Congress, and a Republican Legislature. The returns, he says, will be plain, without fear of much reduction by later returns.

A TREMENDOUS VOTE CAST. REPUBLICANS PUSHED THE FIGHTING VIGOROUSLY THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

Indianapolis, Nov. 3 (Special).—Beautiful weather gave opportunity to-day for a heavy vote, and it is believed that the total will exceed 600,000. General Harrison voted about 10 o'clock, and was watched with the interest that would naturally be aroused at the sight of an ex-President exercising the same power that any citizen has.

The polls opened with voters waiting, and for the first two hours those of the election officers who had not secured their breakfasts had to wait until the rush was over.

The reports from the out counties are in the same strain. A telegram from Hamilton County said that three-fourths of the Republicans voted before noon, and that at 2 o'clock the Popocratic vote was leaving the county disgusted.

The Republicans raised their estimates of the States during the day from the result demonstrated in this county. But there is this to be said: The entire State is not as metropolitan as Indianapolis. Betting was slow, the Democrats lacking courage to stake money even at heavy odds.

HARRY S. NEW'S ESTIMATE. Indianapolis, Nov. 3 (Special).—McKinley has carried Indiana by not less than 25,000 majority. We have ten Congressmen sure, probably twelve, and possibly a solid delegation. We have the Legislature beyond a doubt. HARRY S. NEW.

PENNSYLVANIA FIRST. HEADS THE LIST WITH THE HUGE MAJORITY OF 240,000 VOTES.

Harrisburg, Penn., Nov. 3.—The election in Pennsylvania was characterized by the utmost determination on the part of the Republicans to poll the greatest majority ever given for a candidate in this State, and the indications are that they have succeeded.

Careful calculations estimate McKinley's majority in Pennsylvania at 240,000, and it thus maintains its place at the head of the procession. These figures at first glance appear a trifle wild, but that they are not is shown by the fact that in every precinct in Harrisburg thus far heard from McKinley has gained an average of 66 votes over the vote of 1892, and this county of Dauphin alone will give a majority of 9,200 for McKinley, a gain of 5,700 over 1892.

Advices from the iron manufacturing districts along the Susquehanna are to the effect that McKinley has made strong gains everywhere, and in not a single district has Bryan equalled the Cleveland vote of 1892. The returns come in very slowly, owing to the great size of the ballot and the large number of columns containing Presidential electors.

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—To McKinley's plurality in Pennsylvania Philadelphia contributes about 125,000.

The weather throughout Pennsylvania to-day was clear. In this city an extremely large vote was polled, the balloting during the early morning hours being heavier than was ever before known.

The total vote of the city will undoubtedly be the heaviest ever cast. This condition is the result of a fierce three-day contest, which overshadowed the Presidential campaign. The fight for the local office is between Samuel H. Ashbridge, the regular Republican nominee, who is being supported by the municipal administration forces, of which David Martin is the leader, and Alex. Crow, Jr., the McKinley-Jefferson nominee, whose candidacy has also been endorsed by the Democrats.

Mr. Crow is allied with the Quay faction of the Republican party. Both sides are confident of victory, the respective followers claiming majorities ranging from 30,000 to 40,000.

The Republican City Committee at a late hour conceded Crow's election for Sheriff.

Pittsburg, Nov. 3.—The voting made as much speed as possible with the blank ballot, which measures 32 inches in width by 36 inches in length. The regular ballot boxes used in Pittsburg are with their contents tied up in the municipal contest from the spring election. The substitute boxes provided by the County Commissioners are not nearly so large. In a number of voting precincts these small boxes were early filled to overflowing, and large drygoods boxes were substituted. In one district in the Eleventh Ward no substitute ballot box was provided, and the ballots were piled up on the tables.

McKeessport, Nov. 3.—The mills were shut down at 5 p. m. to-day, an hour earlier than usual, in order to give the men a chance to vote.

WASHINGTON IN DOUBT. A CLOSE VOTE, WITH INDICATIONS FAVORABLE TO BRYAN.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 3.—While the count of the vote proceeds slowly, indications are that Bryan has carried this State and that James Hamilton Lewis, of Seattle, and W. C. Jones, of Spokane, Congress candidates, have been elected.

The contest for the Governorship between John H. Rogers, of Puyallup (Fusion), and Potter Charles Sullivan (Rep.) is close. Democrats, Populists and Free Silver Republicans fused on a basis of two electors for Populists and two for Democrats. It is estimated that the Democrats and Populists polled each three-eighths and Free Silver Republicans two-eighths of the fusion vote.

This city was probably been carried by McKinley and Sullivan, and possibly King County. The Republicans claim that Sullivan has carried the city of Tacoma and Poor County by 1,500 majority. Bryan appears to have carried Spokane city and county by a good majority, and a number of other Eastern Washington counties.

Palmer and Levering received an insignificant vote.

SLOW COUNTING IN IOWA. THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY LIKELY TO BE 100,000.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 3.—The heavy vote in Iowa is counted very slowly. Scattering returns are chiefly from rural precincts, where the Republicans expected to be weakest; they indicate that the Republicans' claim of a 75,000 plurality for McKinley will be bettered, and 100,000 seems likely to be reached. Palmer will poll a very light vote, probably not over 5,000.

Secretary Trainor of the Republican Committee at 8 o'clock claims the State by 50,000. The Democratic Committee refuses to make a statement, on the ground that the returns are too meagre. The Republicans claim to have elected all of the eleven Congressmen, but no returns have been received as yet from the 11th and 12th districts, which are the closest.

Two hundred and forty-eight precincts give McKinley 44,162; Bryan, 29,015; net Republican gain, 8,000.

CALIFORNIA IS SAFE. RETURNS COMING IN SLOWLY INDICATE THAT THE STATE IS REPUBLICAN.

San Francisco, Nov. 3 (Special).—Nothing definite has been received at a late hour from the State, but the Republicans are encouraged by reports of a large vote in all the districts. Private dispatches to the Republican State Central Committee say that San Diego, which was counted on by the Democrats, will give a heavy McKinley vote. It looks as though the State would go for McKinley by a good majority.

The only returns from the Congress fight show Grove Johnson (Rep.) probably beaten in the 11th District by Devries (Fusion). If Johnson is defeated it will be due to his failure to oppose the Funding bill for the Southern Pacific Company.

With one-fourth of the count accomplished, these results are shown: McKinley, 8,023; Bryan, 8,048; Maguire (Dem.), for Congress in 11th District, 5,592; O'Brien (Rep.), 3,495; Vth District, Kelly (Ind.-Dem.), 1,690; Kinne (Fusion), 1,272; Loud (Rep.), 2,650.

One hundred and thirty-seven precincts give McKinley, 5,082; Bryan, 5,067. The same precincts in 1892 gave Harrison 4,770; Cleveland, 4,325.

At 10 o'clock reports from 400 precincts throughout the State show that McKinley gets 150 majority, against a majority for Cleveland in 1892, of 98. San Joaquin County, which is usually Democratic, gives 1,000 majority for McKinley. The trend of the vote shows clearly that McKinley will carry California by from 10,000 to 15,000 votes. All through the southern counties, which were counted for Bryan, because of the free-silver agitation, the McKinley vote is strong. California will have five Republican and two Democratic Congressmen.

From present returns the following will be elected: 1st District, Barham, Republican; 2d, Maguire, fusion; 3d, Hill, Republican; 4th, McLachlan, Republican; 5th, Bowers, Republican.

McKINLEY HEARS THE NEWS. SCENES AT HIS HOME WHEN HIS ELECTION WAS ASSURED. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Canton, Ohio, Nov. 3.—While a howling crowd filled the public square at Canton to-night, expressing emotions of joy with blank cartridges, wooden rattles, horns and other noise-giving devices, an equally joyous but less demonstrative party of friends and newspaper writers filled the McKinley house and listened with eagerness to the hundreds of bulletins and private telegrams that came pouring in.

Major McKinley joined in the conversation after reading the dispatches himself, sometimes disappearing to read them to his wife. A slight flush upon his face betrayed his deep feeling. The company in the study, composed as it was for the most part of working newspaper men, listened to the news in silence.

At midnight the bells sounded the assembly. Three bands hastened to the public square, and in ten minutes there were assembled thousands of jubilant people, who united in singing "Hail, God, from Whom All Blessings Flow." Mrs. McKinley, who had been confined to her bed for a week, sat up to-night for the first time.
