

WOUNDED BY BURGLARS.

A POLICEMAN ATTACKED BY TWO NEGROES.

CAUGHT THEM IN THE ACT OF BREAKING INTO THE HOUSE OF M. J. GOODWIN, AT NO. 122 EAST ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIRST ST.—BOTH THE CRIMINALS AT LARGE—THE OFFICER BADLY HURT.

A desperate encounter took place early yesterday morning between Policeman John H. Jones, of the East One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-station, and two negro burglars. The negroes, Jones caught them in the act of breaking into the house of M. J. Goodwin, at No. 122 East one-hundred-and-twenty-first-st. M. J. Goodwin lives in the house with his family, but they have been staying in the country during the summer and the house has been closed. There are several other empty houses in the block, and the policeman was instructed to keep a close watch for thieves.

Policeman Jones was passing the house about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when he heard a noise about the yard. He pushed open the iron gate, and as he stepped into the area, he saw a man crouching under the front stoop. Jones recognized the man as one he had seen loitering in the neighborhood soon after midnight. He grabbed the man and the latter immediately showed fight. He drew his knife with the policeman, drew a revolver, and pointing it at the policeman, drew a revolver and said: "I am going to kill you." The policeman said he was going to the man, however, and taking quick aim, fired at the burglar. Just as he did so he was struck in the back of the head with a knife. This was followed up by a blow with the handle of a small blunt instrument, and the policeman fell to the ground unconscious.

Policeman Michael Healy was on post in Lexington-ave. block away, hearing the pistol shot, ran to the spot, where he found Jones moaning with pain. Seeing over the injured man was William A. O. 125 Lexington-ave., who had also heard the pistol shot and had hastily dressed and rushed out of his house. An ambulance was called and Jones was taken to the Harlem Hospital. Jones's helmet, club and revolver were found lying in the area, and also a knife with its open blade covered with blood, a razor and a handkerchief.

Policeman Michael Healy had a talk with Jones at the hospital when the latter recovered consciousness, and the officer said that he surprised the burglar while the latter was cutting out the panel of the basement door of the house. He had been in the act of attacking the burglar when he was shot. He said he was sure that he had shot the first man in the breast, as he pointed his pistol directly at him. The second man was shot in the back of the head. Jones said he was sure that the wounded burglar would have to apply for medical assistance, and would probably be imprisoned. He was also able to give a low description of the man.

Besides two real burglars in the head, Jones was also wounded in the head, he thought, however, that he would be able to leave the hospital in a day or two. Policeman Jones was an excellent shot, and is highly respected in the district. He has made several arrests for burglaries, and has thwarted a number of attempted burglaries in the neighborhood of the house where he was attacked.

HE DECEASED ROMAN CATHOLIC.

A BROOKLYN MAN ACCUSED OF SELLING BOGUS MISSION TICKETS.

Arthur B. Hagen, fifty-two years old, of No. 17 Atlantic-ave., Brooklyn, who gave his occupation as that of drygoods clerk, was committed by Magistrate Kullien in Yorkville Court yesterday afternoon, to answer a charge of fraudulently obtaining money.

Detective Michael McLaughlin, who is regularly detailed from the Fifteenth Precinct to Joseph's Mission, which is under the charge of Father Dougherty, gave evidence against Hagen. He said that complaints had been coming into the mission for months of a man who was going about among Catholics selling bogus mission membership tickets. These tickets are issued annually and entitle the holder to suffrage in the mission, the benefits of its prayers and its masses for both the living and the dead. The charge is 25 cents a ticket, and is effective for one year.

The detective stated that a great many women had complained of being thus swindled. From them he gained good a description that he was enabled to identify Hagen on the street not long afterward. But each and all of these women positively refused to go to court and press a complaint.

McLaughlin then sent one young man of the mission to work up a friendship with Hagen. The man, who is named at first, the latter and the stool pigeon finally got on confidential terms, and Hagen expressed much friendship for the young man. One day the latter mentioned his fate. He said he was out of work and could get none. Then, it is alleged, Hagen said: "If you will just keep your own counsel, I'll tell you a way in which you can get more than two dollars a day."

The young man invited him into a convenient cafe, and he said to Hagen that he had about twenty dollars to invest in business. Directly after Hagen had said this, he took out a check for $200 to make the investment in that manner in which they had been swindled by Hagen in the purchase of bogus mission tickets.

McLaughlin procured a warrant from Magistrate Kullien, on which, at noon yesterday, he arrested Hagen at his Brooklyn home. The man was taken to the court, where he was committed to the custody of the police. Hagen is now in possession of $200, and was sent down a prison under $50 bail. He is said to have made a great deal of money, and has a big bank notes of large denominations when arrested.

MRS. WILSON'S TAILOR BILL.

Justice Pryor, in the Supreme Court, has refused to take any notice of a notice upon Mrs. Carrie Wilson, of No. 28 West End-ave., in a suit to recover a bill of $1,127 brought against her by Jaran & Co., tailors. Howe & Hummel are the plaintiff's attorneys. The lawyers, after repeatedly failing to serve summonses upon Mrs. Wilson, attired one of their office boys in a telegraph messenger suit and sent him to her house, where he gained admittance by saying he was an important message from Washington. The messenger says that he served the papers on her and that she threw them in his face.

When the matter came up to court yesterday, a Miss Louise J. Barnshaw appeared and said that she was the person upon whom the papers were served. She presented evidence that she served the papers on her and that she threw them in his face. She also presented evidence that she was the person upon whom the papers were served. She presented evidence that she served the papers on her and that she threw them in his face.

THE BILLET POOL TO MEET IN SECRET.

Pittsburg, Aug. 27.—The American Bessmer Association, better known as the Billet Pool, has held its regular meeting in Pittsburg night Monday. The meeting was held in secret, and it was decided to hold secretly the regular meeting in August, in order to avoid the presence and annoyance of brokers and middlemen who have been shut out from doing business with the members of the pool. No change in the price of billets is contemplated by the manufacturers at this meeting. The market will probably be ordered, however, changing from billet to ingot basis, which will result in a fall in the price of billets.

Which costs most,

a sick baby, or a package of Pearline?

Without the Pearline, there's always the prospect of sickness, and perhaps worse, for your baby for any other baby. It comes from nursing bottles that are imperfectly washed. This is a source of infant trouble that can't be watched too closely. Pearline will set your mind at rest. Nothing washes them so thoroughly as Pearline. One of the largest makers of nursing bottles sends out circulars with his goods, recommending Pearline for washing. He is wise. Milk cannot adhere to anything, if washed with Pearline.
