalo Liberal Club on "The Human Problem in Great Cities" was no less happy in its title than in its exposition.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

Since the Civil War the Cuban question has been a sugar question. The collapse of the Louisiana cane industry caused a vacuum which was filled with Cuban sugar.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

The Cuban question in its final stage will be an annexation question, not because Americans are anxious to acquire the island by purchase or by conquest, but because the people are ruined economically, and Spain, bankrupt in treasury and corrupt beyond redemption in administrative processes, cannot do anything for them.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

Turn your attention to Albany, fellow-citizens! First undecide yourselves, if you think you have yet accomplished anything in the way of reform; and then make the gentlemen at Albany understand that you want what you voted for last November; that you want it without any can be marketed. The sugar question is leading up to annexation. Overproduction of German beet sugar is accelerating the movement.

BOOKS AMONG SOLDIERS.

Senator Manderson, who commanded a Union regiment during the War, has referred in a recent letter to the beneficial effect of a camp library upon the morals of the men.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

It would have been a satisfaction as well as a credit to the corporators if they had been able to meet the city half way, with a subscription of half a million dollars, but the immediate fulfillment of their extremely liberal purpose is not essential to success.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

The financial burdens of New York are heavy, and an imprudent disposition to increase them is manifest. But this enterprise has a strong claim not only to private support but to public endorsement.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

Men of original ideas, strong character, expeditious action and indomitable energy are likely to make enemies. It is possible that Mr. Mansfield has, all along, been wrongfully assailed and grossly abused.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

Whatever Consul-General Williams may have done in Havana to excite the resentment of the officials the Spanish Minister in Washington is offsetting by his amazing indiscretions.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

Two or three new political parties, all of which propose to take a hand in the Presidential campaign of 1896, have been organized in the last fortnight, and the returns are not all in yet.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

A ray of peace rises in the Eastern horizon promising the furling of the battleflags there in no long time and the restoration of the agitated Oriental peoples to their wonted tranquillity.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

Of course Dr. Rainsford said nothing very new on this question; it would not be possible to do that. But his work during the last few years among the poor and the humble of this city enables him to speak with knowledge as well as authority on the real nature of the problem.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

There is, so far as we have been able to learn, no dissent from the belief that the care of the indigent insane of Kings County should be turned over to the State, under the State Care act. The attempt to care for them by county officials has been a lamentable failure.

when he pays from 30 to 100 per cent interest. Under such conditions multitudes of human beings are living in our cities year after year, instead of wondering why some of them are reduced to despair.

PERSONAL.

Ex-Congressman "Joe" Sibley, of Pennsylvania, the Presidential candidate of the Democratic League is a millionaire banker, who made his fortune in oil wells.

PERSONAL.

The Southwestern Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia has reluctantly accepted the resignation from the office of the Rev. Dr. I. P. McCurdy.

PERSONAL.

Miss Susan B. Anthony, who is seventy-five years of age, said recently: "I attribute the secret of my good health to the fact that I never abuse my regular habits."

PERSONAL.

Walpole, the banner Democratic town of New-Hampshire, elected a full Republican board of local officers last Tuesday, for the first time in twenty-six years.

PERSONAL.

The withdrawal of the Georgia Woman's Press Club from the General Federation of Women's Clubs because the latter has admitted to its organization three negro women's clubs from the States of Indiana and Illinois indicates that the Georgia women are in favor of progress up to a certain point, but not beyond it.

PERSONAL.

In the report of the British Admiralty on the naval maneuvers of 1894 it is said "no ship was put out of action by a torpedo-boat," and "owing to the speed of the hostile fleet, the torpedo-boats were unable to remain in position for attack."

PERSONAL.

It is interesting to think of the complications that might have arisen if Mr. Cleveland's excursion steamer had got within shooting distance of the Spanish warship that fired on the Alliance.

PERSONAL.

The report that Oscar Wilde and the Marquis of Queensberry had gone to Monte Carlo to settle their quarrel by a duel is unfortunately incorrect. We say unfortunately, because the spectacle of Wilde stabbing Queensberry with an epigram, while the latter dully retorted with the idea of political and commercial union with this country has received a new and tremendous impetus among the citizens of the distressed colony.

PERSONAL.

The refusal of the British Government to assist Newfoundland in raising a loan of $1,000,000 for use in relieving the distress following the recent financial crash in St. John's, can hardly have any other effect than to greatly increase the sentiment in that colony in favor of annexation to the United States.

when the county farm was established at St. Johnland, L. I. have been cruelly blasted. On this county farm about $4,000,000 has been spent, with results that are almost ludicrously small.

PERSONAL.

It is now proposed that the State should purchase St. Johnland, and the price set upon it by the county authorities is $500,000, or about one-eighth of the cost. But even this is deemed too large by the State Commissioners in Lunacy, and by Controller Roberts, who recently visited St. Johnland and examined the property.
