

FATAL TO DR. BURNETTE

HE DIES FROM CANCER, THOUGHT TO BE A RESULT OF INOCULATION.

THE CASE A NOTEWORTHY ONE, AS IT IS BELIEVED TO BE THE FIRST IN WHICH THERE IS A COMPLETE CHAIN OF EVIDENCE ESTABLISHING THE THEORY OF INOCULATION.

A few weeks ago The Tribune announced that the attention of several members of the medical profession had been called to the illness of Dr. Edward Worthington Burnette, of No. 115 West Thirty-fourth-st., by reason of the fact that for the first time in the history of medicine in this country it was maintained that a complete chain of evidence proving that cancer was inoculable had been clearly established in Dr. Burnette's case. Dr. Burnette died yesterday afternoon, and a number of representative physicians will now enter upon a searching investigation of the circumstances and primary causes of Dr. Burnette's illness, with a view of determining definitely the hitherto much-disputed question in this country as to whether cancer by inoculation is a possibility.

DR. R. W. JONES'S OPINION.

According to the opinion of Dr. Roland W. Jones, of No. 36 West Fifty-ninth-st., who attended Dr. Burnette, there are substantial grounds for the belief that his patient contracted the malady by reason of a somewhat careless act after treating a woman who was suffering from cancer.

It seems that about a year ago the doctor was called to attend a Miss Hatch, of No. 102 West Thirty-fourth-st. She complained of an irritation of the tongue, and in order to allay the pain he applied nitrate of silver with his finger. A couple of hours later, while shaving himself, he cut a slight gash on his left cheek, and to stop the flow of blood he rubbed some powder on the wound with the same finger that he had previously applied to the woman's tongue. Afterward a swelling resulted, and cancer developed. It was found subsequently that the irritation of the tongue from which the woman complained was cancer, and about the same time that the disease manifested itself in Dr. Burnette's face an operation for malignant cancer was performed on the woman's tongue. As if to further the contention that a chain of evidence of inoculable cancer had been found, it was stated that Miss Hatch herself had caught the disease by using a speaking-tube belonging to a man who had previously died with cancer in the mouth.

AN OPERATION ON DR. BURNETTE'S FACE.

Dr. Burnette's affliction increased so alarmingly in its effects that in March part of the jawbone was removed, and the cheek cut away almost to the left eye. A few weeks after this operation, however, the malignant symptoms again set in, and spread over the entire side of his face. He realized that death was a certain result, and he regulated his affairs accordingly.

About a week ago Dr. Burnette rallied perceptibly, and Dr. Jones, who attended him, expressed some hope. But with the advent of the hot weather he became worse, and suffered intensely till his death.

DR. BURNETTE'S CAREER.

Dr. Burnette was a native of Connecticut. He studied medicine and was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in this city in 1859. For a number of years actively in the profession, he was house surgeon of Bellevue Hospital.

On giving up this place Dr. Burnette removed to the West Side, opened an office at No. 115 West Thirty-fourth-st., and had an extensive practice. He was a well-known man. He was for years quartermaster-sergeant of the 5th Regiment.

The doctor was unmarried and occupied a suite of apartments at the same number as his office. His only known relative is a brother in San Francisco, now on his way to New-York in response to a dispatch announcing his brother's precarious condition. Dr. Jones said last night that there were some further remarkable features of this case that could not be given out at present. The dates of the autopsy and of the funeral will not be fixed until the brother, Wellington Burnette, has been heard from. Dr. Burnette was a Mason of high degree.

SIGNS OF RESPECTABILITY THAT FAILED

MR. ROGERS WAS SURPRISED TO FIND MURDER'S PICTURE IN THE ROGUES' GALLERY.

L. H. Rogers, a stationer, of No. 75 Maiden Lane, was going up the steps leading to the Courtland-st. station to catch the Ninth-ave. express on the evening of July 22, when he felt a tug at his coat. He turned, and found that his gold watch was gone. Mr. Rogers was not sure about the identity of the thief, but he seized a young man who had just passed him and accused him of the theft. The youth expressed great indignation. He offered to turn his pockets inside out for Mr. Rogers to show that he had not the watch, and when that did not satisfy Mr. Rogers he offered to show him the watch. Mr. Rogers, however, was satisfied, and after showing him the watch, he went on his way. Mr. Rogers, however, was not satisfied, and after showing him the watch, he went on his way. Mr. Rogers, however, was not satisfied, and after showing him the watch, he went on his way.

Mr. Rogers returned from Europe on Wednesday last and received his watch. When he went to the rogues' gallery to see whether or not he could find the picture of the young man he had accused, he found that the picture of the young man he had accused was in the rogues' gallery.

A BIG CANTON SECURED FROM HOLZULE.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 22.—The Howard-Harrison Iron Company, of Bessemer, yesterday secured a contract for several thousand tons of eighteen-inch iron pipe for the city of Honolulu. The contract is for a sufficient supply to sew the city and to order before completed is expected to exceed 20,000 tons. This is the first foreign contract of the kind secured by an American company.

FORGED CERTIFICATION OF CHECKS.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 22 (Special).—Within the last few days a number of checks drawn on the banks of this city and purporting to have been certified have been received by the bank here. The checks were cashed in Jersey City, Hoboken, and other cities near New-York. When they came to the attention of the bank here it was seen at a glance that the certification was a forgery, and that the checks were drawn on the bank of S. S. Morrison, and made payable to G. H. Williams, on $3,000. The bank of S. S. Morrison, however, is not a bank, and the checks were drawn on a non-existent bank. The bank of S. S. THROUGH SLIGHT TO THE FIRST FLOOR

A FIREMAN ON DUTY IN A HIGH BROOKLYN HOUSE ALMOST KILLED—HE FALLS UPON A LOT OF BOTTLES, IS CUT AND HAS HIS ARMS AND LEG BROKEN.

Two firemen were injured, one probably fatally, at a fire which was caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp in the apartments of James W. Coyle, on the third floor of the double four-story flat house No. 1,424 Broadway, Brooklyn, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Coyle was also badly burned about the hands and face by the blazing oil.

A few minutes before 2 o'clock Coyle was awakened by the crying of his infant child, and, getting out of bed, started for the bedroom where the child was sleeping. He first went to the dining-room for the lamp, which stood on the table. As he was about to pick it up it exploded. Instantly the room was in a blaze, and Coyle, realizing the position of his wife and child, darted into the bedroom and grabbing the infant shouted to his wife to follow him. Mrs. Coyle lost no time in getting out of the room, and as they passed through the hallway they caused the other sleeping tenants by their shouts of "fire!"

An alarm was sent by a policeman attached to the Fourteenth Precinct, and when the firemen arrived the flames had gained much headway. A second alarm was quickly sent in. The men succeeded, after an hour's hard work, in confining the blaze to the floor where it had started, although the ground on the roof was occupied by the fire. The entire loss was estimated at $10,000. The fire was caused by the explosion of a kerosene lamp in the apartments of James W. THE INHABITANTS BADLY FRIGHTENED BY THE

NUMEROUS BURGLARIES—A FARMER'S EXPERIENCE WITH A HIGHWAYMAN.

People living in the vicinity of Oradell, Etna, Westwood and New-Milford, N. J., all within a radius of five miles, are almost afraid to go to bed at night because of the number of burglaries and attempts at highway robbery committed within the last three nights. On last Wednesday night thieves entered the house of a Christiana house, a florist, and stole a large quantity of goods. On Thursday night a burglar entered the house of a florist, and stole a large quantity of goods. On Friday night a burglar entered the house of a florist, and stole a large quantity of goods.

LAKE AND CANAL TRAFFIC IMPROVING.

Buffalo, Sept. 22.—The last week showed improvement in several respects in lake and canal traffic. General merchandise has begun to move freely, and receipts are fairly active, and coal shipments nearly up to the standard. Lake freight rates are comparatively high, but there are no indications of a further advance. In the immediate prospects a week of further advance. STARVED HIS TORMENTOR FATALLY.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Patrick McAvoy, John Davine and Charles Gust boarded in the same house at Twelfth and Columbia sts. Last night McAvoy and Davine, who were drunk, went to Gust's room and tried to force him to give them money. Gust refused, and they beat him. Gust died of starvation. The police are investigating the case.

TO ERECT A MONUMENT AT GETTYSBURG.

Gettysburg, Penn., Sept. 22 (Special).—Matthew McCullough, president of the Veterans Association of the State of New-York, is in town to make arrangements for the purchase of a site for the monument to be erected next year by the regiment opposite the Rhyer farm. The base of the monument will be a large square, and the monument itself will be a large column.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 22.—Elmer E. Rowell, an attorney, has disappeared. He is alleged to be guilty of forgery and embezzlement amounting to $20,000. All his victims are his clients. The principal loss has been reimbursed by Rowell's mother. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The Rev. Dr. Francis B. Wheeler, for thirty years pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this city, tendered his resignation at the morning service to-day. He has been over fifty years in the ministry. He will be made pastor emeritus.

PRairie FIRES RAGING IN THE WEST.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 22.—A tract of swamp land about three miles square, in the towns of Eaton and Humboldt, this country, is burning over. Damages so far have been estimated at $100,000. THE "SCORCHER" OUTRAN.

A MOUNTED POLICEMAN TOO MUCH FOR A COLORED WHEELMAN.

HE IS ARRESTED, ESCAPES, AND GIVES THE OFFICER A HOT CHASE FOR TWO MILES ON THE WAY TO CONY ISLAND—FORCED TO WALK BACK AND DRAW HIS MACHINE.

Reddington Stowe, colored, twenty-four years old, who lives at No. 115 West Thirty-fourth-st., Brooklyn, created considerable excitement and amusement on the Cony Island bicycle path yesterday. He was arrested and locked up. Stowe is the proud possessor of a handsome bicycle, and he is known as a "scorcher." He was out on his wheel yesterday, and was speeding up and down the path just outside of Prospect Park. He was seen by a mounted policeman, who arrested him. Stowe was taken to the station, but he escaped. He was seen by a mounted policeman, who arrested him. Stowe was taken to the station, but he escaped.

DROWNED IN THE HUDSON.

J. WIGGINS, OF NO. 23 GRAMERCY PARK, GOES DOWN WHILE BATHING.

Four young men, all under twenty years old, who gave their names as Charles Gracie, of No. 23 East Twenty-third-st., Henry J. Gittman, of No. 23 Irving Place, Marcus F. Harley, of No. 23 East Twenty-third-st., and Harry H. Jones, of No. 23 East Twenty-third-st., were found dead in the Hudson River. They were all drowned while bathing. The bodies were found by a fisherman. The police are investigating the case.

A POLICEMAN CALLED IT A JUDGMENT.

CALELLONIS, WHO WAS KILLED BY A CARLE CAR, HAD CAUSED A MAN'S DEATH AND BEEN ACQUITTED OF MURDER.

THE WEST IS SHIVERING.

A COLD WAVE SWOOPS DOWN FROM THE FAR NORTHWEST.

SUDDEN AND REMARKABLE FALLS IN THE TEMPERATURE, ACCOMPANIED BY HIGH WINDS, RAIN AND SNOW—THE WEATHER BUREAU'S PREDICTIONS.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 22.—The cold wave from the Northwest reached here this afternoon. The early part of the day was extremely hot and the sky almost clear. About noon the sky began to overcast, and at 1 o'clock the clouds suddenly took on the appearance of an approaching tornado. The temperature fell with the most remarkable rapidity ever known here. In fifteen minutes the fall was 32 degrees, and since then it has been slowly sinking. The fall at 1 o'clock was instantaneous; a wall of cold air seemed to pass in and force out the hot. A few minutes afterward a heavy rain was accompanied by wind which reached a velocity of sixty miles and did some damage. It is cold to-night, and frost is expected.

THE HIGHEST TEMPERATURE RECORDED YESTERDAY.

DAY, 96 DEGREES, ONE DEGREE LOWER THAN ON SATURDAY—MORE THAN 80,000 PEOPLE SEEK COOL AIR AT CONY ISLAND.

The weather was a little cooler yesterday, but the difference was so slight that few could detect any moderation in the temperature from that of the preceding day. New-Yorkers were just as uncomfortable as on Saturday. Fortunately, it was a day of rest to most people, and the day could be spent at home in a light attire, or at the nearby resorts. More than 80,000 people were at Cony Island, it was estimated. Saturday night was one of the most uncomfortable nights of the season, and the heat, like the sun, was a cruel master. In degrees there was a fall in the temperature yesterday in comparison with the feast of the mercury thermometer, which is a better indicator of the heat felt in the streets than its lofty official brother, recorded 90 degrees at 3 p. m., 7 degrees below the official figures of Saturday. During the early evening a strong breeze swept over the city, and it proved a blessing to the throngs in the crowded tent-camp.

PROSTRATED SITTING IN A WINDOW.

HUGH BLANEY, CHARITIES AND CORRECTION CLERK, KILLED BY A FALL FROM HIS ROOM TO THE SIDEWALK.

Hugh Blaney, a clerk in the Department of Charities and Correction, was overcome by heat while sitting in a window in his room on the second floor at No. 108 East Twenty-third-st. yesterday afternoon. He fell to the sidewalk and died instantly. Blaney had been in ill health for some time, and had only recently returned from Hot Springs, Ark.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY THE TROLLEY.

A NEW-YORKER RUN OVER BY A STEINWAY CAR—SO BADLY MANGLED THAT HE DIES A FEW HOURS LATER.

James German, eighteen years old, of No. 23 East Twenty-third-st., this city, was so badly crushed by a Steinway trolley-car last evening that he died later. He had been in Recreation Park to see the ball game there, and after the game he was on his way home. He was on his way home. He was on his way home.

A PENNSYLVANIA LAWYER MEETS WITH A PROBABLY FATAL ACCIDENT.

Altoona, Penn., Sept. 22.—N. P. Mervine, a leading member of the Altoona bar, met with an accident this evening which may cost him his life. He was out driving with his family, and when descending a steep hill the neck yoke which held the horses to the tongue broke. He was drawn over the dashboard and trampled under the horses' feet, sustaining a long and deep wound on the top of the head, several deep lacerations about the face, a large gash across the throat, and all his front teeth were knocked out. He was taken to the hospital, but he died later.

WHEELMEN HAVE A KNOCKOUT.

THEY DASH INTO EACH OTHER IN SURF-ACE, CONY ISLAND, AND ARE THROWN FROM THEIR BICYCLES—ONE BADLY HURT.

A collision between two bicyclists came near resulting fatally yesterday at Cony Island. DEEP SNOW IN COLORADO.

A FALL OF FROM FOUR INCHES TO A FOOT ALL OVER THE STATE.

IMMENSE LOSSES SUFFERED BY THE FRUIT-GROWERS—A KILLING FROST EXPECTED.

Denver, Col., Sept. 22.—The damage done to the fruit interests of the State by the heavy snowfall of last night is being computed. In the neighborhood of Denver fruit and shade trees were broken by the heavy snow freezing to the limbs, yet in full leaf, and scarcely a tree for miles around escaped injury. Reports from the interior show the same deplorable conditions, varying only in degree. While the fruit-growers may save most of the material, the damage to the trees is in the broken trunks and shattered limbs. The snowstorm was generally over the State, the amount of snow from two to twelve inches. To-day the sun shone brightly. The indications are favorable for a killing frost to-night.

NO RELIEF TILL TO-MORROW.

THE SYRACUSE CONVENTION

LEADERS OF THE HOSTILE FACTIONS OF THE DEMOCRACY ON THE SCENE.

DEMANDS OF THE STATE DEMOCRACY—HILL WANTS HARMONY ON THE LEGISLATIVE TICKET, ANTHONY-CROKER'S ATTITUDE.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)

Syracuse, Sept. 22.—David B. Hill remained in Albany to-day completing the preparations for the Sunday Invasion Convention of the Democratic party to be held here on Tuesday and Wednesday of the present week. When asked why he did not go to Syracuse, he replied with a smile: "Oh, you know I am a great respecter of the Sabbath." This austere attitude did not prevent Mr. Hill having a personal chat with Daniel G. Griffin, of Watertown, one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Attorney-General. Mr. Hill also expected to have a private conference with ex-Controller Frank Campbell, of Bath, who desires the Democratic nomination for State Controller. Thus Mr. Hill was busy at his old trade of naming a Democratic State ticket in advance of the meeting of the Democratic State Convention. He also at frequent intervals during the day was in telephonic communication with Edward Murphy, Jr., Richard Croker and William F. Sheehan in Saratoga. The subject of their talk was the method of enticing the Cleveland Democrats back into compromising relations with the Hill-Murphy-Croker-Sheehan machine. Mr. Hill thinks that by granting the Cleveland Democrats only one-third representation from the cities of New-York, Brooklyn and Buffalo they will be satisfied, and yet they will not gain any material possession of the machinery of the Democratic party. Croker, who is the actual leader of Tammany Hall to-day, as William F. Sheehan is the actual leader of the Democratic organization in Buffalo, is not disposed to grant representation in the Democratic State Convention to the State Democracy of New-York, unless the leaders of that organization promise to support the Tammany Hall ticket and legislative candidates. Mr. Hill thinks that Croker is right so far as the legislative candidates are concerned; that the State Democracy leaders should promise to support Tammany Hall's candidates for Senators and Assemblymen.

CROKER AND HILL NOT YET AGREED.

Some of the Tammany Hall leaders arrived here to-night. They were ex-Mayor Thomas F. Gilroy, District-Attorney Fellows, ex-Police Commissioner James J. Martin, ex-Corporation Counsel William H. Clark. It was evident from their talk that Croker and Hill had not yet come to an agreement as to the surrender by Tammany Hall of one-third of its seats in the convention to the State Democracy delegates. James W. Hinkley, the chairman of the Democratic State Committee, was also reported to have said: "It rests with Tammany Hall to say whether or not the State Democracy delegates shall be admitted."

Mr. Hinkley thus apparently takes the attitude that if Richard Croker says "No" to the whole project of admitting the State Democracy delegates, must be abandoned. Senator Murphy, however, will have something to say about this matter. For several years he and Croker by their use of patronage have controlled the machinery of the Democratic party, and David B. Hill has been but a figurehead. Mr. Hill now apparently has united the Kings County Democrats and those of many of the interior counties of the State in support of his plan of giving the Independent Democrats of the State one-third representation in the convention, and one-third representation in the Democratic State Committee. Will Murphy and Croker agree to the part of the scheme which says that Tammany Hall shall surrender one-third of its representation in the convention to the State Democracy? Some doubt is expressed that they will, and if they do not a conflict may follow between Hill on one side and Murphy and Croker on the other.

Robert Grier Monroe, one of the leaders of the State Democracy, arrived here to-night in company with William B. Hornblower, the candidate once of President Cleveland for Supreme Court Justice. Colonel Monroe and Mr. Hornblower are delegates to the convention as representatives of the State Democracy organization. "We have received assurances that we shall be admitted to the convention," said Colonel Monroe, "and on the strength of those assurances we have elected delegates for each one of the thirty-five Assembly districts of New-York City." Colonel Monroe does not know how many of these delegates will be admitted. Indeed, he did not hazard any statement about this subject to-night.

GALL AND WORKWORM FOR HILL.

There is one section of the State Democracy organization which does not care much for admission to the convention. It will resist making any pledges of support to Tammany Hall's local or legislative candidates. Indeed, it is to be doubted if Charles S. Fairchild or any of the leaders of the State Democracy organization will make any pledges of an alliance with Tammany Hall on a local ticket in New-York, or even upon a legislative ticket. They will take the attitude that it is sufficient that they pledge their support to the Democratic State ticket. This will be rather calling names to David B. Hill, when he remembers that Charles S. Fairchild bolted his nomination for Governor and that Everett F. Wheeler, the leading Democratic candidate for Governor, will be one of the State Democracy delegates if that organization is admitted to the convention. Senator Charles L. Gay, of Tammany Hall, well knows the Democratic leaders who arrived here to-night. He attained State prominence last year by leading the stampede for Hill in the Democratic State Convention, which resulted in the latter's nomination for Governor. Whether or not the City now is questionable. Senator Gay did not care to say anything for publication about the admission of the State Democracy delegates to the State Convention. "I am willing to express my sentiments frankly," he said, "in regard to the Sunday liquor question. The Republican party has come out frankly in favor of maintaining the present laws against the sale of liquor on Sunday. I am in favor of the sale of liquor on Sunday. I am in favor of the sale of liquor on Sunday. I am in favor of the sale of liquor on Sunday."

EX-CONTROLLER MYERS IS WILLING.

Senator Hill has received a letter from ex-Controller Theodore Myers, of New-York, expressing the latter's willingness to become a candidate for State Controller, but nevertheless putting the decision of the question whether or not he shall become a candidate in Mr. Hill's hands. Mr. Hill, if they do not, well and good. Let us have a referendum on the matter. For the life of me, I cannot see that the question of the sale of liquor on Sunday is a moral question. You cannot make liquor-drinking a moral question like stealing or gambling. It is morally right that the voters of a city should have the legal authority to vote upon the question of opening or shutting the saloons on Sunday. As I said before, I hope the people of this State will have such an avowal by the Democratic party of its position that the saloons should be opened on Sunday afternoon that there will be no question of its attitude. Then we can fight out the liquor question intelligently the opening or closing of saloons on Sunday."

EX-CONTROLLER MYERS IS WILLING.

Senator Hill has received a letter from ex-Controller Theodore Myers, of New-York, expressing the latter's willingness to become a candidate for State Controller, but nevertheless putting the decision of the question whether or not he shall become a candidate in Mr. Hill's hands. Mr. Hill, if they do not, well and good. Let us have a referendum on the matter. For the life of me, I cannot see that the question of the sale of liquor on Sunday is a moral question. You cannot make liquor-drinking a moral question like stealing or gambling. It is morally right that the voters of a city should have the legal authority to vote upon the question of opening or shutting the saloons on Sunday. As I said before, I
