

THE BLUE-LINE

TWO DISTINCT TYPES OF PASSENGERS DIVIDED BY THE CONNECTICUT LINE.

PLEASANT HOMES ON THE NORTH SHORE OF THE SOUND.

Communing has been reduced to a science on the New-Haven, New-Haven and Hartford Railroad. At least, the men and women who hold monthly tickets say that they make less fuss over their daily trips to and from this city than do the commuters who use other railroads. They can figure to the last second in catching trains in the morning, and up in Connecticut they have short cuts, known as commuters' paths, for those who figure too closely. The most remarkable evidence which they offer in support of their assertion of scientific commuting is that they do not swear at the train-waiters, most of them do not. While they have not yet ceased to "kick" at the service, the schedule and the treatment they receive from the train hands, they do not let these things worry them.

There are two distinct types of commuters on the New-Haven road, and the State line between New-York and Connecticut divides them. Those who live in the neighboring State are slower than the New-Yorkers, more exacting in their demands and more dignified in their train amusements. Even the undignified dull rush after business in this city, commuters do not make them forget that they are New-Englanders; that they live under a code of "blue laws" when they are at home, and that the houses in which they live have the moss covered dignity of age. They are as proud of those "blue laws" as the New-Jersey commuter is of "Jersey justice." They rejoice in the fact that their houses are modern, covered with the latest modern, light-colored cream or white, and that the architecture is up-to-date, like those in which the commuters from Mount Vernon, Pelham and New-Rochelle dwell. And, for their part, the commuters who live in the newer New-York towns are just as confident that their way of living is better. They laugh scornfully at the Puritanism of the man from Connecticut, and outrage their ideas of right and wrong by playing at poker for high stakes.

For some time the New-Haven commuters have been jealous of their fellows who live on the line of the New-York Central and its branches, and there is a lively rivalry between the two of them. The rivals are thrown together, as they often are in the waiting room of the big station from which the trains of both roads depart. It is all due to the fact that all the station and yard officials are New-York Central men, and, according to the commuters of the other road, the Central passengers are favored in every respect. The Central treats the New-Haven road, said a Mount Vernon commuter to a Tribune reporter the other day. "You know, our trains run into the Grand Central Station under an old lease, which says that the road must pay so much for each passenger. It costs the New-Haven road, from $10.00 to $20.00 a year, yet the Central people are not satisfied. They have been trying to crowd us out for years. If a Central train comes to the upper end of the tunnel a minute or two behind a New-Haven train, it gets the right of way, and we have to stand there until the yardmen are ready to let us through. "You have no right to kick," say the Central commuters in reply. "Don't you have the use of the cooler tunnel?"

The trammies who have the misfortune of being assigned to commuting trains have one rule of life which keeps them out of a great deal of trouble. It is this: Don't get too friendly with the regular passengers. "As sure as you die," said one of the trammies, "you begin to ask favors of one kind or another. Every other commuter in the car is watching, and if you give in to one you must do so to the rest. If the slightest favoritism is shown there is trouble. This selfishness makes some people angry, but it keeps the peace." "Suburban Service" is the way many of the cars of the New-Haven road are marked, which is different from the regular stations. The trammies are dressed in plain, simple, like those of an elevated train in the city, although there is not the same reason for it. The longer the train, the more changes his seat after the train starts. The commuters are always well provided with smoking cards, some of the longer ones having as many as three coaches reserved for lovers of tobacco. The stations along the line are usually below the level of the street, and are approached through rock bound cuts. In this way, and in other places, by elevating the tracks, dangerous grade crossings are avoided.

A stranger is surprised at the way in which the time starting from the station is spent. The train which leaves Mount Vernon at 7 o'clock is filled with "all day" commuters who work for the city. An hour later the "clerk's train" starts for the city, and 20 o'clock marks the departure of the bankers. The "clerk's train" is distinguished by the fact that the "bankers" fill the earlier trains, but the clerks and "all day" commuters go home together. The New-York Central and Hartford, like a number of other railroads, has instituted a "commuting service" in connection with its regular trains. The use of steam has been discontinued on the branch which runs from Stamford to New-Canaan. A powerful motor car with an overhead trolley, pulls several light built coaches over the seven mile branch. The distance is covered in less than twenty minutes, including the time lost by intermediate stops at Talmadge Hill, Springdale and Greenbush. It is the only electric power line between the city and the country. The New-York Central commuters are never so far from the dusky, noisy steam train for the electric road.

Mount Vernon, with more than twenty-five hundred regular commuters, is the largest commuting town on the road and receives much attention from the officials in the shape of extra service. The last car on each of several morning trains which start from Stamford or South Norwalk is kept locked until Mount Vernon is reached, much to the disgust of the New-Rochelle and Pelham commuters. This small commuting army is quick at leaving at home, and for that reason stands well with the trammies.

There are many women commuters, but when it comes to getting a seat on a crowded train they receive little consideration at the hands of the Mount Vernon men. The latter say that they recognize the rights of the new woman—rights to push a crowd on board, if she wants anything, and to get a seat on a crowded train. Mount Vernon commuters are not so particular as to whether or not the presence of so many women has anything to do with the matter has not been determined. They are agreed in one thing, however, and that is that Yonkers is about the best place in the world for a commuter to live. It should not be forgotten that Yonkers commuters say the same thing about Mount Vernon.

Card playing among Mount Vernon commuters has become so general as to cause almost a scandal in the little town. The Puritanism of the Connecticut towns has long been holding up their hands in holy horror. Finally it was taken up at Mount Vernon prayer meeting, and the wives of commuters were exhorted to persuade their husbands to stop. This was bad, but there was worse to come. Pelham said he believed that every card in the deck is a little red or black devil, discovered that nearly all of the players in one of the cars were good Protestants because they dress and put a streamer on the side of the coach reading thus: MOUNT VERNON'S PRESBYTERIAN CARD CLUB.

RECTOR AND RUNNER.

THE REV. HERBERT WILLIAM WORKMAN ON DIFFERENCES OF AMERICAN AND ENGLISH ATHLETIC TRAINING.

AN ATHLETIC CHRISTIAN.

The Rev. Herbert William Workman, the Cambridge distance runner, who won the half and two mile events in the international games at Berkeley Oval last Wednesday, is a typical English athletic Christian. That a full fledged rector of a large parish should cross the Atlantic to compete in athletics, who are accustomed to clergy who give up strenuous athletic sport when they enter the theological seminaries. In England, however, the athletic rector is in great demand with some parishes, and there was no surprise when the young Cambridge runner was sent to a parish in Southampton. This athletic clergyman is thoroughly English, both in appearance and manner of speech. He is of medium height and slender build, but his face and carriage tell of the great endurance necessary to championship distance running. There is plenty of healthy color in his smooth shaven cheeks. On his visit here he has worn the usual black clerical garb of the English rector, except when in running clothes, and the colors of his university. "I started running about two years before I went to the university," he said on Friday, "and I've tating to the dignity of a city. Already it has a bandstand in a miniature square and an opera house or two. It has cast off the yoke of dependence upon New-York shops, and many of its inhabitants are engaged in business. Commuters have not entirely got out of the habit of carrying bundles, as a man who has always a bundle in his hand is not considered a gentleman. "Look out for my bundle," cried the Port Chester commuter as he started to sit down. He said it in a frightened sort of way, as a man would who was carrying dynamite or something equally dangerous. "What are you carrying that makes you so careful?" the New-Yorker asked, never thinking that the question might be answered. "Lamp chimney," whispered the Port Chester man. "I tried to bring some home last night, but—well, I slipped, getting off the car, and the chimneys turned to powdered glass."

IN TRACK UNIFORM.

IN TRACK UNIFORM.

Between Port Chester and Greenwich the un-drawn line which divides New-York and Connecticut is crossed, but the change does not appear in the first town in the new State. Greenwich is made up of big houses, which are surrounded by fine lawns. The people went there from New-York, attracted by the fine view of Long Island Sound, and the racing air. The number of automobiles which come to the station every morning and evening grows that they are not real New-Englanders. Riverside lines the next inlet, through which a sluggish, limpid little river finds its way into the Sound. A little further on is Sound Beach, which has had a remarkable growth in the last two summers. It claims a monopoly of some sort of cold breezes. A big sign which can be seen from the train tells how building lots can be bought for $5 down and $5 a week. This may have had something to do with the speedy development of the place.

Stamford is a typical Connecticut town, with old houses, many old citizens and streets like a country village. It is rich in pretty girls, as a walk through the business streets on a pleasant afternoon will prove. They pretend to be shopping, just as if every one did not know that they came to New-York when they really wanted to buy anything. They say that every girl in Stamford owns a Yale cap, whether she wears it or not, and it is no wonder, for the girls are the kind of college chaps called "fatally beautiful."

Stamford commuters have various strange ways of making the hour's ride to the city pass rapidly. They like puzzles, for one thing, and worked for weeks over a mathematical problem which was so complicated that they can't even tell about it. "Why is an electric light an electric light?" is a foolish question which worried them for some time, and which brought forth heated discussions. The waiter first carelessly made the answer, which the man who asked the question had it, and not they are wondering what that means. There are a great many amateur photographers among the Stamford "coms," and the photography is usually as prolific of arguments as is golf. They discuss the merits of the various cameras. Sometimes they even bring their new cameras to the train, and they may show them to other commuters. "Commuting is not the only industry of South Jersey, and it is not the only means for them to make money, but it is a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities. The city of crooked streets is a complete city in itself, and it is no wonder, as the New-York people know it. The houses are old, so old, for the most part, that a stranger would think they had never been built. Some shutters are red and some are green, but whatever the color they seem absolutely indispensable. There are a great many other things in whole sale quantities