Canon Gore's appointment as Bishop of Worcester has been an illustration of seesaw in Lord Salisbury's ecclesiastical policy.

There has been a series of fashionable weddings in dense fogs this week. Lady Clementine Jay's having been the most important one.

General Ian Hamilton's friends are seeing him off for Cape Town to-day, where he will be Lord Kitchener's right hand man.

The theatres have been suffering from the foggy weather, and present no new pieces.

PARIS.

PUBLIC ENTHUSIASM OVER THE FRANCO-TURKISH SITUATION WANING.

A POSTHUMOUS BOOK BY VICTOR HUGO—NEW PLAYS AT THE THEATRES—AN ARTISTIC TOY SHOW.

(Copyright, 1901, by The New-York Tribune.)

Paris, Nov. 9.—A considerable modification of public enthusiasm has set in in regard to the Franco-Turkish situation.

The appearance of "Postscriptum de ma Vie" in its modest coffee colored paper covers is the great event of the present book season.

M. Clemenceau declares that it is unworthy of France to mobilize a fleet to collect its claims, the chief one of which is that of Lorando.

The great assassin of the Yildiz Kiosk would mock at even the permanent loss of Mitylene.

M. Rochefort says the most amazing feature of this new crusade, of which Admiral Caillaud is the Godfrey de Bouillon, is that France mobilizes a fleet to compel the Red Sultan to recognize the Patriarch of the Chaldeans.

The "Matin," after having suggested arbitration at the Hague as the only solution, expresses satisfaction that France has escaped playing a childish and dangerous role in the East.

Victor Hugo's "Postscriptum de ma Vie," edited by the deceased poet's lifelong friend Paul

Maurice, published this week by Calmann Levy, reveals the author of "Les Miserables" and "The Chatiments" in a new light—that of a philosopher.

Death is a change of garments. Soul, you are clad in shadows; you will then be clothed in light.

It is strange to think that after eighteen centuries of progress, liberty of mind has been proclaimed, but not liberty of heart.

In the present condition of the laws of Western civilization, marriage is a failure. It is generally based on interest, not love.

The poem of woman abides through the history of mankind, now and then bursting forth upon the sublime song of love.

A republic like that of the United States of America, made of only one principle, accepts with calm all struggles and shocks of thought.

The strength of barbarian nations depends upon their youth, and disappears with it.

Other new books are: "Les Braves Gens," by Paul and Victor Margueritte, published by Plon-Nourrit.

This is now pronounced in mundane circles an example of exaggerated marital ferocity.

"The Enigma" is admirably acted by Mme. Bartet, as the guilty wife, and by Mme. Brandes. The male parts are also forcibly impersonated by Le Barry, Henri Mayer and Paul Mounet.

"La Volle de Bonheur," an exceedingly clever one act Chinese comedy, by Georges Clemenceau, with stage music by Gabriel Faure, brought out at the Renaissance Theatre.

After Many Years Of suffering from kidney disease, Miss Minnie Ryan, of St. Louis, Mo., found a complete cure through the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is such a cure as this which establish the soundness of Dr. Pierce's theory: "Diseases which originate in the stomach must be cured through the stomach." Every other organ depends on the stomach for its vitality and vigor. For the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition the food which is eaten is converted into nutriment, which, in the form of blood, is the sustaining power of the body and each organ of it. When the stomach is diseased the food supply of the body is cut off, and the organs starve, and the weakness of starvation shows itself in lungs, heart, liver, kidneys or some other organ. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and cures disease of other organs which have originated through deficient nutrition or impure blood. "I had been suffering with kidney trouble twenty years," writes Miss Minnie Ryan, of 137 Louisiana Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., "and I had doctored with a number of the best physicians. Two years ago I commenced taking your Golden Medical Discovery, and took also several vials of Dr. Pierce's Peppermint Cure. I took eight bottles (four of each), and I feel now perfectly cured." Dr. Pierce's Peppermint Cure biliousness.
