

AMUSEMENTS.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Uncle Tom's Cabin.
MADISON SQUARE THEATRE.—The Price of Peace.
CRITERION THEATRE.—The Knight of the White Horse.

Table with 3 columns: Page, Col., Page. Lists various advertisements and their locations.

Business Notices.

IVERS & FOND POND. Try them at Joscelyn's, 10 East 16th St., N. Y.

New-York Daily Tribune.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1901. THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

FOREIGN.—A Paris newspaper asserts that Russia will advance China money to pay the indemnities, taking Manchuria as her guarantee.

DOMESTIC.—The Cuban commissioners were in their honor was given at the White House in the evening; the conduct of negotiations with the delegates was entrusted to Secretary Root.

CITY.—Stocks were strong and active. Frank Moss and Justice Jerome led a successful raid on a "club" at No. 52 Broad-st., and five fire-escapers, a quantity of gambling paraphernalia and about $20 in money.

IN THE GOVERNOR'S HANDS. The thirty days following the adjournment of the legislature give Governor Odell an opportunity for calm and critical examination of measures passed through the houses in haste and excitement.

PEACE IN COLOMBIA. News of the ending of a revolt may not be so sensational as news of the beginning of one. In most cases it should be regarded with far more pleasure.

ET TU, SIXTO! Truly, liberty is betrayed in the house of its friends! The disheartening announcement is made—from Springfield, Mass., too, of all places!

dictator, but by a patriotic desire to bring about the financial and legislative reforms which the country so urgently needs. Assured of the latter, he has lowered his standard and has hidden his followers to cease their fighting against the government.

A large, probably the chief, share of credit for this happy restoration of peace is to be given to Dr. Carlos M. Silva, the Colombian Minister for Foreign Affairs, and Don Tomas Herran, the secretary of the Colombian Legation at Washington, who have personally conducted in this country the necessary negotiations with the insurgent leader.

THE CUBAN VISITORS.

The Cuban Commissioners who are now visiting the capital are reported to be somewhat surprised at the manner of their reception, and to be puzzled over its meaning. In this there is reason, though there is also lack of reason.

Another cause of surprise on their part is more explicable. They are surprised to find not only the government but the nation practically a unit in its attitude toward them and toward the questions which they have come hither to discuss.

We doubt not that still another surprise is in store for them, if it is not already dawning upon them. That is, that the purposes of the United States toward them and their island are not the selfish and wicked schemes which a few irresponsible libelers here have represented them, and which some ill informed men in Cuba have imagined them to be, but that they are instead with a generosity and a benevolence unsurpassed in the history of such transactions.

There are so many enterprises on foot for new hotels, apartment houses and other buildings that the average real estate investor, engineer, speculator or architect has little time for sleep and still less for thought. And the walking delegates in the building trades are really walking at last, instead of lounging on convenient curbs and corners.

By the insertion of an extra cipher L. R. Stillwell, a considerable error in the date as it were, was made in the Tribune's Pan-American Supplement of last Sunday that the 12,000 horse power transmitted electrically from Niagara to Buffalo was equivalent to the labor of 60,000 men.

By the insertion of an extra cipher L. R. Stillwell, a considerable error in the date as it were, was made in the Tribune's Pan-American Supplement of last Sunday that the 12,000 horse power transmitted electrically from Niagara to Buffalo was equivalent to the labor of 60,000 men.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

Texas is shooting oil wells to entertain visiting New-Yorkers. There was a time when Texans of a certain class were fond of entertaining themselves by shooting visitors whose feet were tender. But the old days of gleeful pastimes with six-shooters have passed away forever.

PERSONAL.

Soon after the death of F. W. H. Myers, president of the Society for Psychological Research, a petition was sent to Lord Rayleigh asking him to assume the vacant chair. Among the signers of this request were A. J. Balfour, Sir William Crookes and Oliver Lodge.

M. Flammarion, the French astronomer, believes that the study of astronomy is conducive to longevity, since it calms the human passions. He points out that the French Astronomical Society, composed of about twenty-five hundred members, possesses one member who is 105 years of age, and another over ninety and a very large percentage of octogenarians.

M. Labori, the defender of Dreyfus, is to be entertained at dinner by the members of the Hardwick Society, of London, on June 5. The forensic champion of Dreyfus has a double title to honor from the denizens of the Temple, as his devoted wife is an English woman.

As announced in this column last week, the patronesses of the Friday evening subscription dances, of which Mrs. Benjamin S. Church, Mrs. Edward Curtis, Mrs. Christopher Wolfe, Mrs. H. Fairfield Osborn, Mrs. Frances Dana Winslow, Mrs. Frederic Goodridge, Mrs. George Schieffelin and others have the management, have changed the dates of two of the six dances at Sherry's.

As announced in this column last week, the patronesses of the Friday evening subscription dances, of which Mrs. Benjamin S. Church, Mrs. Edward Curtis, Mrs. Christopher Wolfe, Mrs. H. Fairfield Osborn, Mrs. Frances Dana Winslow, Mrs. Frederic Goodridge, Mrs. George Schieffelin and others have the management, have changed the dates of two of the six dances at Sherry's.

As announced in this column last week, the patronesses of the Friday evening subscription dances, of which Mrs. Benjamin S. Church, Mrs. Edward Curtis, Mrs. Christopher Wolfe, Mrs. H. Fairfield Osborn, Mrs. Frances Dana Winslow, Mrs. Frederic Goodridge, Mrs. George Schieffelin and others have the management, have changed the dates of two of the six dances at Sherry's.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

Texas is shooting oil wells to entertain visiting New-Yorkers. There was a time when Texans of a certain class were fond of entertaining themselves by shooting visitors whose feet were tender. But the old days of gleeful pastimes with six-shooters have passed away forever.

ABOUT SOCIETY.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

Miss Nathalie Moss's wedding to Johnston Livingston Jr., yesterday afternoon, brought together a large gathering of the fashionable set in Calvary Church in spite of the rain, and the expectations the tunnel excavations were not bridged over for the occasion, but the awning was extended from the main door of the church in Fourth-ave. to Twenty-first-st., where the carriages set down their guests.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

THE DRAMA.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

At the Harlem Opera House last night Mr. Jefferson impersonated Acres, in "The Rivals." This is an old story—but so is surprise, which, intrinsically, is always beautiful, and to happy hearts, always delightful. Familiar though it is, Mr. Jefferson has been acting Acres almost continuously since his memorable revival of "The Rivals," made at Philadelphia in the autumn of 1880, this performance still imparts pleasure and still is welcome.

THE PEOPLE'S CHORAL UNION.

The annual concert of the People's Choral Union, took place in Carnegie Hall last night. So far as the staging of the monster choir is concerned, it cannot be said to have differed on this occasion from any of its predecessors. Development along the lines of the choir is made, too, and as often in the nature of things to be shut out from this organization, whose mission is elemental. But the programme of last night's concert was interesting, the zeal and skill disclosed by the singers most commendable, and if the conditions had been more favorable it would doubtless have been possible to chronicle a most striking success.

The annual concert of the People's Choral Union, took place in Carnegie Hall last night. So far as the staging of the monster choir is concerned, it cannot be said to have differed on this occasion from any of its predecessors. Development along the lines of the choir is made, too, and as often in the nature of things to be shut out from this organization, whose mission is elemental. But the programme of last night's concert was interesting, the zeal and skill disclosed by the singers most commendable, and if the conditions had been more favorable it would doubtless have been possible to chronicle a most striking success.

The annual concert of the People's Choral Union, took place in Carnegie Hall last night. So far as the staging of the monster choir is concerned, it cannot be said to have differed on this occasion from any of its predecessors. Development along the lines of the choir is made, too, and as often in the nature of things to be shut out from this organization, whose mission is elemental. But the programme of last night's concert was interesting, the zeal and skill disclosed by the singers most commendable, and if the conditions had been more favorable it would doubtless have been possible to chronicle a most striking success.

The annual concert of the People's Choral Union, took place in Carnegie Hall last night. So far as the staging of the monster choir is concerned, it cannot be said to have differed on this occasion from any of its predecessors. Development along the lines of the choir is made, too, and as often in the nature of things to be shut out from this organization, whose mission is elemental. But the programme of last night's concert was interesting, the zeal and skill disclosed by the singers most commendable, and if the conditions had been more favorable it would doubtless have been possible to chronicle a most striking success.

The annual concert of the People's Choral Union, took place in Carnegie Hall last night. So far as the staging of the monster choir is concerned, it cannot be said to have differed on this occasion from any of its predecessors. Development along the lines of the choir is made, too, and as often in the nature of things to be shut out from this organization, whose mission is elemental. But the programme of last night's concert was interesting, the zeal and skill disclosed by the singers most commendable, and if the conditions had been more favorable it would doubtless have been possible to chronicle a most striking success.

The annual concert of the People's Choral Union, took place in Carnegie Hall last night. So far as the staging of the monster choir is concerned, it cannot be said to have differed on this occasion from any of its predecessors. Development along the lines of the choir is made, too, and as often in the nature of things to be shut out from this organization, whose mission is elemental. But the programme of last night's concert was interesting, the zeal and skill disclosed by the singers most commendable, and if the conditions had been more favorable it would doubtless have been possible to chronicle a most striking success.