

PAUNCEFOTE, PEACEMAKER

AMBASSADOR LIKELY TO SETTLE EXISTING DISPUTES.

CHANCES FAVOR AGREEMENT ON CANAL QUESTION—AMERICAN COMMISSION'S WORK.

(Copyright, 1901, by The New-York Tribune.)

London, July 23. A. M.—Lord Pauncefoot's quasi denial of the Associated Press interview may be understood in a Pickwickian sense. He repudiates what was clearly un diplomatic, and retains what was safe and useful as a method of influencing American and British opinion. The sum of the whole matter is that Lord Pauncefoot has been doing what he could to remove possible causes of future conflict and controversy between two great nations speaking the same language and having common instincts and interests.

It is a matter of no importance whether he has been diplomatic or undiplomatic in his methods. The main point is that he stands for the same benevolent purposes and policies with which he was identified at the Hague Congress. He is a true Anglo-American, who believes that the canal question and every other issue likely to separate America and England in the future can be adjusted with the requisite degree of tolerance, patience and good will. Friends of peace on each side of the Atlantic will wish him goodspeed and do nothing to obstruct his work.

The situation remains as it has been described frequently in these dispatches. Lord Pauncefoot has brought Lord Salisbury, Lord Lansdowne and the members of the Cabinet into touch with American opinion on the subject of the canal, and if they have not understood before the trend of that opinion respecting the control of the interoceanic canal in the supreme emergency of war they now know what it is. The chances now favor a settlement of the canal question on lines which will be satisfactory to the Senate as well as to the State Department, and Lord Pauncefoot is doing his work so well that the newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic can safely talk about the weather.

The American commission which has been seeking inspiration abroad for various practical schemes of beautifying Washington has returned from Oxford, and will continue its investigations of some of the most beautiful English gardens and parks. Messrs. Burnham, McKim, Olmstead and other members of the commission will go to West Park to-day under the guidance of Henry White. This is Earl Cowper's country seat in Bedfordshire, where there are double avenues of elms and Spanish chestnuts of great beauty approaching the house and crossing the park to the different lodges. There are also fine avenues of lime trees and hedges of clipped yew, and extensive gardens and pleasure grounds. The commission will be driven through the beautiful park and entertained on the grounds, and on the following day, by the invitation of Lord Salisbury, it will visit Hatfield, Mr. White having made arrangements on Monday for its reception during his visit there. The commission will sail for America on the Deutschland on Friday, after an extended journey undertaken in Europe in the interest of landscape art in the District of Columbia.

Mr. Balfour stated last night that there would be no supplementary estimates, and from this it is inferred that the government does not intend to ask Parliament to make any further provision for the war. The military authorities, it is understood, are satisfied that the war is nearing its end and that the sum already voted by Parliament will be sufficient to meet the military expenditure.

Queen Victoria displayed the keenest interest in the scheme instituted by Mrs. George Cornwallis West, then Lady Randolph Churchill, for placing a completely equipped hospital ship, the Maine, at the disposal of this country to be used for the benefit of troops engaged in the South African campaign. This fact lent additional interest to the interesting ceremony at Marlborough House yesterday, and the King, in accepting in commemoration of the work of the Maine a gold medal which had originally been intended for his mother, was visibly affected.

It is rumored here that after the Cup races Sir Thomas Lipton will sever his connection with the yachting world and will probably take to the turf for a change.

Among the American visitors arriving from the Continent yesterday was Stanford Newell, the efficient United States Minister at the Hague, who is spending a few days in London.

Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, was a prominent figure at the reception at Cardinal Vaughan's residence, Ashley Gardens, this afternoon.

The British congress for the prevention of consumption was opened yesterday by the Duke of Cambridge at St. James's Hall. The duke, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Earl Cadogan, Lord Strathcona and the Lord Mayor were with another in welcoming the delegates and in congratulating their entire ignorance of the general subject of tuberculosis, and were followed by an eminent representative of British medical science, Lord Lister, who knew all about the work of Koch and Pasteur, and could speak intelligently about the ravages of the dreaded bacillus in the human body, and hopefully about the prospect of sweeping away the tubercle and restoring the organism affected to its pristine state of health. The congress is attended by many delegates from America, Europe and India.

MRS. KRUGER'S FUNERAL.
SAYS SHE WILL NOT HAVE HER CHILDREN BROUGHT UP BY HUSBAND'S PRESENT WIFE.

London, July 21.—Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger of the South African Republic, who died on Saturday last from pneumonia, after an illness of three days, was buried here this afternoon.

THE EX-PRESIDENT DEPRESSED.
Amsterdam, July 22.—Mr. Kruger, former President of the South African Republic, is greatly depressed as the result of the death of his wife, but his health is unimpaired, and he has thrown himself into his work with more than his usual energy.

HARVESTING ENGLISH WHEAT.
AN EARLIER BEGINNING THAN USUAL—ESTIMATE OF CROPS.

London, July 22.—The wheat harvest began in Eastern Kent this morning. This is an earlier beginning than usual, the heat having rapidly developed the grain.

WAGNER ANNIVERSARY AT BAYREUTH.
Berlin, July 22.—At the quarter centennial of Wagnerian opera, celebrated yesterday at Bayreuth, the municipality presented an address to Frau Cosima Wagner. In reply to the remarks of the Burgomaster Frau Wagner assured him that Bayreuth would remain the permanent home of herself and her descendants.

REPUBLICAN GAINS IN FRANCE.
Paris, July 22.—According to the official figures on the results of the election for the French Chamber of Deputies, which occurred through France yesterday, the Republican party gained forty-seven seats.

NEWFOUNDLAND RAILWAY BILL.

MR. BOND INTRODUCES IT AND GIVES REASONS FOR ITS PASSAGE.

St. John's, N. F., July 22.—Mr. Bond, the Newfoundland Premier, introduced the new railway bill in the Assembly to-night. He explained that the government had been influenced in insisting upon recovering the ownership of the 3,135,000 acres of land accruing to Mr. Reid, the contractor, under the previous contract by the following alleged facts:

To Mr. Reid had already been granted 405 miles of land on the coast, and he applied for 635 miles more, making 1,130 miles altogether; whereas the French shore, so prolific a source of trouble for two centuries, only included 800 miles. Mr. Reid's grant included 50,000 acres of homestead lands, occupied by squatters without legal title, but whose occupancy was usually recognized in the colony. All these would be liable to eviction at the will of Mr. Reid. The grant also included 274,000 acres of timber lands already leased and worked by other parties, who on the expiration of their leases the contractor would be obliged to purchase mills, houses and other erections upon them, become the absolute property of Mr. Reid. Finally the Reid grant included 25,000 acres of mining lands, which were similarly situated. Bond announced that the government had obtained the whole 3,135,000 acres for $850,000, or 27 1/2 cents an acre, an amount less than the ordinary upset price of crown lands, the latter being sold at 30 cents an acre.

THE TUBERCULOSIS CONGRESS.

MANY VISITORS AT OPENING SESSION—FUNDS FOR SANATORIUM.

London, July 22.—The British congress on tuberculosis, for the prevention of consumption, was opened to-day by Field Marshal H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge, president of the congress. In his address the duke welcomed the foreign delegates to the congress and spoke of the interest taken in the congress by King Edward.

Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, also welcomed the delegates, and in the name of the government promised all the assistance the government was able to afford to the congress in its endeavor to combat a disease more desolating than war.

After the Lord Mayor of London, Frank Green; Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, and others had addressed the congress, Lord Lister, one of the few British vice-presidents of the congress, in a few words conveyed the thanks of that body to Professor Robert Koch, of Germany, and the other scientists present for their attendance, saying they knew the enemy they had to deal with, and that it was not only the prevention, but the cure, of consumption that the congress hoped to effect.

A telegram was read from King Edward to the Duke of Cambridge, as follows: I pray you heartily to welcome for me the eminent and distinguished delegates who have assembled under your presidency, and to express to them my earnest hope that the result of the deliberations of the congress will be to assist the world in mitigating this dire disease, which has baffled the most distinguished physicians for so long.

Prior to the adjournment of to-day's session of the congress the Duke of Cambridge announced that a gift of £100,000 would be forthcoming for the purpose of establishing the first public tuberculosis sanatorium, as soon as the recommendations of the congress concerning its establishment had been formulated.

Four hundred foreign delegates attended to-day's opening session of the congress, which was held at the Marlborough House, where the Duke of Cambridge, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Earl Cadogan, Lord Strathcona and the Lord Mayor were with another in welcoming the delegates and in congratulating their entire ignorance of the general subject of tuberculosis, and were followed by an eminent representative of British medical science, Lord Lister, who knew all about the work of Koch and Pasteur, and could speak intelligently about the ravages of the dreaded bacillus in the human body, and hopefully about the prospect of sweeping away the tubercle and restoring the organism affected to its pristine state of health. The congress is attended by many delegates from America, Europe and India.

CHILL TO RAISE MORE MONEY.
PLAN TO ACCUMULATE 50,000,000 PESOS—DUTY ON ALCOHOL.

Valparaiso, July 22.—The Chilean government is preparing a bill which will effect a reorganization to a large extent of the national finances. It contemplates the accumulation of an additional 50,000,000 pesos as a reserve fund, and will provide for the collection of alcohol and other internal taxes, which, together with the sale of nitrate properties, will be devoted to greatly increasing the efficiency of the Chilean army and navy.

MRS. HANNA MAY LIVE IN ENGLAND.
SAYS SHE WILL NOT HAVE HER CHILDREN BROUGHT UP BY HUSBAND'S PRESENT WIFE.

London, July 22.—Mrs. Hanna, the divorced wife of Daniel H. Hanna, who with her children, succeeded in leaving New-York on July 13 on the steamer Campania for London, in spite of her former husband's efforts to stop their departure, and who is staying with friends here, said this afternoon: I cannot see why there should be this fuss about my affairs. The court gave me absolute control of my children, and Mr. Hanna, at the time, before leaving Cleveland, that I should take the children away. The death of my mother recently and my own illness have almost completely broken up my family.

While yet young her father, William Ferguson, removed to what is now Van Cortlandt Park, and she was born in the house which she married to Joseph Sutherland. Eight children

OBITUARY.

JOHN HENDERSON.

Glasgow, July 22.—John Henderson, the well known shipbuilder of this city, is dead.

John Henderson was about fifty-five years old. He was the son of David Henderson, senior member of the old firm of D. & W. Henderson, Limited, shipbuilders, and the nephew of Thomas and John Henderson, who started the Anchor Line Steamship Company. After becoming of age he gradually assumed the control of the shipyard, the business of which grew and broadened under his management. He was one of the leading spirits in the Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders of the West of Scotland, and his name was known and respected in almost every port in the world. In the twenty-five years in which he had the management of the industry he is said to have built not only all of the more recent vessels of the Anchor Line, but many of the famous steamships plying between English ports and the harbors of the East. It was in his yards that the cup challenger Thistle was constructed, and also both the Valkyries and Shamrock.

GENERAL SAMUEL T. CUSHING.
Washington, July 22.—Brigadier-General Samuel T. Cushing, U. S. A., retired, died at Freedmen's Hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of a stroke of apoplexy. Although he had been in the hospital for two weeks, his death yesterday was unexpected. He was able to walk in the garden in the morning.

THOMAS REID.
Thomas Reid, a retired police sergeant, died suddenly Sunday morning at his home, No. 20 Vandam-st., New-York. He was born in this city in 1821, and entered the navy, and in 1836 made a cruise to South America on the frigate Brandywine. In 1837 he was appointed to the police force, and four years later was made sergeant. He retired in 1866. He was unmarried.

WILLIAM ROSS HUMPHREY.
Ithaca, N. Y., July 22.—William Ross Humphrey, a former trustee of Cornell University, and the only surviving member of Ithaca Lodge of Odd Fellows, died at his home here to-day, at the age of eighty-two years.

PARKS COTTON MILLS TO BE SOLD.
St. John, N. B., July 22.—By order of the Supreme Court the mortgage on the Parks cotton mills, of this city, is to be foreclosed and the property sold at auction. The mills, which have been closed for several months, owing to financial difficulties, are nearly 800 ft. long.

MRS. SARAH BARRY PHILLIPS.
The death of Mrs. Sarah Barry Phillips, wife of Howard C. Phillips, occurred on Sunday at her home, No. 53 West Thirty-seventh-st. Born in Philadelphia, she was the daughter of the late Thomas S. Hayes and Susan Blairbridge Hayes and a direct descendant of Commodore Barry and Bainbridge.

In early life she was married to Howard C. Phillips, the son of the Rev. Dr. Phillips, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city. Two sons, Howard C. Phillips, Jr., assistant general manager of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company, and William W., cashier and confidential man of Work, Sturges & Co., survive her. She was also a sister of Captain R. Somers Hayes and Mrs. John S. Barker, of this city.

Mrs. Phillips was closely identified with all the charities associated with the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in the late Dr. John Hall's connection. Her husband was always ready to take place, tomorrow at the Episcopate, church, the Rev. Dr. George T. Purves officiating.

COLONEL ALBERT JENKS.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 22.—Colonel Albert Jenks, a well known artist, dropped dead this morning on the street in front of the home of his friend, Mrs. E. B. Huhn. The late Colonel Jenks, the writer and publisher, was walking with him at the time and was laughing and chatting, when, with an unfinished joke upon his lips, Colonel Jenks pitched forward and expired. Heart disease was the cause of death. Colonel Jenks was born in New-York seventy-five years ago. Early in life he removed to Aurora, Ill., and embarked in the banking business. He also studied painting, but at the outbreak of the Civil War entered the army. At the end of the war he had attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He devoted himself to portrait painting after the war. Among the distinguished persons whose portraits he painted were President Abraham Lincoln, General Phil Sheridan and General John A. Logan.

CHARLES A. BENNETT.
Freehold, N. J., July 22 (Special).—Ex-Judge Charles A. Bennett, one of the oldest members of the New-Jersey bar, died at his home, in East Main-st., to-day. Judge Bennett had been in poor health for some time, but until last week he was able to walk about the streets of Freehold. He was born in this city in 1821, and had lived all his life in this place. He was a son of William H. Bennett. The progenitor of this family in Monmouth County was Jeremiah Bennett, who in 1655 purchased 130 acres of land along the Navesink River. Judge Bennett was graduated from Princeton College in 1844, and then entered the law office of the late Judge Benjamin F. Randolph. He was admitted to practice law as an attorney in 1847, and as a counselor in 1851. He settled in Freehold, where he has had an office for more than fifty years. From 1859 to 1868 he was Acting Surrogate of Monmouth County. From 1848 to 1874 he was clerk of the Township of Freehold. He was also secretary of the Freehold Mutual Loan Association, and held this office until 1869. He was secretary of the Monmouth County Mutual Fire Insurance Company from 1859 to 1860, and was secretary and treasurer of the Freehold Gaslight Company from 1859 to 1856. He was treasurer of the Monmouth County Agricultural Society from 1860 to 1881. In 1852 he was appointed a judge of the Monmouth County Court of Common Pleas, and served for five terms. Judge Bennett was also a member of the family of eleven children, only one of whom, William Bennett, of this place, who is a direct descendant of the late Judge Bennett, died on September 28, 1884. He married Eleanor B. Clayton, daughter of Elias C. Clayton, who survives him. The deceased was a merchant here and a member of the firm of Sanford & Bennett, in Maiden Lane, New-York. He was buried in the cemetery here to-day.

THE WEATHER REPORT.
Washington, July 22.—The temperature situation remains unchanged east of the Rocky Mountains, except that it has been still warmer to-day in portions of Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, with maximum temperatures equaling or exceeding all previous records. At Des Moines, Iowa, and Springfield, Ill., the maximum temperatures were 108 degrees, while at Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis they were 106. At Chicago, a lake wind has caused a decided moderation, but only in the immediate vicinity. Thunder showers have continued from the South Atlantic States westward into Arizona; elsewhere the weather continues fair, except in Southern Pennsylvania, where there were local thunderstorms. West of the Rocky Mountains it is not quite so warm, and there were local thunderstorms in the middle plateau. There is no present prospect of any decided change in the prevailing conditions. Thunderstorms will continue in the South and Southwest, while elsewhere the weather will be fair during the next two days. Temperatures will continue high, although in the East and South they will not be so extreme now prevailing in the West. On the Atlantic and Gulf coasts the winds will be light and mostly south to southwest; on the Great Lakes they will be light to fresh and mostly north to northeast. Steamers which depart Tuesday for European ports will have light to fresh southerly to west winds and showery weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND WEDNESDAY.
Fair; New-England, partly cloudy to-day; Wednesday, fair; probably cooler on the coast; winds mostly light westerly.
For the District of Columbia, Eastern New-York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New-Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, generally fair to-day and Wednesday; not much change in temperature; light south to southwest winds.
For West Virginia, partly cloudy to-day and Wednesday; continued warm; variable winds.
For Western New-York, fair to-day and Wednesday; light north to east winds.
For Western Pennsylvania, partly cloudy to-day; Wednesday, fair; variable winds to-day and probably Wednesday; light east to southeast winds.
For Minnesota, fair; continued warm to-day; Wednesday, fair, probably not so warm; variable winds.
For South Dakota, fair, continued warm to-day; Wednesday, fair, probably not quite so warm; south to west winds.
