

from ordinary means of nourishment, and to-morrow will be the fifth day. The importance of this feeding by the mouth is that it will restore the normal action of the stomach for the first time since that organ had both its walls pierced by a bullet. The doctors are satisfied that the time has come to renew these normal functions, and the four days which have elapsed since the wound in the stomach were closed give every assurance that the sutures are sufficiently healed to allow Nature to resume her sway.

Although the house was fairly embowered with flowers to-day, sent as tokens of sympathy and gratitude, none of the blossoms were taken to the President's chamber. The most rigid simplicity prevails there, and sentiment is not allowed to qualify the stern requirements of the case. The only persons admitted to the sick room to-day other than the doctors and attendants were Mrs. McKinley and Secretary Cortelyou. No member of the Cabinet has yet been within the sick room, nor have the Vice-President and those closest to the confidence of the President, such as Senator Hanna and Judge Day, seen the patient. But these restrictions established by the doctors are merely for the sake of encouraging every particle of energy, and relatives and friends alike accept the rigorous policy as decidedly for the best. Secretary Cortelyou sees the President much as the doctors and nurses do. There is never a breath of business, public or private, and at no time has there been the slightest reference to anything connected with the President's duties.

HARMONY AMONG THE DOCTORS.

The departure of Dr. McBurney led to expressions of pleasure from those within the household that the deliberations of so many eminent doctors had been marked by complete unanimity. There has been no division in the councils at any time; each has loyally seconded the efforts of the others, and all have joined in carrying out the masterly work done by Dr. Mann immediately following the shooting. In referring to this to-day, one of the President's associates, who was present at the operation, said that Dr. Mann displayed his consummate skill and calmness by going about the operation as if the patient was a child with a slight complaint. And yet Dr. Mann has since told a friend that when he realized the duty before him, although he had performed hundreds of operations of laparotomy, he would have sacrificed all he possessed to have escaped the terrible responsibility of operating on the President of the United States.

THANKSGIVING AT THE FAIR.

The dramatic phase of the situation here is rapidly disappearing. Plans overthrown by the assassin's bullet are being restored, and matters are rapidly assuming normal conditions. Indiana Day at the exposition, set for Friday of this week, was indefinitely postponed when the President was shot, but the original programme was restored to-day, at the suggestion of Senator Fairbanks, who says such a course would not have been thought of were there any doubt of the President's recovery. The exposition has suffered severely in attendance since the tragedy, and the managers are now organizing for a thanksgiving celebration, which they expect not only to prove a great card for the fair, but which, they hope, will be made a day of national rejoicing.

LONG CONSULTATION AT NIGHT.

The physicians arrived for the evening consultation at 9:30 o'clock. Dr. McBurney was with them. While they were in the house Postmaster-General Smith, Secretary Hitchcock and Secretary Wilson arrived. The three members of the Cabinet left the house at 10:45, before the physicians had finished their consultation. They all said that nothing unfavorable had appeared in the President's condition, and that the consultation of the doctors had been prolonged because of the fact that Dr. McBurney intended to go away to-night, and this was the last conference he would attend. It was 11:20 o'clock when the physicians left the house. They announced to the waiting newspaper men that the President's condition was unchanged in every important particular.

The length of the consultation had created some uneasiness, and this was somewhat increased when it was learned that Dr. McBurney, who had intended to start for Stockbridge, Conn., at 11:20, had missed his train and decided to remain until to-morrow night. But the doctor himself did all he could to dispel the idea that the change in his plans portended anything serious. In fact, he announced as an additional evidence of the improvement of the patient, that it had been decided to begin to give the President nourishment through the mouth to-night, instead of waiting until to-morrow, as had been intended. Beef extract had been prepared, Dr. McBurney said, and it was being administered as the physicians left the house. The other physicians who listened to Dr. McBurney's statement, assented to it, and then all entered an automobile and were whirled away. Immediately afterward a storm which had been gathering broke, and for a few minutes the rain came down in torrents.

ROOSEVELT STARTS FOR HOME.

NO ABATEMENT IN HIS CONFIDENCE—VIEWS ON PUNISHMENT OF CZOLGOZ.

Buffalo, Sept. 10.—Vice-President Roosevelt left the city at 9:30 o'clock to-night for Oyster Bay perfectly confident that the President will recover. So confident was he, in fact, that when a question of doubt was put to him he answered it with a parry. He was asked about the case of President Garfield.

Quick as a flash the Vice-President answered: "Ah! But you forget twenty years of modern surgery, of progress! From what I can learn, also, the Garfield wound was much more serious than the wound of President McKinley. I believe that the President will recover, and I believe it so thoroughly that I leave here to-night."

Asked as to the mode of procedure, so far as the State was concerned, in the case of Czolgosz, he said:

"I see no need for the call of an extraordinary grand jury. The grand jury now in session, composed of American citizens, will undoubtedly take up the would-be assassin, and the authorities of Erie County will, for county, State and national pride, make vigorous execution. Unless Governor Odell is asked to interfere, I see no need of his calling an extra term or deputizing an Assistant Attorney-General to prosecute."

As to the enactment of legislation against anarchists he said:

"I have not thought much on the matter. What has been done is to find a reason for every anarchist to attack a man. The police and the wealthy of this country are responsible for the existence of a Czolgosz. If imperial power would not grow in this country, if the liberties of the people were not trampled under foot, there would have been no violence."

EMMA GOLDMAN CAUGHT.

were in company in Buffalo immediately prior to the shooting of President McKinley. Anton Novak, the proprietor of the Polish saloon and lodging house in Buffalo, where Czolgosz stopped prior to the carrying out of his nefarious designs, appeared at Chicago police headquarters to-day, simultaneously with the arrest of the Goldman woman.

The Chicago police naively disclaimed any knowledge as to Novak's presence in Chicago, simply suggesting that he was a former resident here and that he had returned on a business trip; but as Mr. Novak disappeared in a fashion as mysterious as his appearance, it was easily deduced that he was in the hands of the authorities for a purpose. The police said in a very innocent manner that he had identified Emma Goldman. It seems strange that a resident of a distant point should have to come to Chicago to identify Emma Goldman, when she is so well known to the local police; and the fact that this distant resident should have been Anton Novak, the host of Leon Czolgosz in Buffalo, was still more strange. The only inference to be deduced was that Novak had identified Emma Goldman as an associate of Czolgosz immediately prior to the shooting of President McKinley.

CANNOT BE SENT TO THIS STATE.

The warrant for Miss Goldman charges her with conspiracy to murder the President. It gives as her co-conspirators Abraham Isaacs, Maurice Isaacs, Clemence Pfeuffer, Hippolyte Havel, Henry Travaglio, Alfred Schneider, Julie Mechane, Marie Isaacs and Marie Isaacs, Jr. All except Miss Goldman were arrested some days ago. The women were allowed to go, but the men were held without bail and are now in jail.

It is the opinion of several lawyers that Miss Goldman cannot be extradited for trial in New York unless she and Czolgosz are charged with an offence under the Federal statutes. The suggestion that the would-be assassin must be tried under the State laws of New-York for assault with intent to kill, it is said, precludes the possibility of Miss Goldman's being extradited as an accessory before the fact, as her alleged incendiary statements were not made in New-York, and she is not a fugitive from justice from that State.

It is said, however, that she and Czolgosz might be charged with an offence under Section 5,508 of the Federal statutes, which fixes a ten year term of imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for two or more persons who conspire to injure any citizen in the exercise of any right secured to him by the constitution and laws of the United States. The enforcement of this statute against Miss Goldman and Czolgosz would, it is said, permit of the former's extradition from any State.

C. J. Norris, at whose home Miss Goldman was captured, was arrested later.

Miss Goldman was taken from the chief's office to the woman's annex of the Harrison-st. station, where she will spend the night. She will, according to present plans, have a hearing to-morrow morning.

While being led to the carriage which was waiting to take her to the lockup, Miss Goldman for the first time lost her self-possession. She broke down and cried, and for a moment was merely a weak woman in distress. She recovered quickly, and by the time her foot touched the carriage step she was again Emma Goldman, the high priestess of anarchy.

Speaking of the story told by Emma Goldman, Mayor Harrison said:

"I believe she is exactly what she says she is—a rank anarchist. She is a woman of decidedly great ability, and even if she were connected with a deed of that sort I think she is too smart to be caught at it."

"Of course," he continued, "in all the accounts of the police department in this matter we have been acting merely under instructions received from Buffalo. We are simply concerned in getting the people that they are after, and at the same time following up any clews which may present themselves here. I am convinced that there was any plot it originated not in Chicago, but in some point in the East—Detroit, Cleveland, Toledo or some of those cities. We have no evidence against her except that she is wanted by the Buffalo authorities."

WHAT MISS GOLDMAN SAYS.

Miss Goldman disclaimed all save the slightest acquaintance with the President's assailant; she denied absolutely that she, or anarchists she knew, was implicated in any plot to kill the President. She said she believed Czolgosz acted entirely on his own responsibility, and that he never claimed to have been inspired by her, as he is quoted as affirming.

The President, she averred, with a yawn, was an insignificant being to her—a mere human atom, whose life or death were matters of supreme indifference to her or to any anarchist. Czolgosz's act was foolish, yet she declared it probably had its inspiration in the misery which the Pole had seen about him. Violence, she said, was not a tenet in the faith of the anarchist, and she had not advocated it in Cleveland, where Czolgosz has said he heard her, nor elsewhere.

"What do you think of your own arrest?" she was asked.

"If I told you," she replied, "it would look somewhat concealed, and I certainly would not like to be guilty of that. Not only my arrest, but the others, smack of the Haymarket. The police are very much in disrepute all over the country, and they wish to do something to clear themselves. They are trying to make it an anarchist plot; if they wish to make up a case they may succeed."

Referring to the attempt on the life of the President, Miss Goldman said:

"It is a dirty trick to charge in the newspaper reports that it was the result of an anarchist plot. Mark Hanna has been the ruler of this country, not McKinley. McKinley has been the most insignificant ruler that this country has ever had. He has neither wit nor intelligence, but has been a tool in the hands of Mark Hanna. Other Presidents have had a heart, or something, but this poor fellow—God forgive him, since he knows nothing—is a tool in the hands of the wealthy, and it seems very remarkable for Mark Hanna to say that he was not notified of a plot for his assassination. I think McKinley too insignificant for such a thing."

"What man in the United States, in your opinion, is of sufficient prominence to warrant such a plot?" she was asked.

"I am not in position to say," replied Miss Goldman, "who ought to be killed. The monopolists and the wealthy of this country are responsible for the existence of a Czolgosz. If imperial power would not grow in this country, if the liberties of the people were not trampled under foot, there would have been no violence."

IMPELLED BY DESPAIR AND MISERY.

Referring to the would-be assassin, Miss Goldman said:

"I feel that the man is one of those unfortunate who has been driven to despair and misery to commit the deed. I feel very deeply with him as an individual, as I would feel with anybody who suffers. If I had means I would help him as much as I could; I would say that he had counsel and that justice was done him."

She said her purpose in coming here had been to assist the anarchists who were arrested here several days ago. She had intended to give herself up to the police, but delayed it, for one reason and for another, until the police she had derided so much had taken the matter in their own hands.

In the day Miss Goldman was interviewed in the women's annex at the police station, and a stenographic report taken. Miss Goldman said:

"I feel sure that the police are helping us more than I could do in ten years. They are making more anarchists than the most prominent people connected with the anarchist cause could make in ten years. If they will only continue, I shall be very grateful; they will save me lots of work."

Asked if she had been on the downtown streets before her arrival, she answered:

"Certainly I have. I have been shopping—went to Field's, have been in restaurants; in fact, I passed the City Hall several times."

NO PLOT TO KILL PRESIDENT.

"I am an anarchist—a student of socialism—but nothing in anything I ever said to Leon Czolgosz would have led him to do the act which started everybody on Friday."

"Not even in your lectures? He says your words set his brain on fire," said the interviewer.

"Am I accountable because some crack brained person put a wrong construction on my words? Leon Czolgosz, I am convinced, planned the deed unaided and entirely alone. There is no anarchist ring which would help him. There are also men in every walk of life who sometimes feel the impulse to kill. I do not know whether Czolgosz (the assassin) was one of those who were inspired by me, but if he was he took the wrong way of showing it."

Miss Goldman detailed as best she could her movements since last July. She went from Chicago to Buffalo, she said, accompanied by Miss Isaac, the daughter of the alleged anarchist editor, and arrested here. In Buffalo she stopped two days and then proceeded to Rochester where they stopped at the home of Miss Goldman's sister, Mrs. H. Hochstein, of No. 213 Joseph-st. Here they visited a little more than five weeks. The only incident of it was a short visit to Niagara Falls and another to New York on the 25th. In the latter Miss Goldman entered temporarily into the employ of a firm, the name of which she would not divulge. Business for them took her to Pittsburg. She was in Cincinnati on Labor Day, and that night she left for St. Louis. Of her history she said: "I was born in Newburgh, Russells, in the state of New York, and when I was a child my mother and I came to live with my sister, who is now in Rochester, sixteen years ago. I speak Russian, German, French and English. I came from the middle class in Russia, but my heart has always been with the poor and downtrodden. The injustice of the Haymarket prosecution made an anarchist of me. I have taught the good of anarchism to many."

MISS GOLDMAN IN ROCHESTER.

SHE LEFT THERE ON THURSDAY FOR BUFFALO—HER FORMER HUSBAND'S NAME.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 10 (Special)—Emma Goldman was in Rochester last Thursday night. That much has been settled by the Director of Detectives. She was seen at the New-York Central station by Mrs. Bernard Helberg, whose husband is one of the Supreme Court officers. Mrs. Helberg had a long talk with the leader of the anarchists.

Miss Goldman was accompanied by a man who did not take much interest in the conversation. He was a wild eyed looking fellow, with heavy black mustache, shifty eyes and the look of one who did not care to be seen where he was.

Miss Goldman had a ticket for Buffalo in her pocket, which she said was going there. If the anarchist went to Buffalo on Thursday night, as she said she was going to, she was there at the time of the attempted assassination of President McKinley. The authorities there are now firm in the belief that she had something to do with the assassination plot.

Emma Goldman, the former husband, whom she left when she was the wife of anarchist high priestess, lives in this city. His name is Kesser, and he is a tailor, and he lives at No. 64 Weld-st. When asked if he knew anything about her, he said: "She left me ten years ago. I do not remember her name."

MOVEMENTS IN ROCHESTER.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 10 (Special)—A reporter who called at the house of Emma Goldman's parents, No. 175 Joseph-ave., to-day succeeded in learning the following facts: That Emma Goldman spent at least five weeks, and perhaps two months, in this city during the summer; that her actions during that time were as secret as possible; that her relatives declare she had been gone from the city a week at least before she was seen by a man who knows her at Ontario Beach on August 25 and at the hotel where she was staying. The reporter asked her if she had any friends in this city, and she said she had none. Her father and mother both knew where she was, but absolutely refused to divulge her whereabouts.

When asked point blank, they reluctantly inquired if she had any friends and tools. The woman spent most of her time in her uncle's dingy printing office while here, the office being a few doors below the Goldman house.

HUNTING FOR ACCOMPLICES.

RESOURCES OF THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT EMPLOYED TO FIND THOSE CONCERNED IN PLOT.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

Buffalo, Sept. 10.—The resources of the national government are being used to run down the accomplices of Czolgosz. The arrest of Emma Goldman will probably be followed tomorrow by the apprehension of a man named John Krunk, who is said to live in the lumber manufacturing district in Oakley-ave., Chicago.

The police of Buffalo also are investigating the antecedents of John Nowak, keeper of the Broadway Hotel, where Czolgosz was staying before the shooting of the President on Friday. Superintendent Bull has received from the Chicago police a letter written from Nowak's hotel to Krunk, as his name is supposed to be, in which he says that he is the son of a man named John Krunk, who is said to live in the lumber manufacturing district in Oakley-ave., Chicago.

The police here are nearly through working on local clews. Superintendent Bull and his associates are of the opinion that the plot was arranged in Chicago, where Czolgosz had generally been supposed to have been born.

"They are trying to make it an anarchist plot; if they wish to make up a case they may succeed."

Referring to the attempt on the life of the President, Miss Goldman said:

"It is a dirty trick to charge in the newspaper reports that it was the result of an anarchist plot. Mark Hanna has been the ruler of this country, not McKinley. ANARCHISTS IN ENGLAND.

TALK WITH MOBERLY BELL, MANAGER OF 'THE LONDON TIMES.'

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

Buffalo, Sept. 10.—Moberly Bell, manager of "The London Times," who with Mrs. Bell, is visiting the exposition, called on Secretary Hay and Vice-President Roosevelt to-day at the home of J. G. Milburn, where President McKinley is being cared for. Mrs. Bell accompanied her husband. At the Iroquois Hotel to-night in New York, Mr. Bell said: "From the best information obtainable, I don't believe she was here last week, as alleged in some of the Buffalo papers."

I. M. Stutz, the German arrested on Saturday night at Nowak's hotel, was released to-day. An extra guard was detailed to watch Czolgosz's cell this morning, and the rule of excluding visitors is strictly enforced. This morning a pasteboard box filled with pork and beans was delivered at police headquarters to Mr. Moberly Bell, who said he had been sent to him by the police.

Mr. Bell said he had been sent to him by the police.

Mr. Bell was asked if it were true that anarchists are so leniently treated in England that they make little trouble for the government.

"No," said he, "that is not true. Our laws with reference to attempts on the lives of the royal family are different from the laws here. Over there it is high treason to attack one of the royal family. The view we have taken of the matter for centuries is that it is a king or those in succession to the throne are essentially part of the State. There is in
