

NO NEWS FROM MAFEKING

Continued from first page.

retired to Klerksdorp under the impression that the latter was threatened by a portion of this force from Ficksburg...

The War Office also received previously from Lord Roberts the following dispatch, dated Kroomstad, Wednesday, May 16:

BOER VEILSON OF THE FIGHTING.

ADMIT LACK OF DECISIVE SUCCESS AT MAFEKING.

Pretoria, Tuesday, May 15.—An official bulletin announces that the Federal troops stormed and occupied the forts around Mafeking on Saturday morning...

It is reported that the advance guard of the force proceeding to the relief of Mafeking from the south was repulsed yesterday.

Cape Town, May 17.—A dispatch from Lourenço Marques, dated to-day, says that Commandant Eloff (grandson of President Kruger) with a patrol, entered Mafeking...

AMERICAN CONTINGENTS SUFFER.

THEIR LOSSES HEAVY IN THE FIGHTING AROUND KROOMSTAD.

London, May 17.—A dispatch from Vredefortweg, without date, via Lourenço Marques May 16, says:

Some American scouts before leaving Kroomstad Sunday morning, set fire to the goods sheds after having had trouble with the British residents.

Had the American scouts have suffered more heavily than any other corps during the war. In the last six weeks, out of a force one hundred strong, they have lost thirty-seven killed, wounded or captured...

McLan's cavalry added to their laurels last week but lost heavily in proportion to the burghers.

It is believed that Blake's Irish corps, captured at Kroomstad, were ordered to retreat, but refused drinking the rum left by the commissariat.

DR. JAMESON A DE BEERS DIRECTOR.

Kimberley, May 17.—Dr. Jameson, the leader of the Jameson raid, has been chosen a director of the De Beers Mining Company.

ENVOYS VISIT CITY HALL.

MAYOR VAN WYCK EXTENDS WELCOME TO BOER REPRESENTATIVES.

The chief feature in yesterday's programme of the three Boer envoys now in this city was a visit to City Hall and an introduction to Mayor Van Wyck...

Regarding the article published yesterday to the effect that Patrick O'Connor, a representative of an English newspaper, had acted as a spy upon the Maasdam upon the trip across the ocean, had won the friendship of the envoys...

This thing is not at all new to us, and heretofore we have been satisfied to pass such matters over as if they were of no consequence...

Mr. Fischer denied statement by statement the words put into his mouth. He added:

There is one true statement here, and that is when I am quoted as saying that we are going to believe the time will come when the Boer people will see that our cause is just...

Mr. Fischer was asked about the alleged appeal from the Americans in Cape Town asking the people here to ignore the envoys. He replied:

I have read their appeal, and it is obviously a very flimsy one. Not a name is given, not even the names of the chairman of their alleged mass meeting...

Regarding the soldiers the Boers have in the field Mr. Fischer said he could not give exact numbers. He said:

I can say we never at any time have had more than 20,000 men under arms. You can figure it out for yourself. If the Boers have lost as heavily as the British correspondents have claimed, our entire army would now have been annihilated...

At 2:30 p. m. the envoys left the Hotel Manhattan with Killian Van Rensselaer, Montagu White, T. St. John Gaffney and Theodor M. Banta to visit the City Hall...

I am delighted to welcome you to the city of New York, and to assure you that in America you will receive a cordial welcome from the loving people of this country...

At 2:30 p. m. the envoys left the Hotel Manhattan with Killian Van Rensselaer, Montagu White, T. St. John Gaffney and Theodor M. Banta to visit the City Hall...

I am delighted to welcome you to the city of New York, and to assure you that in America you will receive a cordial welcome from the loving people of this country...

At 2:30 p. m. the envoys left the Hotel Manhattan with Killian Van Rensselaer, Montagu White, T. St. John Gaffney and Theodor M. Banta to visit the City Hall...

I am delighted to welcome you to the city of New York, and to assure you that in America you will receive a cordial welcome from the loving people of this country...

At 2:30 p. m. the envoys left the Hotel Manhattan with Killian Van Rensselaer, Montagu White, T. St. John Gaffney and Theodor M. Banta to visit the City Hall...

I am delighted to welcome you to the city of New York, and to assure you that in America you will receive a cordial welcome from the loving people of this country...

At 2:30 p. m. the envoys left the Hotel Manhattan with Killian Van Rensselaer, Montagu White, T. St. John Gaffney and Theodor M. Banta to visit the City Hall...

ON US, so that we may have the pleasure of giving you a welcome.

Mr. Fischer, in responding, expressed the pleasure of the envoys over their reception, and added:

We have been told that 90 per cent of the people of America sympathize with us. We want to convert the other 10 per cent by simply telling the truth. We hope that a free people will have appealed to a free people in vain.

Alderman Kennedy read another address of welcome on behalf of the Municipal Assembly. Mr. Wessels, in replying, said:

We ought to be worth some consideration to the United States, because we are one free people appealing to another. We do not ask you to fight for us, but we ask you to say to England, "Stop!" and we think that if America said the word the war would be stopped. We are doing our own fighting, but you can hardly call it a war. It is like a little child trying to defend himself when attacked. We are beaten, America will probably be ashamed in future years if the question should be asked, "What has happened to your little sister?"

Mr. Wolmarans, who spoke in Dutch and had his remarks translated by Mr. Fischer, gave a brief history of the Transvaal trouble from the beginning, and said of the mission of the envoys:

We have tried to have all our disputes arbitrated. This has been refused by Mr. Chamberlain and Sir Alfred Milner. We are gratified at the way America has subscribed for the widows and orphans of the Boers. We want to prevent the making of more widows and orphans by Dumdim bullets or otherwise.

"Before you leave," said Mayor Van Wyck, "I want to express to you my sincere sorrow at the death of General Joubert. I knew him when he visited this country, and he told me all about the previous trouble. I hope you will convey to the widow my deep sorrow. Again, I wish you God-speed. May you be successful in your mission."

After the reception at the City Hall the envoys returned to the Hotel Manhattan, where they spent a quiet evening in their rooms. A few callers were received, among whom were Charles D. Fisher, Consul-General of the Orange Free State in New York, and W. Bourke Cochrane, Mr. Cochrane was with the delegates for some time. He refused to speak about his call further than to say that it was of a private character.

The Congress committee which came from Washington to escort the delegates to that city arrived late last night. None of them was received by the envoys at the Hotel Manhattan. The committee is composed of Senators Mason, of Illinois; Helfferich, of Idaho; Wallington, of Maryland; McPherson, of Nebraska; Taylor, of Colorado, and Representatives Suizer, of New York; De Armond, of Missouri; Clark, of Missouri; Rhea, of Kentucky; and Robinson, of Arkansas.

George W. Van Selen, the Boer sympathizer and treasurer of the relief fund, yesterday received a letter from the Hon. H. Hofmeyr, at Cape Town, acknowledging the receipt of $40 which was collected for the Transvaal Free State wounded, widows and orphans fund.

KENTUCKY REPUBLICANS MEET.

ENTHUSIASM FOR GOVERNOR TAYLOR AT STATE CONVENTION—WANT EX-GOVERNOR NOR BRADLEY FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Louisville, May 17.—The Republican State Convention was called to order to-day by C. M. Barnett, chairman of the State Central Committee. The auditorium was decorated with flags and bunting, while pictures of President McKinley, ex-Governor Bradley and Governor Taylor adorned the stage.

There were loud calls for Taylor, Bradley and other party leaders. The chair appointed a committee to escort the Governor to the platform. His presence caused the greatest enthusiasm. Governor Taylor referred to the condition of affairs in the State, and urged that "the fight for liberty be continued unceasingly until Kentucky should be wrested from the state of disorder and disregard of the people's rights into which the Democratic party had precipitated it."

Ex-Governor Bradley followed in a speech in which he referred freely to State affairs, invoking restoration of civil liberty, which, he said, had been so long disregarded in the State. He denounced in unmeasured terms the assassin who shot down Senator Gabel, and said he hoped the guilty would be punished, but not the innocent.

While the ex-Governor was speaking Governor Taylor sat behind him with his little daughter on his knee, and as Bradley referred pathetically to the criticisms made of Taylor the latter buried his face in his hands and wept.

The unusual spectacle of Democrats addressing a Republican convention was seen when Judge W. H. Yost and Richard W. Knott, editor of "The Evening Post," of Louisville, Illinois, Democrats, were called for and spoke.

At the evening session Senator Debow was chosen permanent chairman. The report of the Committee on Resolutions was made through Chairman Yerkes. Resolutions were adopted by the National Convention and the State Convention. The report of the Committee on Resolutions was made through Chairman Yerkes.

The Independent voters of Kentucky who had sided with the Republicans were thanked. The position of Senator Debow and Congressman Pugh and Borner were endorsed. Recognition was made of the services rendered by ex-Governor Bradley and his legal associates in the contest in the courts.

The resolutions concluded by requesting ex-Governor Bradley to allow the Republicans of Kentucky to present his name at the coming National Convention for Vice-President. They were enthusiastically adopted.

REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING.

An important meeting of the Republican Club will take place at the clubhouse, No. 450 Fifth-ave, on Monday evening. An amendment to the bylaws changing the name of the club from "The Republican Club of the City of New York" to the National Republican Club will be voted upon, as well as an amendment to raise the annual dues. Several propositions for resident and non-resident membership will also be acted upon.

WYOMING DELEGATES TO PHILADELPHIA.

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 17.—At the Republican convention yesterday the following delegates and alternates to the National Convention were elected: Delegates—Senators F. E. Warren and C. D. Clark, Congressman Mondell, Governor Richards, Colonel Jay L. Torrey and George H. Gobel. Alternates—E. W. Bohlen, F. E. Reynolds, J. H. Coffey and C. G. Coffey. A. D. Spang and John McGill. The platform adopted strongly indorses the Administration.

DELEGATES TO NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Olean, N. Y., May 17.—The Republicans of the XXIXth Congressional District met to-day unanimously renominated E. B. Vreeland for Congress. H. C. Phillips, of Jamestown, and M. E. Horner, of Belmont, were chosen as delegates to the Philadelphia Convention. The National Administration was indorsed.

CONGRESSMAN DICK RENOMINATED.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 17.—The Republicans of the XIXth Ohio Congress District renominated Charles Dick, of Akron, for Congress to-day.

FRANKLIN DEMOCRATS MEET.

Malone, N. Y., May 17.—At the Franklin County Democratic Convention held at Malone to-day Charles A. Burke, F. W. Ferrell and John Kelly were elected delegates to the State Convention at New York, and Robert M. Moore, William Ryan and Seaver A. Miller alternates.

TOWNE'S NAME AT KANSAS CITY.

Chicago, May 17.—Former Congressman Charles A. Towne, of Minnesota, Vice-Presidential candidate on the Peoples party ticket, passed through Chicago to-day bound for Toledo, where as chairman of the National Silver Republican Committee, he will confer with silver Republicans relative to sending a delegation from Ohio to the Kansas City convention. Mr. Towne would not discuss the possibility of his being nominated for the Vice-Presidency by the Democratic National Convention. "I will say, however," said Mr. Towne, "that my name will be presented to the convention, as my State will indorse my candidacy."

AFFAIRS OF THE ST. NICHOLAS BANK.

Hugh J. Grant has given notice of his intention to present to the State Supreme Court, at a Special Term, to be held in Part 1, at the County Court House, in this city, on Wednesday, June 6, a full and accurate account of its proceedings as temporary receiver and as permanent receiver of the St. Nicholas Bank of this city.

AT THE PRINTING EXPOSITION.

Miss Mabel Taylor Klor is one of the vaudeville performers who will assist the women of the Fair Section and the members of the Blue Pencil Club at the Typographical Exposition to-morrow night. A special programme has been arranged for Germany last night, on Wednesday night has been set aside as cycling Club night.

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY.

DR. DICKEY MADE MODERATOR—SUDDEN DEATH OF A COMMISSIONER—SERMON BY DR. SAMPLE.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

St. Louis, May 17.—For two hours and more this afternoon 550 Presbyterian ministers and elders balloted for a Moderator of the General Assembly. Philadelphia carried off the prize, but not until the roll had been called twice, when the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Dickey, of that city, pastor of Bethany Church and the executive head of the Presbyterian Hospital, was declared elected, his two competitors in the race being defeated after their names had been placed in nomination and his three or four additional competitors having withdrawn by the advice of their supporters before the nominations were made.

This morning it was known that the president of a theological seminary, the president of a college and the pastor of a leading church were determined to run. This afternoon one of the presidents seconded Dr. Dickey's nomination, while the pastor nominated the Rev. Dr. William McKibbin, of Cincinnati, a close competitor. The third candidate, the Rev. Dr. Daniel Webster Fisher, president of Hanover College, Indiana, was presented for the suffrage of the commissioners in stirring speeches, but he received less than a fourth of the votes cast.

On the first ballot, Dickey, 236; McKibbin, 205; Fisher, 132. On the second ballot, Fisher's name having been withdrawn, Dickey, 330; McKibbin, 224, the majority of Fisher's strength going to Dr. Dickey. The new Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate. A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The vote stood as follows: On the first ballot, Dickey, 236; McKibbin, 205; Fisher, 132. On the second ballot, Fisher's name having been withdrawn, Dickey, 330; McKibbin, 224, the majority of Fisher's strength going to Dr. Dickey.

The new Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

A large vase of red roses was handed to the Moderator by Dr. Snead on behalf of a member of his church.

The Moderator received his office with modesty, declaring that he has never personally cared especially to be the presiding officer of the Assembly, but he added that he felt that if he was to receive that honor there was no city in the world, excepting possibly Philadelphia, where he would be so glad to have it as in St. Louis, where he had enjoyed so much of his early pastorate.

DEATH OF THE ASSEMBLY.

waage earners and correlated subjects perplex minds the most astute and threaten the foundations of civic life.

Upon the shores of the Red Sea we are confronted with these problems. We are consciously insufficient, largely helpless, and sorely perplexed. This solution of these problems, however, exists, also human history will prove a stupendous failure. What is it? Negatively, it is not intellectual culture nor will industrial education meet the necessities of our times. Civil law is inadequate. It may restrain, but cannot regenerate. Psychology may reveal the secret of society, and biology may vie with altruism in its endeavor to cure all sorts of ills, but our hope rests on none of these.

The agency by which this is to be accomplished is the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. The reasons are obvious. The Gospel deals with the springs of all action. The Gospel addresses itself to the individual soul. Human experience declares the same. The world's religions have looked the same. Without a word he fell to the heart and did not recover consciousness. His body was sent back to his home, accompanied by a brother Commissioner, who had parted from him only a few minutes before the death summons came.

Tender reference was made to this great fact of sin, its eternal consequences, and salvation by the Cross alone. New methods may be adopted, but the everlasting Gospel must be the theme. Gymnasts, libraries, concerts, and entertainments may have their place in the outer courts of the church, but are not essential to its success. That minister imparts his usefulness who seeks to draw attendance by making the organ left the minister's primary duty. He who seeks to draw attention on drawing a crowd than on saving souls, moving rapidly toward the shore line of the material generation, following giving a piece of lifted Cross, a revival of faith, unswerving devotion to the doctrines of grace, the moral courage of martyrdom, and the witness of a world.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.

God also bids us advance in personal holiness. In our evolution in the world, its pleasures and pleasures, enticed by the possibilities of wealth and the attractions of place and power, occupied with the more material things of this world, we have not taken time to be holy. We need to deal honestly with ourselves, our consciences and God. We must be true to our Master, and we must be true to our Master's will. We must be true to our Master's will.