SEEN ON THE STAGE.

Miss Flora Zabelle, who has been appearing in the part formerly taken by Miss Gertrude Quinlan in "King Dodo," has had a romantic history. The daughter of an Armenian, the Rev. Dr. Mangasarian, she adopted the stage as her profession several years ago. Dr. Mangasarian had been forced to leave his home in Stamboul, Constantinople, at the time of the Armenian massacres, and came to this country. He was graduated from the Princeton Theological School and was an Evangelical Presbyterian pastor in Philadelphia. He now preaches in Chicago. He recently ventured back at some hazard to his old home to visit his father. Miss Zabelle played the title part in "San Toy" at Daly's, and also appeared in "The Messenger Boy."

"The Chaperons" still delights large audiences nightly. The change to the roof of the New-York Theatre, "Cherry Blossom Grove," is generally approved. There is a refreshing openness and informality about this semi-open air auditorium that promises to increase the popularity of the attraction even beyond the mark already reached.

Elphye Snowden is one of the performers at "Cherry Blossom Grove." A programme of variety bills precedes the full performance of the comic opera.

J. E. Dodson has made what is regarded as an interesting impersonation of the character of Simonides in the spectacular "Ben Hur," at the Drury Lane Theatre, London.

Miss Adele Ritchie, as Mrs. Pineapple, and Miss Amie Angeles, as Mi Mi, in "The Chinese Honeymoon," at the Casino, have added to the attractiveness of the well received piece. Miss Ritchie made a hit also in Francis Wilson's "Toreador" earlier in the season, and had previously been seen in "The Three Little Lambs" and in "The Hall of Fame." Miss Amie Angeles comes of a theatrical family and has been on the stage since childhood. She was previously known as a singing and dancing sourette in the Weber and Fields company.
