New-York Daily Tribune. THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1898. THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

FOREIGN.—Lieutenant Colonel Henry, who was arrested in Paris on Tuesday on the charge of having forged a letter affecting ex-Captain Dreyfus, committed suicide; he had admitted to the Minister of War that he committed the forgery to insure the conviction of Dreyfus.

DOMESTIC.—The President spent a quiet day in Cleveland as the guest of Colonel Herrick. General Boynton, in a long report on the camp at Chickamauga, says that the hospital conditions there are excellent.

CITY.—The transport Seneca, with Admiral Schley, General Gordon, the Postal Commission and other officers on board, sailed for Porto Rico yesterday. Richard Croker arrived in New York.

THE WEATHER.—Indications for to-day: Fair. The temperature will be: Highest, 64 degrees; lowest, 57 degrees; average, 64 1/2 degrees.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT. It is premature, say the best, for anybody to declare that there will be no investigation of the conduct of affairs in the War Department.

It is the fortune of the United States to be led or forced into arrangements in Samoa which it has not desired. The Berlin treaty of June 14, 1899, was one.

It would be idle to attempt to ignore the widely expressed discontent, and, indeed, the occurrence of many regrettable things. Errors have been committed which seem to go beyond the effects of mingled inexperience and red tape.

But whatever else comes out, the real root cause of the trouble should not be overlooked in the rage for immediate victims. The systematic stunting of the Army, the persistent refusal to put it, not on a war basis, but on an adequate peace basis, for a Nation of the size of this, and the final refusal to prepare for war while doing everything possible to provoke it—these and other lamentable features of the country's general attitude toward the Army for the last quarter of a century are the real causes of the present trouble. Carnot and Stanton rolled into one could not have prevented much confusion and suffering if tied up hand and foot beforehand and then suddenly flung into war in the midst of the sickliest season in a semi-tropical climate.

CONFESSION AND SUICIDE. The mills are grinding in France. A chief witness against Dreyfus has confessed to forgery and committed suicide. Slowly, but with the remorseless certainty of Nemesis, the truth of the Dreyfus case is coming out.

A MODEL EXPEDITION. The Sirdar is nearing Khartoum. He was at Entifer on Tuesday, only thirty miles away. Yesterday he advanced ten miles nearer.

London is not alone in suffering from this evil. The city that is next to her in size can probably run her a close second in hoodlumism on the streets.

YOUNG RUFIANS IN THE STREETS. The London papers have a "stilly season" topic of more than ordinary interest and practicality. It is found in the plague of juvenile ruffianism with which the streets of the city are cursed.

THE TALK OF THE DAY. A very quaint reason, says a writer in "The London Telegraph," was advanced by a domestic servant for thinking that the place she was in was in every way desirable.

THE NEW POSSESSIONS. How far for our conquest far over the sea? It may be a question which fills me with glee, but I cannot pronounce an opinion on it.

THE SUEZ CANAL. When General Andrew G. Burt was colonel of the 7th United States Infantry, he was watching target practice on a day on the range at one of the Western forts.

count, except in moral effect through anticipation, as it did not go into force until the present month. Exports exceeded imports by nearly $20,000,000. So it was, on the whole, a splendidly prosperous year for the Dominion.

DETAILS APART, Canadian commerce is in no sense a negligible quantity. It is already of great importance, and of rapidly increasing importance. In a little more than half a century Canada's population has increased fivefold.

Canada's population has increased fivefold. In the same time her trade has increased twelvefold. That is a healthy indication. Beyond doubt, the great Dominion is a business factor worthy of cultivation; not, of course, at the expense of our own markets and our own industrial system, but to the fullest possible extent compatible with the welfare of these latter.

is opposed to the French idea of keeping the hated foe at a distance and maintaining a haughty reserve toward him, but the intervention of Belgium as a "buffer State," so to speak, is thought to do away with most of the objections to the scheme.

MCKINLEY HAS A QUIET DAY. NOT TO MEET SENATOR HANNA IN CLEVELAND—JUSTICE WHITE RE-TURNS—PLANS UNCHANGED. Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 31.—It is not probable that Senator Hanna will meet President McKinley, as the former had expected, during the present visit of the Chief Executive in Cleveland.

It is understood that President McKinley has telegraphed to Senator Hanna, telling him, by no means to alter or shorten his trip in order to get home before his departure.

Secretary of State William R. Day, who came to Cleveland last evening to confer with the President, returned to Canton to-day. It was stated this afternoon that no change had been made by the President in the programme outlined in these dispatches yesterday governing his movements for the next few days.

ENSIGN POWELSON MARRIED. OWING TO THE BRIDEGROOM'S INJURY, THE CEREMONY TOOK PLACE IN A PHILADELPHIA HOSPITAL. Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—Ensign William Van Nest Powelson, one of the survivors of the battleship Maine and a hero of the war with Spain, was married in the city of the Episcopal Hospital in the city of Philadelphia this afternoon to Miss Margaret Olivia Miller, of Wyoming, Ohio, daughter of Colonel Miller, United States Army.

The marriage of the young couple has about it an air of romance. The ceremony was performed in one of the rooms of the hospital by the Rev. Dr. David H. Lovejoy, chaplain of the institution. Only a few persons were present, including Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Powelson, of Middletown, N. Y., the father and mother of the bridegroom; Captain Miller, who has taken a great interest in the young ensign, and several of the latter's naval associates.

Ensign Powelson, who is suffering with a broken leg, the result of a fall down a hatchway of the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, was not able to stand up while Dr. St. Paul performed the ceremony, and his bride stood beside his cot. The altar-chapel hospital room had been transformed into a veritable bower of roses for the occasion, and notwithstanding the temporary infirmity of the bridegroom, the occasion was as joyous and happy as though the marriage had been celebrated in the church in Wyoming, Ohio, where it was originally intended that the couple should be wedded.

After the blowing up of the Maine in Havana Harbor he was detailed to survey the wreck. Day after day in a small boat, accompanied by a couple of divers, Ensign Powelson floated over the wrecked battleship taking measurements, making soundings and embodying the discoveries made by the divers and his own information in his daily reports.

He was the first to discover that the Maine's plates were blown inward, and that her magazines had not exploded. His most important discovery, however, was that one of the keel plates of the ship had been blown upward with such force that it rested on the deck of the submerged wreck.
