TRAINING HOMEMAKERS.

BOSTON SCHOOL OF HOUSEKEEPING EXTENDS ITS DEPARTMENTS—HOW TO DECREASE THE NUMBER OF UNSKILLED WORKERS.

The School of Housekeeping, in Boston, begins its fourth year of work to-day. The school was established by the Women's Educational and Industrial Union.

As the first step toward a course for social servants, there has been added a series of practice lessons in managing a family on limited income; in teaching the principles of applied sanitation to clubs of children and the sanitary inspection of tenements.

In the classes for servants instruction is given in general housework for three months, while the two remaining months of the course are devoted to the class of work chosen by the learner. It is required of pupils that they shall be physically well, young enough to be teachable and ambitious to learn.

TOPICS IN CHICAGO.

FRAUDS IN THE CIVIL SERVICE—FEW WOMEN CARE TO VOTE—A NEW THEATRE TO OPEN TO-NIGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 14 (Special).—Civil service is a farce in Chicago, if the charges that are now being investigated by the Merit Board have any foundation in fact.

Unless the local Gas Trust has a card up its sleeve thus far unsuspected by the private and corporate interests that have been waging war on it for some time, that hitherto formidable corporation is apparently doomed to speedy re-organization.

Dr. Oscar L. Triggs, professor of literature at the University of Chicago, thinks that Shakespeare, Homer and Dante, if not actually intellectual pygmies as compared with John D. Rockefeller and George M. Pullman, were at least no less useful members of society.

Chicago women will have their biennial opportunity to vote on November 6, but, judging from the registration books, few more will avail themselves of the opportunity this year than heretofore.

According to the attending physicians, nothing but a remarkable determination to live until he married, in the month of his convalescence, broke his neck by falling from a scaffold at the Illinois steel works.

At least one male student at the University of Chicago is not in favor of coeducation. He is not in favor of it for a brief interval last week.

To-morrow evening the new Illinois Theatre is to open its doors to the public. Miss Julia Marlowe, in "Barbara Frietche," will be the first star to make her appearance behind its foot-lights.

TEN YEARS IN ITS CHURCH HOME.

THE ST. JAMES LUTHERAN PARISH OBSERVES AN ANNIVERSARY.

An interesting service took place yesterday morning in St. James' Lutheran Church, Madison-ave, and Seventy-third-st. It was the commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the consecration of the present church.

The speaker recounted the planting of the Lutheran church in this city from its beginning in 1811, when the first house of worship, a log building, was erected at Broadway and Rector-st., just opposite old Trinity.

THE REV. DR. J. B. REMENSNYDER, Pastor of the St. James Lutheran Church, which celebrated its tenth anniversary yesterday.

selected and the present church was erected. The architect was William A. Potter, brother of Bishop Potter. A splendid memorial window, "Christ in Glory," which adorns the Madison-ave front, was given by the descendants of Dr. Henry S. Muhlenberg, the founder of the Lutheran Church in America.

BIG OFFERINGS FOR MISSIONS. THE REV. A. B. SIMPSON RAISES $50,000 IN PLEDGES AFTER PREACHING HIS ANNUAL SERMON.

The Rev. Albert B. Simpson, president of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, yesterday preached his annual missionary sermon at the Gospel Tabernacle, 34 Eighth-ave, near Forty-fourth-st., and as a result more than $50,000 in cash, pledges and property was realized for the support of the missions and mission work of the alliance for the coming year.

The sermon and the enthusiastic offering for the mission work was the closing chapter of the seventeenth annual convention of the alliance, which has been in session at the Tabernacle since October 9. The convention will adjourn after a short session this morning.

The sermon was short, but as the Rev. Dr. Simpson reached its conclusion the effect upon the congregation had long been apparent. All over the big room, packed from the rostrum to the doors on the main floor, and equally packed in the gallery, there came fervid responses to the appeals made by the speaker.

"I want to ask every one here who is willing to devote his life to the work of spreading the Gospel in heathen lands to rise," he said.

WANT BETTER AGRICULTURAL MACHINES. Washington, Oct. 14.—A letter received at the United States Department of Agriculture from Penrhin College, New South Wales, Australia, calls attention to the need of improved types of agricultural machines in that colony.

That naive trust in human honesty that one sees here is distinctly American, said an Englishman, pointing to a letter box. "I would like to see a Continental business man lay packages and large envelopes on the top of the post boxes. They would be taken before the glue of the stamps was dry. There is another reason why we can't do this at home. Our dear old London fog would fly out the address in short order, and unless the collector were frequent the paper would be reduced to a pulp. A dry climate makes you Americans talk with a dreadful nasal accent, but it shows up your honesty."

CLEVER YOUNG WOMEN are utilizing gold thread "sergers" by outlining the designs with black lace and sewing gold spangles in the center of all the covers. If edge lace, it is useful for bows and neckties, and makes the most of the finest wire. If piece lace, it is just the thing for crowns of hats or theatre bonnets.

There are indications that flowers are to be worn this winter in millinery. A hat of gold brown velvet is trimmed with large dahlias of shaded velvet in burnt orange, crimson and maroon tones. Velvet autumn leaves in burnt gold and wood brown tints are mingled with the dahlias.

A novelty is a velvet soft double brim hat, with colored silk underlign. All the trimming required is a coat of velvet, a feather or two and a buckle. It really seems that year by year, "things are made easier" for the amateur milliner.

A pretty "ready to wear" hat is of new mushroom velvet, in a shepherd's shape. The crown and brim are draped with shirred velvet, and the sides are of shirred flannel satin. Two large choux of gold size are held on the bandeau at the left by a cut steel buckle.
