THE NORTH JERSEY COAST. PLANS FOR BUILDING AT SOUTH ELBERON—ALL READY FOR THE HORSE SHOW.

Elberon, N. J., July 14 (Special).—While the thermometer is climbing in the nineties along the North Jersey coast, many of the cottagers, particularly those summering here, are laying plans for next year in the way of building new country seats. The popularity of South Elberon as an exclusive resort grows as the days pass. Plans for cottages to cost upward of $25,000 are being put out for competitive bids, while recent sales of real estate in this vicinity give assurance that the total value of the country seats that will be erected before another year will be twice that sum, if not more.

The weather to-day was well adapted to sea bathing. The temperature of the water reached 70 degrees, and the beach was lined with bathers all day. There was little doing in social way at Long Branch. The coming horse show is now the topic of conversation. Already several horses are on the grounds, and the last of the week will find many of the champion class here. The grounds are in fine condition, the grandstand is newly painted and everything looks rosy for the best exhibition yet.

Entries for the ninth annual exhibition of the Monmouth County Horse Show Association closed at midnight to-night, with the secretary and treasurer, P. J. Already we have more entries than ever before, including those that came from Atlantic City, Philadelphia and Boston. The cottagers are taking an active interest in the coming show, and have made many entries. There promises to be a lively contest for the Challenge Cup presented by Walter H. and Thomas G. Patten. We are hoping for good weather, and will have to contend with it." The Methodist preachers in the vicinity attended services to-day. The Rev. J. H. B. Smith, pastor of the church at South Elberon, was the principal speaker. A feature of the afternoon was an electric launch ride. The ministers from Long Branch who are members of the New-Brunswick District Preachers' Association, under whose auspices the celebration was held, are the Revs. John Handley, William Mitchell, F. ASBURY PARK. A MIDSUMMER CROWD FILLS THE RESORT.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 14 (Special).—There was the usual Monday morning exodus to-day of business men who come down to visit their families over Sunday, but the newcomers who got in Saturday for a more protracted sojourn have filled the Park to more than its normal July condition. The increase in population was noticed this morning at the beach resorts, which, for the first time this season, took on a midsummer aspect. The pavilions, fishing pier and beach were alive with pleasure seekers, but there were few bathers, owing to the chilly sea water. All last week the ocean temperature hovered close to the 70 degree mark, but on Saturday a strong southern current shifted the water over to the beach, and the temperature has been down to sixty degrees, a trifle too frigid for enjoyable bathing.

Danbury, Conn., July 14.—John Valstedt, a citizen of New-York, N. Y., was to-day committed to jail in Carmel, N. Y., on a charge of murder. He is charged with the death of John Anderson, a farmhand at Brewster, who was administered strychnine, Anderson, who was an old resident of Brewster, and had lived for some time with Valstedt and had been employed by him, died on July 1. Subsequent to the burial rumors which had become rife led the authorities to have the body examined. The post-mortem examination showed the presence of a large quantity of strychnine in the stomach. Suspicion was directed toward Valstedt, as it was said that he held a note for several hundred dollars against Anderson, and also had a policy for $50 on Anderson's life. Valstedt was arrested on Monday, and when the coroner attempted to serve the warrant started off at a run and disappeared in some woods.

A constable and posse, who pursued, found Valstedt lying under a tree with his wrist cut in an apparent effort to commit suicide. He resisted capture, but was eventually removed to the village lockup, and was taken to the Carmel jail. Valstedt denies that he killed Anderson, and offers to explain why he wished to take his own life.

ATLANTIC CITY NOTES. THE WATER WARMS UP, AND EVERYBODY GOES IN BATHING.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 14 (Special).—Horse Show week opened to-day with a great middle-of-July crowd that filled all the hotels, boarding houses and cottages. It was the beginning of the "big week" that everybody looks forward to as the time of pleasure, excitement, money coming and wear and tear.

More than twenty thousand people had a warm bath. They went into the ocean from the Helms pier to Chelsea, and all the way along the surf was as warm as many people take baths at home. The bathing house masters heard no "kicks" because the ocean was cold, for the surf was well warmed up by the sunny weather of last week.
