

Amusements.

AMERICAN THEATRE—2-8. The Sporting Duchess.
BROADWAY THEATRE—2-8. The Night Circus.
CANTON THEATRE—2-8. The Wreck of the Nile.
COLUMBIAN THEATRE—2-8. A Young Yentleman.

doming unnecessary posts, which he believes has elicited general approval. On the question of seacoast defenses he points out that it is now, for the first time, possible to determine the time and cost that will be involved in completing the work which has been undertaken, so that Congress will have a definite basis to work from.

Index to Advertisements.

Table with 2 columns: Advertisements and Page No. Includes categories like Amusements, Business Notices, and Real Estate.

Business Notices.

Roll Top Desks and Office Furniture.
Great Variety of Style and Price.
T. G. SELLEW.
No. 141 Fulton St., N. Y.

New-York Daily Tribune

FOUNDED BY HORACE GREELEY
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1895.

SIXTEEN PAGES.

THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

FOREIGN—Advisers from Constantinople are to the effect that the Sultan disavows all responsibility should a foreign naval demonstration occur before Constantinople.
DOMESTIC—Mr. Reed is making the House committee with a view to rigid economy in the expenditure of public money.

A novel question has been raised in connection with the application of Solomon Sayles for the return to him of the $25,000 which he forfeited when his brother, a member of the famous Boodle Board of Aldermen, ran away after being indicted. Sayles had given bail for his brother, who returned to New-York after the Boodle prosecutions had fallen through, and the indictment against him was dismissed.

REPUBLICANS.

What is the use of urging that Republicans, when they come into power by the free choice of the people, should not be Republicans? Is there anything more than the contemptible indecency of partisanship in claiming, as some journals do, that the Republicans ought immediately to divest themselves of all the principles and convictions which secured their election?

COURAGE DOES PAY.

By what promises to be a unanimous vote, the official representatives of the Republican National party about to assemble in Congress at Washington will tonight signify the appreciation in which the party holds steadfastness, courage and patience in its public men. Six years ago a Republican Congress, which came in with the election of a Republican President upon a platform declaring the party to be "uncompromisingly in favor of the American system of protection" and protesting "against its destruction as proposed by the President (Cleveland) and his party," elected Thomas B. Reed to be Speaker.

POLITICAL REFORM IN FRANCE.

The pathway of reform in France is not an easy one. That there is need of progress on it is evident. Because of that need, its urgency, and the difficulty of satisfying it, Ministry after Ministry has fallen. It is not that Ministers themselves have been corrupt. But other legislators and Government officials have, and Ministers have been or have thought themselves unable to enforce full justice against them.

THE PASSING OF JABEZ.

"Justice is satisfied, and" Jabez "judged!" It was a good day's work, the sentencing of the greatest swindler of the generation to fourteen years' imprisonment; and if it ended at all, it was on the side of leniency. A more shameless, wanton rascal never lived than Jabez Balfour. He went into his great enterprises with the deliberate purpose of robbing every one he could. He made himself conspicuous in church affairs as a means to that end. He was a fervent supporter of Mr. Gladstone in Parliament, and named his chief bluff game the "Liberator," with the same object. He persuaded, on the strength of his religion and his Gladstonianism, thousands of widows and other poor people to invest their little savings in his schemes, and then he robbed them of every penny, and ran off to South America to enjoy his great plunder in prodigal living. His stealings amounted to many millions. His victims were numbered by tens of thousands. Not a few were actually driven to suicide at this being robbed. Probably some thousands who had assured incomes sufficient to maintain them—aged, infirm or crippled persons—will spend the rest of their days as paupers in almshouses, because of this arch-swindler's operations.

ment in the Gladstonian interest, and was a somewhat active politician, his knavery had no political significance. It is no dishonor to the party to which he belonged. For he was a Gladstonian not from principle, but because he knew he would find more dimes and victims in that party than in the other. When he stood up and denounced the profligacy of the Tory peers he was sure to carry his Radical audience with him, and to swell the receipts of his den of thieves. It is true that his rascality did figure in politics a little. Just after the exposure of his doings, when all England was ringing with his execrated name, a Parliamentary election was held; and in some out-of-the-way places unscrupulous Radical managers strove to identify him with Mr. Arthur Balfour, the Unionist leader, and thus turn the tide of popular wrath against the latter and his party. It was a vain and sordid trick, which had no appreciable effect, and which was, of course, repudiated by all right-thinking Gladstonians as earnestly as it was resented by the Unionists. Jabez—as he is always known—was finally captured and brought home under a Gladstonian administration, and has now been tried and sentenced under a Unionist one; and honest men of all parties will say, well done.

GOLF IN THE UNITED STATES.

The vogue which the ancient game of golf has recently attained in this country is interesting and significant. It is only eight years since the pioneer club, St. Andrews of Yonkers, was formed. Now Massachusetts alone has about sixty links laid out, and the number in this State is considerable. The sport has won favor throughout the East and is making its way in the West. Reports come from all sides of the organization of new clubs, and enthusiasts expect to see golf installed ere long as one of the recognized leading sports of the Nation.

Another guarantee that golf is not merely a fad, to be dropped as readily as it was taken up, is the class of men who are its followers. They are not merely idlers who are drawn to it by its novelty and its vogue in England, but serious-minded business and professional men who find in it charms and solid advantages not exactly to be duplicated by any other form of outdoor exercise.

The Municipal Art Society has done a good thing and established a good precedent in donating one of the courtrooms in the new Criminal Court Building, the cost of which has recently turned over to the public was $500, which is a free gift of the society to the city. Having made such an excellent beginning, the society is willing to follow its own good example and engage in other work of the same character. To enable it to do so, it seeks to enlist the good will and active support of all citizens interested in increasing the city's art treasures. The society's annual dues are only $5. It ought to have large accessions to its membership. Any information regarding the society and its work will be cheerfully furnished by the secretary, E. Hamilton Bell, of No. 48 East Twentieth-st.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY.

Henry Martine Alexander, Jr., whose marriage to Miss Helen Manice, daughter of W. De Forest Manice, takes place on Wednesday afternoon next at the home of her father, No. 4 West Fifth-st., gave his farewell bachelor dinner last evening at the Calumet Club. His guests were Dr. Sherman Manice, who will be best man, the usher, Mr. John H. Robert T. Townsend, Mr. Charles Grant, D. D. Casement, J. Warren Bell, George M. Gray and Albert Francke, and several intimate friends, including F. J. Winston, Malcolm Graham, Jr., Newbold Lerday, Ed. J. Harsen Rhodes, Jr., William Alexander, Tracy H. Harris, R. K. Townsend, C. K. Blair, Archibald G. Murray, George C. O'H. He always knows so many interesting things to tell, that every one forgets to eat, and almost all the cake is left." (Elegance) Bitter.

AT THE PORTRAIT SHOW.

Teas have been popular features this week of the Portrait Show held in the National Academy of Design for the benefit of St. John's Guild and the Orthopaedic Hospital. The tea-rooms were well filled yesterday afternoon at the tea given by Miss Louise M. Kemp, assisted by Miss Duryea, Miss Robert T. Townsend, Mrs. Charles C. Cowles, Miss Susie Southwick and Miss Grace E. Allen.

IRVING AN HONORARY MEMBER.

Last Wednesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Shakespeare Literary Society, of Columbia College, Henry Irving was proposed and elected as an honorary member. The society has always been ready to include eminent English scholars among its members, and since Henry Irving's address at Columbia College is 110 West 11th-st., his election in past years are Joseph Jefferson and Edwin Booth. The latter was elected in 1882, and his photograph with his autograph attached.

do the Government great harm. They would probably prevent a certain limited sort of corruption. But they would also deprive the Republic of a large number of its most upright and valuable servants, and make the proper regulation of great semi-public enterprises far more difficult than at present. For example, the bill drawn up by the Government would compel such men as MM. Leon Say, Ernest Carnot, Magnin, Mezières, Roux, Jules Simon, Bardoux, Louis Passy, Krantz, Baron Rofle, Prince Arherberg and the Duke d'Audiffret-Pasquier either to retire from Parliament or to give up their business connections. There can be no doubt as to which they would do. They would retire from Parliament. Then the great interests with which they are connected would be unrepresented in Parliament, and the latter would be placed at a disadvantage in dealing with them; and the Republic would lose some of its wisest and best counsellors. Under the proposed amendments M. Waldeck-Rousseau, M. Méline, and even M. Ricard, the present Minister of Justice, would be driven from their seats. In fact, scarcely any great financier or successful man of business would be left in the service of the State. The Chamber would be given over largely to the leadership of mediocrities, or of professional politicians. That is not the way to secure efficient government on business principles. It ought to be possible to secure honest legislation and administration without proscribing the industrial and commercial leaders of the nation.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

His Point of View.—Reggy Golfsticking (traveling in Montana)—Ah! I suppose you see a good many queer people in that country?
Native.—You bet; why hardly a week passes that some stick-looking Eastern dude doesn't show up.
It Had Some Good Points.—"I can't use this as a poem," said the editor, "but if you'll shorten it a little, I'll publish it as a new college yell."
Provost Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania, has just presented to the university library a monograph on "Education," by Benjamin Franklin. It was printed by Franklin in 1790, and was the first exposition of his idea to turn the old Charity School of Philadelphia into a chartered academy, the institution out of which has grown the University of Pennsylvania.

A lighthouse is needed on Orient Point, Long Island, on the western shore of the entrance to Greenvale Harbor, and on the course from Greenvale Harbor to the Greenvale Light. The Greenvale Light is on the course from Greenvale Harbor to the Greenvale Light. The Greenvale Light is on the course from Greenvale Harbor to the Greenvale Light.

NOTES OF THE STAGE.

The Annual Actors' Fund benefit will take place at the Broadway Theatre on the afternoon of Friday, December 13. The principal attractions arranged for the entertainment are Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Olga Nethersole, John Drew and Miss Maude Adams, Fritz Williams and Miss Elaine Terrie, in a musical comedy, M. M. Kean, in "The Duke of Burgundy," and several specialties, and one-act plays by actors of Daniel and Charles Frohman's companies.

DELTA PHI MEN AT DINNER.

A FEATURE OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE FRATERNITY.
The sixty-ninth annual dinner of the Delta Phi Fraternity was held at the Waldorf last evening. A crescent-shaped table was set in the ballroom, with covers laid for nearly one hundred members of the fraternity. Every chapter was well represented, and a number of prominent New-York alumni were present.

WEDDINGS PAST AND TO COME.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 23.—Local society had a surprise yesterday in the marriage of Mrs. Theodore Sively and William Alexander. Mrs. Sively was recently the defendant in a divorce suit preferred by her former husband, the Rev. Theodore Sively, rector of an Episcopal church of Chicago. She is a daughter of the late Capt. George Sively, of the 1st U. S. Cavalry. Her father is the junior partner in a local real estate firm. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will go to Italy for a six-months' stay and will return to New-York in the latter part of the month.

THE PASSING OF JABEZ.

"Justice is satisfied, and" Jabez "judged!" It was a good day's work, the sentencing of the greatest swindler of the generation to fourteen years' imprisonment; and if it ended at all, it was on the side of leniency. A more shameless, wanton rascal never lived than Jabez Balfour. He went into his great enterprises with the deliberate purpose of robbing every one he could. He made himself conspicuous in church affairs as a means to that end. He was a fervent supporter of Mr. Gladstone in Parliament, and named his chief bluff game the "Liberator," with the same object. He persuaded, on the strength of his religion and his Gladstonianism, thousands of widows and other poor people to invest their little savings in his schemes, and then he robbed them of every penny, and ran off to South America to enjoy his great plunder in prodigal living. His stealings amounted to many millions. His victims were numbered by tens of thousands. Not a few were actually driven to suicide at this being robbed. Probably some thousands who had assured incomes sufficient to maintain them—aged, infirm or crippled persons—will spend the rest of their days as paupers in almshouses, because of this arch-swindler's operations.

THE PASSING OF JABEZ.

"Justice is satisfied, and" Jabez "judged!" It was a good day's work, the sentencing of the greatest swindler of the generation to fourteen years' imprisonment; and if it ended at all, it was on the side of leniency. A more shameless, wanton rascal never lived than Jabez Balfour. He went into his great enterprises with the deliberate purpose of robbing every one he could. He made himself conspicuous in church affairs as a means to that end. He was a fervent supporter of Mr. Gladstone in Parliament, and named his chief bluff game the "Liberator," with the same object. He persuaded, on the strength of his religion and his Gladstonianism, thousands of widows and other poor people to invest their little savings in his schemes, and then he robbed them of every penny, and ran off to South America to enjoy his great plunder in prodigal living. His stealings amounted to many millions. His victims were numbered by tens of thousands. Not a few were actually driven to suicide at this being robbed. Probably some thousands who had assured incomes sufficient to maintain them—aged, infirm or crippled persons—will spend the rest of their days as paupers in almshouses, because of this arch-swindler's operations.

THE PASSING OF JABEZ.

"Justice is satisfied, and" Jabez "judged!" It was a good day's work, the sentencing of the greatest swindler of the generation to fourteen years' imprisonment; and if it ended at all, it was on the side of leniency. A more shameless, wanton rascal never lived than Jabez Balfour. He went into his great enterprises with the deliberate purpose of robbing every one he could. He made himself conspicuous in church affairs as a means to that end. He was a fervent supporter of Mr. Gladstone in Parliament, and named his chief bluff game the "Liberator," with the same object. He persuaded, on the strength of his religion and his Gladstonianism, thousands of widows and other poor people to invest their little savings in his schemes, and then he robbed them of every penny, and ran off to South America to enjoy his great plunder in prodigal living. His stealings amounted to many millions. His victims were numbered by tens of thousands. Not a few were actually driven to suicide at this being robbed. Probably some thousands who had assured incomes sufficient to maintain them—aged, infirm or crippled persons—will spend the rest of their days as paupers in almshouses, because of this arch-swindler's operations.

THE PASSING OF JABEZ.

"Justice is satisfied, and" Jabez "judged!" It was a good day's work, the sentencing of the greatest swindler of the generation to fourteen years' imprisonment; and if it ended at all, it was on the side of leniency. A more shameless, wanton rascal never lived than Jabez Balfour. He went into his great enterprises with the deliberate purpose of robbing every one he could. He made himself conspicuous in church affairs as a means to that end. He was a fervent supporter of Mr. Gladstone in Parliament, and named his chief bluff game the "Liberator," with the same object. He persuaded, on the strength of his religion and his Gladstonianism, thousands of widows and other poor people to invest their little savings in his schemes, and then he robbed them of every penny, and ran off to South America to enjoy his great plunder in prodigal living. His stealings amounted to many millions. His victims were numbered by tens of thousands. Not a few were actually driven to suicide at this being robbed. Probably some thousands who had assured incomes sufficient to maintain them—aged, infirm or crippled persons—will spend the rest of their days as paupers in almshouses, because of this arch-swindler's operations.

A SPIRAL RACETRACK.

RUDOLPH ARONSON'S NEW AMUSEMENT SCHEME.—HE COMES FROM LONDON WITH "GENTLEMAN JOE."
Rudolph Aronson arrived yesterday from Europe on the Lucania. He brought with him some models, prompt books, scores, costumes and all paraphernalia pertaining to "Gentleman Joe," which is approaching its 20th representation at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, in London, and which is to be presented soon at the Bijou Theatre. The part of Aronson's scheme was acted here in London by Arthur Roberts, will be introduced at the Bijou Theatre. Arrangements were also made with N. Vert and Daniel Meyer, so that Mr. Aronson acquires the management of some of their prominent concert artists for the seasons of 1895, 1897 and 1898.

PERSONAL.

Many Republicans of Indiana are talking of electing Governor Will Cumbach as a candidate for the Governorship.
It has been reported that Professor Alexander B. Bruce, of Glasgow, who recently delivered a course of lectures in the University of Chicago, said that the instruction in that institution is limited by the patronage of millionaires. But there is no truth in the report. What he really said was the following: "Mr. Harper will manage to get all the money he wants and at the same time make all with whom his office brings him into contact feel that the intellectual and moral liberties of a university are sacred and inviolable."

DELTA PHI MEN AT DINNER.

A FEATURE OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE FRATERNITY.
The sixty-ninth annual dinner of the Delta Phi Fraternity was held at the Waldorf last evening. A crescent-shaped table was set in the ballroom, with covers laid for nearly one hundred members of the fraternity. Every chapter was well represented, and a number of prominent New-York alumni were present.

WEDDINGS PAST AND TO COME.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 23.—Local society had a surprise yesterday in the marriage of Mrs. Theodore Sively and William Alexander. Mrs. Sively was recently the defendant in a divorce suit preferred by her former husband, the Rev. Theodore Sively, rector of an Episcopal church of Chicago. She is a daughter of the late Capt. George Sively, of the 1st U. S. Cavalry. Her father is the junior partner in a local real estate firm. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will go to Italy for a six-months' stay and will return to New-York in the latter part of the month.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

His Point of View.—Reggy Golfsticking (traveling in Montana)—Ah! I suppose you see a good many queer people in that country?
Native.—You bet; why hardly a week passes that some stick-looking Eastern dude doesn't show up.
It Had Some Good Points.—"I can't use this as a poem," said the editor, "but if you'll shorten it a little, I'll publish it as a new college yell."
Provost Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania, has just presented to the university library a monograph on "Education," by Benjamin Franklin. It was printed by Franklin in 1790, and was the first exposition of his idea to turn the old Charity School of Philadelphia into a chartered academy, the institution out of which has grown the University of Pennsylvania.

NOTES OF THE STAGE.

The Annual Actors' Fund benefit will take place at the Broadway Theatre on the afternoon of Friday, December 13. The principal attractions arranged for the entertainment are Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Olga Nethersole, John Drew and Miss Maude Adams, Fritz Williams and Miss Elaine Terrie, in a musical comedy, M. M. Kean, in "The Duke of Burgundy," and several specialties, and one-act plays by actors of Daniel and Charles Frohman's companies.

DELTA PHI MEN AT DINNER.

A FEATURE OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE FRATERNITY.
The sixty-ninth annual dinner of the Delta Phi Fraternity was held at the Waldorf last evening. A crescent-shaped table was set in the ballroom, with covers laid for nearly one hundred members of the fraternity. Every chapter was well represented, and a number of prominent New-York alumni were present.

WEDDINGS PAST AND TO COME.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 23.—Local society had a surprise yesterday in the marriage of Mrs. Theodore Sively and William Alexander. Mrs. Sively was recently the defendant in a divorce suit preferred by her former husband, the Rev. Theodore Sively, rector of an Episcopal church of Chicago. She is a daughter of the late Capt. George Sively, of the 1st U. S. Cavalry. Her father is the junior partner in a local real estate firm. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will go to Italy for a six-months' stay and will return to New-York in the latter part of the month.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

His Point of View.—Reggy Golfsticking (traveling in Montana)—Ah! I suppose you see a good many queer people in that country?
Native.—You bet; why hardly a week passes that some stick-looking Eastern dude doesn't show up.
It Had Some Good Points.—"I can't use this as a poem," said the editor, "but if you'll shorten it a little, I'll publish it as a new college yell."
Provost Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania, has just presented to the university library a monograph on "Education," by Benjamin Franklin. It was printed by Franklin in 1790, and was the first exposition of his idea to turn the old Charity School of Philadelphia into a chartered academy, the institution out of which has grown the University of Pennsylvania.

NOTES OF THE STAGE.

The Annual Actors' Fund benefit will take place at the Broadway Theatre on the afternoon of Friday, December 13. The principal attractions arranged for the entertainment are Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Olga Nethersole, John Drew and Miss Maude Adams, Fritz Williams and Miss Elaine Terrie, in a musical comedy, M. M. Kean, in "The Duke of Burgundy," and several specialties, and one-act plays by actors of Daniel and Charles Frohman's companies.

DELTA PHI MEN AT DINNER.

A FEATURE OF THE ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE FRATERNITY.
The sixty-ninth annual dinner of the Delta Phi Fraternity was held at the Waldorf last evening. A crescent-shaped table was set in the ballroom, with covers laid for nearly one hundred members of the fraternity. Every chapter was well represented, and a number of prominent New-York alumni were present.

WEDDINGS PAST AND TO COME.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 23.—Local society had a surprise yesterday in the marriage of Mrs. Theodore Sively and William Alexander. Mrs. Sively was recently the defendant in a divorce suit preferred by her former husband, the Rev. Theodore Sively, rector of an Episcopal church of Chicago. She is a daughter of the late Capt. George Sively, of the 1st U. S. Cavalry. Her father is the junior partner in a local real estate firm. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander will go to Italy for a six-months' stay and will return to New-York in the latter part of the month.