

COLONIZING IN BRAZIL.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF EMIGRATION FROM GERMANY AND ITALY.

SOUTH AMERICAN SUPPORTERS OF MONROE DOCTRINE DISTURBED BY REPORTS OF A BIG GERMAN SYN-DICATE'S FORMATION.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Washington, June 15.—The persistence with which Germany encourages emigration to Brazil, in the face of repeated failures in the past to achieve any substantial success after experiments which have extended over a period of more than fifty years, is apparently about to be manifested in a striking manner. South Americans in Washington, who for the most part are resolute supporters of Pan-Americanism, and disposed to regard the Monroe Doctrine as inviolable, have been much disturbed over the publication in the last day or two of a cable dispatch from Rio announcing the formation there of a German syndicate, capitalized at $5,000,000 marks, with the object of colonizing the States of Rio Grande, San Paulo, Santa Catarina, Parana, Minas Geraes and Goyaz. It furthermore declares that the Brazilian Government has guaranteed 5 per cent on the capital invested in the enterprise.

THE BLUMENAU SETTLEMENT.

Consul-General Seeger declares that one of the best foreign settlements in Brazil is the Blumenau, in the State of Santa Catarina, and he adds this important statement: In spite of liberal inducements, this colony received only ten thousand immigrants during the last fifty years. Under the monarchy, strong efforts were made to attract immigrants, but to obtain colonists from Europe, especially from Germany. It cannot be said that these efforts were conspicuously successful. The German Government prohibited emigration to Brazil until 1856, when the prohibition was removed.

Blumenau, to which Consul-General Seeger refers, is barely self-supporting. Its commerce being altogether insignificant compared with those of Rio de Janeiro and Pernambuco. The population consists chiefly of Germans, and the foreign goods used are mainly such as are obtained in Germany. The consumption of products of home manufacture, especially of the rougher class of cotton goods, is very important, and they compete successfully with the foreign article. The exports from the district in 1900 amounted to 1,638,653 mirlins, which is nearly $375,000, the mirlins being valued at $48 cents.

GENERAL MOLINEUX INJURED.

SPRAINS HIS ANKLE IN BUFFALO—COUNSEL READY FOR ARGUMENT TO-DAY.

Buffalo, June 16.—General Molineux, father of Roland B. Molineux, sprained his ankle while alighting from a train here to-night. He was unable to walk after the accident, and was carried to a cab and driven to the home of John G. Milburn, who will argue the case for his son when it comes before the Court of Appeals to-morrow. All the attorneys in the celebrated case are in the city. David B. Hill will represent the District Attorney's office. Mr. Milburn has been retained by Molineux to make the appeal to save him from the death chair. Bartow S. Weeks, the defendant's original attorney, will act as counsel throughout the argument. Mr. Weeks says he is positive Molineux is innocent, and with Mr. Milburn believes a new trial will be granted.

Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY IN BOSTON.

WORK FOR THE RELIGIOUS LIFE OF YOUNG MEN IN MANY PULPITS.

Boston, June 16.—The work on behalf of the religious life of the young men of the world over was told in words of earnestness, force and eloquence from many more than a hundred pulpits in Boston to-day, for this was the great occasion and the practical close of the international jubilee convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, which had been in session for nearly a week. Delegates to the convention—laymen and ministers of reputation known far beyond the borders of the Union, stood beside the pastors of Protestant churches and pleaded for a wider sympathy and greater financial devotion to the young men's cause. Not in Boston alone were delegates assigned to pulpits, morning and evening, but to churches in neighboring cities and towns, so that throughout Eastern Massachusetts to-day the Gospel of the day was a message to young people.

IN THE AFTERNOON IN BOSTON MEETINGS OF SPECIAL IMPORTANCE.

Meeting, with over ten thousand present, at Mechanics Hall, led by Frederick B. Smith, of Chicago, a large meeting at Associated Hall in Boston-st., a woman's meeting in the new Old South Church, in Copley Square, and a Scandinavian meeting at the People's Temple. There were the great gatherings, and in nearby churches were held the overflow meetings, for such an outpouring of interested people has not been known for many years in a Sunday. At the same time Commander Booth Tucker spoke to an audience at the Boston Army barracks which was only limited by the accommodations of the place. Earlier in the day Mrs. Maud B. Booth, wife of the late General Booth, spoke at the services at the State House.

AMERICAN TINPLATE ABROAD.

MANUFACTURERS GAINING RAPIDLY IN THE FOREIGN MARKETS.

Washington, June 16 (Special).—American manufacturers of tinplate are making rapid gains in their attempt to enter the foreign markets of the world. To be sure, their exports are yet small, as compared with the domestic demand, which they are meeting, but they are again reducing the imports, which temporarily increased in 1900 under the excessive demand and extremely high price of materials, and are at the same time increasing their exports in a manner which proves interesting to those who have watched the development of this comparatively new industry in the United States.

The figures of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics show that the exports of tinplate from the United States, which in the ten months ended with April, 1900, amounted to only 18,555 pounds, and in the ten months ended with April, 1901, 1,306,100 pounds. In imports of tinplate the figures for the ten months show a material decrease, as compared with the quantity imported during the same period of the preceding fiscal year, being 96,697,722 pounds, as compared with 12,598,773 pounds for the ten months' period of last year.

AUSTRIAN DISCRIMINATION.

GOVERNMENT ENDEAVORS TO PREVENT THE PURCHASE OF FOREIGN GOODS.

Washington, June 16 (Special).—Consul Schumann, reporting from Malax to the State Department on the methods employed by Austria to protect home industries, quotes a trade journal which declares that the government threatened to withdraw the subsidy granted to a hat factory at Temesvar because the latter had ordered an electric lighting plant from a German firm, and was only prevented from carrying out its threat by being convinced that there was no firm in Austria which could have carried out the contract as required.

Mr. Emory has adopted the plan of making public the valuable information to be contained in the volume in short chapters which are given in the press at intervals.

7TH'S SUNDAY IN CAMP.

MANY VISITORS TO SEE MEMBERS OF THE POPULAR COMMAND AT PEEKSKILL.

Peekskill State Camp, N. Y., June 16 (Special).—Not since the 7th Regiment was here two years ago have so many visitors been in camp on any day as were here to-day. The pleasant weather undoubtedly brought out some, but the majority were those who are friends in the regiment. In point of strength these outnumbered members of the 7th, and the latter were soon surrounded and carried off. But the visitors were in turn captured at evening parade, when they were completely carried away by the alignment and marching of the regiment. But with so many here there was no mistaking the fact that it was Sunday. The peace of a quiet Sabbath filled the air, while there was a complete absence of games on the parade ground, which usually are features of Sunday afternoon.

The guard mount of the early morning was as fine as the evening parade, and the guard formed in the summer uniform of white duck trousers and gray blouses. The day was so pleasant that the church services of the morning were held under the trees on the bluff behind General Roe's tent. The attendance was unusually large, and not a few civilians were present. Private William E. McCord, of Company F, in the absence of any regimental chaplain, conducted the services, which were in accordance with the Episcopal ritual, and the music was by the regimental glee club and the band. Mr. McCord's theme was "Christian Fellowship." Mr. McCord, who is a private in the regiment, was recently appointed assistant minister at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, Cincinnati. He also conducted a song service in the Young Men's Christian Association tent this evening.

For the private soldier there was little to do throughout the afternoon but take care of friends, but for the officers, chaplains and non-commissioned, there were schools of instruction in many branches of military science. The commissary and quartermaster sergeants were also busy in drawing supplies for their respective departments, and altogether it was a busy Sunday. The regiment will go on its march out to-morrow and will get away as early as possible. Guard mount will be at 6 o'clock, instead of 8:30, and as soon as breakfast is over the line will be formed. Just where the West Point cadets may meet them on the road is not known, but they will be in camp at Mohegan with the 7th to-morrow night.

In the absence of the 7th, the 2d Battery, under Major David Wilson, will care for the State property here, just as the 1st Battery did last week when the 8th was on its practice march. Similar exercises and instruction will hold their attention, and on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons they will practice over the artillery range. Preparations were made for this practice this afternoon, when nineteen candidates came up before Colonel N. E. Thurston, chief of the Cavalry Artillery, National Guard; Captain William H. Palmer, 7th Regiment; Captain L. F. Sherry, 1st Battery, 1st Cavalry; and Major J. W. H. Smith, 1st Battery, the examining board, for qualification as gunners. The sighting of the pieces was excellent, and the firing was very accurate. That was good, and it is thought all have qualified. In the week just past Colonel Thurston has also qualified the State officers in pistol practice. Those who have shot and their scores are as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Name, 50 Yds, 75 Yds, Total. Major Roe: 17, 20, 37. General Greer: 18, 15, 33. Lieutenant-Colonel Hally: 15, 15, 30. Lieutenant-Colonel Holly: 16, 17, 33. Colonel Henry: 16, 18, 34. Colonel C. F. ... 16, 18, 34.

Among the more prominent visitors at camp to-day were ex-Captain Harry C. Du Val, ex-Sergeant Appleton, brother of Colonel Appleton; First Lieutenant W. J. Bryant, 1st New-Jersey Cavalry; Essex Troop, an ex-member of Company H, 7th Regiment; and John Oddie, secretary of the New-York Yacht Club. The officer of the day for to-morrow is Captain James E. Schuyler; officers of the guard, First Lieutenant W. E. Crall and Second Lieutenant Nichols Enghel. Captain William H. Palmer has been appointed provost marshal for to-morrow's march out.
