NOTABLE FIRE-ART PUBLICATIONS.

D. Appleton & Co., the publishers, have on exhibition at their store, No. 22 Fifth-ave., a large collection of new subscription books and other works, plates of Oriental porcelains, posters, cover designs and portraits of many popular authors. The firm has spared neither labor nor expense to make the collection as attractive as possible...

"Recent Ideals of American Art" is the title of a beautiful portfolio. The work, in twenty-five parts, will contain a series of 25 oil paintings and water-colors in the galleries of private collectors, reproduced in Paris on copper plates by the Gouffé photogravure and typographic processes. Conspicuous among the subjects are the prize pictures of the National Academy and of the American Art Association. Each part contains six pages of text, and is edited by G. W. Sheldon.

"The Art of the World," as seen at the Columbian Exposition, is a handsomely bound work, containing the masterpieces of modern American, English, Spanish, Italian, German and Dutch art seen at the Exposition, carefully selected for reproduction. There are Gouffé facsimiles in color, a series of portraits of eminent artists, and tinted reproductions of the buildings, sculpture and notable details of the Exposition. The editors are Professor Halsey C. York, D. H. Burroughs, Miss Fanny Morris Smith, with H. E. Krehbiel as consulting editor. The work is in twenty-five parts, and will be sold by subscription only.

An edition of "The Manxman" by Hall Caine, is in two octavo volumes, bound in white vellum and gilt. The edition is limited to 250 copies, each signed by the author and illustrated by forty color-plates. Natural History of Seborne and Observations on Nature, by Gilbert White, make a handsome display in two large volumes, with an entirely new dress. It has the text and new letters of the Buckland edition, an introduction by John Burroughs, and eighty illustrations from photographs and drawings by Clifton Johnson.

Among the elaborately bound and handsomely illustrated editions are "The Three Musketeers," by Alexandre Dumas, "Uncle Remus," his songs and sayings, by Joel Chandler Harris, and the "Annals of Westminster Abbey," by E. T. Bradley. Oriental porcelain art is beautifully exhibited in the many colored plates, illustrating the collection of Oriental porcelains of the late W. T. Walters, said to be the finest collection of Oriental pottery in this country. The reproductions show all the color of the minutest details in the glazes.

Posters of every variety, by the best designers, form a noticeable part of the exhibition, while the portraits of scores of well-known and popular authors line the walls. The exhibition opens to-day, and will continue to-morrow and Saturday, beginning daily at 10 a. m. and closing at 5 p. m.

WHITE PLAINS.

There was a lively contest in the Board of Supervisors yesterday over the appointment of a superintendent of the armory at Yonkers. It appears that immediately after the late Supervisor election, Superintendent Percival, of that city, secured pledges from a majority of his colleagues for the appointment. Later the Yonkers Separate Company unanimously adopted a resolution favoring the appointment of Superintendent Frazer, of that city. Mr. Frazer had formerly been a captain of the company. When the proposition was advanced, a war of words arose, and finally the Board referred the entire matter to the five Yonkers Supervisors. The Yonkers representatives decided, by a vote of 4 to 1, in favor of Superintendent Frazer, but the Board refused to notify their choice.

Frank Mueser, of New York, will lecture in Lafayette Hall on Thursday evening, before the Good Government Club.

"GRIFFO" ON A RAMPAGE.

CLEARED OUT A TENDERLOIN SALOON BY BRANDISHING A REVOLVER—ARRESTED FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT. Albert Griffiths, better known as "Young Griffo," was locked up in the West Thirtieth-st. police station last night on a charge of disorderly conduct. It was one of his characteristic rows that led to his arrest. "Griffo" has been drinking for some time, and although sober last night, he had the effects of his recent excesses. He had long held a grudge against George Bennett, a bartender in Martin Dowling's saloon at Twenty-eighth-st. and Sixth-ave. About 8:30 he entered the saloon and putting his hand to his hip pocket declared his intention of blowing out Bennett's brains. The bartender, however, in which he was on the ground at the time and they raced with Bennett to see who could reach the door first. Within a moment "Griffo" had the saloon to himself. One of the spectators ran to the West Thirtieth-st. police station and told Sergeant Halpin what had occurred. Halpin and Police Officer Lawless, who is known at the station house as "Samson, the strong man," went to the saloon with a view to arresting the pugilist before he had time to get into his mischief. The pugilist became as meek as a lamb. Lawless arrested "Griffo" and locked him up on the charge of disorderly conduct.
