

ATHLETICS IN THE RAIN.

HARVARD WINS THE INTERCOLLEGIATE CHAMPIONSHIP, YALE SECOND AND PRINCETON THIRD—YALE CAPTURES THREE FIRSTS AND HARVARD ONE.

In a nasty drizzle, the rain being of the sort that penetrates mackintoshes, umbrellas and goloshes, the intercollegiate championships were decided at Berkeley Oval yesterday afternoon. In the bright sunshine of midsummer there are no more picturesque places for athletic purposes than this same Berkeley oval, at Morris Heights. With the weather conditions as they were yesterday, there are few less inviting places, unless the boys of New Jersey and the lowlands about Jamaica Bay be excepted. The attendance was light, of course, yet a number of pretty girls braved the weather to show their loyalty to their favorite universities. In professional sports the games would have been postponed.

on account of the "gate" and the atmospheric discomforts. The college men, however, are made of sterner stuff, and, besides, their time for sports is limited.

Harvard had so many men to qualify in the preliminary on Friday that it looked as if the Crimson would win, and they did. Harvard scored 41 points to 29% for Yale, in second place, 16-14 points for Princeton, in third place, and 15 points for Cornell, in fourth place. Then came Georgetown, with 10; Michigan, with 8-2; Pennsylvania, with 6; Columbia, with 4; New York University, with 3; Bowdoin, with 4, and Syracuse, with half a point. The 94 Ell men from New-Haven captured three of the contests, both of the hurdles and the shot, but Harvard had the better all-round team, and, while the Crimson captured only one first place, she made up for it in her numerous seconds and thirds, seventeen of her athletes managing to win. Princeton won two firsts, the half-mile and 10 hammer. Cornell got two in the two-mile and 20 hammer. Columbia captured the broad jump, while Georgetown ran away with the 100 and 200 yards sprints. New-York University captured the high jump.

The infield was many inches deep in water and the cinder track was not in much better condition. Some of the athletes were severely handicapped by the conditions, and, while no records were broken, the time made was good, considering the track. It was impossible, of course, to think of bicycle races in such weather, and this part of the programme was postponed until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. It would have been impossible for the riders to have kept their machines on the sharp and slippery banked surface.

The trip from the station to the track was not unlike a cross-country run in the early spring. Women and girls in light, low shoes tramped up the muddy hill and through barbed wire fences, and some of them seemed to enjoy the experience. As was generally expected, the 100-yard dash went to that sturdy little sprinter and international champion, A. F. Duffy, of Georgetown. Duffy was off like a frightened deer at the crack of the pistol, and he held his rival safe all the way, winning by a yard in 16-1/2 seconds, 2-5 second slower than he had won his preliminary on Friday. Georgetown scored again in the quarter-mile run, William Holland leading most of the way and winning by five yards, with something in reserve. In the two-mile run B. A. Gallagher took the lead after going half a mile, and held the advantage to the end, winning a pretty struggle by twenty yards. Mills was second and Williams third.

The struggles in the hurdles were interesting throughout. E. J. Clapp, of Yale, won them both in clever style. J. H. Converse, of Harvard, finishing second in each. Fourteen well-trained athletes started in the mile run. Earle, of Pennsylvania, started out to make the running, but at the half the leaders were bunched. Then Bushnell essayed to slip away from his rivals, but failed. By H. B. Clark, of Harvard, finishing strong, won by ten yards, with W. B. Watson, of Yale, finishing second place, and Bushnell, of Princeton, expected and disappointed. Perry came away from his lead in the stretch and won by a yard after apparently being beaten badly at the head of the stretch. Cornell showed a fast sprinter in the quarter-mile run, Edouard, finishing second in an exciting finish with Duffee and Clouman.

In the held contents Yale captured the shot with a throw of 140 feet 4 1/2 inches, which he made one. Perry captured the hammer with a throw of 142 feet 10 1/2 inches. Columbia made her only score with C. T. Kennedy, who ran so well in the mile and 200 yards sprints. The Cornell team was expected to win the one-mile run, but the conditions of the track seemed to tangle him up badly, for he died away to nothing in the stretch. James E. Sullivan was the referee. It was Harvard's first victory since 1893.

On a hundred-yard run (semi-final)—First heat won by F. M. Sears, Cornell; C. Duffee, Yale, second; J. Duffy, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, third. Second heat won by F. M. Sears, Cornell; C. Duffee, Yale, second; J. Duffy, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, third. Final heat won by F. M. Sears, Cornell; C. Duffee, Yale, second; J. Duffy, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, third. Time—0:16 1/2. Won by a yard; two yards between second and third.

On a two-mile run (semi-final)—First heat won by B. A. Gallagher, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, second; J. Duffy, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, third. Second heat won by B. A. Gallagher, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, second; J. Duffy, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, third. Final heat won by B. A. Gallagher, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, second; J. Duffy, Georgetown; W. B. Watson, Yale, third. Time—12:30. Won by a yard; two yards between second and third.

COLUMBIA DEFEATS DAUNTLESS.

The college crew outrows the former champions on the Harlem. The value of a professional oarsman as a coach for college crews was again proved yesterday when Columbia's first varsity crew, trained by Edward Hamlin, romped away from the eight of the Dauntless and former national champions. The time of 2:29 1/2 establishes a record for the course. The best previous record was that made by the Vesper Club, of Philadelphia, the crew that rowed in the international races at Paris last year. Their time was 3:01. Columbia had a greater advantage in the time yesterday than did the Vespers.

THE COLLEGE CREW OUTROWS THE FORMER CHAMPIONS ON THE HARLEM.

Dauntless won the toss and chose the Manhattan shore. Columbia, on the Westchester side, was favored by the rough water. At the start Columbia's oars hit the water first, and the start paper sprang to the front under the impetus of eight sturdy pairs of arms and legs. In the first dozen strokes Columbia was a dozen feet to the good. Bradley was setting a fair stroke at 40, which on every recover sent the boat leaping ahead. The Dauntless crew, however, kept together in ragged time. At the three-quarter-mile mark Columbia was ahead by a length and a half. The stroke had been let down to 36, but the boat was still gaining. The Dauntless eight was rowing in poor shape, splashing badly and making the boat wobble. They made one final effort to catch up, but Columbia quickly increased her lead to 40, and in the half-mile crossing the line ahead by six lengths of open water. They were all gas as it and fresh when they finished, as when Edward Hamlin, the coach, was delighted at the outcome. Ellis Ward, the Pennsylvania coach, congratulated his former rival on the crew's work.

POLO.

THE BRYN MAWR TEAM WINS FROM THE LAKEWOOD FREEBOOTERS IN THE RAIN.

Under conditions which would have deterred less ardent sportsmen, the field satiated by a heavy downpour of rain, and a cold, unpleasant atmosphere penetrating to the marrow, the Lakewood Freebooters and the Bryn Mawr first played a game of polo yesterday. The contest was to which club should have the honor of placing the Westchester cups on its sideboard for the current year. Messrs. Cowdin, Shaw, Kennedy and Finsch represented the former, and aggregated a penalty of 27 goals. Messrs. Converse, Kendrick, George McFadden and Wheeler were the new club colors and lined up under a handicap of 20 goals, therefore were allowed seven by courtesy. Playing Converse instead of Snowden, as at Lakewood for the Georgian Court cups, the Pennsylvania contingent had one goal more in hand, but have

NEW-ROCHELLE'S FIRST REGATTA.

Nothing but the power of enthusiasm that had been bottled for a whole winter could have sent yachtsmen to racing in yesterday's rain. The wind that was coming out of the northeast had rheumatic gimlets in it that bored into the nervous system, and the water that came with the breeze seemed wetter than usual. But Charles P. Tower, W. E. Moore, O. H. Chelberg and others of the regatta committee of the New-Rochelle Yacht Club stood to their work and sent off and aimed the yachts at the finish with a grim composure which nothing but a sense of duty and hot coffee could produce. CONSTITUTION IN COMMISSION.

Bristol, R. I., May 25.—The Cup yacht Constitution was formally placed in commission at the Herreshoff yard here at 12:45 to-day, when before Vice-Commodore Belmont of the New-York Yacht Club and a number of other yachtsmen, the private signal of W. Butler Duncan was raised to the main topmast truck. Mr. Duncan arrived from Fall River this forenoon and Mrs. J. V. R. Kennedy came up from Newport. The crew of the Constitution, under the guidance of Captain "Nate" Herreshoff, and at 1 o'clock all went to the office of the company, where the articles of transfer were signed. Belmont and Duncan returned to the wharf, boarded the Constitution and after a brief interview with the American yacht ensign, Belmont and Duncan returned to Newport, but instead was towed by the tug "Hesperus" to the Herreshoff yard, where an extra mahogany is being cut in the sail loft. THE WEEK IN REALTY.

The chief transfers of property were below City Hall. Among them were the purchase of the low building adjoining its big office structure, No. 70 Broadway, from Mr. Crocker, who had just won a suit against the insurance company obtained a release from the execution of the judgment of the court, and room for a sixteen-story addition to its own building. The purchase of the property at the corner of Nassau and Liberty sts., through Richard M. Montgomery to an unnamed buyer, has attracted much attention. It is reported that the Mutual Life Insurance Company's building, is affording a nut for the real estate men to crack. In buying the Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company and William C.
