SEAWANHAKA CORINTHIAN KNOCK-ABOUTS AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

WINNING FLEET TAKES SEVENTEEN POINTS TO EIGHT FOR THE VISITORS—THE THIRD CONTEST SAILED IN A PIPING GOOD KEEPING BREEZE. The third day of the tournament between the Philadelphia Seawanhaka Corinthian knockabouts was sailed yesterday in a piping good breeze...

At the end of the first round the Kewyudin was disqualified for breaking the rules. The Philadelphia boat the Spider, which was coming up on the starboard tack, and with the right of way, was compelled by Mr. Gibson, on the Kewyudin, to give way in order to avoid a collision. At the end of the first round the boats were timed thus:

Table with 3 columns: Boat Name, Elapsed Time, and Remarks. Includes entries for Gloria, Toledo, and others.

The last beat back was fine, spirited work, although the Gloria was too far ahead for the best interest of the spectators. The Spider, which was away her rudder on the second round, near the outer mark, and she finished the race while being forced to anchor.

YACHTING AT ST. PAUL. St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 24—Akela won to-day. Hoodlum, the New-England yacht, was beaten by 6 minutes and 15 seconds over a twelve-mile course. The wind blew fresh from the west. The yachts went over the starting line together. There was only one second between them, and that in favor of Akela.

THE NEWS from England that Mr. Pirrie, the head of the firm that will build the Shamrock, has mentioned a 70-footer as a desirable length for the challenging cutter, lends some probability to the suggestion that a special length may be agreed upon. Many yachtsmen in New-York have expressed themselves in favor of a 70-footer.

ARRESTED FOR THE DENNING MURDER.

MRS. BOTKIN TAKES MATTERS COOLLY, AND INSISTS THAT SHE IS INNOCENT. Dever, Del., Aug. 23—John P. Dunning, whose wife and sister were poisoned by candy sent from San Francisco, has made a statement. He says: "I have talked with the Attorney-General and other State officials of Delaware, disclosing all facts within my knowledge which could possibly lead to the detection of the person whose name I have given. From the moment I learned of the fiendish murder of my wife and sister-in-law, upon my arrival in New-York, I went to Porto Rico, last Friday, and have been here since that the guilty party be brought to justice. I could lead nothing from the officials which could lead to the detection of the criminal. But for two reasons I must refuse to make any statement for publication. First, because it might defeat the ends of justice, and second, because innocent persons might be involved. I will continue to maintain this course even at the risk of subjecting myself to unjust criticism."

Stockton, Cal., Aug. 23—The arrest of Mrs. Botkin, who is accused of sending a package of poisoned candy to Dever, Del., which resulted in the death of Mrs. J. P. Dunning and her sister, was effected without exciting occurrences. When the first warrant charging her with murder was read, she remarked: "So this is the result, or one of them," and turned as though to sit down.

"I have another which you must listen to," said Chief of Police Gall. "Shall I read it now?" "If you are not too tired," said the woman, and she again fixed her gaze upon her attorney-in-law, and there was little or no sign of agitation on the part of the prisoner when the second warrant was read, and she asked if it would not be possible for the officer to appoint a deputy and permit her to remain at the hotel during the night. She was told that this was impossible, and that she would have to go to jail.

Mrs. Botkin was self-contained, and went from the room to the carriage, and from the carriage to the jail, without any further assistance. Mr. Botkin remained with her for a time conversing in a low tone.

Mrs. Botkin spent a restless night in her cell. She had nothing to say, and positively refused to see reporters. Dr. Stone, who had been giving her morphine for her nerves, informed the jailer that she had enough of the drug to kill her if she should take it all at once, so it was taken from her shortly after her arrival at the jail.
